BOWDOIN ORIENT

VOL. XLIX  BRUNSWICK, MAINE, APRIL 8, 1919  NO. 1

BOWDOIN PROFessORS WIN DISTINCTION ABROAD.

Bowdoin is proud to welcome back two of her faculty members who have achieved distinction abroad in their separate fields. They are Captain Philip W. Meserve and Captain Herbert C. Bell. The former is professor of chemistry and the latter professor of history and political science. Captain Meserve played an important part in the plan and execution of a great gas offensive launched by the American Expeditionary Forces. Captain Meserve by submitting to General Bliss several reports on previous plans of world union and a tentative plan for a league of nations performed a less spectacular but no less noteworthy task. Bowdoin has reason to be proud to claim instructors as talented as these men have shown themselves to be.

DEKES WIN TRACK MEET BY THREE POINT MARGIN.

By a margin of three points the track team of the Deke House won over the Betas in the interfraternity track meet held Thursday night, March 14, prior to the term vacation. The winners totalled 283\(\frac{1}{2}\) points while the Betas came in for 253\(\frac{1}{2}\) points. The Zetes came in a close third, much to the surprise of many who had not figured them previously as one of the topnotchers, and rolled up 22\(\frac{1}{2}\) points. Following are the points made by the other seven fraternities: Alpha Delta Phi, 16; Chi Psi 10\(\frac{1}{2}\), Delta Upsilon 3\(\frac{1}{2}\), Kappa Sigma 16\(\frac{1}{2}\), Psi Upsilon 8\(\frac{1}{2}\), Sigma Nu 6, Theta Delta Chi 7\(\frac{1}{2}\).

The meet, the first held at the college, was a decided success in every way. Much credit should be given to Coach Magee who was the originator of the plan, and who conducted the meet in such an excellent manner. Although no records were broken, competition and rivalry were very keen in every event, and exciting finishes were features of the evening.

Thomson '21, proved the individual star of the meet, and incidentally was the big man for the Deke House, making 15 points. Out of a field of a hundred or more competitors, Thomson won the forty-yard dash. This event proved one of the most exciting of the evening, as the five competitors in the finals, Averill of the Deke House, Dostie of the Chi Psi House, McCarthy of the Beta House, Thomson of the Deke House, and Allen of the Beta House, were bunched so close together at the tape that the judges at the finish had great difficulty in picking the winners. Thomson also won the forty-five yard high hurdles, making the time of 6 3-5 seconds, and the forty-five yard low hurdles, crossing the tape in 5 4-5 seconds.

An unexpected feature of the evening was the Bowdoin Freshman and Hebron Academy relay race. Due to some misunderstanding in correspondence this event, previously scheduled, was thought cancelled by the Bowdoin officials, and Coach Magee had not worked the Freshmen for two weeks. The star Bowdoin Freshman team won the event, making a time of 2 minutes, 16 2-5 seconds, but not until they had been pushed hard by the fleet-footed Hebron runners. Beals of Hebron got the jump on Averill at the first corner, and the Academy boys held first place until Partridge '22, third runner for the Freshman team passed Stearns near the end of his second lap. Hunt '22, was able to hold the lead made by Partridge, although a few yards behind Captain Munce.

The several relay races between the fraternities proved another big feature of the evening. In the preliminary races, the Betas, Dekes, Kappa Sigs, and A. D.'s won their events, and qualified for the finals. The real tussle in the finals was between the Betas and the Dekes. Both teams kept abreast of each other during the two laps and they crossed the tape with the Betas a little in the lead.

A handsome shield, the gift of President Sills to the winning fraternity to be held by it permanently, was presented after the meet to Thomson of the Deke House, by Coach Magee. A beautiful silver cup, the gift of the track association, was awarded to the Beta House, for winning the relay race, the presentation speech being made by Coach Magee to McCarthy of that house.

Summary follows:

45-Yard High Hurdles—Won by Thomson of D. K. E. House; second, Foulke of Zete House; third, Moses of Kappa Sigma House. Time, 6 3-5 seconds.

45-Yard Low Hurdles—Won by Thomson of D. K. E. House; second, Parent of Sigma Kappa House; third, Moses of Kappa Sigma House; fourth, Foulke of Zete House. Time, 5 4-5 seconds.

Exhibition Relay Races.

Exhibition Relay Race—Troup Two of the Brunswick Boy Scouts (Doughty, Nason, Mack, Walsh) won over Troop One (Litchfield, Soule, Lamarre, Morse) and Arrows (Cummings, Morrill, Bailey, Carlin). Time, 1 minute, 13 3-5 seconds.

Bowdoin Freshman Relay Team (Averill, Hunt, Woodbury, Partridge) won over the Herbron Team (Beals, Wardwell, Stearns, Munce). Time, 2 minutes, 16 2-5 seconds.

Relay Trials.

Beta Team (Allen, Casey, Partridge, McCarthy) won over the T. D. Team (Cook, Cousins, Woodbury, Tarbox) and the D. U. Team (Thalheimer, Ridley, Fish, Mason). Time, 2 minutes, 19 4-5 seconds.

A D. Team (Flynn, Lovell, Cleaves, Gray) won over Psi U. House (Leavitt, Willson, Johnson, Hunt) and the Zete Team (Foulke, Colter, Towle, Holbrook). Time, 2 minutes, 23 3-5 seconds.

D. K. E. Team (Thomson, Averill, McConky, Wakefield) won over Kappa Sigma Team (Perry, Parent, Cole, Moses), Chi Psi Team (Dostie, Hatch, Prosser, Cymer) and Sigma Nu Team (Young, Theriault, Martin, Rogers). Time, 2 minutes, 21 4-5 seconds.

(Both D. K. E. team and Kappa Sigma team qualified for the finals.)

INTERFRATERNITY BASEBALL LEAGUE RESUMED.

At a meeting of fraternity representatives held at the Delta Upsilon House Thursday night it was decided to resume the interfraternity baseball league which proved so popular last year. An innovation will be the formation of two subsidiary leagues within the larger one, to be designated as Leagues A and B. Alpha Delta Phi, Beta Theta Pi, Delta Kappa Epsilon, Delta Upsilon, and Theta Delta Chi will compose League A, while Chi Psi, Kappa Sigma, Psi Upsilon, Zeta Psi, and the non-fraternity men will compose the other, League B. After the schedule has been played off the winners of the leagues will play a championship series of three games. Before May 1 the games will be called promptly at four-thirty, after that date they will commence at half past six. All varsity men are ineligible. If a man becomes a varsity player during the season be becomes automatically ineligible. As far as possible varsity men will act as umpires. It was voted to award a trophy to both the winning team and the runner-up.

RESULTS OF BRADBURY DEBATES.

As the result of trials held March 12 the following men have made the Bradbury debates: Affirmative team, Chadbourne '19, Bunker '21, Hatch '21, Young '21, alternate; negative team, Taylor '20, Helson '21, McGown '21, Coburn '21, alternate.

The teams are now working in preparation for the Bradburys to be held April 22. The subject for debate will be: "Resolved, that the best interests of the United States would be furthered by the adoption of the proposed covenant for the League of Nations." The same teams will compose the varsity debating teams. A triangular debate will be arranged with Brown and Wesleyan with whom dates are now pending.

BASEBALL PROSPECTS.

The prospects for a championship team this year are unusually bright. The arrival this term of "Benny" Smethurst '19, last year's varsity pitcher, and "Huck" Finn '19, captain of the team for part of last season until entering the service, has greatly strengthened the squad.

Among the last year's men who will play this year are Paul Mason, who was one of the pitching staff; Fred Hall '19, who was the regular backstop; Caspar '19, varsity first baseman; Cook '20, the varsity's second sacker; Small '19, last year's third baseman; Captain Donnell '19, Grover '19, Allan Hall '20, and Racine '19, who formed the outfield last spring.

The new material is plentiful and good. Flynn of the Freshman crew promises to be a varsity twirler this year or next, K. B. Coombs '20, who played for the second team last year may share the catcher's position with Hall, Perry '22 and Richards '22 are out for first, Don Clifford, who played that position for Bates last season will not be qualified this year by the terms of the team rule. However, he will doubtless be a valuable addition to the squad next year. Dahlgren, who was hurt in the U. of M. football game last fall has reported but is temporarily laid off because of a slight injury to his foot which is not entirely healed. Others reporting are K. C. Coombs '19, Prosser '20, McLellan '21, Williams '21, Morin '22, and Wagg '22.

Coach Houser has been working out with the squad regularly and should expect his charges to make a good showing in the Harvard game Wednesday. The schedule follows:

April 9—Harvard at Cambridge.
April 19—Bates at Lewiston.
April 26—Tufts at Medford.
May 3—Colby at Brunswick.
May 6—Boston College at Boston.
May 7—New Hampshire State College at New Brunswick.
May 10—U. of M. at Brunswick.
May 14—New Hampshire State College at Durham.
May 17—Williams at Williamstown.
May 22—Open.
May 30—Colby at Waterville.
June 6—Bates at Brunswick.
June 7—U. of M. at Orono.

DESCRIPTION OF MARSHAL FOCH.

The following account of meeting General Foch may be of interest to the readers of the Orient. The writer is one of younger graduates of the College.

"I had my first and only sight of Foch at this club (Cercle Interallié) a few evenings ago. He and General Diaz and Admiral Fournier and a few other people dined here and stayed after dinner to talk. It was by an accident that I was here, listening for half an hour to the Marshal telling stories about the German armistice delegates and commenting on things generally. He made a great impression on me by his simplicity and modesty. He talked about the armistice quite unselfishly as a personal triumph. One could see with what dissatisfaction he looked back on it. But there wasn't the least swank in his allusions to any of the incidents of which he was so large a part. In manner and bearing, there is very little in him that is "soldierly." He carries himself well but is not a ramrod, and his face and appearance suggest the man of affairs quite as much as the soldier.

BOWDOIN MEN COMMENDED BY DIVISIONAL COMMANDERS.

It is very interesting and pleasing to note that during the tour of Maine by General Clarence R. Edwards, recent commander of the 26th Division, he paid high tribute to the excellent work and extraordinary record of Lieut. Col. Sherman N. Shumway, Bowdoin '17, who was in his division. Mention of the career of this honored Bowdoin son was made by General Edwards in several addresses he made during the trip. It is also pleasing to note that Brigadier General Charles H. Cole of the 26th Division who landed in New York last week to prepare for the parade of the entire 26th Division in Boston the last of this month, in speaking of the achievements of the men in the division mentioned first the names of Lieut. Colonel Sherman N. Shumway and Major William D. Ireland, Bowdoin '17, of the division.
Back To Normal.

The publication of the forty-ninth volume of the Orient of which this is the first number marks the beginning of a new era in the history of the college following the agitated period of the war. With the exception of the Civil War period, never since her founding in 1794 has Bowdoin College been called upon to meet such varied and perplexing problems of administration and instruction as during the past two years.

Ever since the day of the declaration of war with Germany, two years ago last Sunday, Bowdoin has been face to face with the problem of carrying on the college work with a sadly depleted student body and a depleted faculty; and Bowdoin has met the situation in an admirable manner.

The college is now fairly well back to her pre-war condition. To be sure the curriculum is still experiencing many effects of the war but college life appears to be assuming a quite normal aspect. Social functions are again securing their due prominence in college life; athletics are again being carried on with their pre-war vigor and prospects of winning teams are most promising; the literary life of the college is being happily revived with the resumption of the publication of the Quill; and, what is pleasing to all Bowdoin men, fraternity life is back to normal with the opening of all the houses by the college to the fraternities and the renewal of the dining clubs. The fraternities are greatly indebted to the college authorities for the aid given to them during the trying period of the past year; and although complaints were numerous the fact remains that if it had not been for the taking over of the houses by the college, many of the fraternities would have had a hard row to hoe to maintain their existence.

The aim of the student body should not be merely to bring college life back to normal, however important that may be, but to make Bow-doin better than it was ever before. This can be best accomplished by a more devoted support of college activities in general, by a better college spirit which means that every Bowdoin man should learn and be able to sing Bowdoin Beata, if he cannot now, and by working now for a class of 1923 which will surpass all other entering classes.

It is of supreme importance in the support of college activities that every loyal Bowdoin man pay his blanket tax. In the past there has always been a certain number, sometimes large and oftentimes small, who refuse to lend their support to college activities by not paying their blanket tax. If this condition continues in the future it will become necessary to adopt some such system as advocated in the Amherst Student of March 20, whereby the tax would be made "compulsory and collected with the tuition fee of the college." Let us hope that this will never be necessary and that we can depend on the spirit of the student body more than in the past for the financial support of our ultra-curriculum activities.

A greater student support of the Orient would greatly improve our college life. One of the most important services of the college newspaper should be to act as the medium for student opinion on college problems. The Orient has not fully done this in the past and cannot do so in the future until the members of the student body cultivate the habit of submitting communications more freely. The policy of the Orient with regard to communications was stated in the issue of February 18 and has not changed in the least.

The same support which is urged for the Orient should be lent to every other activity, whether social, athletic, dramatic, or what not. In the reaction which follows the period of stress through which we have just passed, let us not lose from sight what should be our true goal,—to make Bowdoin College the best college.

THE MARCH QUILL.

The Bowdoin Quill redivivus—Good!

The Quill starts again after a suspension wholly creditable. There have been times during its career, one seems to recall, when the fate of another sort of suspension threatened it,—of demise through negligence on the part of alumni with dollars (single, detachable dollars) and of undergraduates with literary brains. Such negligence—(would it be contributory, or non-contributory?)—has never proven fatal—a fact, surely, of fortunate augury; and the Quill, as it resumes its career, has reason to congratulate itself alike on the honor of its continuance and the honor of its suspension, and to look ahead to the future confidently.

It is a pleasure to see again the familiar cover, with its graceful medallion and the silhouette that speaks of a literary tradition in which the College rejoices. Familiarity had almost made us forget how permanently tasteful that cover design is. And perhaps, too, familiarity had somewhat dulled us to the sheer suitability of the very name "Quill." It is one of those inevitable names, like "Lancet," or "Lampoon," which remain everlastingly happy. Name and format together do all that name and format can to prosper the cause of the Bowdoin literary monthly. May the Quill prosper as it deserves, from now on, uninterruptedly.

One turns to the Table of Contents of the March number with unusual curiosity. Like every other institution the College has passed, within a twelve month, through strange experiences. There have been upheavals, great uncertainties and questionings, voyages, adventures, battles, high aspirations, heroic deeds. Like every other institution the College returns now to itself—or does it? Is the past ever to be possible again? Is the renewed Quill a novel mirror of martial vicissitude and reality, or is it still just the modest reflector of honest amateur enthusiasm for literature?

It is both. That is the answer the reader gets to these questions. If he went no further than the greeting of the editors, with its touching tribute to that fine spirit, Forbes Rickard, he would find how poignantly the Quill realizes the war. He goes on, however, to the informal record of the personal experience of Professor Davis at Plattsburg, a record, in part, of "homey detail," such as the historians may, or may not, crowd summarily into a footnote, and such as plain posterity will like to dip into, as we like to dip into the photographic history of the Civil war. Only in part, though, is it such a record: the "Faculty people" whom the recorder describes must not be classed as "homey detail," and the phrases in which he describes them are too effective and vivid to be details—they are whole pictures. It is indeed to be hoped, and it will no doubt be brought about, that the Quill will publish more of the records of the experience of Bowdoin men "who had the good fortune to take part in the war."

Then, in the vein or strain that witnesses the unperturbed persistence of such an emulous feeling for letters, for books, for verse, as founded the Quill and kept it going for twenty years, there appear a sonnet, and another bit of verse; the carefully-studied retelling of somebody else's story; an appreciative comment on the poetry of Sara Teasdale; and a pleasant essay-in-miniature with the artful title, "A Middle-Class Journey."

It is mainly the function of the Quill to encourage undergraduate writing; it ought to be the main function of a reviewer to encourage the Quill. To do otherwise, indeed, appears almost as graceless a proceeding as to mention discords in connection with a volunteer choir. Certainly the editors of the Quill, and the contributors to it, deserve at all times that cordial recognition which should be regularly given to willing workers, but often is not so given. Perhaps the reviewer ought also—but no! One is too glad to see the Quill back to mix or modify the welcome.

RESULTS OF STUDENT ELECTIONS.

The elections held at the close of last term showed the following results: Assistant manager of football, Willson '21; editor-in-chief of the Orient, Goodrich '20; managing editor, Haines '21.

RHODES SCHOLARSHIPS.

Resumption of Competitions, October, 1919—Preliminary Announcement.

1. Date: As announced recently through the press, appointments to Rhodes Scholarships in the United States, which were postponed for the duration of the war, will be resumed in October, 1919. There will be elections in all states, and sixteen states, which, under normal conditions, would have appointed scholars both for 1918 and 1919, will be allowed to appoint two scholars this year. These states are Alabama, Arkansas, California, Colorado, Georgia, Iowa, Kansas, Michigan, Minnesota, Mississippi, Missouri, Nebraska, Oregon, Texas, Washington, Wisconsin. Other states will elect one scholar each.

2. General Regulations: The Rhodes will provides for two scholars constantly at Oxford from each state in the Union. Each scholar stays three years and receives a stipend of three hundred pounds a year, out of which he pays his tuition, fees, and expenses exactly as any other student. There are no restrictions as to the subjects which he should study; Rhodes scholars may take any of the various Oxford honor schools, or, if prepared, may work for the Oxford research degrees of B. Litt., B. Sc., B. C. L., or Ph. D. Candidates must be unmarried, between the ages of nineteen and twenty-five, and must have completed at least their second year in college. Candidates may try for the appointment either from the state in which they reside or from that in which they have received the major part of their education.

3. Abandonment of Qualifying Examination: The qualifying examination which has been required of all candidates for Rhodes scholarships in the past is now to be abandoned and it will only be necessary for candidates to make formal application, endorsed by the authorities of their college or university. The selection will be made in the future, as in the past, on the basis of a man's record in school and college, according to the four points outlined in the Rhodes will; (1) scholarship, (2) character, (3) interest in outdoor sports, and (4) interest in one's fellows and instincts for leadership.

4. Method of Selection: The selections will be made by committees in each state, constituted for that purpose. A list of the names of the men to whom application should be made, together with a formal application blank, will be printed in June and copies will be sent to any address upon application to Frank Aydelotte, American secretary to the Rhodes trustees, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Cambridge, Mass. Meanwhile further questions concerning the scholarships should be addressed to any college president, or ex-Rhodes scholar, or to the American secretary. College presidents and ex-Rhodes scholars are asked to give the material of this announcement the widest publicity.

FRANK AYDELOTT

STUDENT FORUM INAUGURAL AT BOWDOIN.

On March 12 a student forum made its first appearance at Bowdoin. It is decidedly an innovation, unless the lyceums or debating societies of earlier days may be considered its forerunners. The forum was fortunate in securing as its initial speaker, Robert Treat Whitehouse of Portland, who spoke on the timely subject of the League of Nations. Foulke '19 made a brief speech explaining the purposes of the forum and introducing the speaker. Mr. Whitehouse gave an interesting and instructive talk on the proposed league presenting arguments for and against it. The students present then accepted the opportunity of asking questions of the speaker. From the good attendance and the keen interest exhibited in the informal discussion it is evident that the forum is likely to prove a decided success here at Bowdoin.

MANY STUDENTS BACK THIS TERM.

The opening of the spring term has brought back many men who have been away in various branches of the service. Their return is a welcome one indeed, and makes all the brighter the prospect of a quick "come back" of student activities here at college. The following men From the senior class: Clark, Farnham, Finn, have thus far registered at the college office. Freese, Higgins, Hurlin, Hutchinson, MacCormick, Mitchell, Norton, Savage, Smethurst, Spear and Sturgis. Of the juniors: Adams, Avery, Crossman, Leach, Libby, Rollins and Gordon. Of the sophomores: Chick, Eames, Goodwin, Hall, Holmes and Warren.

H. D. EBERLEIN TALKS AT CHAPEL ON ITALY'S CLAIMS.

At the first chapel exercises of the term, held Tuesday morning, April 1, Mr. Harold Donaldson Eberlein of Philadelphia gave a very interesting talk concerning one of the most difficult questions before the Peace Conference at Versailles, the Italian problem. Mr. Eberlein began his lecture with a detailed explanation of Italy's attitude during the early days of the war, paying a high tribute to the loyalty and patriotism of the Italians. He then showed, on the basis of an elaborate and carefully constructed argument, that the Dalmatian coast together with the town of Fiume should rightfully be granted to Italy. Mr. Eberlein passed several months in Italy as a correspondent for important periodicals and is in a position to know her needs. He is also the author of several well-known books and is about to publish another on the matter described so clearly in his lecture.

SPRING TRACK COMMENCES.

On Tuesday, the day college opened, Coach Magee issued a call for candidates for spring track. Since then a good number of men have been reporting every day. These include Captain Cleaves ’20, Foulke ’19, Moses ’20, Thompson ’21, all men of track experience, besides promising Freshman candidates. The squad will be materially strengthened by the addition of Caspar ’19, discus thrower; Savage ’19, hurdler, and sprint man, and Goodwin ’21, middle distance runner. Thus far the work has consisted of outdoor runs for conditioning. Later the candidates will train for the various events at Whittier Field. Coach Magee is anxious to see a still larger number of men training, regardless of their previous track experience.

Last Saturday at Waterville a conference was held at which the officials for the Maine meet were selected. Among those present were Managers Coates of Bates, Brown of Bowdoin, Drew of Colby, and Dingley of the University of Maine, Coaches French and Magee of the University of Maine and Bowdoin respectively. The officials selected are the best in the East including George V. Brown of the B. A. A., H. C. McGrath, starter, and D. B. Osthues, clerk of course.

A dual meet will be held with New Hampshire State College at Durham, May 3. The state meet will take place at Orono, May 27.

NEW COURSES BEING OFFERED.

The abnormal conditions here this year have made it advisable to offer a number of new courses for the accommodation of the men returning and also to complete work taken by men in the S.A.T.C. Professor Bell is offering a new course in Contemporary History and Politics. He is also offering certain revised courses in Government. Professor Meserve is to give a course in Geology, and Professor Cram has started one in Mineralogy. For the benefit of those men who started Physics at the beginning of the second term there is to be a special laboratory course under the direction of Mr. Hilton. Special courses in Calculus, Spherical Trigonometry and Surveying, have been added to the department of mathematics. Professors Catlin and McClean are to give courses on Public Finance and Corporations. There have also been several minor changes and adaptations in the courses dealing with the languages, art, economics and sociology.

CALL FOR CANDIDATES FOR THE ORIENT BOARD.

So far only two men have announced their intention of entering the competition for the Sophomore membership on the Orient Board. It does not seem to be generally understood that a man is selected for the Board every fall from the Sophomore class. The success of the Orient depends in large measure upon the quantity and quality of the competition that it encourages. Each fraternity should feel duty bound to send out one or more candidates this spring.

CALENDAR.

April 9—Baseball, Bowdoin vs. Harvard, at Cambridge.
April 10—House parties held by the following fraternities: Delta Kappa Epsilon, Theta Delta Chi, Kappa Sigma, Zeta Psi, Delta Upsilon, and Psi Upsilon.
April 11—Sophomore Hop, Bowdoin Gymnasium.
April 12—Glee Club Concert at Sanford, Me.

On the Campus

As the snow disappears the crack of the bat is frequently heard on the Campus.
Professor Meserve will lecture at 10.30 Wednesday morning in the chemistry lecture room. The lecture will be open to all students of the College.

Blanket taxes are payable today and tomorrow at the manager’s room in the gymnasium.

The Orient will appear on Tuesday during the present term.

John E. Burbank ’96, of Freeman, Me., was on the Campus last Saturday. He was an instructor in physics at Bowdoin from 1896 until 1900.

George S. Nevens ex-’18, Dental Assistant, 104th Field Hospital, 101st Engineers, is expected to arrive at his home in Brunswick within a few days.

Rev. Norris A. Buncamper ’19, has occupied the pulpit at the Kellogg Congregational Church at Harpswell Centre each Sunday for the last three weeks. One of the evening services was very interesting when the pastor took for his theme his home people in Southwest India.

Ensign Noel C. Little ’19, who is studying at the Harvard Graduate School, was on the Campus shortly before college opened.

Lieut. Bela W. Norton ’18 was on the Campus for a short time before the end of last term.

Lieut. Perley S. Turner ex-’19, Augusta, was on the Campus last week for a little while and was cordially greeted by the boys.

Several of the ends seem almost deserted as a result of the influx this term of the upper-classmen to the fraternity houses.

Seven men have reported to Manager Mc-Williams of the baseball team as candidates for assistant manager. They are Curran of the Psi U. House, Vose of the D. K. E. House, Barker of the T. D. House, Ridley of the D. U. House, King of the Sigma Nu House, Clymer of the Chi Psi House, and Merry of the Kappa Sig House.

Several undergraduates, who left college to join the service and have recently been discharged, have returned for the third term. They are being cordially received by their classmates and the college as a whole.

The Freshmen the past week have had an excellent opportunity to display their ability at moving for their upper-classmen and at cleaning up the fraternity houses.

Many of the boys assisted Mrs. Sills last week in entertaining a company of young ladies from Portland who spent the afternoon at President’s home.

Richard Cobb ’22 made a trip during vacation to Camp Jackson, Columbia, South Carolina, to visit his brother, Captain Roland Cobb, Bowdoin ’17, who has recently returned from France with a Southern division. Captain Cobb expects to be discharged soon now and upon his return North will visit the college.

The Musical Clubs will go to Sanford this coming Saturday night, April 12, where they will give a concert under the auspices of a local church in that town.

The Sophomore hop Friday night will be the first real college social function of the year. Two college dances were given the first term while the army regime was in order, but the affair Friday evening will mark the first social function after the college’s return to a pre-war basis.

Six fraternities will hold house dances Thursday night, prior to the Sophomore hop the following evening. The fraternities are the Delta Upsilon, Psi Upsilon, Delta Kappa Epsilon, Kappa Sigma, Theta Delta Chi, and Zeta Psi.

Ten men received straight “A” in all their courses this last term. Their names were read in chapel by President Sills the opening of the third term, a week ago last Tuesday. They are Foulke ’19, Hilton ’19, Goodrich ’20, Hatch ’21, Morrill ’21, Morse ’21, Prout ’21, Simpson ’22, Towle ’22, Ham ’22.

With the Faculty

President and Mrs. Sills attended the debate on “The League of Nations” between between Senator Lodge and President Lowell at Boston last month.

President Sills was notified March 17th by Secretary Daniels that President Wilson had for the third time appointed him a member of the Board of Visitors of the Naval Academy. The board is to meet at Annapolis on Monday, June 2.

At the last meeting for the year of the Town and College Club, Professor Moody read an interesting paper on “Modern Aims in Teaching Mathematics.”

The quarterly milk inspection report for the town of Brunswick was recently submitted by Professor Gross.

President K. C. M. Sills was in Boston Thursday, April 3, attending a banquet held at the Boston City Club, at which Donald B. MacMillan, Class of 1888, was the principal speaker.

Captain P. W. Meserve, who has been in France for some time in connection with the American Gas Service, has returned and taken up his work in the chemistry department.

Professor Woodruff has recently visited Wheaton College.

Professor Stanwood spent the spring vacation in Washington, D. C.

Dean Nixon has been in Illinois during the spring vacation.

Dr. Copeland went to Taunton, Mass., for the spring holidays.

Mr. G. G. Wilder has been called home to Pembroke on account of the serious illness of his mother.

HARVARD HELD UNTIL NINTH INNING.

At Cambridge last Wednesday, Bowdoin made the best showing against the Harvard baseball nine since her defeat of the latter in 1907. The contest was a hard fight from start to finish, and was not decided until the very last inning. Flinn, pitching for the first time in a college game, gave a splendid exhibition against the university team. Besides holding Harvard to seven hits, the Bowdoin pitcher hit the ball on the nose twice, getting one clean single and a base on balls out of three times at bat. In the field he accepted seven chances without an error.

Bowdoin played somewhat better ball in the field than her opponent, being charged with two less errors than Harvard. As for individual fielding, Donnell and Cook did well for Bowdoin and McLeod and Emmons for Harvard.

Emmons and Frothingham of Harvard delivered the most telling hits of the game while Flinn did the best work at the bat for Bowdoin.

In the first inning, Donnell started the game by reaching first on an infield error, stole second, and scored the first run on a clean single by Finn. Harvard tied the score in its half when Emmons singled and was forced in as a result of three bases on balls. Bowdoin took the lead again in the second when Prosser, Grover, and Flinn singled in succession, and Donnell walked. Flinn settled down somewhat after the first inning, but Harvard scored in the fourth on a single by Perkins and a triple by Frothingham. In the fifth Harvard scored an unearned run, when Evans crossed the plate with the aid of a bad error by Finn. Bowdoin squared matters again in the eighth by means of a couple wild throws. Donnell reached second when the Harvard pitcher heaved the ball over Frothingham's head, and then scored when the first baseman threw the ball beyond Perkins in an attempt to get the Bowdoin man at third. Harvard finally took the game in the ninth when Stillman doubled. The Crimson catcher left the game and Baldwin went in to run for him. The latter took third on a sacrifice and scored on a timely hit by Emmons. Cook ’20, was hit in the elbow by a pitched ball, but finished the game. He has been unable to practice for the last week, but expects to play in the Bates game.

This game is a most satisfactory start for the season and it augurs well of future success in the Maine series and other games. Following is the summary:

THE SOPHOMORE HOP.
The annual Sophomore Hop, the first formal dance of the present college year, was held in the Gymnasium last Friday night. It was an unusually successful affair, one of the largest in years. The decorations of the hall and the various booths were also especially attractive. The Mystic Orchestra of Lewiston under the leadership of Henry Sprince ’19 furnished excellent music for the order of twenty-four dances.

The patronesses were: Mrs. Kenneth C. M. Sills, Mrs. Frank E. Woodruff, Mrs. William A. Moody, Mrs. Charles C. Hutchins, Mrs. Frank

The committee in charge consisted of Wilfred L. Parent '21, chairman, Walter J. Rich, Jr., '21, John E. Woodward '21, and Harold A. Dudgeon '21.

BOWDOIN 3, CABOTS 2.

Last Saturday the Bowdoin nine defeated the local team from the Cabot mill in a practice game by the score of 3 to 2. The Cabots held Bowdoin to a much lower score than was expected, especially after Bowdoin's performance against Harvard. Flinn pitched six innings and allowed four hits, two of which were of the scratchy order. Tuttle twirled the last three innings, allowing only one hit, which did not affect the score at all. The Bowdoin team secured eleven clean hits off "Babe" Charron. Both teams were rather weak on the defence, the Cabots making six errors, and Bowdoin one less. Hall took the batting honors for Bowdoin and Hutchins for the locals, each securing three singles apiece. Finn and Prosser also did creditable work at the bat.

Both teams got their first scores in the sixth inning. In the first half, Small '19 struck out, and then Zeitler '20, landed on one for a three-base hit to deep centre. Hutchins then came through with a clean single to left and Zeitler tallied. For Bowdoin, Clifford led off with a long double to centre, but was put out when he tried to stretch it to a triple. Hall singled cleanly to left and went to second on Holmes' sacrifice to the pitcher. Prosser drove out a single to centre, and Hall scored when the ball went through McKenney, while Prosser got around to third. Grover ended the inning with a fly to Smith.

In the seventh each team scored again. For the Cabots, Comee walked and took second on Tuttle's wild pitch. McKenney fanned and Lavoie was retired on a grounder to Clifford, while Comee went to third. Joe Smith drove a grounder through Donnell, scoring the Cabot catcher. In Bowdoin's half, Coombs singled with two out, and took second on Finn's hit. Clifford hit a grounder which went through Hutchins and Coombs scored. Hall was retired on a foul tip to Comee, ending the inning.

In the ninth inning the Cabots filled the bases with two out, but Zeitler failed to connect with the ball for the third time in the contest, and the Cabots' last chance was gone. After two Bowdoin men had been disposed of Coombs reached first on Small's error, and then scored the winning run on Finn's double to centre.

Bowdoin played a much looser game Saturday than against Harvard three days before, but on the other hand several substitutes were used. Although Bates defeated Harvard 9 to 7 last week, there is no reason to worry over the coming State series, because in that game Harvard used not only two substitute infielders but also three second string pitchers, and then outhit the Lewiston aggregation almost two to one.

BOWDOIN SECOND TEAM ORGANIZED.

For the first time in several years, the Bowdoin second team will have considerable importance. It is to be regarded more as a separate club than as a minor part of the varsity squad. A captain will be elected in the near future, and a schedule will be completed. Two games have been already arranged; the first with Morse High on May 24, and the second with Hebron Academy on May 28.

MUSICAL MEN MUST PAY BLANKET TAX.

By a vote of the Board of Managers and the Student Council, members of the musical clubs must pay their blanket tax before they can represent the college on such organizations. This action was taken in view of the fact that while the clubs receive no appropriation from the student body they are as much representatives of the college as the men on the athletic teams and as such should be compelled to support student organizations as a whole.

MEMORIAL SERVICE FOR LIEUTENANT ROBINSON '10.

A memorial service was held for Lieut. Warren Eastman Robinson, Company C, 102d Machine Gun Battalion, at the Church of the New Jerusalem on Bowdoin street (Boston, Mass.) last Sunday. Lieut. Robinson took part in all the major battles of the 26th Division, at Chateau Thierry, St. Mihiel and the last great battle on the Meuse, in which action he fell. He was twice cited in division orders for gallantry in action.
The Sophomore Hop.

The attendance at the Sophomore Hop last Friday night evinced a most commendable spirit on the part of the student body. At very few college dances in recent years have the students responded so heartily. The music was also exceptionally good. It is seldom that criticism is offered on account of liberality in giving encores, but if a definite time limit is to be set for the closing of the dance, it seems that a time limit should be set for each number so that the entire order of dances may be completed.

It is regrettable that through some misunderstanding, may we hope it was that, proper means of conveyance were not provided for all the chaperons. This error of omission may be subject to pardon if the facts were known but it should be a warning to committees in the future to see that sufficient carriages are provided for the patronesses.

Scholarship Aid.

Last week scholarship aid to the amount of over ten thousand dollars was awarded to needy and deserving students in college. This aid is greatly appreciated by the students, to be sure, but with no outward expression of their appreciation to those who awarded the aid and to whom they are largely indebted for it. President Sills' comment on the subject in chapel last Sunday was certainly to the point. We owe it to ourselves to make some expression of thanks for the liberal aid which we receive in college, thanks to Bowdoin's heavy endowment.

This aid, while it is not given in the spirit of a loan which must be paid within a certain time, should encourage all students who receive it and, in fact, make them feel morally bound to contribute in some way or other in later life to the well-being of the college in some material manner.

Alumni News.

To us in college the news items of the Orient may not seem very interesting as most of the news is of what we do and therefore of what we already know. It serves rather as a record of college life which may be more interesting to read in the future than now. To the alumni, however, the Orient serves a distinct purpose both in conveying to them college happenings, and, what is perhaps more important, in acquainting them with what other alumni are doing through the alumni notes. It is very essential therefore to a wide circulation of the paper among the alumni that the alumni column be given more careful attention and due prominence. All readers of the Orient are urged to send all news items about Bowdoin alumni which come to their attention to the managing editor.
TENNIS PROSPECTS BRIGHT.

From the present forecast the tennis prospects for the coming season are very bright. Captain Chin, only letter man of last year's team, will prove the mainstay of the team this year. He will be ably backed up by Mitchell '19, who just returned to college from service in Naval Aviation. He was a veteran player prior to his enlistment and will doubtless be seen in action this spring. Sawyer '19, Burr '20, and Partridge '22 are also out for the team. All these men are good players having had previous experience at the game. When the call for candidates for the team is sounded, which is expected to be very soon, several other men are expected to respond and with such a nucleus to work on it is expected that a winning combination will be developed.

Manager Hall '20 of the tennis team is now arranging the schedule for the season. The opening match of the season will be at the Longwood Courts, Boston, the week of May 11, when the New England Intercollegiate Tournament will be played. Following that will come the Bowdoin Interscholastic Tournament which will be staged here at the college, May 9 and 10. All the high schools and preparatory schools of the State will be invited to compete. Following in order will be the Maine Intercollegiate Tournament which will be entertained here this year on the dates of May 22, 23, 24. This will take in the four Maine colleges. A dual tournament is pending with Bates College, but the date as yet has not been settled.

MUSICAL CLUBS VISIT SANFORD.

Last Saturday evening the Musical Clubs entertained a large audience at the Sanford Town Hall. The concert was given under the auspices of the Universalist Church of that town. A banquet was tendered the members of the clubs after the performance. Dancing followed till midnight.

MUSICAL CLUB ACTIVITIES.

Monday evening, April 21, has been set as the date for the annual appearance in Brunswick of the Bowdoin Musical Clubs. The concert will be given in the Town hall, and dancing will follow. The fact that the concert comes directly after Easter will draw a large crowd. The clubs this year are exceptionally good. They contain excellent material both in the clubs and the special numbers. Tickets for the concert will be fifty cents plus the war tax and may be obtained from Manager McGorrill of the clubs.

On Wednesday night, May 23, the clubs will go to Portland en route to Boston, and give their annual concert in the Forest City at Frye hall. The concert is under the auspices of the Beta chapter of Delta Epsilon, a popular club in Portland. On the next day they will go to Boston for the Boston concert held each year at the Somerset Hotel under the direction of the Bowdoin Club of Boston. They will go to Beverly from Boston, where a big affair is being planned under the auspices of the Beverly Singing Club. The clubs will render their concert in conjunction with the Beverly Singing Club, following which a formal reception and dance will be tendered to the Bowdoin men.

AGREEMENT FOR CO-OPERATIVE BUYING.

A Co-operative Buyers' Association, embracing all duly organized fraternities of Bowdoin College, is being strongly agitated on the Campus just now. The purpose of such a co-operative plan is to save money in buying food stuffs under one head, which will curtail to a large degree the over-head expenses in running the dining rooms.

Such a system has been agitated here at the college for several years and has been strongly favored, but it has lacked the initiative to put it through. Since the college has turned back the fraternity houses to the different chapters, the need for such a system became acute, because it was seen that at the present prices of goods, it was next to impossible to run the several dining rooms and make them a paying proposition.

A tentative agreement has been drawn up for such an association by some of the stewards and other parties interested. A meeting of the stewards was held recently at which this matter was discussed and those present were strongly in favor of such a plan. Others who were not present expressed their endorsement of the matter. At that meeting it was decided to submit the matter to each fraternity for endorsement at their meetings and for each fraternity to give his steward, who is to be the duly elected representative from that chapter, authority to act in their behalf at the next meeting. This meeting will decide whether or not this matter goes through.

ERRORS IN THE LAST ORIENT.

Attention is called to the fact that credit should have been given to Captain Bell rather than Captain Meserve for making a tentative constitution for the League of Nations, erroneously stated in the last ORIENT. The ORIENT requests that its readers call mistakes of this nature to the attention of the managing editor so that he may set them aright as far as possible.

On the Campus

will probably enter Oxford next year.

Professor Burnett has purchased the house adjacent to the Alpha Delta Phi House on Maine street and expects to move in by the first of May.

Dean Thayer of the Medical School was in Brunswick last Wednesday.

Professor Ham spent the week end in Boston.

Alumni Notes

'65—The death of a man who has been prominent for over fifty years in Maine politics occurred April 7, 1919. Hon. Joseph Eugene Moore was born at Lisbon, Me., March 14, 1841. Three years after his graduation he received the degree of Master of Arts, and was also admitted to the bar. Mr. Moore served three terms in the Maine House of Representatives; the first in 1878, the second in 1883, and the last in 1885. In 1880 he was one of the Maine delegates at the Democratic National Convention in Cincinnati. Four years later he was an alternate at the convention held in Chicago. Under President Cleveland, he was the collector of customs for the Waldoboro district. In 1883 he was a member of a commission which revised the statutes of Maine. From 1896 until his death Mr. Moore was an overseer of Bowdoin College. He was a member of the Psi Upsilon and Phi Beta Kappa fraternities.

Medic '84—Dr. Frederic Carroll Heath of Indianapolis, Ind., died October 16, 1918. He was born at Gardiner, Maine, January 19, 1857. He graduated from Amherst College in 1878, and received a Master's degree from that institution in 1886, two years after his graduation from the Bowdoin Medical School. Dr. Heath was Acting Assistant Surgeon at the U. S. Marine Hospital Service in Portland from 1884 to 1886. After that, he was Assistant Surgeon at Chicago until 1887, and then at Detroit until 1890. Until 1892, he was a practicing physician at Lafayette, Ind., after which he went to Indianapolis. Dr. Heath was now appointed Clinical Professor on Diseases of the Eye at Indiana University. From 1910 until 1911 he served as president of the Indiana Medical Association.

Ex-'91—Col. Edmund M. Leary, commanding the 35th Infantry, 90th Division, U.S.A., has been awarded the distinguished service cross and cited for bravery. Col. Leary entered Bowdoin in 1887 but left college in the spring of 1888 to enter the United States Military Academy at West Point, graduating in the spring of 1892 as second lieutenant of cavalry. In 1901 he was made a captan and assigned to the 11th Cavalry, whence he was assigned to the 9th Cavalry on the Border. He was later promoted to lieutenant-colonel in the 12th Cavalry and later was ordered to the 90th Division as a colonel. When sent across, he was in command of the 35th Infantry, a fighting unit.

'05—Major George C. Webber of Auburn recently returned from Chicago, where the members of his battalion had presented him with a loving cup bearing the following inscription: "Presented to Major George C. Webber in appreciation by the men of the Fifth Anti-Air Craft Machine Gun Battalion, March 26, 1919." Below this inscription is engraved the insignia adopted by the battalion. This is called the "Red Devil," and it represents a German soldier with an arrow piercing his body. The vase is gold-lined and is nearly two feet high. Major Webber has had many exciting experiences during his time of service in France. In a recent issue of the Lewiston Journal he is quoted as making this striking statement, "France is poorer only in blood and men, but aside from that, is richer than ever before in all her history."

'98—In the New York Times of April 4th, there appeared a citation of Major Thomas L. Pierce, of the 325th Infantry. The notice in the Times is as follows: "The Commander-in-Chief, in the name of the President, has awarded the Distinguished Service Cross to ... Major Thomas L. Pierce, 325th Infantry, for extraordinary heroism in action near St. Juvin, between Oct. 11 and 14. Although suffering from a machine gun bullet wound, he refused to go to an aid station, but remained in personal command of his battalion during the action. Upon receiving two other wounds three days later, this officer again refused assistance and remained with his command until the afternoon, when he was again severely wounded. He permitted himself to be evacuated only after he had given his successor detailed instructions and information." Major Pierce is the brother of Henry H. Pierce '96, the author of the words of "Bowdoin Beata."

'99—Word has just recently been received concerning the death of Alton Amaziah Hayden, who died July 18, 1917, at Guadalajara, Jalisco, Mexico. He was born March 24, 1878, at Presque Isle, Maine. He studied medicine at Johns Hopkins University for one year after his graduation from Bowdoin. Mr. Hayden was a chemist at Swissvale, Tenn., and at Rankin, Penn., from 1905 to 1908. Until he went to Mexico he was a lawyer in Chicago, Ill.
'01—At the annual meeting of the Cumberland County Teachers' Association, held March 7, Principal George R. Gardner of the Brunswick High School was elected vice-president of the association for the coming year.

'03—Lieutenant Henry A. Peabody, U. S. A., and Register of Probate for Cumberland County, returned to his home in Portland April 2 from service in France with an Anti-Air Craft Battery. With the outbreak of the war he was one of a few non-commissioned officers from Maine selected for training at Fort Oglethorpe, Ga. Later he was sent to France and stationed at an anti-air craft artillery school in Paris, where he received his commission. Lieut. Peabody has had many thrilling experiences. The battery to which he was attached was passed in a lively location and was busy repelling bombing attacks. He went through three night raids at Nancy during every one of three visits that he made to that city. He was also in Paris when the city was being bombarded by the German long-range gun.

'07—Edward Carpenter Pope, of the Beta Theta Pi fraternity, died last month at Manchester, Me. He was 39 years of age. Since graduation from Bowdoin he had been employed in agriculture in Manchester.

'07—Dr. William C. Whitmore ('07 and Medic '09), who was expected to return to his home in Portland recently, has just been sent to Germany, where he is expected to remain about a year. Dr. Whitmore is now a captain in the Medical Corps of the American Expeditionary Force. He has specialized in orthopedic work, and there is great demand for his services. Another Portland doctor who has also been sent to Germany is Philip P. Thompson, who had been an instructor of embryology in the Bowdoin Medical School from 1911 until the war.

'08—Captain Arthur L. Robinson, U. S. A., of Portland, has been appointed clerk in charge of investigations by Hon. Guy H. Sturgis '98, also of Portland, and the attorney general. Captain Robinson immediately entered Harvard Law School after his graduation, and received the degree of LL.B. in 1911. He was admitted to practice before the courts of Maine that same year and became a member of the Cumberland bar. In July, 1917, Captain Robinson entered the Federal service as a first lieutenant. He was commissioned a captain on November 27, 1917. He did not receive orders for overseas duty until October, 1918. Captain Robinson returned to the United States in January and was discharged in February.

ex-'12—Mark W. Burlingame has recently accepted the position of publicity director of the Maine State Agricultural and Industrial League, which was organized last year for the purpose of overcoming the opposition from other states against the Maine agricultural markets. Since leaving Bowdoin, he has been active in Boston advertising circles, acting as advertising manager of the National Sportsman Magazine, advertising manager of Filene's Automatic Bargain Basement, editor of the Pilgrim Publicity News, director of the Pilgrim Publicity Association. He has also lectured on advertising at the Boston University School of Business Administration. Burlingame, he has been active in Boston advertising circles, acting as advertising manager of the National Sportsman Magazine, advertising manager of Filene's Automatic Bargain Basement, editor of the Pilgrim Publicity News, director of the Pilgrim Publicity Association, and also having lectured on advertising at Boston University School of Business Administration.

ex-'13—Word has just been received at the college concerning the death of First Lieutenant Frederic Trevenen Edwards, who was killed in action near Montfaucon Oct. 6, 1918. He was buried with military honors in a French cemetery at Fleury-sur-Aire, Meuse. Lieutenant Edwards stayed at Bowdoin only two years, but he afterwards went to Columbia University, from which he graduated in 1915. Immediately after his graduation he entered the General Theological Seminary, New York City. He had almost passed all the requirements for a Diaconate, when the United States declared war, and he enlisted. He won his commission in the 18th Field Artillery, U.S.A. He was a member of the Theta Delta Chi fraternity.

'15—Mr. and Mrs. M. V. MacKinnon announce the arrival of a daughter, Virginia Louise, on Feb. 14, 1919. Mr. MacKinnon has just been released from active service in the Navy, and is now the Cleveland representative of the Alexander Hamilton Institute. He enlisted as a seaman, but was later sent to an officers' school to study for his commission as an ensign.

'15—Lieut. Joseph C. MacDonald has just returned from aviation service in France and has received his discharge from the service. He will return to his studies at Union Theological Seminary in New York after a week's stay in Bangor. Previous to entering the aviation service, Lieut. MacDonald was in ambulance work where he was severely injured.

RESOLUTIONS.

Hall of the Kappa Chapter of Psi Upsilon:
The death of Brother Joseph Eugene Moore of the Class of 1865, which occurred last Monday, marked the passing of a beloved and esteemed brother of the Kappa who always had the interests of his college and fraternity at heart.

To him we are greatly indebted for our chapter house for it was largely through his earnest and untiring efforts that it was originally built and so comfortably furnished. Courageous and determined in everything that he undertook, sympathetic and kindly toward all, a man of broad intellect and many-sided interests, Brother Moore's death comes as a distinct loss to all who knew him.

To his family and friends, the Kappa extends her feeling of profound sorrow.

For the Chapter.

In Memoriam
Whereas, Our beloved brother, Robert L. Hull, having answered his Country's call to arms in the great European War, has been summoned by Almighty God to die for the honor of his county, and
Whereas, During the time of his fraternity life, he displayed those traits of sterling character which endear men to their friends and make zealous and faithful sons of Theta Delta Chi, be it, therefore,
Resolved, That the members of Eta Charge deeply mourn the loss of this, their brother, who has now passed into the halls of Omega, that their heartfelt sympathy be extended to his relatives in their bereavement and that they be assured of the inexpressible sorrow of the Eta Charge at the loss of one who was bound to us by the closest ties of friendship, and be it further Resolved, That these resolutions be entered upon the records of Eta Charge, that a copy be sent to his bereaved family, to the Grand Lodge, to each Sister Charge, and to The Shield for publication, and that our badges be draped for a period of nine days.

For Eta Charge,
Carl J. Longren,
Sanford B. Cousins.

LET'S CLEAN IT UP.
The United War Work Fund is still before us. Bowdoin pledged $5,503.10 during the campaign in November. On Feb. 7 Professor Catlin announced a total payment of $3,750.05. Owing to the change in conditions since the money was pledged, many of the pledgees have left college. In spite of that the committee is anxious that those remaining in college should clean up their pledges at once and help Bowdoin to make a standing of at least 80 per cent. paid.

A new recruit, placed on guard for the first time, about midnight observed a shadowy form approaching from the distance. Following his instructions, he called out:
"Halt! Who goes there?"
"Shut up!" a husky voice replied; "I ain't going; I'm coming back."—Exchange.

BOWDOIN DRIVES CUSICK FROM MOUND IN THIRD INNING.

Last Saturday in the annual exhibition game with Bates at Lewiston, Bowdoin won easily 13 to 4. With the exception of the seventh inning, Bowdoin played good baseball. The most interesting feature for Bowdoin men was the fact that Cusick was driven from the mound in the third inning, after four runs had been scored against him. Finn pitched a steady and successful brand of ball all through the game except in the seventh inning, when Bates secured all its tallies. Only two of the runs scored by the Lewiston team were earned.

Bowdoin started the game right in the first inning by scoring two runs. Donnell singled, stole second, and after Finn walked, a double steal was pulled off, putting men on second and third. Prosser scored both runners with a clean single. In the second, although Finn walked and Donnell reached first on Trask’s error, no scores resulted.

The big inning for the Bowdoin nine was the third. Cusick was very wild, and after hitting Finn with a pitched ball, uncorked a wild pitch, and then walked Caspar and Prosser, thus filling the bases. Finn scored on Hall’s fly to Maxim. Caspar came in when Stone dropped the ball which had been thrown to him on Holmes’ hit. Grover walked, and the bases were full again. Finn drove a liner to right, scoring Prosser and Holmes. This was the end of Cusick, who was relieved by Garrett. After Donnell had been put out on an infield play, Grover scored the fifth and last run of the inning on Talbot’s error.

In the fourth inning, Caspar and Prosser reached first on two errors by Davidson. They each advanced one base on Hall’s sacrifice bunt to Garrett. Holmes walked, filling the bases. Grover walked, forcing in Caspar, and then Prosser scored on a fielder’s choice.

In the next inning, a base on balls, a hit by Caspar, and a sacrifice netted another run. Grover singled in the sixth, stole second, and scored when Donnell’s grounder went through Dillon. In the following inning, an error by Rice, a base on balls, and a sacrifice, allowed Caspar to score Bowdoin’s twelfth run. Bowdoin’s last tally came in the eighth when Grover doubled, took third on Flinn’s out, and scored on Donnell’s infield out.

In the last of the seventh, with one out, Trask was hit by a pitched ball, took second when Stone was safe on Caspar’s error, and third on a fielder’s choice through which Stone was caught out, and Moulton reached first. Rice singled, scoring Trask, and then Moulton scored on Garrett’s hit and Grover’s error. Rice was now on third and Garrett on second, and both men came home when Prosser fumbled Maxim’s single.

FRESHMAN Y. M. C. A. CABINET ORGANIZED.

At a recent meeting of the Y. M. C. A. Cabinet the following men were elected to the Freshman Cabinet: Zeta Psi, Towle, Thayer; Beta Theta Pi, Hart, Cobb; Kappa Sigma, McCurdy, Pugsley; Psi Upsilon, Bagdikian, Wetherill; Delta Upsilon, Congdon, Norton; Theta Delta Chi, Pickard, Bathson; Sigma Nu, Scaland, Noyes; Delta Kappa Epsilon, Ferris, Averill; Alpha Delta Phi, Ham, Eldridge; Chi Psi, Clymer, Knight. During the past week these men have been canvassing the town for the purpose of aiding the employment bureau of the Y. M. C. A. in obtaining a complete registration of those who may have occasion to hire help.

SOCIAL SERVICE PROJECTS.

As a result of a recent conference with President Sills, Lang ’19 is looking into the matter of starting a set of classes for the benefit of the workers at Bath. It is the plan to establish classes in English and mathematics. All students should leave their names with Lang if willing to officiate as instructors.

The College Y. M. C. A. has recently conducted a thorough registration throughout the town of all those who are in need of help at the present time. The plan is meeting with much success as a very good proportion of the merchants and townspeople have registered.

The Y. M. C. A. wishes to thank all the students who contributed toward the expenses of the boys’ conference held here some time ago. The response of the men was fine, and those in authority feel that a good part of the success of the affair was due to their hearty support.

COL. HARVEY D. GIBSON ’02, TO SPEAK IN MEMORIAL HALL.

Last week President Sills announced in chapel that Colonel Harvey D. Gibson ’02, would speak in Memorial Hall, Friday evening, April 25, at eight o’clock. He is to tell of his experiences in Red Cross work in Europe during the war. At the time the United States went into the war he was president of the Liberty National Bank in New York City. He became general manager of the American Red Cross and gained distinction as an organizer. He went to France and for a time was chairman of the American Red Cross in Europe. He has been spoken of as one of five Americans who did the greatest work in France for the United States. All students should attend this lecture, as Col. Gibson is an interesting speaker, and the experiences which he has to tell about are some of the most important that any one man has had in connection with the great war.

BETAS WIN OPENING GAME.

The Interfraternity Baseball League was officially opened last Monday afternoon on the Delta when the Theta Delt and Beta nines clashed for honors in League A. The Betas by heavy batting in the first inning, in which they rolled up seven runs, and followed up in the second and third by more hits, won the game 11-0. The losers seemed to be weak both with the stick and in the field. Partridge of the Beta House held his opponents to two hits.

CHI PSI’S WIN SECOND GAME INTERFRATERNITY BASEBALL.

Chi Psi and Sigma Nu played off the second game of the Interfraternity Baseball League, last Friday. The score was three to two, in favor of the Chi Psi’s. The Sigma Nu’s battery was good but did not prevent the other side from connecting with the ball for three runs. All in all, the teams were about evenly matched, and in spite of bad weather, played a good game.

STUDENT COUNCIL.

At a recent meeting of the Student Council Foulke '19 was elected secretary and treasurer in place of Mahoney '19. Higgins '19 and Finn '19 were elected to the Council to replace McCarthy '19 and Mahoney '19. It was also voted at this meeting to levy a tax of 25 cents on each member of the student body for the purpose of purchasing a loving cup for Lieut. Col. Duval.

FRESHMEN HOLD CLASS MEETING.

The Freshman class held a class meeting in Memorial Hall last Thursday noon to make plans for the Freshman banquet. It was voted that the date for the banquet be left to the banquet committee. The banquet will probably be held at Riverton 'Casino, Portland, if the place can be secured.

The banquet committee is composed of Perry, Partridge, Stearns, Drake, Fogg, Ludwig, Knight, Curran, Thalheimer, and Sealand.

BOWDOIN BENEFAC'TRESS DEAD.

Mrs. Martha B. Angell of Boston, who presented the College with a collection of beautiful paintings last year, died recently. She was a great lover of art and her home on Beacon street contains so many beautiful paintings that it has been called "The Treasure House of Art." Her gifts to Bowdoin have been placed both in the Boyd Gallery and in the Sculpture Hall of the Art Building.

TRAINING TABLES APPROVED AT YALE.

It is interesting to note, since so much discussion in collegiate circles has been going on lately relative to the abolition of the training table from the season's work in athletics, that the board of control at Yale University has recently approved supervised training tables for members of the athletic teams with the provision that the bills be paid by the individual members.

FRESHMAN CAPS.

The college welcomes the appearance of the Freshman caps once more. It is significant in that it marks the return of another of the college customs which we cherish here and which had to be abandoned last fall on account of the S. A. T. C. The Freshman is by no means to be pitied for having to wear this cap for while it may not be worn in the best of society, it is a very convenient article of headwear.

A TERM BILL OF 1845.

There is certainly a great difference between the term bills of seventy years ago and those of today. In 1845 all the incidental were itemized separately instead of being included under the general head of tuition as today. Another peculiar feature of the old form is the fact that different blanks were used in different terms. In this case, the heading reads, "To his first term bill, etc.," while a different heading was used for the other terms. The following is the copy of a bill issued at the end of the fall term of 1845 to a member of the Class of 1849.

To the President and Trustees of Bowdoin College, Dr.

To his first term bill, ending December 18, 1845.

Interest to be paid, if not discharged within one month after the commencement of the next term.

HOW TO HELP THE COLLEGE PAPER.

(Printed for the benefit of those that don't know)

Hand out all the knocks you can think of. Borrow your friend's paper and tell the manager to cut off your subscription. Never hand it back without saying, "thanks, pretty punk piece of business." Always knock when the editor's back is turned. Never praise anything. That's sure to make his head swell.

That Blanket Tax!

Again the blanket tax has come due and again must the same old request be made,—pay your blanket tax! Thus far little over half of the students have actually paid this tax. On the face of it, this would seem to be rather bad showing but when those who have secured extensions are included, the outlook is much better. The Board of Managers is determined that every student shall pay this important assessment and there is no reason why it should not be done. Last term the showing made by the student body was most satisfactory; this term, with the baseball and track teams to support, there is every reason to expect that it will be perfect. Make it a 100 per cent. payment!

Saturday's Game.

The result of the Bates game was most flattering to every Bowdoin man. It only goes to show how difficult it is to prophesy results in baseball. Scarcely anyone, even the strongest Bowdoin rooter, expected that she would win so decisively after the manner in which Bates defeated Harvard. The Bates team may have been over-confident, as is liable to be the case after a victory of such unexpected magnitude as that won against Harvard, but it certainly was inferior in all departments of the game Saturday.

The team's showing Saturday augurs well for the future. With the student body behind it en masse, our chances for the State championship should be most excellent. This raises the question of student rallies, a question that has been discussed by the Orient more than once during the past year. With the Colby game of May 3 opening the State series, can't we get together sometime in the near future for a real Bowdoin rally and imbibe some of the real Bowdoin spirit, the spirit which will prove indomitable? We can not expect the team to do it all; the student body has got to do its share in the grandstand.

BATTING AND FIELDING AVERAGES.

The following are the batting and fielding averages of the Bowdoin baseball team through the Bates game last Saturday. The Spartans, game with the Cabots is not included in this list. Through an error in the last issue of the Orient, Flinn was charged with only two times at bat instead of three, while Cook should have had only three instead of four.

TRIANGULAR DEBATE ARRANGED.

Arrangements for a triangular debate with Brown and Wesleyan have been completed, although the date is yet to be announced. Bowdoin will be represented by two teams on the question, "Resolved: That immigration into the United States should be prohibited for a period of five years following the ratification of the Peace Treaty."

LOVING CUP TO BE PRESENTED TO LIEUTENANT COLONEL DUVAL.

The student council has voted to make an expression of the gratitude and respect of the student body by presenting to Lieutenant Colonel Duval a loving cup. Col. Duval not only gained the respect and affection of the student body by his conduct of the Reserve Officers' Training Corps at Bowdoin but by his untiring efforts to see that Bowdoin men be admitted to Officers' Training Schools. At considerable pains to himself he inaugurated an intensive course in military training last spring to which all men of draft age were admitted if they so elected. Practically all of these men later received appointments to Officers' Schools. Last June be encouraged and rendered every possible practical assistance to those men who attended the Junior Plattsburg Camp. Although ill health compelled him to take an inactive part in the Students Army Corps programme of last fall, he was constantly furthering the work in spirit and acting in an advisory capacity to the younger officers of the unit. All in all, Lieutenant Colonel Duval deserves the tribute that is to be presented him for his warm loyalty to Bowdoin College and we are confident that every student will gladly pay for his share in the loving cup.

THE FIGHT FOR THE CLASSICS.

There has been, perhaps, no briefer or more cogent summary of the reasons why the study of Latin and Greek should not be abandoned in the modern scheme of education than is presented in this paragraph from an address by Dean West of Princeton at the annual meeting of the Classical Association of the Atlantic States at Haverford College.

"They are fundamental to our national language and to other important modern tongues. They are demonstrably an agency of the first value for training the young mind to clearness, exactness and thoroughness. They are of great help in preparing students to master all other studies, whether scientific, professional, technical, historical, literary or artistic. Their literature is full of the noblest impulses and is admittedly the greatest of all foreign literatures. Their history is 'the key to all history,' and it records the origins of our own civilized liberty, justice and democracy. To omit the classics would therefore be to destroy a main part of the foundation of our modern knowledge."

If any advocate of the total extinction of the classics as a factor of education can present his case with equal force, in equally good English and in not much more than one hundred words, we shall be glad to put the condensed argument alongside the foregoing product of Dean West's loyal enthusiasm and then let intelligence compare, weigh, and decide.—New York Sun.

WAR RISK INSURANCE.

All discharged soldiers and sailors should be advised to keep up the payment of the premiums due on their war risk insurance, applied for while in the military service.

After the declaration of peace those who have kept up such payments will be permitted to convert their present insurance to other forms without another physical examination. Any discharged soldier who has permitted his insurance to lapse should correspond with or call at the office of Captain T. J. Johnston, Department Insurance Officer, Headquarters Northeastern Department, Room 717, 99 Chauncy street, Boston, Mass., as soon as possible, as it is not yet too late to be reinstated. Information may also be obtained there with reference to the new kinds of insurance to be issued and the premium rates therefor. In writing, in addition to asking the information desired, the person should indicate the date of his discharge and whether he has paid any premiums since such discharge.

The officer above mentioned will also be pleased to assist the allottees of soldiers in cases where allotments and Government allowances are not being received.

T. J. JOHNSTON,
Captain, A. G. Dept., U. S. Army.

On the Campus

Walker ’18, has returned to college.
Freshman caps are now seen on the Campus. Special musical selections and an organ recital were rendered at last Sunday’s chapel.
The game between the A. D.’s and the D. U.’s scheduled for last Friday was postponed on account of its coming just before the holiday.
Donald S. Higgins ’19, has returned to college. He has been studying at the Harvard Ensign School from which he was commissioned.
Ensign Albert L. Prosser ’18 was on the Campus Saturday.
Mr. John E. Chapman ’77 returned to Brunswick last week from Fryeburg, Maine, where he has been spending the winter.
John L. Baxter ’16 of Brunswick left last week on an extended business trip to the Pacific coast together with Hon. Rupert H. Baxter ’94.
Jack Magee was the starter at the annual dual indoor meet of the Lewiston High and Edward Little High Schools at Lewiston a week ago Friday.
The Brunswick High School nine defeated the Alpha Delts in a close five-inning game last Monday by a score of 8 to 7.
Last Tuesday evening the Psi U.’s won an easy victory over the D. U.’s in a practice game by a score of 13 to 3.
Hall ’20 was elected captain of the newly organized Bowdoin second team a week ago Monday.
Ensign John W. Thomas ex-’18 was on the Campus last week. He has just completed his first trip to France in the service of the United States Navy.
Charlie Dam, former star Hebron Academy weight man, who left school to join the Navy, was on the Campus last week visiting Jack Magee. He has participated in several interscholastic meets here at the college and many of the students will remember his excellent work in the field events.
Richan ’20 has returned from West Point and will continue his college course. He obtained Congressional appointment to West Point last fall. He resigned from that school to complete his college education here.
The Sigma Nu Freshmen held a very pleasant smoker at their fraternity house last Thursday evening. Two representatives of the freshmen delegates from the several fraternities were present.

The first game of the Maine series to be played at Brunswick will come a week from Saturday, May 3, when Colby and Bowdoin clash at the Athletic Field. The ORIENT is glad to report that the present quality of paper is not to be used permanently. A new stock of the standard type has already been ordered.

The fact that the ORIENT did not appear on time last week was due to difficulties in the printing room. Every effort is being made to get it out Tuesday.

Last Wednesday morning, April 23, word was received of the death of Professor George Taylor Files, a most loyal alumnus of Bowdoin and for over twenty-five years a devoted teacher on its faculty. His death came after a severe illness which had been gradually becoming worse ever since his return to this country from France last November.

Professor Files was born September 23, 1866, at Portland, Maine. After his graduation from Portland High School in 1885, he entered Bowdoin, and in each of his first three years at college, he won one of the Brown Memorial Scholarships, and in his sophomore year he was awarded the Sewall Greek prize. In his senior year he received one of the second prizes for excellence in English composition, and graduated at the head of his class. He belonged to the Psi Upsilon fraternity, and was elected to Phi Beta Kappa. In 1892 Professor Files received the degree of Master of Arts from Bowdoin, and in August of the following year, the University of Leipzig awarded him the degree of Doctor of Philosophy. A few years later he published “The Anglo-Saxon House,” the dissertation which he wrote for his degree at the German University. He also published an edition of “Goethe's Poems, Selected and Biographically Studied,” and edited Gustav Freitag's “Soll und Haben.”
It was in the spring of 1894 that he was appointed professor of Germanic languages at Bowdoin, the position which he held until his death. Three years later he became registrar of the college, and he held this position until 1905.

He was a prominent member of three of the most important educational associations in America: The Modern Language Association of America, of which he was on the executive council in 1901; the New England Modern Language Association, of which he was president for the year 1915-16; and the American Historical Association.

Professor Files was effective, moreover, not only in his work in the college, but also in a number of other organizations. He has been recognized for several years as one of the leading highway experts of the State of Maine. He was a member of the Maine Automobile Association, of which he became president in 1917. He belonged to the Portland Rotary Club, in connection with which in 1917, he presented a handsome silk regimental flag to the First Maine Heavy Artillery (formerly the Milliken Regiment). In April, 1916, he was elected treasurer of the Maine Aeronautical Coast Patrol Association. For several years Professor and Mrs. Files have helped both town and college by bringing to the Church on the Hill and the College Chapel some of America's most distinguished preachers.

Last year, Professor Files began his splendid work in the Y. M. C. A. in France. He sailed from this country in March, 1918, and immediately after his arrival on the other side he was placed in charge of one of the many Y. M. C. A. Foyers. Concerning the quality of his services, the "Red Triangle Overseas" of September 7, 1918, says that he "makes it a point to shake hands with and have a pleasant word for every one of the hundreds of soldiers, whether French or American, who came into his Foyer." On account of an attack of influenza, Professor Files was granted a leave of absence last fall, and he returned to this country in November. Shortly after his arrival he delivered a number of lectures, and fully expected to return to France in February.

As an interested and active citizen, Professor Files was especially esteemed in the town of Brunswick, for he gave freely of time, counsel, and means for its good. He was beloved by his students for the genial friendly qualities which made his teaching both stimulating and popular.

The funeral took place Saturday afternoon at 82 West street, Portland. Rev. Thompson E. Ashby of Brunswick officiated at the service. There were many beautiful floral tributes, especially from the members of his class, the Portland Rotary Club, and the Maine Automobile Association. The honorary bearers were President Sills, Professor Woodruff, Professor Moody, Professor Hutchins, Professor Mitchell, Professor Ham, Professor Burnett, Barrett Potter '78, secretary of the board of trustees, Dwight R. Pennell '98 of Lewiston, and D. W. Hoegg, Jr., of Portland. The burial was in the Evergreen Cemetery in Portland.

TIMELY HIT IN TENTH SAVED GAME FOR BOWDOIN.

Paul Mason '20, starting a regular game for the first time this season against Tufts last Saturday at Medford, set up for himself the finest record made by a Bowdoin pitcher for a long time, when he held the strong Tufts aggregation hitless until two men had been retired in the tenth inning. With such pitching it is little wonder that the Bowdoin team came through with a clean victory over its Massachusetts rival by the score of 2 to 0. Mason struck out 10 men, walked no one, and hit one man. Only four Tufts men reached first, but none of these ever saw second. The one man who scored a hit off the Bowdoin pitcher was Callahan, a pinch hitter in the very last inning with two out. The game was a brilliant pitching duel from start to finish with Mason having the edge over the Tufts twirler all the time. Weafer of Tufts held Bowdoin to three hits up to the tenth inning, two singles by Capt. Donnell, and one by Caspar.

In the first of the tenth, with one down, Racine reached first, when his grounder was fumbled by the Tufts second baseman. Grover walked, and then Mason hit to the shortstop, on which play Ring failed to cover second for a forceout, and consequently the bases were filled. Racine was forced out at home when Donnell hit a grounder to the first baseman. With two out, Cook delivered a swift liner to right, scoring both Grover and Mason with the winning runs.

Although the weather was really too cold for baseball, both teams pulled off some excellent defensive work. For Bowdoin the playing of Donnell and Cook was sensational, while the Tufts outfielders cut off more than one drive which would have meant extra bases.

Considering the first few games of the season, Bowdoin looks by far the best on paper for the Maine series. Bates made the best showing against Harvard, but Bowdoin has nothing to fear from that quarter after the exhibition game on Patriots’ Day. Colby was easily defeated by Harvard not long ago by a score of 6 to 0, and last Saturday, Fitzpatrick of Boston College held the University of Maine outfit hitless in a seven-inning affair, which the Massachusetts team won 6 to 0.

FIRST SIX-INNING GAME OF INTER-FRATERNITY LEAGUE.

In the closest game yet played in the Inter-fraternity Baseball League, April 22, the Zeta Psi nine defeated the Chi Psis in a six-inning game on the Delta. The Chi Psi team piled up a lead of seven runs in the first four innings, but after that the Zetes scored nine runs against their opponents’ one. In the last half of the fifth with the score 9 to 6 in favor of the Chi Psi’s, Lombard scored a home run on a hit over the short right field fence, and a few minutes later the Zetes tied the score. They then had the bases full with only one out. Sylvester then struck out two men, ending the inning. In the sixth, Morin drove in the tenth run for the Chi Psi’s with a clean single to left. In the last half, however, after the Zetes had placed men on second and third, the Chi Psis lost the game when Gray threw the ball past first base, letting two runners score. The final score was 11 to 10.

Score by innings:

Zeta Psi ............ 2 0 0 4 3 2—11 6
Chi Psi ............. 3 0 1 5 0 1—10 12

BRADBURY DEBATES.

The Bradbury Debates this year will be held Monday afternoon, May 5, at 3:30, in Memorial Hall. Contrary to the usual custom there will be but two teams competing for the prize. These teams will be the varsity teams that will debate with Brown and Wesleyan on May 20. The question for debate is, “Resolved, That immigration into the United States should be prohibited for a period of five years following the ratification of the Peace Treaty.” The speakers on the affirmative team will consist of Chadbourne ’19, Boker ’21, and Hatch ’21; Young ’21, as alternate. On the negative Taylor ’20, Helson ’21, and McGown ’21, with Coberne ’21, as alternate will participate. The winners of this debate will receive a prize of $40 and the losers $20.

PSI U’S LOSE TO NON-FRATERNITY.

The Psi U.’s were defeated by the Non-fraternity team on the Delta last Tuesday by a score of 12 to 7. The non-fraternity men succeeded in knocking Ricker from the box in the first inning and pounding his successor, Mundie. At no time in the game were the non-fraternity men in real danger of losing the game.

Batteries: Non-fraternity, Smith, Canter. Psi U.’s, Ricker and Mundie, Dunbar.

EX-SENATOR BURTON TO SPEAK ON LEAGUE OF NATIONS.

Ex-Senator Theodore E. Burton is to give an address on the League of Nations at Memorial Hall Monday, May 5. Ex-Senator Burton was elected senator for the term 1909-1915. In 1916 he received strong support as Republican presidential candidate. He is now President of the Merchants’ National Bank, New York City. Ex-Senator Burton is a national figure and well qualified to speak on the big issue of a League of Nations.
Professor George T. Files.

In the death of Professor George T. Files, last Wednesday, the college made one of her greatest war sacrifices. It was as a direct result of the heavy nervous strain of his work overseas that he was forced to resort to medical care at the Deaconess Hospital, Boston, where his death occurred.

Seldom in the history of an institution of learning is it the good fortune of the student body to come in contact with a man of such high ideals and inspiring personality as Professor Files possessed. To the alumni, who were in college with him, his death is that of a “loyal classmate and friend”; to the members of the faculty and administration, it comes as that of an able and inspiring associate and a capable organizer; to the student body and the younger alumni, his death means the loss of a kindly and cheerful teacher, a respected advisor, and a symp-thathetic friend.

Professor Files was a true Christian gentleman. His classes meant hours of enjoyment; his broad and liberal education, in part the result of extensive travels, and his magnetic personality enabled him to attract the keenest interest from his students. In class he availed himself of every opportunity to encourage the student, whatever the grade of his work, provided it was the result of honest effort. It was his sympathetic nature and liberality of thought which endeared him to all who have been associated with him.

Professor Files has always been an enthusiastic worker in community and State affairs. His loss in this field of enterprise will be keenly felt. For us in college, however, his death means a seemingly irreparable loss. His family and friends may find consolation, however, in the fact that he had the great satisfaction of having contributed his best services to the cause which was always so dear to him.

The Student Forum—A Success.

The first meeting of the Student Forum last term at which the League of Nations was discussed by Mr. Robert T. Whitehouse of Port-
lege Athletics” which Dean Nicolson of Wesleyan will take up at this meeting should be of vital interest to all of us. It has often been said that the alumni do not give their best to our athletics because we have no settled athletic policy. Every student should hear what Dean Nicolson has to say on the subject and enter heartily into the discussion. Athletics constitute the back-bone of our college life. If there is any way to improve our present system, let’s find it and adopt it. This can best be accomplished by free and open discussion such as the Student Forum offers.
First-hand information of the wonderful work done in the war by the American Red Cross in Europe and on the battlefields of France was given last Friday evening in a lecture in Memorial Hall by Colonel Harvey D. Gibson, Red Cross Commissioner to France, chairman of the American Red Cross in Europe, and one of Bowdoin's most prominent and honored graduates. The lecture was informal and Colonel Gibson did not seek to deliver an address, but told of the work of the Red Cross, his experience in the work, and gave many striking and descriptive illustrations, which were characteristic of the powerful influence this organization known as "The Greatest Mother in the World" played in the war.

STUDENT FORUM TO DISCUSS COLLEGE ATHLETICS.

The Student Forum has very fortunately been able to secure Dean Frank W. Nicolson of Wesleyan to discuss "College Athletics" in a meeting to be held in the Union, Tuesday evening, May 6. Dean Nicolson was President of the Association of New England Colleges for Conference on Athletics 1907-11 and from 1908 to the present time has continually served in the capacity as secretary-treasurer of the National Collegiate Athletic Association. Being in direct touch with all phases of college athletics, he is perhaps better able than anyone else at this time to discuss this matter, which is of so vital importance to us here at Bowdoin. It is hoped that all who are interested in the policies of the college in so far as they greatly affect the athletic life of the college will attend.

MUSICAL CLUBS TRIP.

The Musical Clubs scored a big hit in Frye Hall at Portland last Wednesday evening on the occasion of their annual concert and dance in that city. There was a large attendance present and quite a number went up from Brunswick to hear the clubs. The concert was under the auspices of the Delta Epsilon Sorority of Deerling High School. The Colonial Orchestra of Portland furnished music for dancing which followed the concert.

The clubs on Thursday morning went to Boston where they gave their annual concert at the Hotel Somerset under the auspices of the Bowdoin Club of Boston. There they were met with a hearty reception by the graduates of the college and their many other friends.

The clubs went from Boston to Beverly and gave a concert in that city Friday evening. The concert was in charge of the Beverly Singing Clubs which planned and carried out an elaborate affair for the boys. Following the concert the Bowdoin men were tendered a big reception and dance by the members of the Singing Club.

Following is the program which was rendered at the various concerts:

PRESIDENT SILLS' TRIBUTE TO THE LATE PROFESSOR GEORGE T. FILES.

Only those who have an intimate knowledge of the administration of Bowdoin can realize fully the great changes that have taken place in the faculty in the past ten years. On the list we can no longer read the familiar names of those who for periods from 25 to 40 years gave their best to the college, the honored names of Lee and Robinson and Chapman and Little and Hyde and Johnson. And when another who has been all his working days an officer of the college is taken away, his loss is even more deeply felt. Professor Files was an ardent and enthusiastic teacher, a capable organizer and a brave man. We know now what a real danger it was for him to have volunteered for overseas work; and his offer and his services were heroic, sealed as they later were by his death.

Every member of the faculty who has served here with distinction has left his own individual impress on the college. The name of Professor Files is associated with his work as registrar of the college, on the committee on buildings and grounds, and as a popular teacher. To him and to Professor William MacDonald we owe in very great measure the present internal organization of the college. They changed old-fashioned methods for new and put the recording and examining and registering activities of the college on a sound basis. It was hard work—often mere drudgery—but they saved much time for others and gladly attended to the dreary details themselves. Then again Mr. Files took a deep interest in the development of the campus. He always advocated a liberal attitude. He felt that it was from every standpoint desirable to beautify the grounds; and he was properly indignant when niggardly methods were employed. Most of us New Englanders do not see the importance of beautiful surroundings especially when they cost something. Mr. Files was broad-minded and experienced enough to advocate a very generous policy, and we who love our fair campus are greatly in his debt.

As a teacher he was unusually popular with his students. He had a reasonable standard; but he always gave the student the benefit of the doubt and took into kindly consideration any earnest effort. He made his classes interesting by his wide knowledge of men and of affairs. He was a very kindly man, very enthusiastic, very open-hearted. He will be greatly missed in home, in college, in town, and in State; but nowhere more than by his old pupils.

TRIBUTE TO PROFESSOR FILES BY SECRETARY OF CLASS OF 1889.

William M. Emery of Fall River, Mass., the secretary of the Class of 1889, has sent to the members of Professor Files' class, the following tribute in his honor:

"George Taylor Files.

Born, Sept. 23, 1866.

Died, April 23, 1919.

"Our classmate gave up his life through his devotion to the cause of the men who fought in the fearful war. Returning to Brunswick last winter, broken in health after long months of service with the Y. M. C. A. in France, he made a gallant fight against the inroads of disease contracted during his work among the soldiers, but the struggle was in vain. He passed away at the Deaconess Hospital in Boston, where he had been since January.

"Practically his entire life had been centered in the interests of the college. As a leader in our student activities, as instructor and professor since 1890, as registrar for five years, as head of the department of German, and influential in faculty circles, our Brother Files labored unceasingly and effectively for the welfare of Bowdoin. With the same zeal he volunteered his services in the war. His affection for the Class of '89 was steadfast and abiding. At two of our reunions, in 1904, and on the occasion of our memorial 25th anniversary, five years ago, he gladly welcomed us to his hospital home, and as guests we shared the unalloyed pleasure that animated him as the thoughtful and genial host.

"We honor his unstinted devotion and self-sacrifice, and cherish his memory as a loyal classmate and friend.

"WILLIAM M. EMERY, Class Secretary."

STUDENT COUNCIL RESOLUTION ON DEATH OF PROFESSOR FILES.

The death of Professor Files has made every Bowdoin undergraduate feel the inestimable loss of a friendly instructor and brotherly counselor. After graduating from Bowdoin he studied at home and abroad, returning to devotedly give his natural ability, his extensive knowledge and his wealth of experience to his Alma Mater. Actively interested in all undergraduate activities, vitally concerned with the policies of the college, deeply enlisted in public affairs, his sudden death is a loss not only to the undergraduates, but also to the alumni and the State. Ever looking on the bright side of life, ever seeing and striving to develop the best in a man made him dearly beloved by all with whom he came in contact. Harkening unto the call of humanity in this crisis of the world's history, he left the college to give his services and his life where they were more needed. Although departed from us his life and memory will long guide Bowdoin men in their endeavors.

For the Council,

F. P. HALL,
ROY FOULKE,
E. S. PAUL, 2d.

TRIBUTES TO PROFESSOR FILES.

The death of Professor Files will be gravely felt in College, town and State. To his ability and hospitality as a teacher, to which hundreds of his students can testify, he added the ability of an organizer. He was one of two men who, together, first organized the internal administration of Bowdoin College, in the office of registrar, on the basis of efficiency. In the affairs of the town, in the business and social life, he was widely effective. The Dramatic Club, the Village Improvement Society, as well as local administrative matters, profited by his constructive energy. In a conversation at the club not long since, I heard him described as a man who could not be spared. And he was a very kind man. The last months of his life were months of pain, patiently borne, with great regard for others. The loss of our community is in no way measured by the space required to record it.

Professor Charles T. Burnett.

In the death of Professor Files Bowdoin College has suffered a great loss. For more than 25 years he has been one of her most able and enthusiastic teachers, one who achieved results by leading rather than driving. His genial and sympathetic nature, his thorough knowledge of the subject which he was teaching and his enthusiastic interest in it, made his students feel at once that he was their friend and counsellor and aroused in them a desire to do their best. As a member of the faculty he did not confine his work to the class room. He was interested in all the activities of the college—social, dramatic, musical, and athletic. As the first registrar of the college he rendered a much-needed service in systematizing and extending the work of the office, and as a member of the Buildings and Grounds Committee he has done much toward making and keeping the Bowdoin campus and its buildings clean, orderly, and beautiful. He has also made the good influence of the college felt in the town and the State by his active participation in public affairs. His death is without doubt due to the hard strain of his work for the Y. M. C. A. in France. In his death, hardly less unselfish and heroic than if he had died in battle, his college, which today deeply mourns his loss, may also take a solemn pride.

Wilmot B. Mitchell.

The death of George T. Files will bring deep sorrow to the people of Brunswick. The spirit which prompted him to enlist in the service in France, which undoubtedly caused his untimely death, was characteristic of his nature. While he has been best known in the State at large as an original and consistent champion of improved highways and through his long connection with Bowdoin College, his fellow townsmen will also recall his great interest in town affairs. His active assistance could always be secured for every civic improvement and his democratic tastes, affable manner and personal charm brought him the cordial friendship and high esteem of the entire community. Our loss is indeed great.

Hon. E. W. Wheeler.

On the Campus

Coach Magee was the referee at the wrestling bout in the Town Hall last Monday night. Many of the boys suspended the evening's work to see the matches.

Donald Higgins ex-'19, of Brewer, returned to college from service last Wednesday and is being cordially greeted on the Campus.

During the recent telephone strike which tied up all lines, several of the college men worked nights in the Portland exchange office.

Sergeant Whitney Coombs ex-'18, returned to college last Wednesday to complete his college course, having returned from France but a short time, where he was in the Ambulance service and later transferred to the Heavy Artillery.

Hart '21, was in charge of the Gardiner telephone exchange office during the recent strike. It is reported that he had several thrilling experiences.

The flag on Memorial Hall was placed at half mast and the chapel bell was tolled when word was received Wednesday morning of the death of Professor Files.

Quite a number went to Boston last week to see the parade of the Yankee Division in that city Friday afternoon.

The loving cup to be presented to Lieut. Col. John H. Duval from the student body in the near future was purchased this last week in Boston by a committee appointed from the Student Council.

For the college boys to turn forest fire fighters seems to be getting to be a regular thing now. Every few days some forest fire in the vicinity of the college breaks out and the men turn out to aid in extinguishing it.

A number from the college attended the presentation of "Behind the Front" by the Brunswick Musical Club last Wednesday evening in the Town Hall.

With a large crowd in Boston to see the 26th Division parade, the baseball team which played Tufts, the musical club's Massachusetts trip and the usual week end absences, the campus was pretty well deserted last week end.

The Bowdoin Musical Clubs are giving their annual concert and dance in Bangor this evening. The Bangor papers have been featuring the concert and a large crowd will probably be on hand to hear the boys. They will wind up their season in Fairfield tomorrow night, Wednesday, with a concert and dance in the assembly hall of Lawrence High School.

Coach Magee was in Boston over the week end.

_The Portland Evening Express_ in its editorial column of April 24, the night after the concert and dance of the Bowdoin Musical Clubs in Frye Hall made the following comment on the affair, "The Bowdoin boys made a hit last evening in their annual concert and it seemed good to have them with us again."

Coach Magee is having little impromptu track meets at the Athletic Field for the track candidates to get a line on the strength of the team which will face the New Hampshire State boys in the dual track meet this coming Saturday at Durham, N. H. The team as yet has not been picked for the meet.

Meacham '22, is steadily improving at the Infirmary and it is expected that he will be able to leave there within a very short time.

Mr. Hartley C. Baxter '78, returned to Brunswick last week from a trip to Miami, Florida.

The Kappa Sigma fraternity held its annual installation banquet at the Hotel Eagle last Tuesday evening. An excellent menu was enjoyed which was followed by short speeches from the officers-elect and the retiring officers.

Alumni Notes

In the last issue of the _Phi Beta Kappa Key_, there appeared "In Memoriam" for five Bowdoin alumni. The first of these was Judge William LeBaron Putnam '55, L.L.D., who died a year ago last February. The next was a brief sketch of the life of Jonathan Young Stanton '56, Litt.D., who died in February, 1918. There were also brief accounts of the lives of August Newbert Luscott '62, who died in March, 1918, and of Usher Ward Cutts '67, A.M., who died last May. The last of these five men was Professor Henry Johnson '74, Litt.D., whose death occurred February 7, 1918. The Key has an outline of his life together with a list of his most important writings.

'60—The dedication of the Thomas Memorial Library at Cape Elizabeth, Maine, took place a few days ago. The early history of the building is very interesting. All the work of preparing it for a library has been done under the direction of Hon. William Widgery Thomas, formerly United States Minister to Sweden and Norway. The principal address of the dedication ceremony was delivered by Mr. Thomas. Among the other speakers was Hon. Percival P. Baxter '98 of Portland.

ex-67—Dwinel French Thompson, for forty-four years a member of the faculty of Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, died at his home in Troy, N. Y., April 19. He was born at Bangor, Me., January 1, 1846. In 1863 he entered Bowdoin where he stayed two years before transferring to Dartmouth. He was the captain of the first baseball team at Dartmouth, where he earned the title of "father of baseball." He graduated from Dartmouth in 1869, and then held the position of tutor at that institution for three years. In 1872, he was appointed professor of descriptive geometry, stereotomy, and drawing at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute. Owing to ill health, he was obliged to retire in 1916, when he was elected professor emeritus of the college. Professor Thompson had one of the best collections of Indian relics in New York State. He was always deeply interested in archaeological research. He was a member of the Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity, and he was also an honorary member of the Sigma Psi and Tau Beta Pi fraternities, and the Phalanx society.

'72—Samuel Lane Gross, who has been a lawyer in New York City for over forty years, died April 16 at his residence, 159 West 76th street, New York City. He was born at Brunswick, Me., November 18, 1846. Three years after his graduation from Bowdoin he received the degree of A.M., and one year after that, Columbia University awarded him the degree of Bachelor of Laws. Since that time, until his death he has been a practicing lawyer in New York.

'04—Information has been recently received at the college that Reverend Albert J. Lord arrived at Paris March 17 to do Y. M. C. A. work. He is expected to remain in Europe for about six months, and his work will probably be with the Army of Occupation. He is the second member of his class to be engaged in war work on the other side, the other member being Reverend Frederick J. Libby, who is with the Friends' Unit of the Red Cross.

'02—Announcement is made of the engagement of Miss Ruth Steinhall of East Ninety-first street, New York City, to George Rowland Walker of the same city. Mr. Walker is a graduate of the Harvard Law School, and is a member of the Lawyers (Harvard University) Club, and the Ardsley Club.

Medic—'02—Two pamphlets by Dr. Eugene R. Kelley have been received by the Bowdoin College Library. The first is entitled "The Medical Profession and the New Public Health." The subject of the second is "The Program of the Massachusetts State Department of Health Against Tuberculosis." Dr. Kelley is the Massachusetts Commissioner of Health.

'03—James B. Perkins of Boothbay Harbor, Me., announces his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for representative to Congress from the Second Maine District. Mr. Perkins has been county attorney of Lincoln County and was a member of the House of Representatives in the last Legislature.

'04—A detailed article concerning Dr. William E. Lunt, who is now a member of a commission to decide some boundaries on the Italian frontier, appeared in the Lewiston Sun last Friday. He was quoted as saying that the hardest part of the work of the peace conference would be if Italy refused to accept the terms laid down by the delegates. Recent events indicate the truth of Dr. Lunt's statement very clearly.

'10—Judge Clarence Hale '69, of Portland, not long ago received a letter from his son, Lieut. Robert Hale '10, that the latter had left France in March to go to Russia as a member of a mission headed by Lieut. Colonel Warwick Greene. According to the letter the mission has been dispatched in the interests of the peace conference to learn about conditions in Finland, Estonia, Livonia, Courland and Lithuania, as to Bolshevism and other matters. The mission is to report on this subject to the peace conference. This will delay Lieut. Hale's return to this country until late in June, as he plans to go to Oxford to receive the degree of A.M. which will be conferred upon him by the English university on June 19.

RESOLUTIONS.

It is with the deepest sorrow that the Kappa Chapter of Psi Upsilon records the death of Brother George Taylor Files of the Class of 1889. Brother Files was known to us as a wise and interested worker, a man of lofty ideals and of worthy accomplishments, a constant and devoted friend.

In the fullness of his career, imbued with the spirit of sacrifice and of devotion, he contributed his services to his country, and, in his ardent endeavor to perform his duty as he saw it, he has made the noble sacrifice of life itself.

To his family and immediate friends the Kappa extends her deepest sympathy.

BOWDOIN LOST TO COLBY IN TEN INNING GAME.

In a close ten-inning game on the Whittier Field last Saturday, Colby defeated Bowdoin in the first game of the State championship series. Colby won the game largely because the team had all the breaks. No one of Colby's six runs was earned. Colby won the game by an actual score of 6 to 4, but if earned runs alone counted, Bowdoin would have come through to the tune of 3 to 0. Mason pitched almost airtight ball until the seventh inning, after which Colby hit him rather freely. The Bowdoin batters pounded the Colby twirler, but the visitors' defense was too strong to permit much scoring. Driscoll was the only Colby batter who scored any hits off Mason before the eighth inning. Finn and Hall starred at the bat for Bowdoin, while Prosser delivered a perfect single at just the right time to drive in one run and set the stage for two more.

Following is an account of the game inning by inning:

First Inning: Taylor flied to Prosser, and Nourse fanned. Driscoll drove out a long double over Grover's head and took third on the left fielder's wild throw-in. The Colby catcher then succeeded in stealing home while Mason was making too long a wind-up. Bucknam was out, Mason to Caspar. One hit, one run, one error.

Donnell was safe when Marshall dropped Bucknam's throw, and took second on Cook's sacrifice, Driscoll to Marshall. Finn walked and Caspar fanned. Prosser walked, filling the bases. Hall ended the inning when he was retired, Fraas to Marshall, on a questionable decision by the umpire. No hits, no runs, one error.

Second Inning: Hayes was retired, Donnell to Caspar, and then Williams was put out on a short hit which Hall threw to Caspar. Grant drove a grounder to Caspar. No hits, no runs, no errors.

Holmes flied to Marshall, Grover fanned, and Mason flied to Taylor. No hits, no runs, no errors.

Third Inning: Fraas fouled out to Hall, Marshall drove a liner to Mason, and Taylor struck out. No hits, no runs, no errors.

Donnell was out, Nourse to Marshall, and Cook failed to beat out a bunt which the Colby catcher threw to Marshall. Finn walked, but Caspar struck out. No hits, no runs, no errors.

Fourth Inning: Mason threw out Nourse, and Donnell took care of Driscoll in the same way, and Bucknam ended Colby's half with a foul fly to Donnell. No hits, no runs, no errors.

Prosser was out, Nourse to Marshall. Hall drove out Bowdoin's first hit with a clean single to left. After he stole second, Holmes walked, but Grover fanned, and Mason flied out, for the second time, to Taylor. One hit, no runs, no errors.

Fifth Inning: Hayes was retired on a grounder to Finn, and Williams on another to Mason, while Cook handled Grant's roller. No hits, no runs, no errors.

Donnell flied to Williams, but Cook got on when his grounder went through Bucknam. He took second on Finn's hard drive to centre. Caspar struck out, but Prosser hit a single to right, scoring Cook, and putting Finn on third. Prosser stole second, and then Hall wallop'd a double over Grant's head in right field, and two more runs came across. Holmes flied to Taylor. Three hits, three runs, one error.

Sixth Inning: Fraas was put out on a grounder to Caspar, Marshall flied to Prosser, and Taylor popped one up to Cook. No hits, no runs, no errors.

Pulsifer went out in right field in place of Grant. Grover dropped a single behind third base. Mason hit a grounder to deep short, and Grover reached second when Fraas juggled the ball, but the Bowdoin runner was caught out for overrunning the bag. Donnell forced Mason, Bucknam to Nourse, and was immediately after put out trying to steal second, Driscoll to Nourse. One hit, no runs, no errors.

Seventh Inning: Nourse walked, took second on Driscoll's scratch infield hit, and scored when Donnell gummed a grounder which appeared to be a foot outside the third base line. Driscoll reached third on the play, and Bucknam got to second. Hayes was hit by a pitched ball, filling the bases. Williams forced Driscoll at the plate, Finn to Hall, but two runs came across when the Bowdoin shortstop fumbled Pulsifer’s grounder, on which play Williams reached third. Pulsifer stole second, but Fraas fanned the batters and Marshall was out, Mason to Caspar. One hit, three runs, two errors.

Cook was out, Hayes to Marshall, but Finn poked out a hit to centre. The single was useless, however, as Caspar was retired on a grounder to Hayes, and Prosser on another to Nourse. One hit, no runs, no errors.

Eighth Inning: Taylor was out on a grounder to Finn, but Nourse singled. Driscoll hit a fly to Prosser, who relayed the ball to Caspar, catching Nourse off the bag. One hit, no runs, no errors.

Nourse handled Hall’s grounder, Holmes struck out, and Grover hit a feble roller to the pitcher. No hits, no runs, no errors.

Ninth Inning: Bucknam and Hayes struck out, and although William singled, he was caught out stealing. One hit, no runs, no errors.

Mason was hit by a pitched ball, but he was forced at second on Donnell’s bunt, Driscoll to Nourse. Cook singled, putting Donnell on second. Finn flied to Taylor, but Caspar sent a hit over Fraas’ head, scoring Donnell with the tying run, and sending Cook to third. Prosser fanned, ending the inning. Two hits, one out no errors.

Tenth Inning: Pulsifer struck out, but Fraas knocked out a two-base hit to right, and took third on Marshall’s single to centre. Marshall stole second. Taylor hit a grounder to Caspar, who uncorked a wild throw to the plate, letting in the two winning runs. Nourse flied to Grover, and Driscoll was out, Mason to Caspar. Two hits, two runs, one error.

Hall grounded out to Hayes, and Holmes to Bucknam. The game ended when Grover was retired on a grounder to Fraas. No hits, no runs, no errors.

NEW HAMPSHIRE UPSET BOWDOIN IN DUAL MEET.

To the great surprise of the Bowdoin men, the New Hampshire track team succeeded in winning the dual meet at Durham last Saturday by a margin of 10 1-3 points. The final score was 67 2-3 to 57 1-3. Both teams were well balanced except in the hurdles and weights. In spite of the fact that Savage did not run in the high hurdles, Bowdoin took 15 out of a possible 18 points in the two barrier races. The big surprise of the afternoon came in the half mile, in which Captain Cleave was beaten by O'Leary of New Hampshire. In this race none of the runners would set the pace until the second quarter, when Cleave took the lead, with O'Leary close behind him. They ran side by side towards the end of the race, but finally the New Hampshire man broke ahead, and won the race by a good margin. O'Leary won this race after taking second in the quarter mile.

In the mile and two-mile, Bowdoin again failed to score the number of points expected. Nightingale, the star New England cross-country runner, and Leath walked away with the mile, while Goodwin of Bowdoin took third. In the two mile these three men had a very close race, but Nightingale came through with a lead of four of five yards over Goodwin at the finish.

Out of the 14 events, the Bowdoin team took six first places and seven seconds. Averill won the 220-yard dash in the time of 22 4-5 seconds. Thompson won the high hurdles, and Foulke beat...
Savage in the low hurdles. Ellms took first in the hammer throw, and second in the discus. Higgins won the high jump, and Parent the broad jump. O’Leary and Nightingale were the individual stars of the meet.

The summary:

120-Yard High Hurdles—Won by Thompson of Bowdoin; second, Stevens of N. H. State; third, Holbrook of Bowdoin, disqualified. Time 17.5.

120-Yard Low Hurdles—Won by Foulke of Bowdoin; second, Savage of Bowdoin; third, Parent of Bowdoin. Time 29.8.

880-Yard Run—Won by O’Leary of N. H. State; second, Cleaves of Bowdoin; third, Hunt of Bowdoin. Time 2m. 6-4-58.

Mile Run—Won by Leath of N. H. State; second, Nightingale of N. H. State; third, Goodwin of Bowdoin. Time 4min. 54-2-58.

Two Mile Run—Won by Nightingale of N. H. State; second, Goodwin of Bowdoin; third, Leath of N. H. State. Time 10m 25-3-58.

Hammer Throw—Won by Ellms of Bowdoin; second, Sawyer of N. H. State; third, Cassilo of N. H. State. Distance, 111 feet, 4 inches.

Discus Throw—Won by Sawyer of N. H. State; second, Ellms of Bowdoin; third, Andrews of N. H. State. Distance, 105 feet 8 inches.

High Jump—Won by Higgins of Bowdoin; second, Nansell of N. H. State; third, Stevens of N. H. State. Height, 5 feet, 6 inches.

Broad Jump—Won by Parent of Bowdoin; second, Ostie of Bowdoin; third, O’Leary of N. H. State. Distance, 20 feet 6-1-8 inches.

Referee and starter, Archie Hahn of Brown.

BOWDOIN GRADUATE AWARDED FRENCH CROIX DE GUERRE.

The great part which the loyal sons of Bowdoin played in the war is coming more and more to the front as the lists of citations for bravery are being announced. The latest is the honor conferred on Major William D. Ireland of the Class of 1916 who was among the 35 soldiers of the famous 26th Division who received the French Croix de Guerre at Camp Devens April 22, where the division is being stationed waiting discharge. Of those men who received the coveted honor, the only one whose rank was higher than Major Ireland’s was Brigadier General Charles H. Cole of the 52nd Infantry Brigade.

Major Ireland’s citation was for bravery in action, for he has been with the Yankee Division throughout the war and was in action each time the division entered the lines.

BOWDOIN CLUB OF PHILADELPHIA HOLDS ANNUAL DINNER.

The Bowdoin Club of Philadelphia held its annual dinner on Friday evening, April 11, at Kugler’s. Frederick L. Smith ’86, presided. The guest of the evening was Mr. W. T. Plummer, president of the Main Belting Company. Harold E. Wilson ’07, had been advertising manager for this company up to the time of his death in February and Mr. Plummer paid a beautiful tribute to him in a speech of appreciation. Rev. William Francis Ayer ’77, told of the famous Bowdoin class of which he was a member, and President Smith outlined his campaign for national highways as war memorials.

Walter L. Sanborn ’07, editor of the Lansdale Reporter and an enthusiastic worker for the system of college athletics which Yale has recently adopted, was elected president of the club for next year, and John Halford ’07 was elected secretary.

In addition to the above there were present: Edward S. Power, M.D., 1880; Professor Lester D. Tyler, 1901; Donald E. McCormick, 1903; Myrton A. Bryant, 1904; John W. Leydon, 1907; Harry E. Mitchell, 1907; Frank C. Evans, 1910; G. L. Skofield, Jr., 1913; W. Fletcher Twombly, 1913; Earl F. Mahoney, 1912; Ralph Barrett, 1916; and Thomas W. Leydon, 1921.

INTERCOLLEGIATE DEBATING.

The schedule for the intercollegiate debates has been arranged as follows: Brown affirmative debates Bowdoin negative at Brunswick; Bowdoin affirmative debates Wesleyan negative at Middletown; Wesleyan affirmative debates Brown negative at Providence. The question for debate is, “Resolved, That immigration into the United States should be prohibited for a period of five years following the ratification of the Peace Treaty.”

This is the first time in the history of the college that Bowdoin has debated Brown and much interest is being displayed in the result. On the other hand Wesleyan is an old rival, since this is our tenth encounter with her debaters.

Where The Blame Lies.

A very noticeable fact at the game Saturday was the absence of any organized cheering. This was in marked contrast to what always has been the custom at baseball games, especially at those in the State championship series. Hardly less noticeable was the comparatively small attendance of students. Too many of the student body let week end trips stand in the way of their loyal attendance at the games.

To be sure enthusiasm ran high at times Saturday and full support of the team by the student body was self-evident but did not this evidence always come at the time when it was least needed? We could cheer when the team was winning but when it was in a bad situation and really needed support we were perfectly silent. Is that the right spirit? No. Can you expect the team to do its best when with the other side ahead and things breaking bad, it gets no support from the student body in the grandstand? The team played an excellent game Saturday but the student body failed to come through.

The United War Work Fund.

A statement recently issued by Professor Catlin shows that Bowdoin stands the lowest of all the Maine Colleges in the per cent. of total pledges paid in the United War Work Campaign. We have paid only 70 per cent. of what we pledged. However, of the 30 per cent. yet unpaid, nearly one-half was pledged by students who have since left college. This greatly improves our showing but by no means brings it up to what it should be.

Those who have not yet paid this pledge can not excuse themselves on the ground that the need of money for such work has passed, for that is not true. So long as we have an army in Europe, and so long as soldiers remain in camps on this side, not yet discharged, there is a vivid need that the work of the Y. M. C. A., Knights of Columbus, and other similar organizations be carried on.

COMMUNICATION.

To the Editor of the Orient:

In your issue of April 15th some reference was made to the fact that, after the signing of the armistice, I was ordered to draught a constitution for the League of Nations and forward it to a member of the American Commission to Negotiate Peace. I desire to call attention to the fact that in preparing the draught, as well as in making the studies on which it was based, I had the great advantage of working in conjunction with Lieutenant Laurence A. Crosby, Bowdoin, 1913. Remembering Mr. Crosby's brilliant scholastic record both prior and subsequent to his graduation, I requested his assignment to this work, and was more than justified in my expectations. If any credit is due he must share it to the very fullest degree.
Mr. Crosby's record in the army has been an exceptionally fine one. In spite of deficient eyesight he succeeded in enlisting voluntarily as a private and in that capacity went to France. The excellence of his service won him an appointment to the Army Candidate School at Longres where he was commissioned last June. On account of the urgent need for men of intellectual attainment in staff work he was drawn into intelligence, and, although unceasing in his efforts to get back with the troops, so distinguished himself as to win the warmest praise and further promotion from his chiefs. "A very fine type of young soldier" was the verdict of one of the most eminent and most critical of our generals in France. More recently still he has been the recipient of honors of a different type. At the end of February he went to Oxford in charge of the 150 members of the A.E.F. who succeeded in obtaining the privilege of going, on "detached service," to Oxford College. On his arrival his old college paid him the compliment—rare indeed in the case of a foreigner—of an appointment to a teaching fellowship in law. But all of this will please rather than surprise his friends.

HERBERT C. BELL.

MEETING FOR PRE-MEDICAL MEN.

There will be a meeting in the Union, Wednesday evening, May 9 at 8 o'clock for all the premedical men and others who are interested in the study of medicine. The meeting will be addressed by members of the Portland medical faculty and also the Brunswick faculty; and it is hoped that many men in college will avail themselves of this opportunity. During the evening smokes and refreshments will be served. The committee in charge consists of Hill, Medic '21, Howard, Medic '21, and Dr. Follett.

CONCERT IN MEMORIAL HALL.

On Tuesday evening, May 13, there will be given at Memorial Hall a concert of piano and vocal music.

The artists are Mrs. F. L. Dutton and Mrs. G. H. Brickett of Augusta, who have twice before played in recitals at Bowdoin, and Miss Marcia Merrill, contralto, and Mr. Harry F. Merrill of Portland.

Miss Merrill made a successful debut last week in MacFarlane's opera, "Swords and Scissors," at the Farham Opera House, Portland.

Mr. Merrill is the well-known basso of Portland, who was for 14 years soloist of Emmanuel Church, Boston, and is now singing at the State Street Church, Portland.

He has previously sung in Brunswick under the auspices of the Saturday Club. Mr. Merrill is the father of Lawrence F. Merrill of the Class of 1922.

Mrs. Dutton has studied for many years with Harold Bauer, the distinguished concert pianist.

Mrs. Brickett, who will play the orchestral parts of the concerts on a second piano, is organist of the Congregational Church in Augusta and is a member of the American Guild of Organists.

A feature of the forthcoming concert will be a number of pieces for two pianos, one for the solo part, the other representing the orchestra. The program includes the great E flat concerto of Beethoven.

The concert is given under the auspices of the Music Department of the College and no admission fee will be charged.

DEKES LOST TO D. U.'S.

In a hotly contested game played on the campus Friday afternoon the D. U. team defeated the Dekes in the last inning. The Dekes scored first blood making two runs early in the game. The D. U.'s came back with two in their half of the inning and the Dekes scored in the fifth making the score 3 to 2 in their favor. At the last half of the fifth Ridley of the D. U. team poled out a long hit to right field, scoring two men.

Batteries: Delta Upsilon, Norton, Sears, Toyokawa; Dudgeon. Delta Kappa Epsilon, Ludwig; Drummond. Umpire, Sprince.

PSI U.'S WON FROM KAPPA SIG'S.

The game between the Psi U.'s and the Kappa Sig's last Thursday was one of the most interesting games of the Interfraternity League thus far. At the end of the fifth inning the score was a tie and in spite of the darkness the tie was played off. This inning also was close but Gaffney's error on first gave the game to the Psi U.'s.

ALPHA DELTS LOST TO D. U.'S.

In a fairly interesting game on the Delta a week ago Monday, Delta Upsilon defeated Alpha Delta Phi by a score of 5 to 3. The A.D.'s got the jump on their opponents in the first two innings, but after that the winners held them scoreless. The D. U.'s got out of a bad hole in the last inning when Rich and Drake singled with none out, and then after two men were retired.
the bases were full on account of James’ base on balls. The last batter, however, was easily retired on a grounder to the pitcher. Merrill’s fielding was a feature.

Innings: \[1 \ 2 \ 3 \ 4 \ 5 \ 1 \h \]
Delta Upsilon \[0 \ 2 \ 1 \ 2 \ 0 - 5 \ 5 \]
Alpha Delta Phi \[1 \ 2 \ 0 \ 0 \ 0 - 3 \ 4 \]

Bowdoin Swamped Fort Preble.

In an uninteresting game on the Whittier Field last Wednesday, Bowdoin overwhelmed the Fort Preble team from Portland by a score of eleven to nothing. The Portland nine was held to three hits, and only four men reached first, of whom none made second. Fort Preble’s ten errors were largely responsible for Bowdoin’s easy victory. Smith made several good catches in left field for Fort Preble, while Cook and Finn played a good game for Bowdoin. Caspar and Donnell batted well for Bowdoin, and Barker for the soldier outfit. Coach Houser used three pitchers, Flinn, Smethurst, and Mason, each of whom pitched three innings. Mason continued the fine pitching that he showed in the Tufts game, and held the visitors hitless during his stay in the box.

1868 Prize Won by Colter.

Lloyd O. Colter won the Class of 1868 prize for the best written and spoken oration by a member of the Senior class at the annual competition held at Memorial Hall last Tuesday evening. Colter took as his subject, “Mons and the First Hundred Thousand,” and he basied his theme largely on his own experiences while serving in the American Ambulance Service in France, where he won the Croix de Guerre.

The other speakers and their subjects were as follows: “Americanization,” by E. Shepley Paul, 2d; “Jerusalem Redeemed,” by Fred B. Chadbourn; “American Diplomacy,” by John W. Coburn; “Omar Khayyam: An Honest Thinker,” by Roy A. Foulke; and “When Dreams Come True,” by Lewis A. Burleigh, Jr.

The judges were Mr. John E. Chapman ’77 of Brunswick, Reverend David L. Wilson of Bath, and Superintendent John A. Cone of Topsham.

Memorial Service to Professor Files.

At last Sunday’s chapel, there was a simple memorial service in honor of the late Professor Files. In a tribute to him, President Sills said, in part:

For the third time within two years the college is called upon to mourn the loss of one who gave to her the service of a life-time and whose brilliant talents were placed whole-heartedly at her feet. More than most organizations the college is personal and living. The college deals with persons, not with things, with the spirits of men not with property. And while in the modern college there is of necessity a rather elaborate system of administration, while there are many activities that center about a rather complicated social and athletic life, when you come down to the heart of things, the college consists of those who teach and those who are taught. In no other business of life are men so closely and so intimately associated—and the association is usually for long periods of time and often for life—as in the faculty of a small college; and in no other relations are there more personal contacts than between teachers and students. The outside world does not well consider this; careless observers do not understand it. But we who are all members of the college who work and study and play and live together, realize our common loss when in the prime of life one is taken from us whom we have respected and honored and loved as colleague and teacher.

His labors for college, town and State were fittingly crowned by the glorious opportunity that he seized to be of service to his fellow men on the battlefields of France. For a man of his years and health and temperament to insist on going over seas simply from the call of duty was in itself an act of high patriotism. When he left Brunswick he made light of the dangers and hardships he was liable to incur and said simply that it seemed to him imperative that a man in his position with his knowledge of languages and his experience should do something for his country at the time of her dire need. Those of us who heard him speak in Memorial Hall last December and who even then were anxious about his physical condition realized that to a man of his sensibilities service with the Y. M. C. A. in the danger zone had been indeed hazardous. No man can penetrate the veil fate draws over human beings and their actions; yet it seems altogether probable that had Mr. Files been less zealous in his work, had he taken greater precautions for his health, he might be with us today. As it is, he has left to us all a splendid memory of one who gave himself fully and gladly, of another golden star on our Bowdoin banner shining forth as an example of patriotism and self-sacrifice. The scholar has finished his learning; the teacher has taught his last class and left to us all a noble example of industry and devotion. Best of all his service abroad unstintedly given, his last illness borne with patience and courage and marked consideration for others have won for him praise higher than usually falls to mortals. Here at Bowdoin he will long be remembered as a very kindly and very brave man.

TRIBUTE TO PROFESSOR FILES.

The Portland Evening Express in its editorial column of April 24th paid an eloquent tribute to the life and work of Professor George T. Files whose death was a great shock to the college, State and Nation. The editorial reads as follows:

"The whole State mourns the loss of Professor George T. Files whose death occurred yesterday. Few men in Maine had a larger circle of true friends, and no man deserved them more. Facing the best years of his career, with wonderful ability to carry through anything which he undertook, his life meant much to the State he loved so well. His remarkable work for better highways in Maine, for the upbuilding and development of the State along progressive lines, his exceptional ability as a public speaker, and his driving force in any cause which he felt was right, will never be forgotten. Bowdoin owes much to Professor Files and the thousands of boys who passed under his guiding hand during his many years’ connection with that institution, will always recall with deepest reverence the splendid memories of those days. Among business men he was recognized as possessing marked ability. A tireless worker for his friends, for his State, and for his Country, with never a thought of self, he practically offered himself as a sacrifice to the causes for which he fought. Never exceptionally robust, the great strain of his work in Europe, where for months he battled to maintain the morale of the French army against the heaviest of odds, was too much for him, and his heart and constitution could not stand up against it. It is no exaggeration to say that the name of George T. Files will live long in the memory of the people of Maine. Even after the present generation has passed away the results of his work will live and be remembered."

THE HUMANITIES AND MILITARY TRAINING.

At the annual dinner of the Harvard Club of Washington, on Jan. 28, Gen. Samuel T. Ansell, a West Point graduate of 1899, now Acting Judge Advocate General, spoke on "The Place and Influence of the College Man in the Recent War." His remarks had so important a bearing on the future of military education in the United States that the Orient asks the privilege of giving them to its readers. The speech is printed in part herewith:

I was one who before this war had, if I may speak frankly, become quite critical of the American college. It seemed to me that it pretended to teach everything and succeeded in teaching nothing; that it had come to be a sort of social aggregation without real institutional purpose or objective. It seemed to me that it had no definite object or aim, and that it failed to recognize, or, if it recognized, failed to adhere to the principles of conduct and control which I, for one, thought necessary to any institution of learning.

I had about made up my mind that the college was a place where everything was taught or tolerated except learning, a place which was devoted to the development of almost everything except mind and character. No other class of our youth seemed quite so destitute of intellectual appreciation and intellectual attainment as our so-called college class. No set of youth in our land seemed to exhibit less intellectual capacity and more bad manners than a body of college students.

I now think that this view of mine was somewhat exaggerated and wrong, but to a degree at least it was true. My reference is to the college of liberal arts, and not to the scientific technical schools. But what I have said of the one is equally applicable to the other.

The college man has had a wonderful part in this new Army of ours, and has played it well. He played it well, in my judgment, because he had studied, not the practical sciences, not the studies of the technical profession, not those so-called practical studies that are designed to enable a man to leave college and immediately begin the making of money; but because, notwithstanding all the deficiencies of college, he had studied, in some thoughtful and helpful degree at least, the humanities. In this Army it is a knowledge of, and love for, the humanities that count. I have observed it to the point that there can be no mistaking.

The training which the college man has received in the study of the humanities, such as it is, has contributed to his qualifications in the new establishment in an unexpected and doubtless an unappreciated degree.

I think the mechanical education must hereafter take a less important place in the curriculum of military training and be superseded to an appreciable extent by a study of the liberal arts, and sciences, and humanities. The study and knowledge of human beings, rather than machines, will be a necessary part of the professional training of our soldiers. In my judgment, it will be unfortunate if hereafter West Point and the Service Schools should not pay less attention to machine, and more to men, their qualities and culture.

Although the college man may have an over-developed individualism, although the college has little or nothing of immediate practical value in its curriculum, although it aims to cultivate the aesthetic side, the sympathies, and the imagination, it must be remembered that these things are so, in order that human beings may be understood, interested, influenced, and controlled. It must be remembered that many of these things are of great military worth, and whether of military worth or not, they are there to be dealt with. Though some of it, of course, will be modified out of military existence, much of it will last and remain a permanent and strengthening element in any military establishment.

A knowledge of mechanics cannot dominate or put to best advantage such a spirit. Such a spirit itself is of the humanities, and a knowledge of the humanities is required for its leadership.—Harvard Alumni Bulletin.

On the Campus

Smethurst '18, umpired the game between Brunswick High and Edward Little High on the Delta last Thursday.

A half holiday was given Friday afternoon on account of the Welcome Home Day parade.

An error in last week's Orient in the box score of the Tufts game, credited two put-outs to Racine.

Captain John A. Slocum '13, was on the Campus last week.

Coach Magee refereed the wrestling matches in the Town Hall last Wednesday evening.

Meacham '22 was able to leave the Infirmary the first of last week and went to his home for a few days.

Lieut. Col. Sherman N. Shumway '17, who has made such a commendable war record, stopped on the Campus last Tuesday on his way to his home in Skowhegan. He received his discharge from the 103d Maine Infantry at Camp Devens shortly after the big parade of the Y.D. Division in Boston.

Because of the conflict with the Bowdoin-New Hampshire dual track meet and the championship games in the Maine series, the dual tennis tournament between Bowdoin and Bates at Lewiston, which was previously scheduled for last Saturday, May 3, was set ahead until this week Wednesday.

Major William D. Ireland '16, was on the Campus last Thursday night. He received his discharge at Camp Devens last Tuesday.

The Musical Clubs closed the season last Thursday evening at Richmond. The concert in that town finished a four-day run which the clubs made last week giving concerts in Brunswick on Monday evening, Bangor on Tuesday evening, Fairfield on Wednesday evening, and Richmond on Thursday evening.

Gibson '21 was ill in the Infirmary a few days last week.

Alumni Notes

'69—Judge Clarence Hale, who returned to Portland, April 20, with Mrs. Hale from a vacation visit of several months to California, resumed his duties recently as presiding judge in the United States District Court.

'72—Herbert Harris of Chicago, formerly of Bangor, has sent to the Maine Historical Society a copy of book entitled "Bowdoin's Class of 1872." This writing contains brief biographical sketches of the author's classmates, of the class meetings and reunions, including the forty-fifth reunion at the Commencement of 1917. The Class of 1872 was the last class to be represented in the Civil War. Two of its members took part in the war, the first being Warren F. Bickford, who was in the First Maine Cavalry in the last year of the struggle, and the other being George M. Seiders, who was a corporal in the Twenty-fourth Maine Volunteers. Mr. Harris was organist at the Central Church, Bangor, from 1900 to 1904, but several years later he took up his residence in Chicago. He is one of Maine's best known teachers.

'88—William T. Hall, Jr., of Bath, had the honor of being the first subscriber in that city to the Victory Liberty Loan, the subscriptions for which were begun April 22.

Ex-'19—The wedding of Lieut. Raymond Loring Atwood of Paris, Me., and Miss Pauline Stongaton of Whitefield, N. H., took place at the North Congregational Church at Cambridge, Mass., April 23. Lieut. Atwood entered Bowdoin after graduating from Hebron in 1915, and remained in college two years, when he enlisted in the naval aviation branch of the United States service. He first took the ground school course at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and then the flying school course at Pensacola, Fla. On January 25, 1918, he received his commission as United States Naval Ensign, and was soon after sent to England. Until the signing of the armistice, he served on a patrol of the North Sea. He returned to this country, and was then promoted to the rank of Junior Lieutenant, after which he was sent with the Atlantic Fleet to Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, to which he made the journey in the air from Hampton Roads. During the last winter he has done considerable flying in connection with the manoeuvres of the fleet. He came to New York the week before last, and then went to Cambridge. After a short trip to Whitefield, N. H., Lieut. Atwood will return to duty at Hampton Roads, Va.

AMONG THE COLLEGES.

With this issue the Orient is inaugurating a new department which we hope will contribute to the interest and usefulness of the publication. We are already exchanging with a number of the other colleges not only in New England and the Eastern states but even with a few as far as the Pacific coast. We hope to increase this list until Bowdoin will be able to compare the Orient with all the leading college papers and can get helpful suggestions that will tend to promote a greater spirit of fellowship in our intercollegiate relations.

This department proposes for the present simply to recount incidents of particular interest to all college students that occur on the other campuses.

Amherst: An interfraternity baseball league has just started its season on the Amherst campus.

Brown: The Daily Herald is conducting a campaign with a "Keep off the Grass" slogan, hoping to eliminate from the campus those muddy, unkempt looking cross paths made by those who will not stay on the walks.

Maine: Under the direction of Coach "Pat" French the track squad is fast rounding into shape for that Maine Intercollegiate Meet, May 17. The workmen are putting the track and jumping pits into the best possible condition.

Oberlin: The Cosmopolitan Club recently held an International Night in which they interpreted the international spirit of the times with an elaborate pageant-like program.

Reed (Ore.): We are delighted to exchange with an institution that is as closely related to Bowdoin and Bowdoin men as Reed is.

"Bob" Leigh, Bowdoin '14, who has been acting as Assistant Professor of Politics, has been granted a year's leave of absence for study at Columbia University.

Smith: The Glee and Mandolin Clubs' concert was held Saturday, April 26, in connection with the dances in the different houses. Several Bowdoin men were present as guests.

BOWDOIN OVERCOMES SIX RUN LEAD AND DEFEATS U. OF M.

In one of the most exciting games played on Whittier Field for a long time, Bowdoin beat the University of Maine 9 to 7. With the count seven to one in favor of the visitors, the Bowdoin team drove in six runs in the sixth inning and then two more in the eighth. Bowdoin had been held to one run until then, only because the Maine pitcher was favored by sheer luck and splendid defense, but in the sixth he was hit for five clean singles, which with the aid of some errors and a wild pitch netted six runs, tied the score, and caused the departure of the pitcher and the third baseman from the contest. The team pounded the ball hard all through the game, getting fourteen hits for a team average of .378. Finn, Grover, and Hall did especially fine work at the bat, the first of these scoring two long triples out of five times up. For Maine, Faulkner and Slattery did very well. The Bowdoin man who should receive the most credit for the victory is Smethurst, who went into the game in the sixth, and stemmed a dangerous Maine rally, and thereafter held the university team helpless. In Bowdoin’s big inning, Smethurst knocked in two runs, and scored a third himself. Again in the eighth, the pitcher laid down a perfect bunt along the first base line, scoring Caspar with the winning run.

One of the elements which contributed largely to Bowdoin’s fine victory was excellent support from the grandstand. There was no organized cheering section at the Colby game, but under the leadership of Cleaves ’20, last Saturday, the student body gave the team far better support than at any other game this year.

BOSTON COLLEGE DEFEATS BOWDOIN IN POOR GAME.

In a very poor game played at University Heights, Boston, Bowdoin was rather easily defeated by Boston College 11 to 5. This was the seventh straight win for the Massachusetts team. Both sides pounded the ball hard, the winners scoring fifteen hits, and the losers ten. Shanahan, the first Boston College twirler, was driven from the mound in the fourth, when Bowdoin hit him for four runs. Holmes, Hall, and Prosser did the best stick work for Bowdoin, while Urban and O’Doherty were the stars for the winners. O’Doherty turned in two home runs.
and a single out of four times at bat. In the field, Cook, Burke, and Bond did good work.

STUDENT FORUM ADDRESSED BY DEAN NICOLSON.

At the last meeting of the Student Forum, held in the Union, May 6, Dean Nicolson of Wesleyan College gave a very interesting address on "College Athletics." Dean Nicolson has been prominent in athletic affairs for many years. His address was very instructive as to the attitude of other colleges toward that branch of college activities. First of all, he spoke of the difference in the attitude of the English and American college man in regard to athletic contests. In England the result of the game is of minor importance compared with the benefit and fun to be derived from participation in the sport. Our spirit of winning at any cost has caused the introduction of many objectionable features such as professional players on college teams, irregular students of great athletic ability. The National Collegiate Association to which most of the leading colleges now belong has stood for the abolition of such a policy and is striving for the best in athletics. Dean Nicolson favors faculty management of athletics. This, he observed, will dignify sport by placing it on a level with other courses. No longer can athletics be ignored as a vital and necessary part of a college man's life. He opposed the system of hiring the best coach that the college can afford for a season or a few seasons only. "This makes for professionalism and the spirit to win at any cost," he declared. The war has brought the country to a realization of the importance of mass athletics. The speaker favored a system which would include every freshman in college in a competitive track meet, the winning college in a special district to be awarded a banner and the best college in the country a cup. He spoke at length on the kind of sportsmanship which exists in many colleges and urged that all institutions take a higher stand than they have done in this respect.

A discussion of the subject followed. Much valuable information was obtained by informal question and answer. It will surely pay a larger number of the students to attend these informal discussions on matters vital to the interests of the student body. It is hoped that a larger number will attend the next meeting of the forum.

PRE-MEDICAL MEETING AT UNION.

On last Wednesday evening a successful meeting was held for the benefit of the men who are contemplating a medical course at Bowdoin and elsewhere. Many of the members of the Medical School faculty were present, and short addresses were delivered by President Sills and Dean Nixon of the college, Drs. Gerrish, Moulton and Tobie, members of the Medical School faculty. Refreshments were served during an informal talk which followed the addresses. This year promises to turn out an unusually large number of pre-medical students as there were about fifty present.

BATES-BOWDOIN TENNIS TOURNAMENT.

Unfortunately rain interfered with the tennis tournament at Bates, on May 7, and there is little chance that the meet will be completed. Single matches, which brought together the players of third and fourth rating, were won by Bowdoin, while the Bates first doubles team won from Bowdoin with the loss of one set.

Scores:

Singles—Sawyer, Bowdoin, defeated Kirschbaum, Bates, 6–1, 2–6, 6–3.
Mitchell, Bowdoin, defeated Woodard, Bates, 6–2, 7–5.
Doubles—Purinton and Powers, Bates, defeated Chin and Partridge, Bowdoin, 7–9, 6–3, 6–4.

BASEBALL RALLY.

The first baseball rally of this year was held on the Campus, May 9, before the game with the U. of M. Dr. Whittier, Dean Nixon, and Captain Donnell, spoke to the student body about the "Old Bowdoin Spirit," and Coach Magee told the men about the coming track meet at the U. of M. As everyone can see, Bowdoin's "Spirit" has almost spent itself in the strain of world war, to which she contributed freely, but it can, and it will come back.

MEMORIAL TABLET TO LIEUT. FORBES RICKARD '17.

There has been placed in St. John's Cathedral, Denver, Colorado, a bronze tablet in memory of the late Lieutenant Forbes Rickard, Jr., '17. The inscription which follows is interesting in that the first quotation is from one of his letters home, and the last two lines are from his Class Day poem, and were selected by President Sills.

The inscription is as follows:

In loving memory of LIEUTENANT FORBES RICKARD, JR.,
Co. B, 59th Infantry, U.S.A.
Killed in action near Chateau-Thierry, July 19th, 1918.
In the 23rd year of his age.
The first communicant of this Cathedral.
The first graduate of Bowdoin College “...gallant unreturning”
“...work is done and though they could not
They built the glory of a later day.”

EX-SENATOR BURTON HEARD IN MEMORIAL HALL.
Senator Theodore E. Burton of New York City, former senator from Ohio, addressed the townspeople and students of the College on “The International Situation.”
Senator Burton has served the people of Ohio for nearly twenty years in both Houses of Congress. Throughout his long public life he has been one of the leaders in the fight against “pork barrel” legislation. He has always adhered to his belief that his duty was to serve the country as a whole rather than the particular section from which he came.
President Sills, in introducing the Senator, spoke warmly of his long and honorable career in public affairs and his constant thought for the people he represented rather than his own benefit.
In opening his speech, Senator Burton pictured the tremendous cost of the great war in life, property, and suffering, emphasizing the importance of preventing a similar calamity in the future. In order to insure peace the Senator declared, we must have some satisfactory method for settling the disputes which will arise in the future. The world has made great gain in that direction in the last few years. The countries of the world are coming to a realization of the fact that a republic is the best method of government to prevent a dynasty similar to the Hohenzollern’s. To insure lasting peace the value of a “scrap of paper” must be realized and the principles of international law respected.
The Senator then enumerated some of the more important articles in the Covenant of the League of Nations. The most important article, he declared is the twelfth, which deals with arbitration. Such an article would have prevented the present war, for Germany would have been unable to catch the other nations unprepared as she did in 1914. Furthermore the three months’ delay enables the sentiment of the world to be expressed on the matter before the declaration of hostilities. The article providing for the limitation of arguments is another important one. No nation will go to war without elaborate preparation; the nation who is the most warlike is the one with the best preparation.
Senator Burton then enumerated the principal objections which had been made to the covenant. He ridiculed the people who felt distrust for Great Britain because she had five representatives from the British Isles as well as many more from her colonies. “These colonies,” he reminded, “are practically independent nations. They participated in this war through their love for the mother country, not from compulsion. They expressed their desire to have representatives at the peace table entirely independent of Great Britain herself.” A short history of the Monroe Doctrine, whose present influence he disparaged, followed. Senator Burton concluded his remarks expressing his pleasure at having the opportunity to address a college audience.
Throughout the speech his strong personality was apparent. Although the address lasted more than an hour, at no time did the audience lose interest. His manner was easy, dignified, and above all, scholarly. He spoke with the authority of one who has thoroughly mastered his subject. It is rare, indeed, that Bowdoin has had the opportunity to hear an address so instructive and at the same time so fascinating as that which the Senator delivered.

INTERSchOLastic TENNIS TOURNAMENT.
The Interscholastic Tennis Tournament was played off here last Friday and Saturday with Cony High and Lewiston High coming out on top. The entries were Cony, Lewiston, Sanford, Rumford, Gardiner, Freeport, Bath and Edward Little.

FIRST UNION DANCE OF THE YEAR A SUCCESS.
On Saturday evening the first Union dance of the year was held in the Bowdoin Union. A fairly large crowd was in attendance. During intermission harlequin ice cream was served. Prince's orchestra furnished the music which was excellent. The committee in charge consisted of Cole '19 (chairman), Caspar '19, Rounds '20. The patronesses were Mrs. William H. Davis and Mrs. Lee Dudley McLean.

The Use of Reserved Books.

It is a rule of the Library, which everybody is acquainted with and which nearly everybody persists in breaking, that reserve books are never to be taken out until the close of library hours and are to be returned as soon as the Library opens. The need of this rule is obvious. Books are usually placed on the reserve list because they are needed for assigned outside reading in a course, and it is therefore essential that they be available to everyone.

It is easy to tuck a reserved book under your coat and escape unnoticed. It is not even necessary to conceal it. Soon someone asks the Library attendant for the book in question and it is not to be found, and the unfortunate who needs the book but cannot find it, suffers. You take the book to your room and perhaps read it, and then forget all about it and do not return it for a week or two. That is usually the case. Again, someone takes a reserved book out over night and does not return it the next day. In this case, the lost book is usually soon located but someone is inconvenienced in the meantime.

What is the remedy? Surely we do not wish to be deprived of any of the freedom which we now enjoy. Why not do the right thing, observe the Library rules with regard to reserved books which we all agree are fair and just, and perhaps put ourselves out a little to see that the other fellow is not deprived of the use of reserved books which should be available to all students?

A Vulnerable Spot.

The worthy victory of Saturday over the University of Maine was due in a marked degree to the revival of traditional Bowdoin fight and spirit. Possible defeat was changed to victory by combined forces of team and student body. The grit and fight displayed by the team, the forceful cheering, the inspiring band music recalled to alumni and upperclassmen many memorable struggles on Whittier Field in pre-war days.

But in the celebration of the victory, Bowdoin disclosed a vulnerable spot. Her students failed in the many attempts to sing Bowdoin Beata or Phi Chi.

The singing of the verses, as one alumnus candidly remarked, gave to the listener an excellent impression of the vocal music from the first phonographs in this country, an intermingling of music, discordant stutterings, mumblings, and minors; but the alumnus admitted the choruses reminded him that improvements were made in the phonograph the first of this decade.

Then there were a considerable number of silent mouthed students during the singing, who, because of the degeneration of our singing during the war, have mistakably informed themselves that Bowdoin has instituted the system of singing by proxy. Traditional Bowdoin has always sung in chapel, on the campus, and at the fraternity houses. Alumni state that one of the pleasantest college memories is the recalling of the stir and sweep of the many voices singing together.

One of the most essential requirements to Bowdoin unity and spirit is that each man can and does sing frequently with his fellow students, the College songs.

It is time that the Upperclassmen reviewed, and the Freshmen learned the College songs, not only that the unfavorable impression created by the singing on Saturday will not re-occur, but that Bowdoin spirit and unity may be nearer one hundred per cent.

To facilitate this accomplishment, the words to Bowdoin Beata and Phi Chi are included in this issue.

BOWDOIN BEATA

Air—"Wake, Freshmen, Wake."

When bright skies were o'er us,
And life lay before us,
'Neath Bowdoin's pines we gathered far and near.
So filling our glasses,
And pledging our classes,
We drink a health to Alma Mater dear.

CHORUS

Clink, clink, drink, drink, drink!
Smash the glass in splinters when you're done.
Bowdoin Beata,
O dear Alma Mater,
There is no fairer mother 'neath the sun.

When manhood has found us,
And children surround us,
Our college days and friends we'll still recall.
With heartfelt emotion,
And deathless devotion,
We'll send our sons to Bowdoin in the fall.

When age, gray and hoary,
Has filled out our story,
The tender mem'ries swelling back again.
Loyal forever,
Until death shall sever,
One glass to Alma Mater we shall drain.

So, Comrades, together,
In fair or foul weather,
Your glasses fill to Bowdoin and her fame.
For where'er we wander:
Stronger and fonder
The tend'rest ties shall cling about her name.

H. H. PIERCE '96.

*Every Bowdoin man stands uncovered while Bowdoin Beata is played.

PHI CHI.

Air—"Marching through Georgia."
Swing out the brave old banner boys, for the resurrection's come,
Bring out the horns of plenty, and the old ancestral drum;
Bring out the ponderous gewgaw that has made Gomorrah hum.
For Phi Chi's in her ancient glory.

CHORUS

Hurrah! hurrah! hurrah for old Phi Chi;
Hurrah! hurrah! and may she never die;
While pluck beats luck, and Prex is stuck, and Profs. are high and dry,
We will follow her to glory.

There are pails and there are windows, and there's water in the well,
As the Freshman will discover, if he tries to cut a swell;
Cold water for his diet, till existence is a hell,
For Phi Chi's in her ancient glory.

Then hush the grinning skeleton, and close the coffin lid,
And screw the Freshman in it, 'til his infant form is hid;
For he must learn that he must do precisely as he's bid.
For Phi Chi's in her ancient glory.

This Baby, born to Bowdoin, 'way back in Sixty-four,
Has thundered for admission at many a Freshman's door,
And thanks to God and 19—, will thunder evermore.
For Phi Chi's in her ancient glory.

E. P. MITCHELL '71.

SUPPORT THE IVY PLAY.

It was but a few weeks ago that the Masque and Gown stepped forth from its tomb and with a sad dignity softened by debt and defuncty implored the financial assistance of those who have the privilege of reading the Bowdoin Orient.

Now we are with you again, not, however, in shrinking rectitude but reeking with work and toil. We no longer inhabit the tomb,—we live in Memorial. We even have money, jealously guarded by our treasurer, who wears it over his heart.

Dear Sisters, our last eruption was for cash, now it is for—YOU. We realize that all that sparkles is not Green River, and that after all money is not the only thing in life even though it is in the treasurer's office. Friends, our annual tragedy takes place on June 5th and it is rumored that with malicious afterthought certain of our brethren are planning dances and excursions on that holy night. Last year such planning brought tears to the eyes of the manager and gnashing of teeth and typewriters among the creditors of the Masque and Gown.
Is this right? Eleven earnest and solemn souls are attending early morning rehearsals in order to be fitted to appear before you and yours on the evening of June 5th and you are planning to sneak away. Can you men, who have had mothers, meet the reproachful gaze of the fair young lily who is your joy at Ivy and hear her moan, “That dance kept me from seeing Kirk act.”

Fellow-victims of the institution, don’t desert us. It isn’t that we want your money. We are giving tickets away—for 83 cents. All we want is YOU, and if you can’t come send your 83 cents. For the love that you hear your Alma Mater and morning chapel don’t let the rafters of the Cumberland re-echo in silence on the night of June 5th. Even with five cents next to us we don’t feel that we can afford to equip our actors with telescopes so that they can see the audience. We would sooner spend it for malted milk.

Dahlgren of the Kappa Sig team was the star at bat, with two triples, a double and a single. Parent, pitching for the Sigma Nu team failed to puzzle the Kappa Sig’s, who found him for a total of sixteen hits in their four times at bat. Keith Coombs pitched a steady game, allowing but four scattered hits.

By defeating the Zeta Psi team last Tuesday, the Kappa Sigma’s are now tied with the Chi Psi team for first place in League B. At no time except in the second inning were the Kappa Sig’s in danger. In that inning the Zete’s had three on bases with one out. By striking one out and catching another at first the Zete’s one chance was lost. Moses, pitching for Kappa Sigma, was the star, striking out eight men in three innings and allowing but three hits.

BOWDOIN IN PARIS.

The following selections from a letter which has come to the notice of the alumni editor seem to be of unusual interest to Bowdoin men. The letter was written by Captain Paul L. White ’14, who has recently had an army appointment as a student in the Sorbonne, Paris.

"Today in the grand amphitheatre of the Sorbonne, Dean Briggs of Harvard spoke before some two or three hundred fortunate Americans who are now in the schools of Paris. Almost every university and college in America was represented. Three times in the course of his conference he quoted President Hyde, and once at some length on the functions of the college as opposed to those of the university. He added that Bowdoin had guarded well its proper functions and then praised the college method. Bowdoin was the only college he named.

"To hear the dean of our greatest university speak in that way of Bowdoin and so well voice what we have all thought to be great, was a satisfaction that rejoiced the hearts of the Bowdoin men in that audience.

"The courses in the history of French civilization are given with a real enthusiasm which one finds only in the best men. It is truly contagious. I think that M. M. Lemonnier, Reynier, Guiguebert, and Brigle are doing as much for France as her finest soldiers.

"But I think often of Bowdoin and especially of Professor Johnson whose great heart reached out across racial and social prejudice, which must have been strong within him, to the great harmonious heart of beautiful Paris and France. He was a great man."

The Bowdoin Chapter of Alpha Delta Phi wishes to express its deep sorrow at the loss of Brother Samuel Lane Gross, of the Class of 1872, whose death occurred on April 16, 1919, in the city of New York.

BOWDOIN ORIENT

VOL. XLIX  BRUNSWICK, MAINE, MAY 20, 1919  NO. 7

BOWDOIN WINS M. I. A. A. WITH EASE.

Despite the sharp wind, the incessant rain, and the soggy track the Bowdoin track team won a crushing victory over the two other track teams, Maine and Bates, last Saturday afternoon at Orono in the 23rd annual Maine Intercollegiate Track Meet. Winning points in every event on the card, the Magee coached team piled up a total of 73 points against 36 for Maine and 17 for Bates.

Contrary to previous predictions the meet proved to be a mere walk-away for the Bowdoin boys. It seemed from advance "dope" before hand that the meet would be practically a "dead heat" for Bowdoin and Maine with the final result being determined by the second and third places and the way the Bates points went. But after the trials in the morning, at which 16 Bowdoin men qualified for the finals against 11 Maine men and four Bates men, it was seen that the Bowdoin team had the margin. Eighteen points were practically cinched in the low and high hurdles for Bowdoin in the morning, and every man placed strong for the finals in the afternoon.

Savage, Goodwin, and Cleaves were the stars of the meet running heady races and winning their own events. Savage won the 440-yard run, which was one of the prettiest races seen at the meet. He from third position at the mark jumped into the lead at the crack of the gun, was forced to give way to Pratt of Maine and Lawrence of Bates on the second corner, jumped them again at the third corner and led on the home-stretch to the tape. Savage in the hurdles found little difficulty in placing and didn't exert himself in either the low or high. He crossed the finish first in the low, running an extremely slow race as all four of the contestants were Bowdoin men. And with two other men from Bowdoin in the highs he allowed them to finish first, he taking third place as clean-up man.

Captain Bob Cleaves displayed his track ability in the half mile, winning his event with comparative ease over Bucker of Bates, who took the lead a good part of the first lap. Partridge made a dashing finish and crossed the tape third, shut-ting out the Maine competitors entirely.

Goodwin won the mile and two mile races, running in excellent shape all the way. His time, due to the condition of the track, was not, very fast, but he was not pushed hard in either of the races and finished far ahead of the other competitors. Herrick, whom Maine banked so strongly on to win the mile, "didn't have a prayer” against this sturdy Bowdoin runner and the best the Maine man could do was to finish third.

Holbrook, of Bowdoin, proved the winner of the 100-yard dash final, making a time of 10 1-5 seconds. If the track had not been so heavy from the rain, the race would have gone for 10 flat easily. Wansker of Maine, who was conceded to take the dashes, came in second to Holbrook, followed closely by Thompson of Bowdoin, third.

Averill of Bowdoin and Pratt of Maine ran a practically dead heat in the 220-yard dash. Averill had his opponent all the way until the last five yards when Maine succeeded by almost a hair's breadth in nosing out the victor.

Pratt of Maine won the running broad jump making a distance of 20 feet 7½ inches. Allen of Bowdoin came second with 20 feet 6 inches. Allen would probably have won the event if he had not spiked himself in making that jump and was forced to leave the event.

The Maine team found their weight men lacking at the final show-down and the Bowdoin men displayed material which made them “sit up and take notice.” Ellms won the hammer throw at a distance of 107 feet, followed second by Zeitler of Bowdoin, 101 4-5 feet. In the shot-put Zeitler was placed third. Ellms and Caspar, both of Bowdoin, were tied for first place in the discus, making a distance of 111.70 feet.

In the high jump the points were split evenly between two Bowdoin men, Higgins and Dostie, and two Maine men, Small and Wood as they were all tied for first place with the bar at 5 feet 2¾ inches.

The credit for the success of the meet belongs justly to Coach Magee who has labored hard and long to build up a winning squad and he has accomplished his undertaking.

BOWDOIN REPRESENTED AT N. E. TENNIS TOURNAMENT.

Captain Chin ’18, and Partridge ’22 represented Bowdoin tennis team at the New England Intercollegiate Tennis Tournament at the Longwood Courts, Boston, last Monday and Tuesday. Both players won their preliminary matches but were defeated in their second attempts. They were defeated in doubles by the Dartmouth team which won the tournament. Scores:

Harmon and Carleton of Dartmouth defeated Chin and Partridge of Bowdoin, 6—4, 6—2.

Chin of Bowdoin defeated Swift of Wesleyan, 6—4, 6—3.

Brookman of M. I. T. defeated Chin of Bowdoin, 6—2, 6—1.

Partridge of Bowdoin defeated Pollard of Williams, 6—3, 7—5.

Purington of Bates defeated Partridge of Bowdoin, 7—5, 6—3.

BOWDOIN 7, NEW HAMPSHIRE 1.

The Bowdoin baseball nine had an easy time beating New Hampshire College at Durham last Wednesday by a score of 7 to 1. Flinn pitched a steady game, and had the New Hampshire hitters well in hand at all stages of the contest. He had one difficult inning when three men got on the bases with only one out, but tight fielding kept them from scoring. New Hampshire was very weak in the pinches since six of Bowdoin’s runs were assisted by errors. Donnell and Cook batted well for Bowdoin, and Broderick for New Hampshire.

INTERCOLLEGIATE DEBATES TONIGHT.

Tonight Bowdoin is represented in her first intercollegiate debate of the year. While the affirmative team debates against Wesleyan's negative team at Middletown. The negative team meets the affirmative Brown debaters in Memorial Hall. Besides Taylor, a varsity debater of last year, McGown, Helson, and Coburne, alternate, all men of experience in debating, made the trip to Middletown yesterday. Tonight's negative team is composed of Chadbourne, Hatch, Buker, and Young, alternate, all of whom have debated on their class team. This team will meet J. S. Eastham '19, W. M. Burse '20, H. W. Lord '20, and T. A. Distler '22, alternate, of Brown. These men have also had considerable experience in debating so that a close contest is expected. The subject, Prohibition of Immigration for Five Years After the Signing of the Peace Treaty, is timely and interesting.

BRADBURY DEBATES.

The Bradbury Prize Debate was held in Hubbard Hall, May 6. The subject for discussion was that of the triangular league, Resolved: "That immigration into the United States should be prohibited for a period of five years following the ratification of the Peace Treaty." The affirmative team, comprising Taylor '20, McGown '21, Helson '21, and Coburne '21, alternate, defeated the negative, composed of Hatch '21, Buker '21, Chadbourne '19, and Young '21, alternate. A prize of forty dollars went to the winning team and twenty dollars to the losing team.

The judges, President Sills, Professor Catlin and Professor Andrews, voted unanimously in favor of the affirmative team.

THE NORTHFIELD CONFERENCE.

The annual Intercollegiate Student Conference is to be held at East Northfield, June 20-30. Recently Mr. Arthur F. Newell of Boston was on the campus with a comprehensive series of lantern slides about the conference and life at Northfield. He showed these before a meeting of the Y. M. C. A. Cabinet and the Freshman Cabinet and pointed out to them the need of Bowdoin having a representation at a conference where almost every college in the Eastern states has a delegation.

Northfield comes at the close of a college year at a convenient time to get a short vacation before attacking the summer's work. It gives a delegate an opportunity to hear addresses by John R. Mott, Robert E. Speer, Dean Charles R. Brown, Charles W. Gilkey, J. Stitt Wilson, the great labor leader, and other prominent leaders. It offers an opportunity to meet some 800 picked college men from all our Eastern institutions and to form friendships of the most lasting sort.

The afternoons of the conference are devoted to recreation and are featured by baseball, tennis, golf, and an Intercollegiate track meet in which everyone is urged to take part. Parties are formed to take hikes every afternoon over the beautiful Connecticut Valley country or up to where the three states, Massachusetts, New Hampshire and Vermont join. One night is devoted entirely to stunts by the different delegations and here are heard all the songs and cheers of the colleges represented. This is followed by a celebration and war dance around one of the most elaborate bonfires built. The whole series of experiences go to make up one of the best vacations for ten days that any of us could provide.

The expenses of the Conference will be $5 board and $5 registration plus the railroad fare from the college. It is estimated this would amount to about $10 one way from Brunswick. It is essential that Bowdoin have at least 10 men there this year. Already three have decided to go. If you are interested even if you can't yet see the expense, get in touch with McGown '21 and get the details.

Campus Paths.

One of Bowdoin’s proudest possessions is her beautiful campus. As members of the college, we should especially pride ourselves in it. We owe a great debt to those past members of the college who have been so active in making possible the pleasing surroundings which we enjoy today. Without doubt, the student body appreciates the advantages of a beautiful campus and wishes to see everything possible done to bring ours to the highest standard of excellence. However, we have carelessly fallen into certain habits of action which serve to impair the appearance of the campus.

We must come to the supreme realization that the paths were laid out for the explicit purpose of affording convenient routes, connecting various points on the campus, along which the student could wend his way without disturbing the beauties of nature. Many of us have reached the point, however, where we no longer discriminate between paths and grass ground in our desire to apply that well-known geometrical law that a straight line is the shortest distance between two points. The results of this are apparent in many places on the campus where we find the grass being worn away and ragged paths being formed. It is up to the student body to remedy the situation. A few extra steps will not shorten any of our lives but will greatly lengthen the life of the grass.

Support of the Ivy Play.

Last week’s number of the ORIENT contained a particularly effective appeal for support from the student body for the Ivy play, an appeal coming from a member of the Masque and Gown. Surely, we all agree that the same undivided support should be given to the Masque and Gown as is given an athletic team. However, it has been brought to the attention of the Student Council that certain fraternities are planning some sort of entertainment, outing trip or dance, for the night of the play. While circumstances may be such as to warrant such action in one or two cases, any plans of this kind are generally to be condemned as manifestations of a spirit of non-support of college activities. It is the duty of the fraternities to give their undivided support to the Ivy play.

ACTORS WANTED.

In an editorial of this issue is an appeal to support the Ivy play. An opportunity to aid, other than financially, the dramatic activity of the College is now open to all students of his trionic ability. A pitiably small number appeared in response to the call for candidates for “The Tempest,” this year’s Commencement play. A chance to do something worth while for himself and the College, it is hoped, will induce a much larger number to come out at the next call.
DRAMATIC DRIPPINGS.

The Masque and Gown is coming along in splendid style with "A Pair of Sixes" and by June 5, we'll be holding a full hand. Our rehearsals are as good as the play itself and anyone who has paid his Blanket Tax and Quilt Duty is eligible to attend.

The cast is a group of finished actors—finished some fifteen years ago. Mr. Huse is quite overcome with our work and says he never saw a group of amateurs display such human intelligence.

Personalizing is odious but we cannot avoid a word or two concerning some of the victims. They deserve it. Amidst them all William Angus sits out particularly. He knows two lines of his part and before he gets through he expects to know two more. Crockett, Curtis and Pendexter seem fairly inspired—with what, the Lord only knows. Battison and Redman shade their work with a delicacy most touching—in fact they are in the shade most of the time.

Kirke who has a following all his own among Brunswick theatre-goers is at his best in this production. His work even excels his efforts of last year.

Edwards' technique is too fine for words. He hasn't even had to rehearse at all as yet. Rhoads is letter-perfect in his lines and his co-operation with Kimball is very pleasing. It seems almost an accident. Henry Lamb likewise stands out, his breezy personality fairly reeling with "furnaced oxygen." Mr. Huse frequently speaks of his work.

Altogether we are getting along in superb style. It is even rumored that the Student Council is about to crown our labors with their blessing. How sweet! R.A.

DEKES DEFEAT THETA DELTS.

The Dekes defeated the Theta Delts a week ago today, 6 to 2. Ludwig allowed no hits till Burr scored a home run for the Theta Delts.

Batteries: Dekes, Ludwig and Drummond; Theta Delts, Adams and Burr.

BETAS BAT OUT AN 11-4 VICTORY OVER ALPHA DELTS.

By persistent slugging and superior playing the Beta Theta Pi baseball nine won an 11-4 victory over the Alpha Delta Phi team last Thursday afternoon on the Delta. Batting ralies in the first and fourth innings during which the winners clouted the pill for five runs each inning put the game on ice. Errors for the losing side were numerous and were responsible in a measure for the runs obtained. Partridge pitched a good game and held his batters to only one hit. He was supported in an excellent manner by his team mates.

Score by innings: 1 2 3 4 5—r h e Beta Theta Pi....... 5 0 0 5 1—II 6 0 Alpha Delta Phi....... 1 2 0 0 0—4 1 2

NEW CONTRIBUTIONS FOR ART BUILDING.

Through the generosity of the United States Shipping Board Emergency Fleet Corporation a set of the war posters issued by that organization for display in shipyards and industrial plants has recently been received by the College. The set includes, of course, the "Together We Win," of James Montgomery Flagg, the "Let Nothing Stop You," by H. Giles, "The Launching of the Lady Janet," by Joseph Pennell, and the "On the Job," by Jonas Lie. These posters will surely possess a historical and educational value which will make them an important addition to the archives of the Walker Art Building.
PROVISIONAL COMMENCEMENT SPEAKERS

On a basis of rank secured, the men have now been chosen for Provisional Commencement Speakers. Four of the men will be selected from the list, by a committee of the Faculty, as speakers on Commencement day.

The provisional list is as follows: Berry, Burleigh, Caspar, Casey, Chadbourne, Edwards, Foulke, Grover, Haynes, Higgins, Hilton, McDonald, MacCormick, Nelson, Newell, Norton, Paul, Pearson, Racine, Sawyer, Simmons, Small, and Stevens, R. A.

Rev. Dr. Daniel Raynes Goodwin, gives a prize of fifty dollars each year, which is awarded to the author of the best Commencement part.

WHAT EDUCATION COST OUR GRANDFATHERS.

In the Boston Herald of April 28, there appeared an editorial concerning the term bill of 1845 which was published in the Orient. In a recent issue of the Boston Transcript there was printed a copy of this bill. The following is the Herald's comment:

"The students' newspaper at Bowdoin College publishes some figures showing what an undergraduate had to pay for his education at that institution seventy-four years ago. The figures are taken from a term bill dated Dec. 18, 1845, which gives the various items for tuition, room, rent, books, and library fees. They bring home to us how great a change has taken place in monetary values during the last seven decades.

"This term bill gives no inkling as to what a Bowdoin undergraduate had to pay for his board in these halcyon days, but all his other obligations were satisfied by the payment of $166.68 for a college term, or less than $50 for the entire year. This included tuition, room, books, and incidental charges. Today the usual tuition fee is $150 per annum, or more at nearly all collegiate institutions, except the State universities. Other expenses have gone up proportionately. In the first half of the nineteenth century it was possible to pay the entire cost of a four years' college course with the money now required to attend college during a single year. But our grandfathers were no better off in this respect than we are. Allowing for changes in the purchasing power of money during the past three-quarters of a century, a college education is doubtless as cheap today as it ever was. The general level of prices determines the cost of education just as it determines the cost of everything else."

COLLEGE TRAINING IN FRANCE.

The War Department is at present carrying on an educational enterprise in the American Expeditionary Force which is unique in magnitude, comprehensiveness and in the rapidity with which it has been put into effect. It is nothing less than a highly diversified and progressive educational program, providing for the needs of the entire overseas force, and embracing graded courses of study all the way from the elements of reading and writing to advanced scholarship and professional training.

The important bearing of educational activities on the morale of the Army has been recognized from the time of our entrance into the war. At the time of the signing of the armistice plans were already being developed which would have resulted in the creation of educational opportunities for the entire fighting force, with a view to creating an intelligent interest in the purposes of the war, and with a view to making the period of service as little wasteful as possible to the individual soldier. To some extent this plan had already been carried into effect through the Y. M. C. A. and other welfare organizations. The signing of the armistice at once created both a greater need and a greater opportunity. It removed the greatest incentive to industry and strict observance of military routine and tended to create a spirit of restlessness on the part of the soldier. As the date of discharge was now near at hand, it became necessary to prepare the soldier for a return to civilian pursuits. It was necessary to create in the soldier both the attitude and the condition of preparation that would enable him rapidly to be assimilated to industrial and professional life. While the case of the disabled soldier was provided for by the Reconstruction Division of the Surgeon General's Department and by the Federal Board for Vocational Education, it was evident that it was just as important to "reconstruct" the able-bodied man. This is recognized in a statement made in General Orders 30 published February 13, 1919.

"This citizen army must return to the United States prepared to take an active and intelligent part in the future progress of our country."

While the need for educational work was thus increased by the armistice, there was at the same time an enlarged opportunity for carrying it on. It was now practicable both to allot a considerable amount of time and at the same time somewhat to relax the strain and rigor of military routine. As a result there was now opportunity for a consecutive educational program, for intensive application and study on the part of the soldier, and for changes of assignment and organization that would make it possible to group men together in classes and schools. It is to be noted that the same condition did not obtain on this side of the water owing to the rapidity of the demobilization. It was deemed sufficient here to carry on the less systematic and less intensive educational work already provided by the Y. M. C. A. Overseas, on the other hand, there was evidently, both opportunity and need for a serious educational program, comparable in scope and efficiency with those conducted in times of peace at regularly established educational institutions.

The civilians employed for this work are for the most part educational experts, and are engaged in administrative supervision, teaching of methods, and the preparation of syllabi and courses of study. They also serve as heads of departments in the University of Beaune. There are about 500 civilians so employed, of whom about one-half were already in France as Y. M. C. A. secretaries, the other half consisting of college professors, school superintendents and other educational experts who have been sent abroad since the signing of the armistice.

It is a notable fact that nearly all of the actual teachers are drawn from the Army itself, and consist of officers and enlisted men who are freed from their military duties for this purpose, but without affecting their present military status. It has developed that the teaching resources of the Army are so great as to make it educationally self-contained. A preliminary survey made from the Army personnel records showed that the American Expeditionary Force contained at least 40,000 men who had already had some teaching experience, 2,600 officers of the Army on duty overseas have been college professors in America or are otherwise suitably equipped to conduct instruction of collegiate grade, covering almost every subject which is offered in the most highly developed modern university. These facts testify both to the militant patriotism of the teachers themselves, and to the high average quality of the personnel of the United States Army.

In addition to the above several hundred French teachers have been most generously supplied by the French Ministry of Public Information, and these teachers have taught French by the "direct method" to over 250,000 American soldiers.

Each student must carry at least three lectures or recitation hours and four and a half hours of study periods daily during five days of the week, Saturday and Sunday being free. Students attending this University will have the option of returning to the United States with their organizations or of remaining to complete the term of three months.

Reports show that these men on detached leave are eagerly interested in their work and popular in the communities in which they reside. In many cases they are carrying on sports, college papers, and other characteristic features of American college life.

WAR RISK INSURANCE.

All discharged soldiers and sailors are advised to keep up the payment of the premiums due on their War Risk Insurance, applied for while in the military service.

Within a short time those who have kept up such payments will be permitted to convert their present insurance to other forms without another physical examination. Any discharged soldier who has permitted his insurance to lapse should correspond with or call at the office of Captain T. J. Johnston, Department Insurance Officer, Headquarters Northeastern Department, Room 717, 99 Chauncy street, Boston, Mass., as soon as possible, as it is not yet late to be reinstated. Information may also be obtained there with reference to the new kinds of insurance to be issued and the premium rates therefor. In writing, in addition to asking the information desired, the person should indicate the date of his discharge and whether he has paid any premiums since such discharge.

The officer above mentioned will also be pleased to assist the allottee of soldiers in cases where allotments and Government allowances are not being received.

On the Campus

The Forbes Rickard Prize of ten dollars is given to the author of the best poem submitted each year by an undergraduate. All poems must be typewritten and sent to Professor G. R. Elliot, 254 Maine street, as soon as possible, and not later than June 9.

Hebron has paid a fine tribute to Bowdoin by deciding to compete in the Bowdoin Interscholastic Outdoor Meet in preference to that given by New Hampshire State College on the same date, May 31. The decision is all the more noteworthy because Hebron thereby sacrifices her chances for the New Hampshire College's loving cup, on which she already has a claim.

Harrington '18, was on the Campus this last week.

Final trials for the Commencement play to be given by the Masque and Gown in the Cumberland Theatre Thursday evening, June 5, in connection with Ivy Week, were held in the Classical Room last Friday afternoon.

Daggett '18, spent a few days on the Campus last week.

Twenty-six track men, besides Manager Brown and Coach Magee, made the trip to Orono last Friday for the Maine Intercollegiate Track Meet. The team went in a special Pullman car attached to the 1:39 train. They made their headquarters at the Bangor House.

Walker ex-'18, Small '19, and Mahoney '19 were among the officials at the Maine meet in Orono last Saturday.

The Kappa Sigma fraternity held their seniors' last supper at New Iven House, New Meadows, last Tuesday evening.

The Phi Chi, medical fraternity, held an informal smoker at the Kappa Sigma house last Tuesday evening for their pledges and invited guests. Several speakers, including Dr. Whittier, spoke briefly.

The baseball game with Williams was called off last Saturday on account of rain. The team made the trip as far as Greenfield.

Harvey D. Miller '17, was on the Campus recently.

Ensign John W. Thomas ex-'18, who has just been placed on the inactive service list of the U. S. Navy, was in town last week-end.

Lieutenant Donald S. White '16, of the 20th Aero Squadron, First Day Bombardment Group, who has recently been honorably discharged, is on the Campus for a few days.

Captain Philip S. Wood '13, was on the Campus Sunday.

Final examinations begin either June 11 or 12, and they will end on June 19. June 11 is the first Wednesday after Ivy Day.

'56—Enos Thompson Luce, for thirty-five years a judge of a Massachusetts District Court, died at his home in Waltham, Mass., May 10, 1919, after an illness of ten days. Judge Luce was born at Wilton, Maine, January 23, 1832. After his graduation from Bowdoin he was principal of Lewiston Falls Academy, now Edward Little High School, for one year, until June, 1857. In 1862, together with William W. Virgin '44, who was an associate in law, he organized the 23rd Maine Regiment, of which he was the Lieutenant Colonel. After the war he was Judge of Probate of Androscoggin County until 1871. While holding this position he wrote a book on Maine probate practice, which has long been an authority on the subject in Maine. From 1870 to 1874 he was a lawyer in Lewiston, and for one year of that period (1871-2) he was a judge of the Municipal Court. In 1874 he moved to Boston, where he practiced law until 1881, when he was appointed Judge of the Second Eastern Middlesex District Court. During his term of thirty-five years in this office, Judge Luce resided at Waltham, Mass., where he was very prominent in city affairs. He drew up the first charter for the city, was chairman of the commission that constructed its sewer system, served on the School Board, and was president of the Waltham Savings Bank for about forty years. Judge Luce was twice married, first in 1860 to Phoebe Learned Adams, who died in 1874, and in 1879 to Sarah J. Mills, who died in 1915. He was a member of the Loyal Legion and of the Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity.

'94—Charles A. Flagg, chairman of the executive committee of the Bowdoin Club of Bangor has made plans for a meeting and supper to be held at the Chamber of Commerce banquet room, Thursday, May 22. This is to be the last meeting of the year, and President Sills is to be a guest. A number of Bowdoiners who have seen service overseas are expected to be present.

'08—Thomas L. Pierce of the 325th Infantry, who has been awarded the Distinguished Service Cross, and who has recently rejoined his regiment after several months spent in the hospital in France, has just been promoted from the rank of Major to that of Lieutenant Colonel.

'11—The college has just received notice of the death of Alfred Wellington Johnson on November 6, 1918. Mr. Johnson was born at Whitefield, Maine, September 16, 1890. In his senior year, he entered the Medical School, where he remained for two years, until June, 1912. After this he stayed in Augusta until December, 1916, when he received an appointment as plant clerk.
with the Bethlehem Steel Company. In June of last year, he became a clerk of the Steelton, Lebanon and Reading Plants, and held this position until his death. He married Mary Elizabeth Johnson in December, 1913. He was a member of the Delta Upsilon fraternity, and of the Alpna Kappa Kappa medical fraternity.

'Mr. and Mrs. Franklin G. Hubbard of Bridgeport, Conn., recently announced the engagement of their daughter, Mildred Florence Hubbard, to Roderick Paul Hine. Mr. Hine is at present with the Berkshire Fertilizer Company of Bridgeport, Conn.

'14—Of seventy-six officers left in France by the 26th Division to complete courses at French colleges and schools, are Captains Paul L. White '14, and Reginald E. Foss '12. They are not expected to return to this country before the first of July.

'Mr. Arthur S. Merrill who has been superintendent of schools for the union of towns around Mexico, Maine, has entered State Y. M. C. A. work and will have his headquarters at Augusta.

Medic ex-'20—Abraham Bernard Margulis of Portland was naturalized before Judge Hale May 5.

With the Other Colleges

Amherst: “Sabrina,” the statue goddess of Amherst men, made its appearance in Amherst for a few minutes last week. The Juniors immediately hurried it away into hiding again before any other class could capture it.

Brown: Junior Week with a perfect whirl of activities has just been celebrated. Among the features was the defeat of Amherst in a dual Track Meet. Also the nine succeeded in overcoming Yale 2 to 1 in a hard, close game.

Maine: All roads led to Orono last Saturday and the great athletic event of the state attracted numbers from all directions.

Reed: A Reed College movie is now being filmed. It consists of a story woven around the scenes and life of the college so that almost all phases of college activities will get into the picture. Undergraduates are doing the acting.

W. P. I.: The baseball team by winning three straight from other colleges and the track team by taking three places for 5½ points in the Eastern Intercollegiates have rescued Tech from athletic oblivion and given her a prominent place in New England.

Trinity: Franklin K. Lane, Secretary of the Interior, and Judge Elbert Gary are to be the Commencement speakers this year.

Wellesley: The Outdoor Number of the Wellesley College Magazine has recently been received by the Orient. It is a remarkably good issue with several interesting stories and poems. Wouldn’t illustrations improve the issue somewhat?

NON-FRATERNITY MEN LEAD IN FRIAR CUP STANDING.

Although no Friar Cup is being awarded this year, the standing of the respective fraternities has been compiled as usual. The non-fraternity group with forty-three men is in first place, on the basis of the grades secured last term, with an average of 12.1279, being a fraction of a point above the Chi Psi record. These averages are reckoned by letting a grade of A equal 4, B equal 3, C equal 2, D equal 1, and E equal -2. Grades in Hygiene and Public Speaking are divided by two.

The following is a complete list of the record of each fraternity:

BOWDOIN WINS FROM COLBY, 5-2.

The Bowdoin baseball team stands well up in the Maine series as a result of the 5-2 victory over Colby last Saturday afternoon at Water ville. The Bowdoin team without doubt played the best baseball of the season. Finn pitched a steady and heady game, and save for a few questionable errors, the team backed him up in fine style.

The two sensational features of the game were the wonderful running stabs made by Grover and Finn. Heyes, first man up in the second inning, connected squarely with the ball and drove it deep into left field, almost to left field fence. The drive seemed good for two bases at least, and perhaps three, but Grover in a running side stab picked the ball from the air, and so bewildered was the batter that his hit had not been placed safely, that it took a minute or two to convince him that the put-out had really been made. Then in the ninth "Huck" Finn made a similar sensational play when he picked Grant’s fly, which seemed far over his head, out of the air in a running side catch.

Bowdoin was the first to score, making a run... in the first inning, followed by the Colby team in the third with two, the only tallies made by the Waterville players. Bowdoin tied the score in the fifth, and by a succession of passes, errors and hits, scored three runs in the seventh.

BOWDOIN SCORES NINE POINTS IN NEW ENGLAND TRACK MEET.

In the thirty-third annual New England intercollegiate track and field meet, held at Tech field last Saturday, the Bowdoin competitors succeeded in landing only nine points. Six colleges finished ahead of the White. M. I. T. walked away with first place with 37 points, while Wesleyan finished half a point ahead of Brown with 19½ points. The other points were divided as follows: New Hampshire College 17½, Williams 11, Boston College 10, Bowdoin 9, Holy Cross 8, Maine 6, Tufts 5, Middlebury 5, Amherst 5, Worcester P. I. I, and M. A. C. 1.

In the 100-yard dash, Dostie was the only Bowdoin runner who qualified for the final heat, in which, however, he failed to score. In the high hurdles, Bowdoin's best hope was gone when Savage had the ill luck to fall over a hurdle in one of the trial heats. In the second semi-final of this event. Thomson took first and Higgins second, but neither of them could score in the final.

CAPTAIN R. E. CLEAVES '20.

G. R. GOODWIN '21.

The low hurdle race was the event in which Bowdoin made her best showing. In the trial heats, both Savage and Parent took first places.
and in the final Savage lead the field, and Parent finished fourth.

Bowdoin was able to land only two points in the distance runs. In the mile run, which was won by Nightingale of New Hampshire College, Goodwin of Bowdoin succeeded in finishing third. This is the third time this spring that Nightingale has shown the Bowdoin man his number in a long distance race. In the two-mile, Goodwin was unable to place, being beaten by Leath of New Hampshire again, and also by Herrick of Maine, whom the Bowdoin man trimmed with ease in the Maine meet.

The only remaining point that Bowdoin scored was a fourth place won by Ellms in the discus throw. Andrews of New Hampshire, who was beaten by Ellms three weeks ago, took third last Saturday.

The following is a summary of the events in which Bowdoin figured:

120-YARD HIGH HURDLES.

Second Heat—Won by Thomson, Bowdoin; second Higgins, Bowdoin; third, Low, Amherst. Time, 17 2-5 seconds.

220-YARD HIGH HURDLES.
First Heat—Won by Savage, Bowdoin; second, Keeler, Wesleyan. Time, 26 1-5 seconds.

Third Heat—Won by Parent, Bowdoin; second, Low, Amherst. Time, 26 2-5 seconds.

Final Heat—Won by Savage, Bowdoin; second, Keeler, Wesleyan; third, Besser, Brown; fourth, Parent, Bowdoin. Time, 26 2-5 seconds.

Mile Run—Won by Nightingale, N. H. College; second, Sullivan, Holy Cross; third, Goodwin, Bowdoin; fourth, Gale, Wesleyan. Time, 4 minutes, 28 seconds.

Throwing Discus—Won by Nichols, Brown; second, Anderson, Wesleyan; third, Andrews, N. H. College; fourth, Ellms, Bowdoin. Distance, 121 feet 7 inches. (Ellms's distance was 116 feet 4 inches.)

I. C. A. A. A. A. MEET.

The usual "week-before dope" concerning the big intercollegiate track event of the year appeared in last Sunday's Boston Herald. The article in part is as follows:

"Pennsylvania appears to have the best chance to win the annual intercollegiate track and field championship meeting in the Stadium Friday and Saturday. No other college can hope to do as well. Cornell is not strong enough all around to win.

"The one-mile run should be a corking race. Although up to yesterday no collegian had traveled better than 4:30, this mark will surely be beaten. McDermott of Cornell, O'Connell of Harvard, Goodwin of Bowdoin, Crawford and Kleinspehn of Lafayette, and O'Brien of Yale are capable of running close to 4:25, which makes it look as if it will be a real race.

"There are several fast two-milers, Goodwin of Bowdoin, Sedgwick of Michigan, Bolles of Dartmouth, McCullough of Princeton, Waterman of Yale, and Hutchinson of Harvard.

"The hurdle races are narrowed down to a select few. Carl Johnson of Michigan, Carl Erdman and Trowbridge of Princeton, Smith and Watt of Cornell, Savage and Higgins of Bowdoin, and Smalley of Penn. should settle both timber topping events between them."

A Victory Commencement.

This year the College is offering a unique attraction in a week-end Victory Commencement of no mean distinction. To alumni the Commencement this year should prove a welcome opportunity to throw aside the humdrum cares of daily life and renew their undergraduate enthusiasm for Bowdoin College. Coming on a week-end, June 19 to 23, this year's Commencement favors the return of many a loyal Bowdoin man, who otherwise would not feel able to leave business or other cares. Recent graduates of the College, especially those who have been in war service, will welcome the opportunity to return to their alma mater for the first time as alumni. And older graduates, to whom the war has been no less of a burden, will also take occasion to celebrate the coming of peace by treading again Bowdoin's fair campus. The Commencement play, the Alumni-Varsity baseball game, the Senior dance, all the old features of Commencement promise to add more zest than ever to the Commencement program.

And to undergraduates as well, Commencement ought to appeal strongly. There is no Plattsburg this year to bring an untimely ending to the school year. Why not see what it seems like to enjoy leisure around the campus for once, with no courses or exams to distract? For most of us it means only a few days after finals to take in the entire Commencement program. Each undergraduate should see at least one Commencement before his own and this is certainly a noteworthy one of which to take advantage. To the undergraduate, too, comes the opportunity of extending real hospitality to his older brothers. Commencement in which the undergraduate greets his alumni in person rather than by proxy is certainly desirable.

To both alumni and undergraduates is given a final opportunity to honor Bowdoin men who gave their lives in the Great War. It is somewhat with a sense of sacred duty that friends of the College should attend this ceremony.

So for both undergraduates and alumni this year a week-end, Victory Commencement is something that they can ill afford to miss. Men of Bowdoin, let's go!

THEATRICAL TRIMMINGS.

Two more Orient issues and the Ivy Play will be history. The editor of the Orient says if he has to publish much more of this stuff his paper will also be history—and not of the present variety. Be that as it may be it is, the time has struck to inform you that tickets are now on sale, see H. S. Cole and take a good look at him, and that they are sailing very fast. We have deliberately disposed of two, and have let four go out on trust to responsible parties. We will cheerfully pay the war tax on the ticket of anyone who will sell a thousand tickets for us.
But seriously writing, we are introducing a few innovations this year and the question is are they approved by the Student Corpse and the Y. M. C. A. Once of all you will not have to pay extra for your seats from which you survey the performance. We will let the eighty-three cents cover them. There will be ushers, by the aisle, to find them for you; in case you can’t find them yourself. Necessarily we have split our show into acts between which ice water will be served on ice. NOTE: We warn anyone against trying to steal the acts. There will be more or less alleged music during the evening and electric lights will enhance the queenly interior of the Cumberland. Programs will be supplied in profusion and as a last little surprise you will hand over your tickets at the gate. This last innovation we know will cause great rejoicing.

Now, in concluding and continuing, if you read this, or while you are reading this, or if you listen to it read or if you don’t read it at all we would like to call your attention to the rest of this column. Then Q! Now, so far as the rest of it is concerned, you know “we” is me and the typewriter, would like to call your attention to the first of this column, in case you read the last first instead of the-first first and the last last. But if you did not read the first last but the last last and the first not last but first then your duty is done and you may as well take a minute off and go hum a Fatima, first as last. R. A.

INTERFRATERNITY BASEBALL.

OPPORTUNITY FOR COLLEGE MEN TO SEE FRANCE THIS SUMMER.

A bulletin has just been issued by the Marine Corps, offering an opportunity to enlist for the summer only. Discharged soldiers, of at least... two months' training in the S. A. T. C., and who have passed the physical qualifications, are to be given preference. Men who enlist will be used to replace Marines now in the Army of Occupation and France. According to the bulletin, all enlisting now will be returned in the fall together with all other Maine forces. The bulletin is signed by Major General George Barnett.

REV. ASHLEY DAY LEAVITT SPEAKS IN CHAPEL.

The Reverend Ashley Day Leavitt gave the address at Sunday Chapel this week. He took for his theme, the necessity of waking up to the demands upon us resultant from the sacrifices of the war. He declared that there was no half way course, we must either grasp the moral problems that confront us or by carelessness or indifference lose our moral consciousness.

EDWARD LITTLE H. S. WINS ABRAXAS CUP.

The Abraxas Cup, which is awarded by the Abraxas Society each year to the high school whose representatives in the Freshman class make the best scholastic record, was won this year by Edward Little High School of Auburn, Maine. Instead of determining the result on the basis of the grades secured during the first semester, it was decided this year by the records of the schools during the last term. The averages are reckoned in the same manner as those for the Friar Cup standing. Only those schools are eligible for the Abraxas Cup which have sent three or more delegates. This year there were twelve schools which complied with this requirement. The average secured by the Edward Little High School is rather lower than the usual average of a school winning first place. Portland High was a close second, and Freeport third. The three men representing the winning school are William R. Ludden, Henry H. Merry, Jr., and Evarts J. Wagg. Of all the schools competing, the Island Falls High School was the only one which had no E's on its record.

BOWDOIN WINS TRIANGULAR DEBATE.

On Tuesday, May 20, Bowdoin defeated both Brown and Wesleyan in her first after-the-war debate. The negative team defeated the Brown affirmative in Brunswick, while the affirmative team defeated the Wesleyan negative in Middletown, on the question, "Resolved, That immigration into the United States should be prohibited for a period of five years following the ratification of the peace treaty." This debate is the first intercollegiate contest since 1917. The victories of this year bid fair to be repeated, since only one varsity debater is lost this Commencement and probably only one next Commencement.

The Bowdoin-Brown Debate.

The Bowdoin-Brown debate, held in Memorial Hall, was opened by Lord of Brown, who described the menace resultant from the new type of immigration, a transient individual of Slavic origin as compared with the sturdy home-builder of Northern Europe. This type of immigrant, whose habitat is the city, was, he asserted, a menace not only to the wage but also to the standard of living of the American laborer. Eastham, Brown's second speaker, reminded the negative that the proposed measure is only temporary. He considered prohibition of immigration necessary because of the congested condition of our tenement districts and the lack of employment in our industrial centers. Burse, concluding speaker for Brown, besides giving statistics of larger prevalence of crime and insanity among aliens, showed that a very small percentage of immigrants becomes naturalized.

For the negative Hatch opened the argument by pointing out the dangers resultant from prohibition of immigration, the loss of confidence in us, the blow to internationalism which we would strike. Baker contended that the United States is capable of assimilating the immigrant population. Chadbourne concluded the negative argument by stating that our emigration was much greater than our immigration and that excess of immigration was unlikely, since the people of Europe must remain to build up the countries depopulated by the war.

Bowdoin won chiefly through an appeal based on existing conditions, maintaining that at this time it would be a dangerous thing "to close the gates." She established the fact that the League of Nations even would be imperiled by adopting a new and obviously selfish nationalistic principle, especially on the part of the United States, the acknowledged leader of the new world.

The rebuttal, spirited on both sides, narrowed down to the question of whether immigration would be less during the next few years. Each side strengthened its case materially, but Chadbourne's clear summing up of the situation was the best piece of debating during the evening, and probably contributed more to the result than any one factor. Bowdoin, through out the debate seemed to have a better grip on the question and showed the results of thorough preparation.

The judges, Governor Carl E. Milliken of Augusta, Judge Arthur P. Stone and Professor A. T. Robinson of Boston, gave a two to one decision in favor of the negative. Dean Nixon acted as presiding officer.

The Bowdoin-Wesleyan Debate.

Bowdoin was represented at Wesleyan by Taylor '20, Helson '21, McGown '21, and Coburne '21, alternate. This team had the affirmative side of the question. The Wesleyan team upholding the negative consisted of Doussea '20, Piper '21, Bateford '21, and Cambria '21, alternate.

The affirmative built up its case on the facts that we already have a great problem of assimilation on our hands without further complications; that in this period of reconstruction immediately following the war it would be dangerous to complicate our problems with a flood of immigration; and that prohibition is the only means of keeping out of the country dangerous and unassimilable elements.

The negative argued that a great number of immigrants were not to be expected and that a selective policy similar to or more stringent than the Literacy Test of 1917 would be preferable to prohibition.

The judges awarded the decision to the affirmative team. The Bowdoin men had a clearer, more forceful presentation in the main speeches. In the rebuttal Taylor clinched matters by effectively meeting the challenge of the negative that there would be much immigration in the next few years.

President Shanklin was presiding officer. The judges were C. H. Clark of Hartford, Conn., Professor Frank W. Pitman of Yale University, and Mr. Porter of Portland, Conn.

SIXTEEN SCHOOLS IN OUTDOOR MEET.

The Bowdoin Interscholastic Outdoor Track Meet staged each year by the track association of the college for the benefit of the high schools and preparatory schools of Maine, New Hampshire, and Massachusetts will be held at the Athletic Field this coming Saturday and will find a field of amateur athletes embracing some 16 schools. Those schools which have announced their intention to compete to Buker '21, assistant manager of track, are as follows: Thornton Academy, Portland High, Hebron Academy, Maine Central Institute, Westbrook Seminary, Gardiner High, Deering High, Brunswick High, Leavitt Institute, Stevens High, Bangor High, Wakefield High, Sabattus High, Gorham High, Wilton Academy, and South Paris High.

Of this number only five had returned their entry blanks to Buker up to Saturday, but it was expected that practically all would be in by Monday morning. Westbrook Seminary has decided to send a team to the New Hampshire State track meet instead of the Bowdoin meet, but Hebron will compete here in spite of the fact that she already has a claim on the New Hampshire State cup.

It is expected that competition in this meet will be exceptionally keen. Hebron Academy and Maine Central Institute will fight for first place in the meet, and the contest should prove decidedly interesting. Wakefield High School of Wakefield, Mass., has signified its intention to enter the meet. It sends a team down, the track devotees will see some fast work, as it was this school that won the Boston Interscholastic track meet at the Armory last winter. Followers of this team claim that Hebron may be forced to give up her title to the shield which she has won for several years past.

On the Campus

Lieutenant Hanson '18 was on the Campus last Monday afternoon, and was cordially greeted by the boys.

Governor Carl E. Milliken of Augusta, was one of the judges at the Bowdoin-Brown Inter-collegiate debate held in Memorial Hall last Tuesday evening. This makes the second time within the last few weeks that he has been at the College to attend some function, since he was here a few weeks ago to attend the lecture given by Ex-Senator Theodore E. Burton of Ohio on "The International Question."

Keith Coombs '20 was at home sick with tonsillitis several days last week.

Rain again prevented a mid-week baseball game here at the Athletic Field. The Bowdoin-Fort Williams game scheduled for last Wednesday afternoon had to be cancelled because of the incessant rain.

The Bowdoin second team will travel to Hebron tomorrow afternoon, Wednesday, and play the Hebron Academy nine. Allan Hall '20 is captain of the second team and Roderick Perkins '21 is manager.

Colter '19, left college last Thursday to accept a position in Massachusetts.
Walter Hay ex-'20, was back on the Campus a few days last week.

Gaffney '21, was ill in the Infirmary several days last week.

Thomkins ex-'22, visited friends on the Campus last week.

Eleven men, besides Coach Jack Magee and Manager Brown of the Bowdoin track team, made the Massachusetts trip last Friday to compete in the New England Intercollegiate track meet at the Tech Field last Saturday. They were Captain Cleaves '20, Savage '19, Goodwin '21, Holbrook '19, Parent '21, Ellms '20, Allen '21, Higgins '19, Averill '22, Thomson '21, and Dostie '20.

McGorrill '19, has been home ill for the past week.

Allen '21, returned to College Monday after a visit last week to his home in Boston where he had treated the hand which he spined in the Maine Meet at Orono.

Coach Magee will take Savage '19, Cleaves '20, and Goodwin '21, to the National Meet in Philadelphia this coming Saturday.

The date and place of the Freshman Banquet has been changed from this Friday evening, May 30, at Riverton Park, to Thursday evening, May 29, at the Congress Square Hotel. The committee is now arranging the program for the affair and a "big" time is expected.

A prize for forty dollars is given annually by Mrs. George R. Riggs, Litt.D. (Kate Douglass Wiggin) for the best short story written by a Sophomore, Junior, or Senior. The story must be typewritten, of no less than 1,500 words in length, and left in Room 1, Memorial Hall, before June 10. Professor Mitchell conducts the contest.

The Aero Club of Massachusetts will hold a ball at the Copley Plaza, Boston, tomorrow night, as a memorial for the men who gave their lives in the air service for the United States or its allies.

Former drivers of field ambulances are invited to a dinner at the Hotel Somerset, Boston, June 6.

The Board of Managers held a meeting in the Union Thursday.

Mr. Hamilton Holt, editor of The Independent, who has been in Paris in connection with the covenant of the League of Nations, addressed the College Monday morning in chapel.

Alumni Notes

'64—In a recent issue of the Boston Transcript in the section of Notes and Queries, there was printed a poem entitled "The Man from Maine" by John Harrison Woods. The word of this poem were intended to be sung to the tune of "Marching Through Georgia." The following article in connection with the poem was printed in the Transcript: "I wonder if the following poem would interest some of the readers of Notes and Queries, as being a relic of former political campaigns? It was composed by a man who was, I think, in college with Reed, and was sung at a club banquet during the preliminary campaign which culminated in the nomination of McKinley. It reads well today to those of us who were admirers of Czar Reed."

'75—A poem entitled "Who Won the War?" by Woodbury Pulsifer appeared in a recent issue of the Washington Evening Star.

'85—An article from the Journal of the Washington Academy of Sciences of March 4, 1919, was received not long ago at the library. It was written by Dr. William C. Kendall of the Bureau of Fisheries, and deals with the question: "What kind of characters distinguish a species from its subdivisions?" Dr. Kendall has been connected with the U. S. Civil Service at Washington for thirty years.

'12—Herbert E. Locke '12, and William R. Pattangall have announced a law partnership. They will have their office at 283 Water street, Augusta.

'17—A very interesting letter from Lt. Frank E. Noyes of Topsham, was printed in the last issue of the Brunswick Record.

ex-'18—Sergeant Albert Parent of Brunswick, formerly attached to the 26th Division Headquarters, is now stationed at a hospital in Paris, from which he expects to be released in a few months. He sailed for France with the 26th, October 8, 1917. In February, 1918, he left his division and was placed in the Medical Corps. Since September, 1918, Sergeant Parent has been in Paris serving as an interpreter, and also performing hospital duties. He is expected to return home in the latter part of next fall.

With the Other Colleges

Amherst: The Musical Clubs gave a very successful concert, May 16, at the Hotel Somerset in Boston.

Bates: The baseball team had a remarkably successful Massachusetts trip when it defeated Tufts in a ten-inning battle, 4-3, and stopped the winning streak of Boston College to the tune of 6-5.

Maine: The Sunset League of interfraternity baseball is rapidly approaching the championship games.

W. P. I.: The Musical Clubs of Tech and Clark recently combined in one of the best concerts given in Worcester.

Trinity: In a dual meet with M. A. C. Trinity made a good showing but couldn't quite win. The score of 64-53 wasn't bad for the first meet of the season.

Wellesley: The Victory Loan went over the top a long way in the Wellesley drive. The quota was set at $50,000 and incomplete returns show $88,600 for the College.

New Hampshire College: The N. H. C. Glee Club and Orchestra gave its annual concert in the gymnasium, May 16, the Phi Lambda Phi and Pi Gamma fraternities held initiations recently. The N. H. track team succeeded in beating Bowdoin a second time last Saturday at the N. E. meet.

VOL. XLIX  BOWDOIN, MAINE, JUNE 6, 1919  NO. 9

BOWDOIN AGAIN SCORES NINE POINTS IN INTERCOLLEGIATE TRACK CONTEST.

The quality of Bowdoin athletes was demonstrated at the I. A. A. A. Meet in the Harvard Stadium last Saturday. With but two entries Bowdoin defeated such institutions as M. I. T., winner of the New Englands, and Columbia University, besides several other colleges. Of the Maine colleges Bowdoin was the only one to compete, except Maine, whose score was only five points. Both Savage and Goodwin were pitted against the best of athletes in their respective events. In the high hurdles Savage took a fourth place about a yard behind the third man in the final heat. In the low hurdles he narrowly lost second place to Watt of Cornell, in the final heat. Goodwin, entered in the two mile, showed his mettle by finishing second behind Captain Dresser of Cornell, who broke the only record of the meet. Coach Magee accompanied Savage and Goodwin to the meet.

HEBRON AGAIN WINS OUTDOOR MEET.

Hebron repeated her successes of previous years, when she captured the Twenty-first Annual Bowdoin Interscholastic Outdoor Meet by a large margin. As usual, no other preparatory school appeared to anywhere near equal the score made by Hebron Academy. Wakefield High, which was expected to give Hebron a rub, failed to appear. The real competition came between Deering High, which gained second place with 13 points, Bangor High with a final score of 12 points, and Westbrook Seminary with 11 points. Although both the track and the weather were excellent, no records were broken. The closest to a record breaker came in the quarter when Marsters of Deering, broke the tape a fifth second more than the record.

The 100-yard dash was one of the closest events of the afternoon. Captain Munce of Hebron won the final heat with Captain Nash of Portland, and Belanger of Westbrook Seminary, closely following. Captain William Johnson of Deering ran a pretty race in the mile, sprinting splendidly until the last of the race, when Burton of Westbrook, passed him close to the finish.

Captain Munce of Hebron had the misfortune to pull a tendon in the 100-yard dash. This accident prevented his competition in any other events.

The meet, under the direction of Assistant Manager Boker, was run off in the remarkably quick time of an hour and a half, and, although not spectacular in many events, was very satisfactory from the point of view both of spectators and the management. The usual prizes were awarded to the winners, including the shield which Hebron again claimed.

BOWDOIN WINS DOUBLES IN TENNIS TOURNAMENT.

The Maine Intercollegiate Tennis Tournament, played off May 25, 26, and 27, at Brunswick, resulted in victory for Bowdoin in the doubles and a narrow victory for Bates in the singles.

The Bowdoin first team, consisting of Captain Chin and Partridge, won the championship in the doubles Tuesday afternoon in the Maine Intercollegiate Tennis tournament, which was played at Bowdoin. Bates was easily eliminated the first day in the trials and Colby was defeated with a score of 6–2, 6–1 by the second team and also defeated by the first team. Purinton of Bates defeated Burr of Bowdoin in the singles for the championship.

COACH MAGEE TO REMAIN AT BOWDOIN.

In spite of other inducements, Coach Magee has decided to continue his career as coach of track and trainer of athletic teams at Bowdoin. Not only this spring, but also throughout his previous years at Bowdoin, Coach Magee has turned out teams and individual stars that have made names for themselves and Bowdoin.

TENNIS TEAM VISITS PORTLAND COUNTRY CLUB.

Captain Chin and Partridge defeated their opponents in their single matches at the Portland Country Club Saturday. Chin's score was 6–2, 2–6, 6–4, while that of Partridge was 6–2, 6–3. The Portland players took all their matches in the doubles. The Dana brothers of Westbrook, Chapman and Holt, represented the Country Club. Mitchell and Sawyer composed Bowdoin's second team.

BOWDOIN SECOND TEAM DEFEATED BY MORSE HIGH.

A week ago Saturday at Bath, the second team was defeated by Morse High School in a close game, 3 to 2. Tuttle pitched a much better game than Colby, allowing only five hits, as compared with the twelve secured off the Bath pitcher. Not one of the Bowdoin outfielders made a put-out, assist, or error during the entire game. K. B. Coombs and McLellan batted well for Bowdoin, and G. Conway for Morse.

DEBATING COUNCIL ELECTS OFFICERS.

At the annual meeting of the Debating Council, held Wednesday, May 27, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Taylor '20; secretary, McGown '21; and manager, Buker '21. Other business consisted of the submission of the manager's report to the Council and discussion of plans for next year. It is not generally known that this year's student forum was under the auspices of the Debating Council. The outgoing members of the Council are: Foulke, president; Chadbourne, secretary; and Coburn, manager.

SENIORS' LAST CHAPEL.

According to the usual custom the Seniors' Last Chapel will take place immediately after the Ivy exercises. After the usual chapel exercises the Seniors will march out, singing "Auld Lang Syne." Sullivan will act as marshal.
DR. Holt Addresses Students.

Dr. Hamilton Holt, editor of the Independent and one of the foremost of American journalists addressed the student body in the chapel a week ago Monday morning. Dr. Holt has visited France in connection with the work of the American League to Enforce Peace and his experiences have been varied and intensely interesting.

Dr. Holt commenced his speech with a comparison of the attitude of the European nations to our constitution. In the making of the covenant the violation of our constitution has caused more trouble than any other factor. Many people attribute the forming of the covenant to the brains of the wily Englishmen and for that reason distrust it. Dr. Holt is of the opinion that if the covenant were the original British draft it would be superior to the present accepted outline. Having seen both the American and British original documents before they were even presented to the peace conference, he is in a position to compare them. He states that much of the accepted covenant is taken word for word from the original American plan and much more is the same in spirit and intent. Dr. Holt was bitter in his condemnation of those senators who are striving to defeat the acceptance of the covenant by America. He discussed several of the more important articles, pointing out in each one that there was absolutely no ground for objection on the part of the United States. So masterful was the address that although it lasted nearly an hour there was not the slightest let-up in interest. Dr. Holt is well known to Bowdoin, having spoken here several times and it is hoped that we may enjoy him many times in the future.

THE 1920 BUGLE.

Volume 74 of the "Bugle" was distributed this morning. The entire book represents the hard work and painstaking care of the editorial board and business management, and is worthy of taking its place in the long line of successful Junior books. The art department has been capably handled by Abbott and Dunbar. The book is attractively bound in dark brown with a small design and gold lettering on the cover.

It has been the aim of the board to have the "Bugle" artistic throughout. A general reordering of the departments and a fine sepia-section containing views of the campus and the surroundings, not published before add much to the book. A good deal of the dead material which tends to make the book unwieldy, has been omitted. Otherwise the usual statistics and athletic records are included.

The "grind" section has been enlarged and the material is fully equal to the humor of past volumes. Individual snap-shots have not been published, humorous pictures and views of general interest have been inserted instead.

The whole "Bugle" contains 225 pages, exclusive of advertising, and its general neat and artistic appearance and design, sets a high standard in all departments for the boards of future years.

HOUSE PARTIES ON THE CAMPUS.

All the fraternities on the campus are keeping open house during Ivy. Psi Upsilon, Delta Upsilon and Beta Theta Pi gave teas on Wednesday afternoon. There were dances at practically all the chapter houses Wednesday evening. It has been found impracticable to print in detail a list of the guests of each house in this week's issue.

BOWDOIN DEFEATS BATES, 8-5.

Bowdoin defeated Bates at Lewiston yesterday in a game featured by the heavy hitting of the White. Mason pitched for Bowdoin and Cusick began the game for Bates but was driven from the box in the first inning.

FRIARS INITIATE.

The Friars held their initiation at the Congress Square Hotel in Portland last Tuesday evening, when six men were initiated. The initiates were G. R. Goodwin, G. T. Allen, P. R. Lovell, A. Thomson, T. W. Leydon, and W. L. Parent, all of the Class of 1921. The initiation was followed by a banquet and theatre party.

MEN WHO HAVE NOT PAID BLANKET TAX.

At the request of the Board of Managers the Orient publishes the names of the following men, who have given no satisfactory reason for not paying their blanket tax: Alpha Delta Phi, Edwards; Delta Upsilon, Pearson; Beta Theta Pi, Sullivan, C. F. Thompson; Sigma Nu, C. E. Stevens, Simmons, Sleeper, W. J. White; Chi Psi, Howe, Marston; non-fraternity, Buncamper, Caldwell, Claff, Henderson, Kirk, Leavitt, LeMay, Libby, A. H. Morrell, L. Smith, R. Smith, S. Smith, Sprince, Welch, E. White.
for grace and beauty, and an ability to see and express the common things in life, this civilization, through its art and literature has had an inestimable effect on all nations.

Gradually declining under the pressure of a materialistic and imperialistic age, this spirit became molded with the grave, temperate wisdom and moral strength of character of the Romans. Before the onslaughts of the barbarian hordes and the teachings of Christianity, this spirit, too, faded away.

Then after a period of suppression and doubt came the Renaissance, truly a re-birth of the spirit of beauty, classical learning and joy-in-life. Arising in Italy, it slowly spread through France and England, and diffused itself throughout Europe. Men found themselves again. The terrible French Revolution, crystallizing man’s love for Freedom, marked the way for a rise of an intense romantic spirit of individualism, which fairly gripped the art, literature, politics, and everyday life of the age.

With this came an outburst of scientific thought and teachings, a conflict of ideals, and then the industrial revolution with its factory system and its complete division of labor.

Slowly but surely the spirit of romantic individualism in thought and action, was giving place to a new spirit of co-operation and organization, when out of a clear sky came a four year war.

One nation did not assimilate the Renaissance spirit of Individualism and Freedom, or attempt to direct it in the proper channels of thought, such as personal freedom and self-government or guide it into a kindred field.

The real principle on which we exist is the principle of self-government. That is a principle good for us, not only in our government but in our private lives. In ordinary industrial concerns we want freedom. We do not want to be slaves, we do not want to be dictated to, we want security and freedom. We want the average individual not merely to be a means to an end, we do not want the individual to be exploited, we do not want the individuals for self-aggrandisement, but we want them to develop and reach the highest that they are capable of reaching. That we can attain only by relying on the principle of liberty.

As against this there has been another system working in the world with great success—the principle on which Germany stands. In Germany there is no self-government, no freedom in a true sense. The whole system was to develop power, to make the individuals serve the state and to train them as members of a military organization, to take possession of their souls, and to amass the largest amount of power for the nation as such. That is the German system, that is the German principle,—not liberty, not freedom, not righteousness. The will to power is the ideal that dominates the German system, and we know under our modern conditions what an enormous power can be developed by a state under conditions which have existed there.

These are the two ultimate principles which have been contending against one another in the world. Thus we have had a spiritual war—a moral crusade.

We have seen the agonies of a dying world. It is an appalling tragedy which has come over mankind, the like of which has never been seen in history before. We have seen the whole world perishing. That is God's providence. Perhaps it is better so. What world is going to arise on the ruins? What is the new order to be? That is the choice before the world today.

Based on the triumphant principles of freedom, liberty and self-government, all around in the concerns of men, a broader, clearer understanding, leading to a spirit of co-operation, organization, and social unity is beginning to rise. Perhaps this is in the basic spirit of the new Renaissance.

Egotism has characterized man's early struggle and his life has ever been influenced by it.

Altruism, at first a faint tremulous line of conduct, has attracted his course of life, growing stronger and more universal, exercising an ever widening influence.

The former was, at first, relatively the stronger, but the latter gradually developed and overshadowed it, until today, altruism, or interest in the welfare and happiness of others, has become an essential part of our modern social life in ever widening circles.

Gradually self-interest has been supplemented by social interest which manifesting itself in a narrow, national viewpoint, is now beginning to broaden out into a sympathy akin to an international spirit.

Society led by its choice and in response to the goads of mal-adjustment felt everywhere, is constantly creating new moral ideals to express more perfectly its sense of relationships which will conduce to the happiness of the greatest number of its constituent individuals.

The conflict of moral ideals has gone on for a quarter of a century and more. Out of the turmoil there begins to appear an adjustment between two moral ideals which is neither one or the other. From the changing conditions of the present there are emerging new social ideals of morality. The owners of factories are evolving a conscience as to the hours of labor for their workers; child-labor is being tabooed. The labor of women is condemned under certain conditions of factory life. The morality of an honest day's work by the worker begins to appear. In international affairs, the binding obligation of "a scrap of paper" is recognized by the conscience of an unprejudiced world opinion.

Let us consider briefly, some of the factors in which adjustments based on this spirit of a broader understanding of the value of co-operation and organization are taking place.

Hardly was the ink dry upon the document which defined the terms of the armistice dictated by the Allies to Germany, when the air became thick with rumors of war in the industrial sphere.

The existing ferment is the joint product of causes which are in their essence, widely dissimilar, if not positively antagonistic. The one,—represents a long standing and deep-seated discontent with the conditions, economic and social, of the modern industrial system. The other set of causes have begun to operate much more recently and derive their inspiration from continental methods. The one movement aims principally at improving by constitutional action, the position of labor in the industrial commonwealth, the other seeks by violent and revolutionary methods, to inaugurate a new social and political order. Both find their opportunity in the upheaval, mental and material, inevitably resulting from a war which has reduced to mere crumbling ruins, institutions, that five years ago seemed to be built upon indestructible foundations.

The march of civilization is the epic of man as a working-man, and that is the reason why labor should always be held high. We have nothing precious that does not represent struggle. We have nothing of lasting value that does not represent determination. We have nothing admirable which does not represent self-sacrifice. We have no philosophy except the philosophy of confidence, of optimism and faith in the righteousness of the contest we make against nature.

We must not forget that the greatest of all dangers to a civilization is to become stagnant. From that danger, at least industrial unrest is likely to save us.

The picture of Europe, today, is not an alluring one. Throughout its vast eastern and central regions, civilization is breaking or has broken, while even the western fringe is perilously worn and tried. The answer is clear. The new world must be called in to redress the balance of the Old. And the New World means primarily the United States. We must furnish the chief effort and, above all, the moral initiative must come from ourselves.

In Soviet Russia, a power has arisen more avid of world-dominion, and more fatal to civilization than Prussianism has ever been. Bolshevism, the implacable foe of liberty, of de-ocracy, of ordered progress, of everything that makes life worth living, is today triumphant in eastern Europe, undermining western Europe, and raising its ugly head even among ourselves.
The Allies are again imperiled by a new foe.
If Bolshevism conquers the Old World it will conquer the New. There is no escape. Once more we must "go in or go under," this time not so much with men and guns, as with food, with funds, with every ounce of our initiative and moral power.

The aid that America must give in this great problem must be based on the new spirit of a clearer understanding of man as man, the breakdown of a narrow egotistical nationalism and the dawn of a broader sympathy with Internationalism. Such a spirit will aid greatly in combattant the world's greatest foe.

A spirit of unification may resist all. Without it a nation will fall. Glorious France met and held the power of German arms—built up by forty years of preparation. Britain's "Old Contemptibles" were wiped out, but a united nation behind the army broke the Hindenburg Line.
United America behind America's four-million men at arms, put the fear of God in Germany's heart. And Germany herself collapsed when the nation ceased to stand united, behind the men in the field.

If so in war, why not in peace? The strifes of peace are not in the trenched field under the menace of bursting shells and whining shrapnel, but in every walk of life. This interest clashes with that. Advantage to one may appear disadvantage to another. What then is to be done?

To a future League of Nations must be commited the task of watching over the application of internationally agreed principles, and to taking action in the event of persistent wrong doing.

As for America, only this:—To learn to see more clearly that in the long run, only that is good for each which is good for all. That the interests of the North are locked inseparately with the interests of the South, and those of the West with those of the East, that between the worker and the employer there is not a great gulf of difference, but a mighty bond of union, in self-interest, that every race and creed and sect is strong only in a relation which does not exalt the one above the other, but which establishes all on a common basis of justice.

This spirit is at hand:—A little toleration, a little sympathy, and it is done. Then our country, grown great in war shall grow greater in peace, with the greatness which comes of a unity founded on justice and the sacred consecration of human rights.

COMMUNICATION.

Editor of the Orient:

I find in the last issue of the Orient evidence that a committee of one of the fraternities has made an archaeological discovery. It has un-erthed that relic of a by-gone age, the phrase:
"Whereas God has been pleased in His infinite wisdom," etc.

Years ago I waged in the columns of the Orient successful warfare against that wooden, stereotyped, meaningless form of expressing regret at the death of a member, always adopted for no other reason than that the committee was too lazy to prepare an original minute expressive of real regard. I hope never to see either that phrase or its variant introducing: "the Almighty Ruler of the Universe" in the Orient again.

I send this for publication rather than sending it to the chairman of the committee, hoping that it will be read and heeded by members of all the fraternities.

Delta Kappa Epsilon 5, Beta Theta Pi 3.

The Dekes succeeded in defeating the Betas Monday afternoon by the close margin of two runs. In the last inning the Betas filled the bases with but one man out, but Ludwig tightened up and fanned the next two men.

Batteries: Delta Kappa Epsilon, Ludwig and Drummond; Beta Theta Pi, Partridge and Webb.

Delta Kappa Epsilon 19, Alpha Delta Phi 6.

The Dekes scored another victory Tuesday by defeating the Alpha Delts, 19 to 6. The best hit of the game was a line drive by Moses to the pines, a three bagger. This game ties the Dekes and D. U.’s for first place.

Kappa Sigma 2, Non-Fraternity 1.

The Kappa Sigma team defeated the Non-frats in the most hotly contested game of the series on the Delta last Monday evening. Dahlgren’s homer to the pines and K. C. Coombs’ attempt to stretch a long three-bagger into a home run were the features of the game. Both pitchers did good work, allowing only scattered hits. The result of this game places the Non-frats, Chi Psi and Kappa Sigma tied for the lead with no more scheduled games to be played.

Delta Upsilon 3, Beta Theta Pi 2.

The small crowd which witnessed the game between the D. U. and Beta fraternities on the Delta Tuesday morning at six o’clock was well repaid for their early rising by seeing another of those well-fought games which have characterized the series this year. The D. U. team nosed out a victory by a score of 3 to 2, due largely to the pitching of Toyokawa. He struck out six men and allowed but one hit.

Batteries: Delta Upsilon, Toyokawa and Sears; Beta Theta Pi, Partridge and Webb.

INTERFRATERNITY BASEBALL.

Psi Upsilon 4, Chi Psi 0.

Chi Psi received her second defeat of the season from the Psi U’s. Although the Chi Psi’s got on base several times, they were unable to bring in any runs.

Batteries: Psi Upsilon, Mundie and Meacham; Chi Psi, Gray and O. L. Berry.

Theta Delta Chi 9, Alpha Delta Phi 8.

The Theta Delta’s squeezed out a victory over the Alpha Delt’s by a one run lead. Both teams hit well, but, although the Alpha Delt’s made several changes in their battery, the Theta Delta’s succeeded in bringing in the winning run.

Batteries: Theta Delta Chi, Adams and McCulloch; Alpha Delta Phi, Clifford, Merrill and James. Umpire, Mason.

Non-Fraternity 4, Zeta Psi 3.

The Non-fraternity men succeeded in gaining a one run margin over the Zetes in a close game. The Zetes scored all their runs in the first inning and up to the last inning played errorless ball. The pitching of Smith featured for the Non-fraternity men.

Batteries: Non-fraternity, Smith and Canter; Zeta Psi, Lee and Haggerty.

BOWDOIN DINNER IN PARIS.

Fifteen Bowdoin graduates now stationed in Paris, or doing university work at the Sorbonne there, had a reunion and dinner at the American University Union on Saturday evening, May 10th. Those present were:

Major Fred M. Fling '83.
Herbert T. Field '92.
John Clair Minot '96.
Major George E. Fogg '02.
Professor William E. Lunt '04.
Captain Sumner S. Jackson '09.

Captain Paul L. White '14.
Lieutenant D. W. Philbrick '17.
Lieutenant Frank E. Noyes '17.
Eugene M. Gillespie '17.
Murray M. Bigelow '18.

Those present had such a good time that it was arranged to have a similar reunion early in June, since all will be in France until July or later. Up to the present time nearly three hundred Bowdoin graduates have registered at the Bowdoin Bureau of the American University Union, but that number by no means includes the total of our men in uniform who have been in Paris during the war.

Alumni Notes

'13—Cedric R. Crowell, the class president, and Clifton Page, acting secretary during the absence of James Norton, who is engaged in reconstruction work in France, announces that big preparations are being made for the reunion at Commencement. Paul Lunt, 31 State street, Portland, is in charge of the committee who will handle the affair. The other members of the committee are Paul Lunt of Portland, Paul Savage of Bangor, John Slocum, Leon Jones, Fletcher Twombly, and Clifton Page. Last June, when in normal conditions 1913 would have celebrated its "Fifth," over one-third of the class was in military service. Accordingly, the committee is arranging now for the biggest reunion of the class since its graduation and is counting on the return of nearly every member from the nearby states. Announcements have already been mailed. Owing to the large percentage of members who were in service, the addresses in several cases have been changed, and so every Bowdoin man who may know a 1913 man that has come recently to his vicinity is asked to tell him that the "Big Fifth" takes place this June. The class is asked to confer with the committee, Cedric Crowell of the Lord and Taylor Bookshop, New York City, or Clifton Page, 434 Middle street, Bath, Maine.

ABRAXAS HOLDS INITIATION.

The Abraxas, honorary interfraternity society, held its initiation at the Gurnett House Saturday night. The initiates from the Class of 1921 were Flynn, Perkins, Rich, Schonland, Willson and Woodard.

DARTMOUTH LEADS.

The greatly changed curriculum which Dartmouth has announced for next year shows that the New Hampshire institution has not been oblivious to the lessons of the war period. The great emergency demonstrated the value of the man who has made himself a specialist in any field of human knowledge. It proved that the man who knew one thing well was far more useful than the man who merely knew a little of everything. And it especially proved the usefulness of those who had obtained a thorough training in the sciences.

In the light of these lessons the Dartmouth faculty has recast the requirements for graduation in a way which will command the approval of all progressive educators. It has agreed upon a program of study which will require every Dartmouth student to take, during his first two years in college, a minimum of work in each of the great fields of knowledge, ancient and modern literature, philosophy, the natural sciences, mathematics, and the social sciences. Then, when the undergraduate has obtained this general and preliminary grounding, he will devote his main attention to some "major course" or field of specialization, chosen by himself and this will occupy his last two years in college.

Taking the Dartmouth plan as a whole it involves no radical departure from sound theories of higher education. It gives new emphasis to that part of the instructional program which deals with matters of present day interest, but there is no relaxation of allegiance to the classics. The opportunity to study the humanities remains as broad as before.—Boston Herald.

At a meeting of letter men at the Zete house Rhodes '20, was elected captain of next fall's football eleven. Rhodes has had three years of football at Bowdoin, playing tackle. Other varsity men expected to play next fall are Crockett '20, Curtis '20, Drummond '20, Dostie '20, and Parent '21, besides men of experience in service last year.

Manager Wood announces the following schedule, not yet complete:

September 27—Amherst at Amherst.
October 4—Brown at Brown.
October 11—Holy Cross at Holy Cross.
October 18—Open.
October 25—Pending.
November 1—Bates at Brunswick.
November 8—Maine at Orono.

Men intending to go out for football next fall will notify Manager Wood, West Boylston, Mass. Captain Rhodes will communicate with these men so that they may return for early practice.

IVY GAME WON BY BATES.

The second inning proved Bowdoin's undoing in the annual Ivy Day game with Bates Friday morning. The trouble started when Huck Finn got spiked and before the Bowdoin team could steady down the visitors had scored five runs.

With the exception of the second Bowdoin played magnificent ball and after that troublesome inning only two Bates men reached first, and one of those was caught in an attempt to steal second.

Bowdoin outhit Bates throughout the game, but was unable to bunch the drives and so the runs were scattered, the final tally being 5 to 3 in favor of the Lewiston team.

MAINE WINS STATE CHAMPIONSHIP.

Maine succeeded in clinching the State championship at Orono Thursday, 5-o. The White secured several hits but not at opportune times. Good work by the Maine batsmen and a few errors on the part of the Bowdoin fielders were responsible for most of the runs.

COOK '20, RECEIVES CAPTAINCY.

Cook '20, was unanimously elected captain of baseball after the Maine game Thursday. Cook has played varsity baseball during all three years he has been in college, playing second base. The election took place on the train.

CLASS DAY EXERCISES

OPENING ADDRESS.

Class of 1919.

F. B. Chadbourne.

Classmates and friends,—

The Class of 1919 meets today under especially happy and fortunate circumstances. A year ago it seemed quite unlikely that so many of our number could be here for these Class Day Exercises. Some had then answered the call to national service; many others were preparing to do so. Our future as a class seemed dark indeed. A large number felt that if, by good fortune, they were ever able to return to college, it would be only after a considerable lapse of time.

But fate has been more kind to us. The signing of the armistice, the prompt discharge of those in the military service, and the liberal attitude of the college authorities have enabled a large part of our class to return and graduate this year.

Upon this particularly happy occasion we welcome you, parents and friends, to these exercises. You see us now at the close of our college career. We hope that in your eyes we may appear to have acquitted ourselves well in these four years. Our college course has been broken, but the break—serious and unfortunate as it was in many respects—has not been wholly bad, for it has afforded us a great opportunity which otherwise would not have been possible. In common with all college men we have had an unusual chance to prove the value of our training.

We are proud of the record made in the war by the colleges and college men throughout the country. We are proud of Bowdoin's record and proud that our class was able to perform a part in establishing such a record. From the declaration of war until the signing of the armistice, the college men of this country were at the service of the Government. Many entered active service at once—not hastily and recklessly—rather thoughtfully and seriously—but all willingly and cheerfully.

In the past the value of a college training has at times been questioned,—the influence of the college life has been termed harmful rather than beneficial,—the time spent has been considered wasted—or at least fitting one for the cloistered life of a close student rather than the active life of a man of affairs. But the war record of the college men shows that their training, in reality has been extremely important and valuable. A large number were given positions of trust and authority as commissioned and non-commissioned officers. Their training in strictly military matters admittedly had not been thorough—the emergency was too great and the need too immediate. They had, however, in college been well grounded in the fundamentals, and had learned to study intelligently. The knowledge to be obtained from books they could quickly acquire. But their preparation was more than in this. They had studied and were acquainted with the most important subject of all—mankind. In daily associations on the campus as well as when reading the record of human advance ever since the dawn of civilization—consciously or unconsciously their subject had been mankind. This knowledge it was which enabled them so quickly to adapt themselves to the new life and become leaders of men.

The value of a college training might later have shown itself more slowly in civilian life. But the great emergency made it apparent at once. There was no time to be spent in mustering up courage and gradually preparing oneself for the stand to be taken. A decision had to be made without hesitation. Then it was that the seeds of truth, of justice, and of courage sown in half-forgotten lectures and class-room discussions suddenly grew into strong and purposeful wills, and the quickness of decision and action developed on the baseball diamond and on the football field made the college-trained men willing and able to do their duty in what ever way might be required.

The value of our training in war has, then, been shown. Now we are starting forth to prove its worth in peace. We are today bidding farewell to the Alma Mater from whom we have learned so much. Again, we welcome you who have come to be with us as we review the four wonderful years which are now passed, and pay a final tribute to our beloved Bowdoin.

CLASS HISTORY OF 1919.
Howe S. Newell.

The story of the Class of 1919 is indeed a unique one in the history of Bowdoin College. Our four years spent in the shelter of these walls have indeed been years of change. One normal year we have had. We learned then to know each other and to know old Bowdoin, her traditions and her lore.

In the fall of 1915 we arrived in Brunswick a hundred and twenty-four strong, one of the largest classes in the history of the college. We had one happy year together, one year of work and play, one that will long linger in our memories. Proclamation night—initiations—the chapel rush—baseball and football, all are now but memories. “Buck” and “Flunker” and our first college exams are memories that will stick. Then came spring and that night of nights, Ivy 1916, the burning of the fence and the wrath of old “Sam Shylock.”

The next year came—most of us came back as wooly sophomores. Again we went through proc night, only this time at the other end of the paddles. Mid-years came, then all things seemed to change. There was something in the air; our country went to war. Uniforms began to appear; military training had begun; each day saw men leaving for training ships or camps. Ivy and Commencement were mere shadows of the old, a vain attempt to keep things normal.

Some of us came back to start our Junior year. Bowdoin was still more military; we had a unit of the Reserve Officers Training Corps. Each week found our numbers less, and every day brought stories of class-mates who had won commissions or sailed for overseas. Somehow the year slid by. Ivy came, our own Ivy, with only a handful of the old class left. We held our exercises, we sang the ode, but many a heart was heavy that day. What would happen by next Commencement was a question deep in every heart. We mourned our absent brothers and wished that we might be with them.

Senior year dawned, and our class came back hardly twenty strong, dubbed the infants and cripples. Hyde Hall was our home, and there we reigned supreme as lords of the infant freshmen. Early in October the College was taken over by the Government and turned into a training school for prospective officers. All was changed. The Students Army Training Corps had come, and a few more of our old classmates returned as members of the Naval Unit or Army Unit. Fraternities had faded into the background, and college life lay dormant, not dead but just asleep. The blare of bugles, the sound of martial music, the sharp commands, the incessant one-two-three-four—all made us feel that we were living in a new land. Military studies became the order of the day. Men marched to classes, to meals, to drill, marching-marching—marching everywhere. Where had our college gone? She had answered her country’s call: Bowdoin too had gone to war.

But all was not to remain thus forever. Early in the morning of November 11, 1918, a pandemonium broke loose. Bells and whistles, shots and bugle blares left little doubt in our minds as to what had happened. The armistice had been signed. Military life here at college quickly became a thing of the past. Old friends returned, the class grew from twenty to over seventy in two months. Quickly we were back to normal. Our fighting faculty returned and old Bowdoin was again flourishing. Once more our class comes together to smoke the final pipe of peace.

But we are not all here. Let us pause for a moment to do honor to those of our number who have joined the “gallant unreturning”; two who have given their lives for their country, their class and their college. Albert Davis Holbrook—who died of wounds in a German prison camp; wounds received while leading his men on the battlefields of France. William Frye Martin, a private in the Medical Corps, who died of wounds received while attempting to save the lives of others in the bloody battle of the Argonne forest. Now we stand on the threshold of life. Bowdoin we leave you; may we ever be a credit to you, and may we always do our share and be worthy sons of a noble mother.

Profecturi salutamus.

FAREWELL ADDRESS.
J. W. Coburn.

“Our slender life runs rippling by, and glides
Into the silent hollow of the past;
What is there that abides?
To make the next age better for the last?”

In these few, but succinct lines, Lowell seems to have effectively expressed the feeling of the Class of 1919 as we gather here today to bid a formal farewell to our Alma Mater. Four years ago, we entered the walls of Bowdoin a heterogeneous group of youths from many walks of life and from many climes. Today, we go forth a body of men united by our toil and play together, never again to be disintegrated until Father Time shall see fit to remove us one by one. To bid goodbye to the college which has brought such unity to pass and which has contributed so bountifully to our sweet store of experiences is no pleasant task.

If these exercises ended everything, or if by the mere acceptance of a diploma, we determined and segregated that part of our lives which is just coming to a close without perceiving its direct relationship to the future, then indeed would we have just cause to regard this parting with even greater regret. It is only by cutting deeper into the experiences of the last four years that we can fully appreciate them and face this time with a smile rather than with sorrow. Bowdoin holds a position in our hearts never to be rivalled. We are grateful to her for the knowledge of the class room; but we are more thankful for the high ideals and spirit with which she has endeavored to endow us.

Many of you are already familiar with the Bowdoin spirit as exemplified by the different activities normally representing the college. I believe it would be well, however, for us to recall for a moment the part which it has played within the undergraduate memory of the present Senior Class. At times, we reflect wistfully upon the days preceding the entrance of this country into the War; when Bowdoin was a place of peace and quiet where men studied and thought of the better things of life; when we dealt with men's spirits rather than with their fortunes. But think of the change. War was declared. From a peaceful life we were thrust into the vortex of military activity. The pen was replaced by the rifle. The attempt and determination to shatter for once and for all the vain dreams of the War Lord resulted in the devotion of the major part of our time and attention to war preparation. Contemplation of man's mind gave way to a study of the most effective method by which to end his life. Just as Bowdoin had always risen to the demands of the times in previous crises, so did she then. The details of the manner in which she fulfilled her mission are already known to you. The point that I do wish to emphasize is that one more opportunity had been given for our Alma Mater to teach her sons the invaluable lesson of patriotism and devotion to high ideals. Some of us have regretted that fate denied us the privilege of enjoying four years of normal college life. But when we consider how much deeper our appreciation is of Bowdoin because we went through trouble with her, and when we consider the valuable lessons that were learned because of it, our regret seems unworthy of Bowdoin men. That experience will make this parting of greater significance than ever before. Our friendships are closer and dearer, our ties to the college are firmer, our memories are richer. Because of the contribution of two of our most highly esteemed members to humanity's cause, the Class of Nineteen Nineteen has become welded together as would never otherwise have been possible. The past, in spite of its pains and sorrows, will ever be dear to us.

Bowdoin has tried to inculcate in us the highest ideals of citizenship; not citizenship of a limited locality, or nation, but full realization of the proper place that a college man—and a Bowdoin man—should assume in the world. Time flies. The world is always progressing and we should keep pace with it. But when progress changes to extreme radicalism then we must remember, and apply, one of Bowdoin's fundamental lessons—that of well-considered conservatism. This is not a reluctance to adopt new theories or practices, but rather a determination to give them the most just and careful consideration before allowing them to play an important part in our lives. The world today is in danger as the result of the actual failure to utilize this balance wheel of conservatism. As true sons of Bowdoin, it is our duty to do whatever may be within our power—little as that may be—to advocate a progress that shall be controlled by real conservatism.

A good citizen should be an international citizen. The world has been suffering for centuries from the poison of personal and national selfishness. Today, the ruin of Europe bears eloquent testimony to the failure of this movement. To secure in the future a harmonious solution of this problem, there must be a citizenry with breadth of vision and a willingness to subordinate individual ambitions to the will of the many, and for their benefit. Bowdoin has aimed to prepare us for this demand of good Americans in the years to come.

There are many other causes for our gratitude to our Alma Mater. How well all of these lessons have been learned time alone will tell. A man's success is of course primarily dependent upon his innate qualities; but, the fact cannot be denied that training plays an important role. The frequency and extent of successes by Bowdoin men seem to preclude in themselves any attempt to attribute them to Fate. By courage and tenacity of purpose, Peary and MacMillan attained that goal for which so many men have striven, but failed. By their learning and breadth of view, Frye, Reed, Fessenden, Pierce gained honorable places in the ranks of American statesmen. Fuller on the bench, Longfellow and Haw-thorne in literature are but other examples of natural ability combined with proper training. Bowdoin has performed her task well.

Upon considering these facts, we become more confident of the future. We know that our training has been excellent; and that if our lives are failures, it will be due to our lack of ability rather than to the failure of the college to give us adequate preparation. It would be folly to attempt to prophesy the great changes which Time in its rapidly moving course will evolve. Some of my classmates will undoubtedly attain that enviable goal of success to which mankind has ever turned its eyes. Others may not be so fortunate. Whatever our fortune may be, we regard the future with confidence and consider this parting as but the beginning of a new period of increased devotion to our Alma Mater and a deeper appreciation of her gifts to us. Let us resolve that in whatever field of endeavor, in whatever land, our paths may lead us, we shall never forget the debt that we owe to Bowdoin and to pay our most humble respect to her teachings.

To you, O Bowdoin, we bid a fond goodbye and repeat the words of Byron:

"Farewell, a word that must be and hath been, A sound which makes us linger,—yet Farewell."

COMMENCEMENT POEM.

The days of our childhood are too quickly passed And so are the days of our youth; Too soon on the billows of Life are we cast, Each one with his theory of truth. This theory, like clay, has been molded and shaped And evolved by the fash'n'ing of Time; The earlier notions have fled and escaped To give place to the thoughts now in prime.

Experience and Teaching Time brought to his aid In preparing his wares for the test And these two their talents and skill have displayed Where they can display them as best. 'Tis where the gray chapel stands lofty and proud, Its spires overlooking the halls Which the neighborly trees attempt to enshroud And the ivies to cover their walls.

Four years by the chapel are happily spent, Four years we shall never regret. Whether business or pleasure or both be our bent Those years we can never forget. They were full of the fondest of pleasures and pains That sweet in remembrance will last. We count them among the supremest of gains, A possession that can't be surpassed.

What are these possessions the world cannot seize? They are treasures more precious than gold, Intangible somethings whose values increase With the years that fleet by. We grow old And the friendships we gained 'round the chapel remain Inseparable ties of true love That bring all the happiness back once again. As if borne on the wing of a dove.

We have known and experienced one reason for life In these friendships we reckon so dear. Like a calm after storm or a peace after strife, Like the calmness that drives away fear Is the joy and contentment we all realize In the moments when we retrospect; When we live o'er again the days which we prize And sweet memory rambles unchecked.

The devotion we hold for our mother beloved Who gave us the chapel and halls With the test of the years and old age will have proved To be stronger, more firm than those walls Of gray stone where the Ivy clings, constant and true. Our loyalty long will endure. No whimsical fortune or fate will subdue The spirit of faith which is due her.

Today our Alma Mater welcomes back Her older sons and those who knew Her care for only a short time.—Alack! They cannot know the heritage of few Which she alone can give and she impart, A priceless legacy that she Pours forth from out the depths of her warm heart; 'Tis hers forever ours to be.

With pride and exultation she receives Those loyal sons back home again And crowns each with a wreath of laurel leaves For speech is poor 't would love profane. They heard the challenge, nobly they replied From happy homes and peaceful state They gladly went and gladly would have died If such had been their destined fate.

Was it the bubble reputation or What was it prompted them to go? Adventure offered that which men abhor? Or did they leave to meet the foe Because their friends and colleagues also went? Because they feared the world's rebuke? Or was it restlessness and discontent? Why did they leave the lamp and book?

But even those who went cannot reveal What urged them on, nor what the call That gained the grand response, nor what the appeal They answered, offering their all As noble champions of an honorable cause
As brave defenders of the right,
Desiring not the empty, vain applause.
But anxious that they win their fight.

It may have been stern Duty spoke to them
Or Glory showed the road to fame
Or threatened Liberty showed her torch to them,
A service to mankind their aim
Or love of freedom caused the sacrifice,
Democracy had them overawed.

Did the spirit of patriotism in them arise?—
Sincerely we believe it was God.

The minor sorrow can express itself,
The greater grief cannot. And humble speech
Is trivial and our bankrupt language fails
To meet the obligations of the heart,
The obligations due our comrades gone
Beyond the beck and call of this dull world
Unto a brighter peaceful paradise
Where they receive their fit and just reward
More fully than we mortals ever hope.

To grant them what they won and well deserve,
We seem the dead who stayed behind.
While they will ever live forever blessed Because they gave their life blood to defend Their country and mankind against the wrong
On which God frowned. They are the chosen few,
Departed unto their last rest in peace
To infinite and noble happiness Immune from strife so lately known. Theirs is
The honor and the praise and reverence
And ours the consecrated memory.

So toll the bell,
Bow the head in due respect.
Our hearts may swell—
That is all we may expect.
Their hearts have bled
So that we be saved from death.
They are not dead;
Their deeds remain on earth
To urge us on High achievements now to gain.
Now they are gone.
We must reach that higher plane
For which they strove nobly to attain.

—William Angus.

CLASS OFFICERS OF 1919.

Following are the class officers of 1919: President, Burliegh; vice-president, Perkins; secretary-treasurer, Higgins.

THE PROPER USE OF VICTORY.
Baccalaurate Address by President Sills.
(Extract)

This is a Victory Commencement and here at Bowdoin as at many other American colleges we are rejoicing in the triumph of our arms and welcoming home those gallant sons who fought and conquered. As last year on the same occasion we were concerned chiefly with the war and the lessons the war was teaching us all, so today inevitably our thoughts still surge ahead and we ponder on what the victory really means to us and our beloved country. The problems before us as individuals and as a nation are fully as complicated and as difficult as those which confronted us in the darkest days of the war. The victory has been won; but the fruits of victory are not yet ours. In war the dangers were imminent and brutal; the need of union and self sacrifice was self-evident. In peace every interest, every class, every nation, lifts its shrill cry for immediate consideration; and the babel is largely composed of the voice of selfishness. It requires far more imagination to see that the future is dark with danger; and yet as the days go by, it is not hard to see that the statesman’s task is no easier of solution than that which Marshal Foch and the allied staff carried on so nobly to glorious fruition. And we need today just as much courage and faith in the ultimate conquest of the right as we did a year ago.

Like the Church, the college is eternally concerned with the things of the spirit; and there is much more danger that the college shall lose its aloofness, its academic, and, if you will, its ideal point of view than that it shall be unpractical.

Nor is it inappropriate that a baccalaurate address should have as its theme the proper uses of victory. Commencement celebrates the successful completion of a college course. But the college would be recreant indeed did it not constantly emphasize that what you do with your college training is much more important than the mere obtaining of it. In other words, in college as in life it is more difficult to use a victory wisely than to win it. A victory is often more disastrous spiritually than a defeat. The magnanimous victor is just as rare a person as the brave vanquished; and the victor who uses his triumph well is even rarer. Conversely there is no greater tragedy than the throwing away of the fruits of victory. For it is a tragedy when a boy who has had a promising career at college fritters away his talents by falling into an initial easy job and losing straightway his ambition and his dreams. It is a tragedy when a college man graduating with principles of working for civic and social reform becomes buffeted by the minds of a practical world and steers his ship cynically and by the easiest course into a safe and inglorious port. On the other hand, the man who carries forth into life, whether in the busy marts or shady streets, the things that he has learned from the best in science and in literature is constantly crowning himself victor; and the days will fade only as his will to do and dare wanes.

All young scholars, indeed all graduates of college, might well take to heart the lesson of true scholarship, which is never to be content with present accomplishment. Listen to the words of the great Petrach rebuking his friend Boccaccio for the suggestion that he rest a while from his arduous studies and labors. “However you may describe me, I must endeavor if I am a nullity, to become something; and if I really were great which I am not, I should strive, so far as in me lay, to become greater.”

It is not only in the realm of science and scholarship that these great principles apply:
they live with as much force in the industrial world. During the last five years we have seen great victories won by organized labor. It is, thank God, idle to speak longer of the downtrodden working-classes. Labor has come into its own; and many of the things for which it has been fighting for years are now nearly everywhere accepted. We no longer think of the right of collective bargaining, the minimum wage, a short working day with frequent holidays, as revolutionary. We may all well rejoice in the progress made; but we have yet to see how the gains are to be used. If class hatred increases, if there is not the proper discrimination between skilled and untrained work, the victory will be thrown away; and not only labor but all the rest of us will be worse off than we were before.
Nor will the common sense of the American people fail to see that if we put unskilled and untrained labor in the same monetary plane as technical skill we shall have social and industrial chaos. Even though the danger be slight it is high time that men speak out: particularly those who have influence with our youth should not fail in season and out of season to show that trained minds count; and that if we are to have democracy and not socialism there must be in our industrial system recognition of the worth of the individual and no hindrances to promotion.
In the main the leaders of American labor are sane and practical men. No one will begrudge them the victories they are undoubtedly winning if they are to be used not narrowly and selfishly but for the good of all.

As we turn from academic and domestic problems to the larger international questions with which we as Americans are intimately concerned, once more we must realize how hard it is to use victory wisely and unselfishly. The world at large is strangely ill at ease. We are rid of a dreadful menace; but if we are not careful the devil of militarism will return to the swept and garnished chamber with other devils worse than he. Some times it has happened in the history of the world that great victories have been won only to be thrown away. Many people seem to argue that if we can secure for ourselves security and peace for a short term of years that is all we can expect or desire. If out of the welter of war no new order arises, if no new system of settling disputes between nations is set up, we are of all men the most miserable. We shall have made the most humiliating of failures in history, shall have to confess the human intellect is incapable of devising means for the improvement of the human race. All of us, nationally and individually, have our chance to help. Of course no scheme like the League of Nations will be effective unless there is behind it a power superior to mere mechanical agreement or a formal international covenant. But if we are not willing to run the risk, to make the new experiment, the fruits of victory will be like those on the Dead Sea. Honor and duty and country all beckon us to take our stand on the side of progress; to work for a peace that will not only be an extension of those principles that took us, though late, into the war.

Before the question of securing a righteous and noble peace, all parties and personal considerations are as petty as the minds that can not see beyond them. We are veritably at the cross roads: backward lies the old order, the old diplomacy, the old wars; forward the road is rough and uncertain but in it the light is shining.

These illustrations of the uses of victory might easily be extended into other fields. What women do with the vote is much more important and interesting than the winning of the right to vote. If real temperance is not promoted by prohibition, the legislation will be a mere empty form. In fact, in every part of man’s endeavor the same truth applies. If it be objected that the interpretation which has been given this afternoon has dwelt too much on the ideal and the altruistic, there is the emphatic answer that that is the sort of service the Christian college inculcates. To gain the whole world and lose one’s own soul, to be successful as Mammon judges success and false to one’s own conscience—the are the views Bowdoin College never has taught and never will teach. Like all her sisters she preaches that righteousness alone exalteth a nation; and that only by losing himself in a good cause does a man become victor over chance and circumstance; and only by making the individual or the class or the nation or the world a bit better is any victory, no matter how momentarily great, in the end worth while.

MEN WHO GAVE THEIR LIVES IN THE WAR.
Memorial Address by President Sills.

The reading of these familiar names in this place and at this time is far more eloquent than any formal memorial address. Yet since this service would be strangely incomplete and cold were no words of gratitude uttered, I ask you to think with me for a few minutes what discipline of self, what sacrifice, what love of country we here honor. Everyone of these men, whether in glorious combat on the battlefield or in the dread routine of duty in camp died with his face to the foe, expressing in that final act the noblest traditions of the college. "They would be free or die" not only because they were American citizens but because they had learned their kinship with the heroes of the past and their obligation to keep the heritage that had been so richly won for them. They poured out "the red, sweet wine of youth" without a murmur or regret; because, as we of them wrote, they knew they were the chosen representatives of their countless brothers who would as freely have given their lives had God so willed. Could their brave young spirits who may be even now hovering near their beloved college home, be given utterance, we may be sure they would say: "We have only done what many others would have done; and if you honor us, do not forget them."

The war changing our ideas about so many things has removed almost entirely our fear of death. When we see the brave and young leave us thus gloriously, the sting of death as death is gone; the victory of the grave is a defeat. To hold life so lightly that we can toss it away in a splendid cause with all the zest of a lover, and at the same time to value, as youth does the joy of living so that the sacrifice is real—this is the better part.

As always happens when men do brave, unselfish deeds, they are not a part of history. They are brothers to those golden lads who clothed themselves with the dust of death at Thermopylae; to those sailor men who grayfully shattered the Spanish Armada; to the embattled farmers of Concord; to those who at Gettysburg gave their lives that the nation might live. Vimy Ridge (for some of our boys fought there) Chateau Thierry, the Argonne shall thrill even as did the great battles of old: their name shall be "Familiar in our mouths as household words"; and when the stories are retold, here at Bowdoin no Commencement shall go by

"From this day to the ending of the world
But in it shall be remembered
Those few, those happy few, that band of brothers."

The war has proved once more what the ancients knew and Christ taught that greater love has no man than this that a man lay down his life for his friends. In this, the supremest test, the college man is no more worthy of praise than are his brothers in other walks of life; but in other respects, the contribution of the college to the war was somewhat different. Deep down in his heart he felt somehow or other that his college training had made his soul, as old Brethius in prison wrote, superior to future. And so it made really no difference to him whether he should come marching home some bright sunny day or whether he should join the ranks of the gallant unreturning. The storm might sink his craft or preserve it: but he would hold the rudder true. In his own citadel of self he would endure cheerfully whatever fate meted out to him. And so in all the adversities of war, in sickness and in wounds, in prison camp and in death itself, these merry carefree laps, these sober, earnest men kept their own souls.

And so there is no sadness in this memorial service: we mourn our dead but with solemn pride

"Nothing is here for tears: nothing to wail
Or beat the breast: no weakness, no contempt
Dispraise or blame: nothing but well and fair
And what may quiet us in a death so noble."

For we celebrate a triumph here—the triumph of freedom over might, and of the freedom-loving spirit over death.

As they represented us and their mates in death, so it is our part to represent them in life. No such happy fate as theirs awaits us. In the freshness and vigor of life they gave themselves completely to their country; all that might have been done amiss lies covered in a glorious grave: we think only of the beauty of the sacrifice. Something of their immortal freshness will always linger about these halls to show future generations yet untold what youth can do, what youth has done. If we represent their right in the new world that is to be—if we reproduce and hand on their simplicity, their unaffected devotion to duty, their genuineness, this college will be a happier place. They played their parts well, however, we may play ours: their responsibility ended when they gave their all—no less. But it is not idle to think that they will rest more quietly if the things for which they fought triumph.

THE COMMENCEMENT HOP.

The Commencement Hop, held in the gymnasium Friday evening, was a very pleasant feature of the Commencement program. The hop, although without a record-breaking attendance, made a much better showing than last year when only about fifty couples were in attendance. Paul was the chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements.

"THE TEMPEST."

The Masque and Gown of Bowdoin College presented "The Tempest" on the steps of Walker Art Building Saturday afternoon at 4.30 p.m. The play was one of the finest features of the Commencement program. The cast was made up of twenty-four students who had worked very hard to make this play possible. The costumes were especially designed by Hayden of Boston. The play was under the direction of Mrs. Arthur Brown. The cast follows:

AN EXPLANATION.

Owing to the fact that the Orient went early to press this Commencement, there is necessarily a less complete account of Commencement activities. While the Orient regrets these omissions, it seemed worth while in view of the fact that the alumni would have an opportunity to once more read the Bowdoin Orient on Bowdoin's campus.

KAPPA SIGMA WINS CHAMPIONSHIP.

By winning four games in succession the Kappa Sig's earned the championship cup in the fraternity leagues. At the close of the season in League B the Non-fraternity, Chi Psi, Zeta Psi, and Kappa Sigma were tied for first place. The Non-fraternity men defeated the Zetas and the Kappa Sigma team blanked the Chi Psi's, leaving the Non-fraternity men and Kappa Sig's to play off the tie. The deciding game went to eight innings, the Kappa Sig's finally nosing out a win, 6 to 5. The Delta Upsilon team played the Kappa Sig's on Whittier field Friday the thirteenth, and was defeated, 8 to 4. For the D. U.'s the pitching of Toyokawa was the feature. Only two of the Kappa Sig batsmen succeeded in getting safe hits. The D. U. infield, although it had several errors against it, made two or three hair-raising catches which undoubtedly robbed the champions of two more runs. Moses pitched a steady game, striking out 12 men and allowing 5 hits. The D. U. team received last year's cup which was not presented as the schedule was interrupted by the war. Last year the D. U.'s virtually won it, being tied for first place with only weak teams to play.

THE 1919 INTERCOLLEGIATE TRACK SEASON.

Bowdoin has finished a track season this spring, which in some ways has been as successful as any in the history of the college. The only team that could possibly be considered better is the 1915 aggregation. The team which won the championship of New England back in the 00's could not possibly beat the 1910 team with the records it made at that time. This year's team easily out-classes the 1915 men in the track events, but not in the field events.

The season began rather inauspiciously when Bowdoin received defeat at the hands of New Hampshire College by a margin of 10 to 3 points. At a rally shortly before the Maine meet, Coach Magee stated that he had not groomed the team for that meet but that he was grooming the men so that they could beat Maine by the narrow margin of three or four points. The following Saturday, the team went to Orono, completely upset all the "dope," and more than justified Jack's statement by trimming Maine by a matter of 37 points. In the very first event, Holbrook surprised everybody by winning in the fast time of 10 1-5 seconds, in spite of the soggy field and rainy afternoon. Next, in the 440, Savage came through and won a pretty race. Captain Cleaves took the half, and then Goodwin carried off both the mile and two-mile in masterly fashion, in the fastest time made by any college man this year previous to the New England meet. Bowdoin practically clinched the meet when the hurdlers took eighteen out of a possible eighteen in the two barrier races. Ellms, Caspar, Zeitler, Higgins, Allen, and Cook picked up 22 3/4 points in the field events. Savage and Goodwin were the individual stars for Bowdoin with eleven and ten points, respectively, to their credit. The final score in this meet was Bowdoin 73, Maine 36, and Bates 17.

A week later Bowdoin scored nine points in the N. E. I. A. A. meet at Tech field. Had it not been for ill luck and more or less mismanagement of the meet, Bowdoin would probably have taken at least fifteen or twenty more points. In the high hurdles Savage appeared to be winning his trial easily when he happened to look over his shoulder and then fell over one of the barriers. In the low hurdles he came through and won handily, while Parent took fourth. If more time between the heats had been given the men, Thomson and Higgins would have undoubtedly figured in the point scoring. Captain Cleaves was unable to run in the half mile, where he would have certainly taken some points. The short time between the races proved the undoing of Goodwin in the two-mile. Twenty minutes after he had taken third in the mile he had to start his other long race. Nightingale of New Hampshire dropped out after a mile or so, and then Goodwin also had to stop. Ellms was the only Bowdoin man who placed in the weights.

Bowdoin concluded its season at the Harvard Stadium, May 31, by scoring more points in the I. C. A. A. A. meet than it had ever taken before in these games in the history of the college. Bowdoin was by far the smallest college which placed in this meet. The seven colleges which finished ahead of the White were Cornell, Pennsylvania, Michigan, Harvard, Dartmouth, Yale, and Princeton, all many times larger than Bowdoin. M. I. T. was beaten with ease; a most pleasing result in view of Tech's victory in the New England meet. Bowdoin also defeated such institutions as Rutgers, Georgetown, Lafayette, Syracuse, and Columbia.

Savage and Goodwin were the only runners competing for Bowdoin, but they managed to win nine points between them. Savage was running at his very best in the high hurdles. This race was won in the fast time of 15 1-5 seconds. Savage, finishing fourth, probably ran it in 15 3-5 seconds, beating his old record of 15 4-5. In the semi-final of the low hurdles, he tied his New England record of 24 2-5 seconds. In the final, the Bowdoin star was just barely nosed out of second place by Watt of Cornell. Goodwin ran a magnificent race in the two-mile, finishing second, ahead of such stars as Sedgwick of Michigan, Hutchinson of Harvard, Dudley of Yale, and Bolles of Dartmouth. To be sure Dresser of Cornell finished a long distance ahead of him, but the Ithaca captain broke the only record of the meet with a mark of 9 minutes 22 2-5 seconds, which is a full half minute faster than any Bowdoin record in the past. Goodwin clipped the record of H. J. Colbath by 15 4-5 seconds, with a time of 9 minutes 40 2-5 seconds. This mark is 15 3-5 seconds better than Goodwin's old record which he made when he won the national interscholastic championship in this race at New-ark, N. J.

This season's record clearly reflects the value of Trainer Magee's excellent coaching system. When he came to Bowdoin six years ago, track was very unsuccessful here. Gradually improvements have been becoming more and more manifest, and finally this year Bowdoin track has been seen in a position more enviable in some ways than at any other time in the history of the college.

In Savage, Bowdoin is losing an athlete this year who is known all over the country as one of the greatest hurdlers in the game. He is one of the joint holders of the world's record in the 45-yard high hurdles, having a mark of six seconds flat. He also holds the New England record in the 220-yard low hurdles. He unquestionably deserves the mark of appreciation which the student body conferred upon him last week.

Bowdoin is also losing four other men who scored in the Maine meet: Higgins, Holbrook, Caspar, and Foulke. Next year Jack will have eleven point winners to build up a team around. These are Goodwin, whom the Boston Herald has picked to win the intercollegiate championship in the two-mile, Captain Cleaves, Ellms, Thomson, Averill, Parent, Zeitler, Partridge, Allen, Cook, and Dostie.

The Victory Commencement.

What better name could have been chosen for this year's Commencement exercises! Obviously this Commencement celebrates the triumph of the American and allied forces over the Central powers. But there is another significance which should be no less apparent. This Commencement celebrates the remarkable success of the college authorities and students in their determined effort to keep up the standards and ideals of the college in the face of discouraging war conditions. It celebrates the return of Bowdoin's brave sons from the strenuous labors of war to the less sensational but no less important pursuits of peace. Many of them are still in the service and many have not yet returned from overseas. Some will never return, having given their lives in devoted service. We mourn their loss, yet feel a sense of pride in them and will ever honor their names in memory.

All, alumni and students, have done their part well. Those in active service have left enviable records behind them; they have performed their exacting duties in war ungrudgingly and faithfully, and now have returned to meet their old class-mates and renew the pleasant associations of college days. Praise is also due to those whose lot it was to remain in college. They did a great service in upholding the college ideals and in carrying on to the best of their ability the student activities of the college in the absence of those men who would ordinarily have been most prominent.

There is no need of rehearsing the events of the past few years for they have been sufficiently emphasized in these columns in the past. Those times of doubt and anxiety are past and as such may be assigned to some future historian. All vestiges of the war period are quickly disappearing and most of the old students who left college to enter the service will be back next year.

This is a remarkable Commencement in many respects. It is the first complete Commencement since 1916, complete in the sense that all the Seniors are present to graduate. It introduces a new feature in respect to time. Past Commencements have always come in the middle of the week, but this year's comes on a week-end. The idea of having a week-end Commencement is to be upheld on several grounds. First and foremost, it permits many alumni to be here who would otherwise be absent due to business exigencies. The arrangement would be especially favorable to class and fraternity reunions. In addition, a week-end Commencement makes it possible for a great many more graduates to stay over, a condition which should certainly be encouraged. Some features of the Victory Commencement may of necessity be omitted in the future, but it is hoped that the week-end feature will be retained.
The success of this Commencement presages a rejuvenated college spirit among the students and alumni. The war having been won, every undergraduate should return next fall with a quickened spirit to uphold Bowdoin's traditions in all fields of activity.

With the Faculty

Professor Herbert C. Bell of Bowdoin College, sailed for England Tuesday, and will be engaged this summer in the Public Record Office of London under the auspices of the Bureau of Historical Research for the Carnegie Institution at Washington, collecting materials relating to early American history, particularly from the archives of the West Indian colonies. Mr. Bell will return in order to resume his college duties at the opening of the fall term.

At the Commencement at Bowdoin College, President Sills will announce among other donations made during the past academic year the gift of $1,500 from the Class of 1875 to establish a fund for the College Library to be called the Class of 1875 Book Fund. By the terms of the gift the income of this fund is to be used for the purchase of books on American history, the words American history to be interpreted in their broadest sense. The books so purchased are to have the Class of 1875 book-plate placed inside the front covers.

The Story of Your Study Lamp

If you were studying by an old smoky oil lamp and suddenly a modern, sun-like MAZDA lamp were thrust into the room, the contrast would be dazzling. That instant would unfold the result of thirty years' development, research and manufacturing in electric lighting.

And this development commenced with Edison's first lamp—hand-made, when electricity was rare.

The General Electric Company was a pioneer in foreseeing the possibilities of Edison's invention. Electric generators were developed. Extensive experiments led to the design and construction of apparatus which would obtain electric current from far-away waterfalls and deliver it to every city home.

With power lines well distributed over the country, the use of electric lighting extended. Street lighting developed from the flickering arc to the great white way. Electric signs and floodlights made our cities brilliant at night, searchlights turned night into day at sea, and miniature lamps were produced for the miner's headlight and automobile.

While the making of the electrical industry, with its many, many interests, was developing, the General Electric Company's laboratories continued to improve the incandescent lamp, and manufacturing and distributing facilities were provided, so that anyone today can buy a lamp which is three times as efficient as the lamp of a few years ago.

FIRST CHAPEL.

On Thursday, September 25, 1919, Bowdoin College began its one hundred and eighteenth year. President Sills addressed the student body at the first chapel. He spoke in part as follows:

"The college opens this morning for the one hundred and eighteenth year and there is every indication that we are entering on an unusually happy term. The college, like the country, has emerged from the last two years of strife and chaos stronger and more desirious than ever to render service. We are back on the civilian basis with the energies and the facilities of the college unimpaired, but we are all aware that it is a new era on which we are entering, that we must constantly look ahead and never refer to going back to the old normal condition. During the past year the Faculty has made several important provisions to render more effective the kind of training that is given here. Chief among them are the compulsory athletics for all Freshmen during the fall term, and general examinations in major subjects, which will go into effect with the present junior class.

"On the Faculty there are a few changes to announce. It is with great pleasure that we welcome back the men who have been in the service. We ought not to forget that, while the war was on, eleven members from the Faculty of thirty were in the service.

"Whenever we return for the fall term and find that things are in such good order, we are aware that we are indebted to many people who labored on during the summer. While the Dean and I were on our vacations the college office was most efficiently managed, and particular thanks are due to Professors Ham and Mitchell.

"The committee on buildings and grounds has spent a great deal of time and effort in having the physical side of the college cared for. I have never seen the college buildings in such good shape. This leads me to ask your co-operation in one very important matter. Today when the college spends so very much of the income of its endowment on keeping the buildings and grounds in good condition, failure to observe the rules that would be enforced, say in hotels and apartment houses, would bring a great deal of financial obligation on the college which it is not right to assume. I am therefore asking you all to be very careful in the way you treat the college property, particularly the dormitories.

"It is a fine thing to welcome back so many of the former members of the classes of 1918 and 1919 who are returning to complete the work for their degree. Some of these men are returning at no small sacrifice; but are confident that it is well worth their time to complete their college course and write Bowdoin A.B. after their names. In the senior class we all greatly miss the presence of one of the best men in the class, and one of the leaders of college life, Tracy S. Wood, whose tragic death in the summer we all mourn.

"The college is of necessity so closely in touch with all the movements of society and of the state that each year it must emphasize a different phase of living. The situation in which we find ourselves today calls emphatically for a return to the old-time virtues of thrift and industry and frugality combined with the new virtue of co-operation. We cannot expect as a nation to make good all the ravages of war unless we are willing to bend to the task and work hard. There can be, of course, no cure for all our industrial restlessness in hard work alone. We must put into effect the principles of co-operation between capital and labor. Now the college can perhaps teach better than can elsewhere be taught these two lessons of hard work and co-operation. You get the first in your studies and in the high standards which this college has always stood for and always will stand for. You get the cooperation in all the social and athletic activities of college life.

"And the college also effectively presents the principles of democracy. The strike of the police in Boston is in reality a blow at the fundamental principles of the American government, and it is a fine thing to remember that two of the men who have stood most firmly for those principles have been graduates of the small college. Governor Coolidge of Massachusetts is an Amherst man, and Police Commissioner E. U. Curtis is one of our graduates and at present a trustee of the college. If you can be trained here in the fundamentals of American citizenship so well that if you are put to the test you can meet the issue with the same firmness and moderation with which those two men have met their test, the college will be proud of you.”

THE FRESHMAN RECEPTION.

On Friday evening, September twenty-fifth, a reception was given the Class of 1923 in the Union under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. Attractive programs on which it was intended that each one should write his name for identification were given out. The first speaker was Professor Mitchell who represented the faculty. He spoke briefly in welcome, and was followed by Emerson W. Zeitler '20. Mr. Zeitler gave a little advice to the Freshman and wished them success individually and as a class. He regretted the fact that on account of printer's strikes the customary Freshman Bibles had not been procured in time for the reception. Next President Stills in behalf of the college as a whole addressed the Freshmen. His remarks were much appreciated. Russell M. McGown '21, general secretary of the Y. M. C. A., told a few of the aims of the "Y." He urged the Freshmen to co-operate with him and the leaders of other branches of college life. The last speaker was Rev. T. E. Ashby who extended a welcome from all the churches of Brunswick. The program furnished with the singing of BOWDOIN Beata.

After the exercises were completed an informal reception was enjoyed. Ice cream and fancy crackers were served. The whole affair was a success in every way, not only because it helped the Freshmen to become better acquainted with each other and with the spirit of Old Bowdoin, but also because it brought together again so many undergraduates who have returned to Bowdoin after one or more years in the service.

BOWDOIN LOSES TO AMHERST BY SMALL SCORE.

In a close game, which was not decided until the last quarter, Amherst won from Bowdoin by the margin of a single field goal. The Bowdoin team tackled well, making the Amherst backs fumble the ball several times, but the eleven seemed to lack the punch and fight to put over a score. Twice Amherst pushed the ball down to Bowdoin's 5-yard line, only to lose it both times on downs. Sprague and Rhoads both put up a fine game for Bowdoin. Dostie, who was not sent into the contest until the last few minutes of play, did some fine work. After Zink, the Amherst quarterback, had kicked the winning goal, Dostie received the kick-off and ran it back to midfield. Immediately after that a forward pass, Dostie to Dahlgren, advanced the ball to Amherst's 18-yard line. This was Bowdoin's best chance to score, but the ball was lost on downs when four forward passes were broken up. Amherst started back down the field again, but was stopped when J. Smith intercepted a forward pass.

BOWDOIN SECOND 14.

WESTBROOK SEMINARY 0

A week ago Saturday, the Bowdoin Second team defeated Westbrook Seminary in a very interesting game of football on Whittier Field. The playing of no particular individual seemed to stand out very prominently at any part of the contest. Both lines were very weak, and the backfields were nothing extraordinary. All the scoring was done on straight old-fashioned football. Doherty and Richan each crossed the line for a touchdown, and Mason kicked both goals. Following is the summary:

BOWDOIN GIVES BROWN A GOOD FIGHT.

Bowdoin's eleven gave Brown the surprise of the season Saturday, when the Brunonians, confident of an overwhelming victory came through with but a 7-0 win. The power of the White line was thrice demonstrated in the first half, when the Rhode Island college pushed the pigskin to the 10-yard line, there to lose it on downs. Several times Bowdoin gained the ball on downs.

Although not so strong out of the danger zone, the Bowdoin line never failed when play neared its goal line. Even as the home team's line was strong, so did the Bruins offer a stonewall defense.

In the third quarter after several punts had been exchanged, Brown had the ball on Bowdoin's 30-yard line. From there it was rushed over the line by Jemail, after he and Armstrong had worked it to the three-yard line. Armstrong kicked the goal. In the last period, the Bear threatened another score as she worked the spheroid to the 12-yard line. The summary:

SECOND TEAM LOSES TO THORNTON.

Meeting with a reverse, the Bowdoin second team was defeated 12-0 by the Thornton Academy eleven Saturday afternoon at Saco. Mahaney, a veteran of the A. F. D., did the scoring for the prep school boys. Both teams were shaky in the first half but in the closing periods the Academy team found itself and tallied twice. A muddy field made fumbles frequent and foot slipping slippery. The summary:

FACULTY BEHIND THE LEAGUE.

The members of the Faculty of Bowdoin College sent telegrams on October 2, 1919, to Senators Bert N. Fernald and Frederick Hale urging immediate ratification of the treaty of peace.

The telegrams were worded as follows: "The undersigned members of the Faculty of Bowdoin College respectfully urge the immediate ratification of the Treaty of Peace without amendments and with only such necessary interpretive reservations as will clearly not require recommitting the Treaty to the Peace Conference.

STUDENT COUNCIL MEETINGS.

The Student Council has met three times in the past two weeks. Matters of minor and major importance were discussed at these meetings. "Proc" night was a subject which involved quite a bit of discussion.

Fraternity initiations will be held the night of October 15. The following day, October 16, will be a half holiday.

FRESHMEN ELECT OFFICERS.

On Saturday, September 27, 1919, the Class of 1923 held its first meeting in Memorial Hall at one o'clock. Zeittler '20, president of the Student Council called the meeting to order and served as chairman until the president was elected. The following men were chosen: President, M. P. Chandler; vice-president, Harry Keanie; secretary, Clifford Small; treasurer, W. H. Chandler. Eames was elected baseball manager, and Orcutt football manager.

Welcome!

It is indeed a great pleasure to welcome back to college so many former members of the Classes of 1918, 1919 and 1920 who left in the spring of 1917 or shortly thereafter to enter the service of our country. We hope that they find college life in the same healthy condition which characterized it back in those days. There have been changes, to be sure, but we hope that they have been for the better. We heartily welcome those men who are new to Bowdoin this year. They have honored Bowdoin by choosing her from all other colleges as their home for four years. They expect much of her but the college, in turn, expects much of them. They expect the best kind of intellectual training, but to secure that they must give their best. The order of the year for all of us is hard work.

Bowdoin has many traditions, some of which have suffered during the war, but now should be revived. These traditions have been carefully listed in the 1919 Bugle and it will pay every new man to read them if he can get the opportunity. Progressiveness may demand that certain of these customs be modified or discontinued or that new customs be introduced. In either case, we must proceed with the fixed idea of making student life more beneficial to the individual student and to the college. In connection with this we are led again to state the mission of the Orient. The Orient purposes to be the mouth-piece of the student body; it welcomes all signed communications with the object of formulating student opinion on questions affecting life. A vigorous student life demands that every student enter energetically into it and assume an active interest in questions affecting it.

Student Activities.

To the man who enters college for his first year the question is bound to present itself:—
"What part shall I take in student-activities?"
The right solution of this question is of the most vital importance to every Freshman. Undoubtedly, the greatest importance is scholarship for the continued presence of a man in college is dependent on it as well as his ability to represent the college in any line of activity. Important as scholarship may be, few students can afford to devote their energies to it alone. There is a training outside of book learning which is of the most vital importance to the college man,—the training secured on the athletic field, in the managerial positions, on the Orient and Quill Boards, and the many other student organizations.

The average Freshman will highly benefit himself if he enters at once into one or more forms of student activity. The system of compulsory athletics for Freshmen makes it unnecessary to urge the importance of entering this field. There remains the competition for assistant managers, Freshmen members of the Orient Board, debating teams, musical clubs, Masque and Gown, and college band, to mention some of the most important activities. Every Freshman should get into the field at once with the idea of getting his share of the college honors during his four years, not for the sake of the honor alone, but for the training which is invaluable to every college man.

AN IMPORTANT ADDITION TO THE COLLECTIONS OF THE WALKER ART BUILDING.

The Bowdoin Museum of Fine Arts has recently been enriched by seven excellent water colors by Winslow Homer, lent by Mrs. Charles Homer, widow of the artist's brother. The paintings were carefully brought from the artist's studio and from the home of Mrs. Charles Homer at Prout's Neck, by President Sills, Professor W. W. Lawrence '98 of Columbia University, and Professor Cram, who motored to Prout's Neck for them on Saturday, September 13th. The pictures are at present exhibited in the east end of the Bowdoin Gallery—the two large ones, a scene at Prout's Neck and "Tyne-mouth," on easels, and two small Gloucester scenes, a rare wood scene, "Jamaica Palms," and "An Adirondack Guide," on the railing against the wall.

The museum is indebted to distinguished graduates of the college, friends of Mrs. Homer, for this very valuable loan. Through them, Mrs. Homer visited the museum during the summer and expressed her pleasure in placing the pictures in the Walker Art Building.

Winslow Homer was pre-eminently an American painter—perhaps the most individual of all American painters. Foreign critics have been conscious of a fresh note in his pictures, not traceable to European influence. They have recognized the independent vision, the straightforward treatment so characteristic of Homer's pictures.

Mr. Homer was prolific in oil, in water color, and in black-and-white, but he often said that if he had posthumous fame it would be for his water colors. The recent sale of his "Coast in Winter" for $33,000, one of the highest prices ever paid for a modern American painting, speaks for his fame today. His greatest inspiration was the sea and the rugged New England coast. In his scenes we find Gloucester, English fisher girls set in important landscape surroundings, Florida, the West Indies, Canada, and the Maine coast. From the last he has given us the best work of his life.

For this opportunity to study in a variety of scenes, the great American artist, Winslow Homer, the college, the people of Brunswick, and thousands of annual visitors to the Bowdoin Museum have reason to be profoundly grateful to Mrs. Charles Homer whose largeness of vision and generosity of spirit are giving this direct aid to our college museum in its influence upon art in this section of the country.

PROCLAMATION NIGHT.

Friday, October 3, was the traditional Proclamation Night. Although Warning Night was cancelled at the last minute the Sophomores saw to it that the Class of 1923 did not enter Bowdoin uninitiated. The Freshmen were on hand at the Gym at seven o'clock, clad, as they had been commanded, in pajamas. A line was formed and under the guard of 1922 the Freshmen marched to town. An impromptu brass band led the parade under the able direction of President Chandler of the Freshman class. In the middle of Maine street the Freshmen were commanded to kneel and pray while the band played "Nearer My God to Thee." Here there was some attempt on the part of upper classmen to break up the parade and to incite the Freshmen to revolt, but the Class of 1923 wisely remained submissive.

When at last the parade had again reached the Gym the Freshies were all stripped and painted with flaring mammoth red proclamations. These posters bore the usual advice and orders for the Freshman expressed in unintelligent words and phrases. Next the class, again clothed, were conducted to the Athletic Building where the proclamation was read by two enterprising Freshies. A pie-throwing contest was staged with Merrill '22 as hawker and auctioneer. Some of the Freshies resembled comedians in the movies as they dug the gooey custard from their eyes and hair.

Then as a final touch the gauntlet was formed and the paddles were busy for some time. For several hours after the proceedings in the Gym the air was filled with excitement and rumors of abductions. Several of the Freshman and Sophomore baseball players were missing for a time, but the kidnapping accomplished little. Much to the chagrin of the Sophomores an immense "1923" blazoned forth the glory of its class from the top of the observatory the next morning.
NOMINATIONS FOR MANAGERS.

At a meeting of the Athletic Council held on Wednesday, October 1, the following men were nominated for the elections which take place on Tuesday afternoon, October 7:

Candidates for football manager, Whitney '20, McPartland '20.
Candidates for assistant track manager, McRorill '22, Alexander '22.
Candidates for assistant baseball manager, Ridley '22, Vose '22.

It is necessary to elect a football manager because of the vacancy created by the death of Tracy S. Wood '20.

TAFT AND WALPOLE COMING.

It is understood that Hugh Walpole, the English novelist, and ex-President William H. Taft are to lecture at Bowdoin during the coming winter under the Annie Talbot Cole Lectureship. Hugh Walpole will be here November 22; the date of Taft's lecture has not been set as yet. The Bowdoin men are certainly fortunate in having the opportunity of hearing two such remarkable men. They will doubtless both bring valuable messages.

UNION BOARD MEETING.

The Union Board met Monday afternoon, September 29, to discuss business for the coming year.

A large number of applications for positions as union attendants were filed.

The following men were chosen as regular attendants: Simpson '22, Gaffney '21, Congdon '22, Welch '22, and Thayer '22. The alternates are Thompson '22, Putnam '22, and Benton '21.

It was also decided to purchase two new records each month for the Victrola at the Union.

A fairer system of using the pool and billiard tables will also be in effect this year. In the past it was possible for one man to play all afternoon and thus deprive the other fellow of his chance. In the future the time for individual playing will be limited so that all may have an equal opportunity.

For the present at least, the Union will be closed on Sundays, for it has been deemed inadvisable to remain open seven days a week.

FRESHMAN CONFERENCES.

This year President Sills has inaugurated a series of conferences for the Freshman class. In these he plans to arrange brief talks which will be helpful for the men just entering Bowdoin.

President Sills himself addressed the class in the first conference. He explained some of the college rules and gave some very helpful advice. Rev. T. E. Ashby was the speaker at the second. He took for his topic "Reasons for a College Course." His talk was much appreciated.

These conferences are held in Memorial Hall at one o'clock several times a week.

On the Campus

Adjourns were given all day Saturday last following "Proc" Night Friday evening.

Up to last Saturday 451 men were enrolled in the college for this year. This breaks the record for total enrolment in a normal year. Several men, however, from the 1917-18 classes are in college for one semester to complete their academic work which they missed while in the service.

The Bowdoin second team will play Hebron football eleven at Hebron next Saturday. It is expected that Hebron will play a fast game with such excellent material as in the Big Green school this year.

Brown '20, manager of the Bowdoin track team last year and secretary of the Maine Intercollegiate track association, attended a meeting of the association last Saturday at the Elmwood Hotel, Waterville, to lay plans for the cross country meet this fall.

Eighteen football men beside Coach Greene, Trainer Magee and Assistant Manager Willson '20 made the trip to Providence, R. I., last Friday to play Brown Saturday afternoon. Following are the men: Captain Rhoades '20, Peacock '20, Brewster (M), McCurdy '22, Dudgeon '21, Smith '23, Thomson '21, Crockett '20, Sprague '20, Dahlgren '22, Drummond '20, Curtis '20, Dostie '20, James '22, Woodbury '22, Haines '21, Gupital '21, Clifford '21.

It is reported that the annual Maine Cross Country race will take place at Waterville November 1 in connection with the Maine-Colby football game on that date.

The Bowdoin football team plays Holy Cross this coming Saturday at Worcester. The team will leave Friday. Coach Greene will probably take 18 men.

The date for the annual initiation of new men into the fraternities has been set by the Student Council as Wednesday evening, October 15. Adjourns will be given the following morning.
The cross country squad went on a hare and hound chase Monday afternoon as part of the training for the coming fall meet.

Rev. T. E. Ashby conducted Chapel September 30th.

The Class of 1923 held a meeting October 3 in Memorial Hall to discuss matters pertaining to the flag rush.

Donald McDonald '19 was on the Campus for a day or two the first of last week.

The Y. M. C. A. Employment Bureau is ready to find outside work for students. Applicants should give their names to McGown '21, 15 South Maine Hall.

With the Faculty

In the Nation of August 23rd, there appeared an article by Dr. Whittier in appreciation of Dudley Allen Sargent '75, who resigned his position as director of the Hemenway Gymnasium at Harvard last spring. In the following week's issue of the same periodical, Professor Elliott contributed a critical review of John Livingston Lowes's "Convention and Revolt in Poetry."

President Sills published an important essay on "The Future of the Small Endowed College of Liberal Arts" to the New York Sun for August 31st.

With the Other Colleges

Oberlin Review: Glee club has organized with a membership of twenty-six. Dupont fellowship in chemistry, awarded to a member of the 1919 class wins high honor for Oberlin.

Brown Daily Herald: Many Brown men in line to welcome Cardinal Mercier. Musical clubs make extensive plans for the coming season, expecting to take in New York City, New Jersey, Maryland and the Southern states on their last trip.

The Amherst Student: Professor Loomis returns from Nebraska with many specimens, including that of the Niocene horse, found while doing geological research work.

New Hampshire College: A week ago Thursday the annual "Minstrel Show" took place. This event corresponds to the Bowdoin Proclamation Night. One marked difference between these two ceremonies is the fact that the freshmen are obliged to walk instead of run through the line of sophomores. A week ago Saturday, the football team defeated the Connecticut Aggies 13 to 0. Last week New Hampshire's team was greatly strengthened by the return to college of Con- nors, one of the best backfield men the team ever had.

It is a comparatively large school, having about four hundred pupils and fourteen assistant teachers. Mr. Haley was principal of the Collinsville school from 1908 to 1915. During the next two years he taught in East Hartford, Conn., and in Munson, Mass. After the United States entered the war, Mr. Haley was one of the first Y. M. C. A. secretaries to go overseas. He was in France about a year, and at one time was under heavy shell fire. He returned to this country shortly before the armistice.

RESOLUTIONS.

Bowdoin Chapter of Delta Upsilon.

Shock and deep sorrow were occasioned the Bowdoin Chapter of Delta Upsilon in learning of the sudden death this summer of Brother Tracy Wood, of the Class of 1920. Brother Wood was president of his class, manager of football, leader of the college band, late lieutenant in the Army, and one of the most popular men in his fraternity and the college.

With very real feeling, Delta Upsilon extends to the family and friends of Brother Wood this assurance of sympathy in their loss.

The "Constitution" of To-day—Electrically Propelled

The U. S. S. "New Mexico," the first battleship of any nation to be electrically propelled, is one of the most important achievements of the scientific age. She not only develops the maximum power and, with electrical control, has greater flexibility of maneuver, which is a distinct naval advantage, but also gives greater economy. At 10 knots, her normal cruising speed, she will steam on less fuel than the best turbine-driven ship that preceded her.

The electric generating plant, totaling 28,000 horsepower, and the propulsion equipment of the great super-dreadnaught were built by the General Electric Company. Their operation has demonstrated the superiority of electric propulsion over old-time methods and a wider application of this principle in the merchant marine is fast making progress.

Six auxiliary General Electric Turbine-Generators of 400 horsepower each, supply power for nearly 500 motors, driving pumps, fans, shop machinery, and kitchen and laundry appliances, etc.

Utilizing electricity to propel ships at sea marks the advancement of another phase of the electrical industry in which the General Electric Company is the pioneer. Of equal importance has been its part in perfecting electric transportation on land, transforming the potential energy of waterfalls for use in electric motors, developing the possibilities of electric lighting and many other similar achievements.

As a result, so general are the applications of electricity to the needs of mankind that scarcely a home or individual today need be without the benefits of General Electric products and service.

HOLY CROSS TWICE CROSSES BOWDOIN'S GOAL LINE.

Bowdoin lost a hard fought game Saturday to Holy Cross when the Purple backs scored two touchdowns in the first quarter for a 14-0 victory. Gagnon featured for Holy Cross in both goals.

A kicking duel followed the first period in which neither side was able to score. McCurdy made a spectacular block of a punt and carried the ball 50 yards only to be downed without scoring, Dahlgren's long run for a tackle on the six-yard line was one of the features. The work of Dostie and James is also worthy of note. Toward the last of the game the line of the Black and White strengthened and became impregnable to Holy Cross. Bowdoin however could not pierce its opponent's line to any more advantage and the whistle blew with the score unchanged.

HOLY CROSS—

BOWDOIN SECOND LOSES TO HEBRON 20-7.

Hebron's snappy and machine-like attack was too much for the second team last Saturday on the Academy's field. The prep school team scored twice in the first period and once in the second, but could not get within scoring distance of Bowdoin's goal during the last half. The second team scored in the third period when Doherty, having received a forward pass from Keeney, ran 60 yards to a touchdown. Keeney kicked the goal from a difficult angle. Dewhirst and Sawyer featured for Hebron. The summary:

FACULTY RESOLUTIONS TO CURTIS.

At a recent meeting of the Faculty the following telegram was sent to Hon. Edwin U. Curtis '82, Police Commissioner of the City of Boston:

"We, the Faculty of Bowdoin College, most heartily commend the brave and wise stand which you have unalteringly maintained when the chosen and sworn guardians of property and life deserted their posts of duty and gave over the city of Boston to lawlessness and crime. We believe your decisive action in these days when representative government is at stake will be far reaching in its salutary effect. It is, we believe, in accordance with the best tradition of your college—the kind of courageous citizenship which Bowdoin has endeavored to teach her sons."

(Signed)
By twenty-three members of the Faculty.

To this telegram Mr. Curtis replied in the following letter:

President of Bowdoin College,

Brunswick, Maine.

Dear Dr. Sills:

Thank you for the encouraging telegram from the Faculty of Bowdoin. I have simply tried to do what I considered my oath of office and my duty to the Commonwealth required of me. Bowdoin would also require this, and I could do no less, nor consistently with her traditions and teachings, take any other attitude than the one you have seen fit to commend.

Many letters and telegrams of congratulation have come to me, but this one comes from my own home circle and to find commendation and support there is the best encouragement I could receive.

Kindly extend to me each of the faculty who has united with you in the message, my warmest and most grateful thanks.

Sincerely yours,

(Signed) E. U. CURTIS,
Police Commissioner for the City of Boston.

SOPHOMORES WIN SECOND GAME.

On Whittier Field, Saturday, the Sophomores won the second game of a three game series with the Freshmen 2-0.

The game was a pitching duel between Flinn for the Sophomores and Walker for the Freshmen, although both were hit during the two final innings. The Sophomores scored their first run when Smith's drive to right field brought in a runner in the fifth inning. The following inning the Sophomores added another score to their credit and the Freshmen failed to score during the game.

NEW COURSES.

Although several of the courses at Bowdoin have been cut down, others have been extended over last year's schedule.

There will be a course in Practical Astronomy the second semester. Quantitative Analysis, Geology, and Surveying are now full year courses instead of two, as formerly.
FRESHMAN CONFERENCES.

During the last week three more of the talks to Freshmen have been arranged. On Monday Professor Elliott addressed the Class of '23 on the religious questions that confront many men as they enter college. Wednesday noon, Professor Burnett spoke briefly on the Art Building and opportunities given the Bowdoin men by it. Mr. Wilder was the speaker Friday noon and had for his subject the Library. Each of these lectures has been of great interest to the Freshmen and many troublesome points have been solved by them. It is to be hoped that this will become an annual custom at Bowdoin in years to come.

MEMORIAL GATEWAY.

The latest addition to war memorials of Bowdoin is the gateway back of the library, sacred to the memory of Lieut. Warren Robinson. The memorial is now in process of construction and will be a great addition to the Campus as well as a beautiful reminder of the grim days of the past.

Lieut. Robinson graduated from Bowdoin in 1910 and belonged to Alpha Delta Phi fraternity. At the time of hostilities with Mexico in 1914 he gave his services to his country. For two years he saw service on the Border and in June 1917 went overseas with the first 5,000 of the A.E.F.

From that time on, Lieut. Robinson was almost constantly in action, being engaged in the fiercest battles of the whole war.

Shortly before the armistice was signed in November 1918 he was killed in action near Verdun. Lieut. Robinson died as he had fought and lived, in the service of his country.

His widow, daughter of Professor Johnson, is having this memorial erected to dedicate her beloved husband's services to God and humanity. So let every man who passes its shadow give a thought to the memory of the valiant and immortal dead.

MANAGERS ELECTED.

Elections for football manager, assistant track manager, and assistant baseball manager were held in the Gymnasium Tuesday afternoon, October 7. The results were as follows: Football manager, J. S. McPartland '20; assistant track manager, V. S. McGorrill '22; assistant baseball manager, F. R. Ridley '22. About 75 per cent. of the college voted.

Y. M. C. A. CABINET MEETS.

The new Y. M. C. A. Cabinet held its first session of the year in the German room of the library, Tuesday evening, Oct. 7, and considered its program of activities for the year. Prominent among these will be the employment bureau for obtaining outside work for the students. The officers and members of the Cabinet are:

President, Young '21; vice-president, Haines '21; general secretary, McGown '21; treasurer, Averill '22; recording secretary, Towle '22.

Members: Cousins '20, Goodrich '20, Look '20, Noss '20, Zeiter '20, Gibson '21, Congdon '22, and Flinn '22.

A Freshman Cabinet of one man from each house and one non-fraternity man was elected. It is composed of:

L. Bishop, Hanscomb, Jacobs, Latty, Little, Perkins, Philbrick, Putnam, Ridlon, Robinson, and Varney.

CROSS COUNTRY.

With a large field to select from, including several letter men, Bowdoin should be represented by a strong cross country team this year. Compulsory athletics for Freshmen are drawing out men for track who otherwise might not have donned running clothes. Under the tutelage of Jack Magee, who has trained victorious runners for the White, the candidates for the team will have every advantage possible. With Cleaves '20, and Goodwin '21, the letter men out for the quintet, Magee will have a strong nucleus about which to group his team. Hatch and Heeney of '21, and Hunt and Towle of '22, together with Renier and Ryan of '23, have been finishing strong each day and it is likely that from them the quintet will be formed. The first run will be over the Colby course at Waterville, November 7. The hour is at three o'clock and the referee William F. O'Connell. All colleges of the M. I. A. A. will send teams. It is expected that the N. E. I. A. A. run will be November 15.

GLEE CLUB.

Professor Wass has already started to make plans for the work of the Glee Club this year. The call for Freshman aspirants for the Glee Club has been issued. They are to report at the Music Room Tuesday and Thursday between 4.30 and 5.30. The officers of the Musical Clubs this year are: Leader of Glee Club, Richan '20, leader of Mandolin Club, Sprinee, Medie '23; manager of clubs, Berry '20.

Student Support of the Team.

Not in recent years have we been represented by a football team which at this time of the season has shown greater possibilities for the state series. The games played thus far this season, while they have resulted in defeats for us, have been won by such small margins that much encouragement may be derived from them. Our first home game will be played here next Saturday with Fort McKinley. Then will follow the three state series games. All three of the other Maine colleges pride themselves in having exceptional teams this year, so the series will undoubtedly be a hard fought one.

We now come up against that same old question of student support. We should have no doubt as to the ability of the team to come through. We know it will do its best; nothing more can be expected. But from past experience we have no such assurance with regard to the student body. In recent years there has been in evidence a spirit of indifference among certain of the student body. These individuals in question either consider their presence in some neighboring town or city more important than their loyal attendance at the home football game, or else, becoming suddenly studious, consider it a waste of time to go.

Their absence is entirely unexcusable in most cases, and can only be accounted for by this spirit of indifference which should have no place in our college life. It is every student's duty to do what he can for the college. Some are able to represent her on the football team, to take this particular phase of student activity; the least that the rest of us can do is to give them our loyal and undivided support. Beginning with the game next Saturday, let us work for a one hundred per cent. attendance from the student body, accompanied by good cheering and good singing. Incidentally, learn the cheers and learn Bowdoin Beata!

To Fraternity Freshmen.

Wednesday night, October 15, is the date of all fraternity initiations at Bowdoin. Thursday will find approximately one hundred Freshmen wearing the pins of the ten fraternities on the campus. It seems appropriate at this time to give a word of advice which is intended to benefit them. There is a strong inclination on the part of the fraternity man to confine himself too closely to his own fraternity, to associate with his own fraternity brothers, and with them alone. This fact is regrettable as it serves not only to develop a cliqueish atmosphere, but also weakens the class and college spirit in the student. Every Freshman should begin early the habit of mixing with men outside his own fraternity, of forming the widest possible associations and friendships, for primarily he is a Bowdoin man, and incidentally a fraternity man. He should be careful that his interest in his fraternity did not transcend his interest in his college.

BOWDOIN GUIDE BOOK.

The men in English 3, under Professor Davis, contemplate editing a guide book to Bowdoin. Hundreds of visitors come to Brunswick each summer, and the need of a guide of some sort is now felt. The aid of those people who have taken visitors about the campus is being sought so that those points which are of most interest to the majority will be emphasized. Several men are looking up old college records and guide books to other colleges. This guide book will not only serve to help people in finding the most interesting spots of the college but will also give the visitor something to remind him of the traditions and beauties of Old Bowdoin.

FORUM'S FIRST MEETING.

On Sunday evening, October 19, at 8 p.m. the first Forum of the year will be held in the Union. Professor Van Cleve, who was connected with the headquarters of the A.E.F. in France and who, consequently, has a knowledge of the internal workings of that organization has been secured as speaker. Following his talk the meeting will be thrown open for questions and discussion. Every man on the campus should not miss this opportunity to get inside information on the American offensive of 1918.

ONE HUNDREDTH YEAR OF BOWDOIN MEDICAL SCHOOL.

Bowdoin Medical School opened Thursday for its one hundredth year with an enrollment of twenty in the Freshman class. The school has suffered severely during the war as most of its students were of military age and entered the service. As usual, two years of college work are required for admission to the school.

A majority of the seventeen members of the Faculty who were in the service have returned and will take their places in the teaching staff. Among the new members of the Faculty is Dr. E. C. Follett, a graduate of the school who left his hospital service at Waterbury Hospital to assist on the teaching staff last year. Dr. Follett is assistant professor in pathology and bacteriology. A second new instructor is Dr. E. H. Drake of Portland, a recent graduate of the school, who is assistant instructor in medicine.

Following are the names of the men in the entering class, the colleges from which they come, and the home address of each man:

Cincent P. Bell, Caparole, Rome, Italy.
James H. Brewster, Bowdoin, Lisbon Falls.
Walter E. Burke, University of Maine, Portland.
Benjamin F. Carter, Bates, Gardiner.
Rudolph E. Castelli, Colby, Chester, Conn.
Allen L. Davis, Bowdoin, Sanford.
Ainslee H. Drummond, Bowdoin, Portland.
Douglas A. Haddock, Bowdoin, Brunswick.
Edward L. Markhaler, Wesleyan, Elizabeth, N. J.
John F. McGrath, Holy Cross, Waterbury, Conn.
William R. Needleman, Bowdoin, Portland.
Stephen E. Perkins, Bowdoin, Bartlett, N. H.
Forest H. Rogers, Bowdoin, Bath.
Eric M. Simmons, Bowdoin, Union.
Henry Sprince, Bowdoin, Lewiston.
James E. Vance, Bowdoin, Lovell.

Robert J. Wiseman, University of Maine, Lewiston.

PROFESSOR MITCHELL'S TRIP TO BOSTON.

Professor Wilmot B. Mitchell returned late Saturday from a meeting of the Bowdoin Club which was held at the University Club in Boston. The meeting was presided over by Mr. Ripley L. Dana of the Class of 1909, who is the president. Professor Mitchell spoke on the condition of Bowdoin College at the present time. Major Thomas Pierce of the Class of 1898 spoke on his work in the Hospital Corps overseas. Major Pierce had some very thrilling experiences of which he told many. At the meeting a committee was appointed to send resolutions to Police Commissioner Curtis to express their approval of the stand which he has taken. This committee consisted of Mr. White of the Class of 1868, Mr. Lavinger of the Class of 1908, and Mr. Webster of the Class of 1899.

FRESHMAN ATHLETICS STARTED WELL.

The various branches of athletics, one of which every Freshman had to choose for his three hours of physical training each week, are being enthusiastically entered into by the new men. Mr. E. S. Hall is in charge of the 29 football men who work on Whittier Field. Forty-three track candidates have reported to Trainer J. J. Magee, 29 men are working with Mr. E. L. Markthaler at baseball on the Delta, 25 tennis men are under the supervision of Mr. W. E. Hill, and Mr. H. P. Johnson has charge of 7 golfers. The good material in every branch gives promise of strong Bowdoin teams in the future.

FRESHMAN STATISTICS.

Ninety-seven of the entering class registered as having some distinct preference for one church. The Congregational church leads with forty-two adherents, a large percentage of whom are members of the church. There are seventeen Methodists, fifteen Roman Catholics, twelve Baptists, seven Episcopalians, and four Universalists.

NEW REQUIREMENTS FOR B. S. DEGREE.

This week the new requirements for majors for the B.S. degree were announced. Under these new regulations a candidate for a B.S. may either major in biology, chemistry, mathematics, physics, or psychology, and minor in two subjects from any part of the curriculum; or he may have his major in economics, history, government, and, with the consent of the department, in English, French, or German, together with two minors and two one-year courses in astronomy, biology, chemistry, geology, mineralogy, physics, psychology, and elective mathematics.

President Sills gave as the reason for the change the fact that a B.S. degree is in reality a Liberal Arts degree.

FALL TENNIS TOURNAMENT.

It is planned to hold a tennis tournament in the near future. The purpose is two-fold; first, to provide sport and amusement, second, to find out what material there is for the varsity team. Capt. Partridge '22 is very desirous that tennis should be started as soon as possible, so he has adopted this method for swelling the enthusiasm. On a slip of paper posted near the bulletin all the men who desire to take part in the tournament should register. At the present writing the following men have signified their intention of playing: Capt. Partridge '22, Crossman '20, M. H. Smith '20, Ferris '22, P. S. Stetson '21, C. O. Small '23, Means '23.

It is earnestly hoped that a large number of men will turn out in order to make competition more keen.

ADDITIONS TO THE LIBRARY.

Since the end of the fiscal year in March 759 volumes have been added to the Library. Of these, 427 volumes were added during the summer. This is slightly below the average for half a year, but the number will probably be as large as usual by next March.

From this list it is very hard to pick out any one of peculiar interest to Bowdoin men. Perhaps of the most interest to the men in college are ten more volumes of "Chronicles of America" which are edited by Professor Allen Johnson, formerly of the Bowdoin faculty.

At Commencement a thousand dollars was added to the Class of 1875 Book Fund, bringing the total amount of the fund to fifteen hundred dollars. The income from this fund is to be used to purchase books for the Library, preference being given to books on American history.

PRESIDENT SILLS ON WESTERN TRIP.

President Sills left Tuesday on a two weeks' Western trip. He will first attend the general convention of the Episcopal Church, being held at Detroit, as a State deputy from Maine. He will then go to Ann Arbor, Mich., where he will represent New England at the National Educational Council. He will attend Bowdoin Alumni gatherings in both those cities and also in Chicago, Minneapolis, and Buffalo. This will be the first time that the college has been officially represented at the meetings of the Bowdoin College Alumni in those Western cities.

PROFESSOR BELL RETURNS.

Professor Herbert C. Bell returned from England last week and resumed his duties in the college. He has been engaged since the close of college in June in research work in the public record office of London under the auspices of the Bureau of Historical Research for the Carnegie Institute in Washington. He has paid particular attention to those archives containing material relative to early American history and the early history of the West Indies.

LIBERAL RULING ON REINSTATEMENT OF WAR RISK INSURANCE.

Discharged soldiers, sailors, and marines who have dropped or cancelled their insurance may reinstate it within eighteen months after discharge without paying the back premiums. All they will be asked to pay will be the premium of insurance to be reinstated for the month of grace in which they were covered and for the current month.

For example, if a man dropped $10,000 of insurance in January, 1919, and applies for reinstatement the first of October for $5,000, all he will have to pay will be the premium for January (the month of grace) on $5,000 and the premium for October on $5,000. In case he desires to reinstate the entire amount that he formerly carried, $10,000, his premium payments will be the January and October premiums upon $10,000. He will not have to pay premiums in either case for the intervening months.

If application for reinstatement is made promptly, the certificate of the insured concerning his state of health (which must be as good as at the date of discharge or at the expiration of the grace period, which ever is the later date) will be accepted. If the application is not made within the prescribed time limit, however, the formal report of examination made by a reputable physician must accompany the statement of the insured concerning his health.

Conversion of the reinstated term insurance into permanent United States Government Life Insurance is also provided for in the new ruling, under advantageous conditions.

Full particulars, application blanks, etc., may be had by corresponding with the Insurance Officer, Headquarters Northeastern Department, Room 718, 99 Chauncy street, Boston, Mass.

COLLEGE HOLIDAY.

October 12th, Columbus Day, was very quietly observed on the campus. In fact, practically no notice was taken of the fact. The student holiday comes somewhat later this week. On account of the Topsham Fair which every year proves of great interest to the students and a means of distracting their attention from their studies and on account of the annual Initiation Night, the observance of which takes place Wednesday night, the College has granted adjourns from classes on Wednesday afternoon and Thursday morning. This will give everyone a chance to attend the fair and to recover from the effects of Initiation Night.

On the Campus

John C. Minot '96, spent the last week end on the Campus.

The familiar Freshman caps made their appearance on the Campus Friday afternoon.

Jack Magee is already laying plans for an inter class track meet.

The customary smoking out of the dormitories has started with the burning of leaves by the college employees.

DeMott '18 and Paul '19 were seen at chapel, Sunday.

Mr. Ashby of First Parish Church was the Chapel speaker, October 12.

Golf seems to be the popular undergraduate pastime this season. Any afternoon one may see several groups wending their way out to the links.

The painting of the Observatory dome proved an effective way of blotting out the Freshman numerals.

The following Freshmen have signified their intentions of trying out for the Orient Board and are already writing copy: Badger, Gerrard, Heathcote, Little, Mitchell, Perkins, Philbrick, Quinby, Ridlon, Slater, Turgeon, Whitney, and Dyer '21 (transfer from Boston University).

With the Other Colleges

Boston University reports a record enrolment and scores coming every day even now when college has been in session two weeks.

Wesleyan—One hundred and four Freshmen pledged at the end of cultivation week.

Bates—Carl H. Smith, Colgate 1904, is to act as physical director for the coming year.

Alumni Notes

Medic ex-'71—Augustus Bates Clark died August 20th at Bucksport, Maine. After leaving college, he resided at Auburn for a number of years, but later moved to Harmony, where the burial took place. Mr. Clark was eighty-three years of age.

Medic ex-'83—One of the leading physicians of Oldtown, Dr. Gawen Gilmore Weld, died at his home September 28. He was born at Olamon, Maine, November 10, 1855. He took his doctor's degree from Dartmouth College in 1889, after which he became a physician at Oldtown. He was mayor of the city in 1893, 1894, and 1907. From 1907 until 1910, he served in the Maine Legislature; first in the House of Representatives, and later in the Senate. He was one of the most influential men towards advancing highway improvement in the State.

ex-'91—Colonel Edmund Mortimer Leary was killed in an airplane crash near Fort Ring-gold, Texas, September 27th. He was born at Cambridge, Mass., November 28, 1866. He entered Bowdoin in 1877, and the next year transferred to West Point, from which he was commissioned second lieutenant in 1892. In the Spanish War he took part in the battle of El Caney. He also saw service in the Philippines, and later in Japan and China. In 1899 he was promoted to first lieutenant, and in 1901 to captain. He was assigned to the 11th Cavalry, which he helped to organize. During the trouble with Mexico, he served under General Dodd. He was twice recommended for bravery. After this, he was made a lieutenant colonel in the 12th Cavalry. Not long after, he was ordered to the 90th Division as a full colonel. In this division he commanded the 358th Infantry, the regiment selected to parade in Liverpool, July 4, 1918. On December 16, 1918, Colonel Leary was awarded the Distinguished Service Cross, and was cited for bravery. The immediate cause for this honor was the part that Colonel Leary took in the capture of the town of Stenay. He obtained permission to go up to the front lines, and there he pushed a machine gun battalion to one side, and then directed the other parts of his regiment (the 358th) into position. He himself led the men, and they captured the town. Colonel Leary was recommended for promotion to the rank of Brigadier General, but the war ended, and the promotion could not be made.

'07—Charles W. Snow has been appointed assistant professor of English at Indiana University.

'11—Dr. Harold Vincent Bickmore was married to Miss Edith Marion Chadbourne McDonald, at the home of the bride's parents on Congress street, Portland, September 30th. Dr. Bickmore graduated from the Bowdoin Medical School in 1914. He is a member of the Beta Theta Pi and Phi Chi fraternities.

'13—Ensign Theodore Evans Emery of Randolph, Maine, was married to Miss Eleanor Weston Lewis of Gardiner at Christ Church, Portland. The bride was a daughter of the late Weston Lewis '72, who was formerly an overseer, and later a trustee of the college.

'14—Robert D. Leigh, who is doing graduate work at Columbia University this year, contributed an article entitled "A Center for Progress in Higher Education" to School and Society in the issue of September 13, 1919.

'16—Donald S. White has gone to Constantinople on an appointment to work for the American Committee for Relief in the Near East. An air-service sketch written by him has been sold to the Youth's Companion and will shortly appear in that periodical.

'17—Harvey D. Miller is teaching English in the Bangor High School.

'17—Frank E. Noyes, lately discharged from the service, has an important position as American buyer of foodstuffs for the firm of Turner and Company, London.

'17—Hal S. White, who was awarded the Longfellow Scholarship for 1918-19, has gone to Oxford to work in the department of English.

ex-'18—John W. Thomas has recently been made assistant sales manager of the Great Eastern Fisheries, with headquarters at Rockland.

'19—Bateman Edwards has entered the Princeton Graduate School where he was awarded a scholarship for work in the department of romance languages.

LARGEST ENROLMENT EVER.

This year the largest number of students in the history of Bowdoin are enrolled. The present number is 446.

The nearest approach ever made to this number was in 1916, when 434 were enrolled. The increase is due partly to the return of so many men from war service.
FRESHMAN FOOTBALL.
Beginning Monday, the Freshmen football squad started in on a regular course of training under the coaching of Dr. E. S. Hall, who will soon, however, be supplanted by Edward Markthaler, since the doctor returns to Portland next week to resume his studies at the Medical School.
Scrimmages will be in order twice a week, according to Dr. Hall, who also stated that the men would receive plenty of football instruction. Signal work will start before the end of the week.
Mr. Markthaler, who at present is devoting considerable of his time to the second team, is a graduate of the Springfield Y. M. C. A. College, and also of Wesleyan. Accordingly he is well equipped to train the squad. At this time, it may be well to say that Mr. Markthaler is to instruct in gymnasiump work this year. During the war he held a first lieutenant's commission in the Army and has only recently been honorably discharged.

BOWDOIN BAND.
The Bowdoin Band is reorganizing for the new year's work. Manager Allen '20 reports that about 35 men have already tried out for it. There are still many men in college who should be out for this organization.
The band plays at all home football games and will probably make the trip to Maine. Here is your chance to see four good games in a row as well as make a great trip and help the team on the field in a most effective way. All men who can make any kind of a noise on a musical instrument should get in touch with Allen '20 at the Kappa Sigma House at once.

BOWDOIN ROLLS UP 73 POINTS ON FORT MCKINLEY.

In a ragged game on Whittier Field Saturday, Bowdoin swamped Fort McKinley 73 to 4. Bowdoin used thirty men in the game, nearly every man with a uniform being given a chance. The score was the largest that Bowdoin has made for several seasons. Dahlgren, Dostie, and J. Smith did the best work for the White. Dahlgren was the best ground-gainer, while Dostie and J. Smith each made a number of good gains.

Dahlgren made the first touchdown before the ball had been in play four minutes. Three more touchdowns were made before the end of the quarter. In the second quarter Bowdoin secured the ball on a forward pass and Dahlgren ran 25 yards to make his third touchdown. Near the end of the half Thompson made a touchdown on another forward pass. The line-up was changed several times during the half.

In the second half J. Smith drop-kicked a goal from the 30-yard line. Guptill secured the next touchdown and J. Smith and Thomson followed. Keeney kicked the goals. In the fourth quarter the ball was on Bowdoin's territory for the first time and McKinley made it only first downs. Drummond made the only touchdown during this quarter.

Bowdoin was rather weak in getting under the punts but showed a fine offense and a strong line.

FRESHMEN 7, SOPHOMORES 0.

The third and final game of the Freshman-Sophomore series was played last Thursday on the Delta. The Freshmen found no difficulty in hitting Flinn in nearly every inning of the six played. In the first Plummer, Hill, and Wakely crossed the plate putting the game on ice. Another run was scored in the second inning, two in the third, and one in the fifth. The Sophomores had men on second and third bases at different times in the game, but Walker always tightened up and the Sophs failed to make their opportunity good. The game was played in a drizzle which finally turned into a rain making clean handling of the ball difficult.

Thus the results of the series are:
First game, Freshmen 1, Sophomores 0.
Second game, Sophomores 2, Freshmen 0.
Third game, Freshmen 7, Sophomores 0.

ANNUAL INITIATION NIGHT.

On Wednesday, Oct. 15, most of the fraternities held their annual initiations. Following the initiation ceremonies and the banquets the members of each house followed the old Bowdoin custom of marching around to the other fraternities singing their songs and cheering each group. Every party wound up in front of old King Chapel with a long cheer for Bowdoin and "Bowdoin Beata" with bared heads. Many alumni and guests from other chapters were present for the festivities. Following is a list of the guests from each house:

Members of Delta Kappa Epsilon from other chapters were: J. Gleason Perry '20, of Xi Chapter, Colby; Warren T. Mayers of Sigma Chapter, Amherst; Lucien D. Fuller of Upsilon Chapter, Brown.

Delegates from other chapters: Henry W. Turgeon, U. of M.; Yardley Chittick, M. I. T.

Kappa Sigma—Reuel W. Smith '99, Ralph H. Files '09, Vyndel A. Hewes '11, Henry A. Briggs '12, Bryant E. Moulton '13, Leon E. Jones '13, Manning C. Multon '15, Herbert H. Foster '16, James C. Oliver '17, Harold L. Doten '17, and Reuel W. Whitcomb, delegate from Psi Chapter, University of Maine.

Sigma Nu—Hendrie Grant Medik '20, Henry Howard Medik '21, Langdon White '16, Stuart DeMott '18, Clyde Stevens '19, Ralph Peabody ex-'22.

Chi Psi’s Seventy-Fifth Anniversary.

On Saturday, October 18, Alpha Eta of Chi Psi celebrated the seventy-fifth anniversary of its foundation at Bowdoin. After a general gathering in the afternoon, the annual initiation was held which was followed by a banquet at Hotel Eagle. Many alumni of Alpha Eta and of other Alphas were in Brunswick on this occasion, prominent among this number being Hon. Harold Smith of Portland, a graduate of Amherst in the Class of '75.

LIST OF CHI PSI ALUMNI AT ANNUAL INITIATION.

Class of 1916—Francis H. Bate, James H. Brewster, Carroll W. Hodgkins.
Class of 1917—Lafayette F. Dow, Frank E. Noyes, Arthur B. Scott, I. Mervyn Webber.

Class of 1919—Orson L. Berry, Allan W. Sylvester.

YEMPRAYURA, ’23.

South Appleton has a very interesting tenant in Waht Yemprayura of Bangkok, Siam. He is a worker and his perseverance should be an example to every American young man.

The story of his life in his native country is a long narrative but the substance of it all centers about his school life. In scholastic work he was an outstanding figure. He was finally chosen by his government for further study here in the United States.

Looking back nearly a year we would have found him en route for America from Bangkok, via Singapore, Manila, Hongkong, Nagasaki, Yokahama, and Hawaii to San Francisco. From the Golden Gate he crossed the continent to Cambridge, Mass. Here he was under the supervision of an older Siamese who sent him last year to Wilbraham Academy in Massachusetts.

After completing his course at Wilbraham he was ready to enter college. It was originally planned to send him to college in the West but kind fate decreed otherwise. At Wilbraham he had been in close connection with one of the instructors there. This man was a Bowdoin graduate in the Class of 1913 and he pursued his Oriental prodigy to look over his alma mater.

So Bowdoin was finally decided upon and the name of Waht Yemprayura is on the roster of the Freshman Class. He intends to study medicine and then return and aid his people in far off Siam.

When asked how he liked Bowdoin he answered simply—“Fine.” There is a world of meaning in that one word which expresses every Bowdoin man’s opinion of his parent school.

RIFLE CLUB MEETS.

The Rifle Club held its first meeting last Thursday evening in the Union. Plans were discussed for putting the club on its pre-war basis and a campaign for new members was inaugurated. Schlosberg ’20, who led the original club, gave a short talk on the advantageous offers of the club and its previous work.

The yearly dues are one dollar, in consideration of which, under National Rifle Association ruling, each member has the privilege of drawing one hundred and twenty rounds of thirty calibre ammunition. Rifles are furnished by the club.

Indoor work at the Armory will start soon and it is quite probable that the government will furnish Springfield rifles for outdoor work in place of the Krags which are used at the present time.

Before the war, the club had a membership of one hundred and it is desired to equal that number now. Forty men have already indicated their intentions of becoming members and all others who desire to join are requested to hand their names to a fraternity delegate or to attend the next meeting.

The club will meet within a few days and all interested are requested to attend. Officers for the coming year will be elected and other business matters will be discussed.

The Use of Library Books.

It seems opportune at this time to mention the Library rules with regard to the use of books for the benefit of those who are new to Bowdoin this year. There has been in the past considerable abuse of these rules, abuse which has resulted in injustice to many and needless inconvenience to many others.

It is a standing rule of the Library that no book shall be taken out without being signed for at the charging desk, and that every book so signed for must be returned within four weeks. There has been a tendency in past years for many students to keep books out for indefinite periods with the result that the Librarian has been forced to send for the missing books at considerable inconvenience and cost.

Another general rule of the Library, and the importance of which cannot be emphasized too strongly, is that books reserved by departments for outside reading can only be taken out at the close of Library hours, and must be returned as soon as the Library opens. It is most important that this be observed, as a violation often results in loss and inconvenience to many. There is a strong temptation in many instances for a student to take a reserved book out in the midst of Library hours, without taking it to the charging desk, or having taken it out, to return it several hours or a day late. Needless to say, such an act deprives some of opportunities which should be open to all. Why not follow the Library rules and give everyone an equal chance?

Improving Our College Singing.

It is at present, and has been for many years past, noticeably characteristic of Bowdoin students that they cannot sing their college songs well; and the obvious reason for this is that they do not know them. You cannot but notice this at any student gathering or mass meeting where Bowdoin Beata is sung. At first, there is an inarticulate humming until the chorus is reached when nearly everyone joins in a little real singing, then another period of humming followed by the chorus, and so on.

It is a piteous situation but one which can easily be remedied if every student will make it a point to learn for himself some of the more important college songs such as Bowdoin Beata, Forward the White and Phi Chi. Fraternities should co-operate in the future by requiring their Freshmen to learn these college songs along with the fraternity songs. For the present, every man must assume personal responsibility. Fraternities offer very convenient units for group singing of college songs. The need of greater fraternity co-operation along this line cannot be too highly emphasized, for if every fraternity man knew the college songs, we would be well on our way toward removing this weak spot in our college activity.

"THE OFFENSIVE OF JULY 18th."

The Bowdoin Forum opened the season in the Union, Sunday evening, October 19, with Professor T. C. Van Cleve's lecture, "The Offensive of July 18," before a large and appreciative audience. Professor Van Cleve was a captain of the American General Headquarters in France and is well informed concerning his subject.

He told most interestingly of the greatest battles in which the Americans took active part, Chateau-Thierry, Belleau Wood, and several others. He explained in considerable detail the plans of General Ludendorff and Marshal Foch, revealing the means through which the Allies received warnings of the intended German attack. With the aid of several maps, he pointed out the different stages of the great battle and mentioned the movements of several of the divisions to which some of the college men were attached.

The Forum is managed by the Debating Council of which Taylor '20 is president and Buker '21 is manager. This organization hopes to present several such interesting sessions during the year with speakers from among the specialists in such interesting fields as Labor, Politics, Athletics, Boston Police Strike, and questions of national and international importance.

MEDICAL SCHOOL RECEPTION.

With a cordial word of welcome and words of sound advice to Medics and Pre-Medics, Dean Addison S. Thayer, head of the school of Medicine, opened the reception given in honor of Medical Students of Bowdoin, through the assistance of the Y. M. C. A., in the Union on Friday evening, October 17th. Dean Thayer stated that those students entering the school at present were doing so at the end of a critical period. The fight for individual work has been won and the present and future students have much for which to be thankful. "I am honored," said Dean Thayer, "to welcome all of you to our school with its bright future before us."

A welcome from the College and from the Town of Brunswick was tendered by Professor Wilmot B. Mitchell. He spoke of the Bowdoin atmosphere as a stepping stone for students of medicine; how hospitality and brotherhood were learned in her halls. Speaking highly of the medical profession, he remarked, "I congratulate you men on your choice of the medical profession. It is one of the noblest works a man can do. You are like the great and glorious sun in the high heavens—like the sun on Bowdoin's shield. You help to bring light to the world and make homes brighter." In speaking of a physician's preparedness, he concluded, "Blessed is the faithful servant whom the Lord findeth, when He cometh, ready."

Following Professor Mitchell, Dean Paul Nixon extended on behalf of the collegiate members, their pleasure in welcoming medical students to Bowdoin College. He pointed out, in a short interesting way, the value of the Humanities, especially Latin, to medical men.

Dr. Earl C. Follett of the Medical School Faculty said a few words on the work of the Medical School at the present day. He told of the hard work ahead of the men but evidently did not frighten them with his threats.

A period of informality followed the speeches, during which fancy cakes and ice cream were served to the seventy-five men present. Much

PROFESSOR T. C. VAN CLEVE, Who Spoke in Forum, Sunday Evening.
thanks are due to Dr. F. N. Whittier whose generosity made the reception possible, and to President John G. Young of the Bowdoin Y. M. C. A. for the able management of the occasion.

ADDITIIONS TO LIBRARY.

The Library has just received some fifteen hundred volumes in general literature from the books of the Rev. William H. Pierson, D.D., of the Class of 1864. The collection is strong in biography, containing most of the best writings that have been published along that line in recent years. Mr. Pierson was a lover of good literature and had more than two thousand books besides his theological library.

The first shipment of books since the war began has just been received from Germany. It contains a Weimar edition of Goethe in one hundred and thirty-seven volumes. These books were ordered before the war and have been awaiting shipment for five years.

Other books of general interest which have been recently received are:

"Theodore Roosevelt," an intimate biography by Thayer.
"The Greatest of These," a recent novel of Archibald Marshall, which many consider his best work.
"Alaska," one of the "See America First" series, containing many interesting illustrations, by A. R. Burr.

The four books following should be of great interest to the student of the World War.

SUNDAY CHAPEL.

In a very forceful address in Chapel Sunday Professor Mitchell spoke of the present need of powerful men and of the reasons why a college should train students to be such. He emphasized the importance of hard work, self-control, and realization of the meaning of college training, in the development of power. The present method of entrance examinations was considered in contrast to the new system in use at Columbia in respect to the picking of men for college who can be developed. Various other phases of learning were taken up in a most interesting and helpful manner.

NEW PROFESSORS.

Professor H. K. Stone, a graduate of the University of Michigan, is an instructor in French and Spanish at Bowdoin. Professor Stone has had a particularly fine preparation in the Romance languages. For three years he taught and did post-graduate work in the University of Chicago, having previously been at New Orleans. Later he taught at Northwestern University, University of Minnesota, University of Illinois, Grinnell College, and Columbia University. Professor Stone has also studied in Paris, where he perfected his knowledge of the French language.

Noel Little, a graduate of Bowdoin in the Class of 1917, is an instructor in Physics.

On the Campus

Jack Magee is planning an informal interclass track meet to be held within a week or so, to bring out new material for the team.

A holiday was given on the afternoon of Wednesday, Oct. 15th, and on the morning of the next day because of the annual fraternity initiations Wednesday night.

After the Bates and Colby games it is planned to hold informal dances in the Union. These will be under the direction of the governing board of the Union.

It is doubtful whether the annual Football Dance will be given this year.

The Cross Country Team will not run Tufts as had been planned. Manager Buker has received word from Tufts that their Cross Country Team has disbanded.

Monday evening, Oct. 13th, there was a meeting in the Town Hall of citizens of the town and students at Bowdoin to consider the idea of a Roosevelt Memorial. Professor Davis was chairman of the committee in charge of the meeting.

Rev. T. E. Ashby conducted Chapel on Tuesday, Oct. 14th.

A great many alumni were seen on the Campus Wednesday and Thursday of last week who came for the annual fraternity initiations. The number back was larger than it has been for several years because so many have returned from the war during the last few months.

Delegates from chapters at other colleges were also on the Campus.

Jack Magee went to Portland Friday to umpire the Hebron-Westbrook game there.

The usual fraternity stunts were performed in town and at the fair grounds Tuesday and Wednesday afternoons. They afforded great pleasure to the onlookers.

Track Manager Bunker has received a good offer from M. I. T. for a cross country meet there. No decision has yet been made.

Plans for the fall tennis tournament to bring out tennis material are maturing rapidly. A large number of men have signed up to play. The tournament will probably be held this week.

Trials for the Freshmen Glee Club candidates were held Tuesday and Thursday of last week. The Class of '23 promises to be well represented.

There has been a decided shortage of text books this fall. It has been nearly impossible to secure certain books and the result has been necessarily harmful.

The state football series started last Saturday when Bates played Colby for a tie of 7-7 at Waterville. Next Saturday Bates plays Maine at Lewiston and Bowdoin plays Colby here.

Brown '20 left Friday for Boston to attend a meeting of the N. E. I. C. A. A.

Many happy faces between black Freshman caps and new fraternity pins were seen on the Campus Thursday morning.

Trainer "Jack" Magee is beginning to pick the jumpers out of the Freshman track squad. He is nearly ready to pick the '23 cross country team which will run against Hebron Academy soon.

According to the latest report of the Class of '94, two sons of members of that class are now attending Bowdoin, Pickard '22, and Thomas '22.

With the Faculty

Dean Nixon left for Hanover Friday morning where he is to attend the centennial exercises at Dartmouth College. He will be away for several days.

President Sills is still on his tour of Western cities where he is speaking at Alumni gatherings on behalf of the college. He will return to Brunswick on the 22nd of this month.

Mr. Furbish is now away on a two weeks' vacation.

Professor Mitchell was the speaker at Sunday Chapel.

Alumni Notes

'32—The recent death in Cambridge of Mrs. Anne Goodwin Vaughan, wife of the late Benjamin Vaughan, is of interest to Bowdoin men inasmuch as Mrs. Vaughan, who was born in Brunswick in 1838, was the daughter of the Reverend Daniel Raynes Goodwin '32. He was professor of modern languages at Bowdoin from 1835 until 1853, when he was elected president of Trinity College. He occupied this position until 1860. Later he was dean of Bowdoin (from 1868 to 1881).

'94—Reverend Trelawney C. Chapman, Jr., who has been the pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Church in York Village for about a year and a half, resigned his pastorate recently. He has accepted the chaplaincy and superintendency of certain departments in Harrisburg, Pennsylvania. Formerly, he has had pastorates in Eliot, Kent's Hill, and Conway, N. H.

'98—The French Republic has made Thomas Lewis Pierce a chevalier of the Legion of Honour in recognition of the military services performed by him during the war. Mr. Pierce was formerly Lieutenant Colonel of the 325th U. S. Infantry and received the Distinguished Service Cross and the Croix de Guerre with palm for gallantry in action. The college conferred the honorary degree of Master of Arts on him last June.

'98—Hodgdon Brothers of East Boothbay, Maine, announced last Wednesday that plans have been drawn for the new vessel which Donald B. MacMillan '98 is to use next year. The ship is to be built with money contributed by Bowdoin men. It is owned by the MacMillan Arctic Club, of which there are about two hundred and fifty members from various parts of the country. It will be chartered to the National Geographical Society. The schooner is to be eighty-five feet long, and equipped with auxiliary power. Mr. MacMillan is expected to commence his voyage next spring.

'01—George L. Lewis is teaching this year at Northland College, Wisconsin. He received a Master's degree from Bowdoin in 1903. In 1907 he was appointed librarian in the Westfield Athenaeum, Mass.

Hon. '03—Henry Ernest Woods, upon whom Bowdoin conferred the degree of Master of Arts in 1903, died suddenly October 11 at Greenfield, Mass. Mr. Woods was born June 5, 1857, at Boston. At Harvard, he won Phi Beta Kappa honors. From 1901 until 1907 he was editor of the New England Historical and Genealogical Register. In 1907 he became Commissioner of Public Records for the state of Massachusetts. Mr. Woods had travelled widely in Europe, Asia Minor, North Africa, and in this country.

'06—Melvin T. Copeland, Ph.D., is now a full professor in the Harvard Graduate School, where he had been an assistant professor for the past four years. He received his doctor’s degree in 1910 from Harvard. Later he received an appointment to the Harvard School of Business Administration. Here he did five years’ work in four, while serving as a member of faculty, and also while under special appointment to war responsibilities in Washington.

ex-’12—The wedding of Miss Roxa Morse of Bridgewater and Richard Odell Conant of Portland took place in Portland October 9, 1919. Reverend Ashley Day Leavitt, D.D., officiated at the ceremony.

’16—Richard S. Fuller has a position with Chandler, Hovey and Co., a banking and brokerage firm.

’17—Clarence H. Crosby recently accepted a position in the jobbing house of Heinz Co. at Cambridge. Earl W. Cook is with Blake Bros. and Co., bankers and brokers. Lawrence H. Marston has gone into the accounting business of C. C. Harishorn in Boston.

’17—Mr. J. W. Tuttle of Saxonville, and a graduate of Bowdoin College in the Class of 1917, has been awarded the Faculty Scholarship at the Law School of Harvard University. Mr. Tuttle is now a student in the third-year class of the Harvard Law School. The Faculty Scholarships are awarded each year to a limited number of meritorious students who have been in the school one full year at least and who intend to remain in the school for the entire three-years’ course. The award is made by the Corporation, on the recommendation of the Faculty, at the beginning of each academic year, but preference is given to members of the third-year class.

’17-’19—Philbrick and Shumway ’17 and Burleigh and Doherty ’19 are attending Harvard Law School. The four are living at 76 Oxford street, Cambridge, Mass.

’19—Grant B. Cole ’19 is traveling for the American Radiator Company in Pennsylvania with his headquarters at Pittsburgh.

PRE-CHAMPIONSHIP NOTES.

Not very much satisfaction can be gained from comparing the scores of the various Maine colleges so far this season in football, because we have not played teams of the same calibre as a general thing. But just as the championship series starts it may be of interest to note how the teams have fared. Summary:

Maine 55, Fort McKinley 0. Colby 99, Fort Williams 0.

Maine 82, Fort Williams 0. Colby 0, Harvard 35.

Maine 0, West Point 7. Bates 0, Harvard 53.

Bates 0, New Hampshire 3. Bates 56, Fort McKinley 0.

Bates 7, Colby 7. Bates 56, Fort McKinley 0.

Bowdoin 0, Holy Cross 14. Bowdoin 73, Fort McKinley 0.

GREAT PREACHERS APPEAL FOR BIG CALIBRE MEN TO LEAD HUMANITY.

Foremost preachers of many denominations unite with Dr. J. Campbell White, formerly president of Wooster College and now Life Service head of the Interchurch World Movement, in an effort to make up an alarming and dangerous deficiency in Christian leaders.

About four hundred thousand new leaders will be needed in the next five years by the evangelical denominations of the United States alone. “Big men” of character and ability must be drawn into Christian work, to make Christianity a real force in every day life. It would be easy to supply quantity, to get the four hundred thousand through an emotional appeal, but what is wanted is the coming men of power in the community.

Every college man knows there are men in his class who would be useless and inept if they tried to tackle a difficult foreign mission task, or create a centre of light and hope in a slum, or lead a congregation in a virile, healthy Christian life. And he also knows the men in his class who would be a great strength in such a cause, whose strength would be “as the strength of ten.”

Dr. Campbell and his associates hope to have every such young natural leader of men consider deeply and conscientiously whether he can make any more satisfactory use of his talents in these tumultuous times than in helping to steer humanity to a world Christian civilization.

A score of prominent clergymen have written out for Dr. Campbell their ideas on “Why I Am Glad I Am a Minister.”

Dr. Charles Edward Jefferson (Congregationalist) of New York City, a member of the Yale Corporation, says:

“The minister has daily opportunity of making a contribution toward the building of a better world. Everybody admits that we cannot get on with the world as it is, and millions are longing for a world which is happier and better. That is the supreme mission of the minister-building a better world."

Rev. Latham A. Crandall (Baptist) Minneapolis, Minn.:

“All human progress has been due to the influence of a spiritual interpretation of life, and this interpretation is set forth in the life and teaching of Jesus as nowhere else.”

Dr. Cleland Boyd McAfee (Presbyterian) Chicago, Ill.:

“The thing I am set to preach would heal the open sore of labor and capital, of race suspicion, of political injustice. The process is slow and long, but it works toward the right end and every minister can give his life to it.”

Dr. William Horace Day (Congregationalist) Bridgeport, Conn.:

“Failure in social enterprise is in a large measure due to the lack of leadership. The man of genuine consecration, made efficient by training, finds in the ministry the most challenging opportunities to lead.”

Dr. Charles C. Selecman (Methodist Episcopal South) Los Angeles, Cal.:

“The work of the minister is of a very practical character. It is an almost ideal union of the practical and theoretical. This may explain the fact that the ministry has produced such men as Paul, Savonarola, Wesley, Brooks, and others, who have combined in marked degree intellectual greatness with eminent administrative ability.”

Dr. White states that if any man interested will write to him in care of the Interchurch World Movement, New York City, he will be glad to give detailed information describing the unique world opportunities of today.

BOWDOIN WHITEWASHES COLBY.

Before a large crowd on Whittier Field, Bowdoin surprised and outplayed Colby in an interesting gridiron battle Saturday. The Bowdoin eleven surprised Colby in all phases of the game and gave evidence of the advantage of its steady practice and training under Coach Greene and Trainer Magee. The game was featured by long and spectacular runs by both teams.

The Bowdoin backfield contains two stellar backs in Dostie and Dahlgren who gained through Colby repeatedly. Dostie played a great offensive game and his end runs sent the Bowdoin rooters cheering wildly many times. He scored three of Bowdoin’s four touchdowns. Dahlgren, the other scorer, consistently gained with plunges through the line and broken field running.

Curtis played the shining defensive game getting through the interference time and again for hard sure tackles. Crockett at quarterback showed excellent generalship in his handling of the team.

Bowdoin has also found a valuable player in Mason, a Freshman, whose drop kick from the 38-yard line was not to be excelled. The White linesmen plowed through Colby and drove her line before them with an impetus impossible to withstand, and met the Colby offensive with a stonewall defence.

Brewster, acting captain, at left guard and tackle, McCurdy at center, Kern and Dudgeon figured conspicuously in the line.

The Colby line was surprisingly weak and was mowed down in nearly every play by its hard-hitting opponents. Niles, the colored Colby half back, was the only important ground gainer. Jacobs, their star full back was forced to be content with one 35-yard run in the first period, while Bucham’s kicking fell short of expectations.

The game started with a rush. Bowdoin kicked off, and Colby punted on first down. Dostie caught the punt, and ran the ball back 40 yards to Colby’s 30-yard line. After three unsuccessful attempts to gain through Colby’s line, Mason, standing on the 40-yard line, tried for a field goal. The ball carried far enough but the direction was bad. Colby kicked from her 20-yard line, on the first down, and Dahlgren and Dostie carried the ball to Colby’s goal line. Dahlgren carried it over for the first touchdown. Mason kicked the goal.

When Colby received the ball on the second kick off, she began rushing the ball from an open formation which carried it to Bowdoin’s 15-yard line. This was Colby’s best chance to score, but she fumbled, and, after one line plunge, Bowdoin punted to the middle of the field. Colby here completed the only successful forward pass on the game, lost ground by a poor snap-back, and punted. Dahlgren ran the ball back 40 yards, and the quarter ended. Score, Bowdoin 7; Colby 0.

The second quarter commenced with the ball in Bowdoin's possession on Colby's 47-yard line. After getting first down on line plunges, Bowdoin rushed the ball back to the 10-yard line, and tried another forward pass which grounded behind the goal line. Colby kicked from her 20-yard line. On the next play Bowdoin was penalized 15 yards, but Dostie took the ball around end 40 yards to Colby's 26-yard line. Here Colby held and took the ball on downs. Colby kicked again, and this time Bowdoin carried the ball to the 4-yard line on line bucks and tackle plays. Dostie rushed the ball over the line. Mason kicked the goal. Bowdoin kicked off. The ball bounced down the field through the entire Colby team. Thompson followed it to the 5-yard line where he fell on it. Bowdoin's ball on Colby's 5-yard line. After two unsuccessful line bucks, Dostie scored a touchdown on the third attempt. Mason failed to kick the goal. Bowdoin kicked off to Colby's 28-yard line. Colby brought the ball back to her 45-yard line where Jacobs took it 40 yards on an open formation play. Bowdoin held here, and after getting the ball on downs, kicked to Colby's 35-yard line. Colby tried an end run and a fake punt, and the quarter ended. Score, Bowdoin 14; Colby 0.

Colby's ball on her 37-yard line. After an exchange of punts, Colby fumbled, and Bowdoin carried the ball to Colby's 12-yard line where she lost it on downs. Colby punted from behind her goal line to her 40-yard line where James made a fair catch. Mason added 3 points to Bowdoin's total by a perfect drop kick from a difficult angle. Bowdoin kicked off and was penalized half the distance to the goal line.
Colby made first down twice, attempted a forward pass which was intercepted by James, and the game ended. Score, Bowdoin 30; Colby 0.

FOOTBALL RALLY.

Memorial Hall was filled Friday night at the first big football rally of the year in preparation for the Colby game. Supported by a noisy, spirited band of 35 pieces, the students soon entered into the atmosphere of the occasion. All the old cheers were practised. Speeches by Dean Nixon, Capt. Rhoads and Trainer Jack Magee stirred up the audience. Apples and "smokes" served to put the crowd in even better humor.

Dean Nixon emphasized the importance of college support of athletics in the development of a particular kind of Bowdoin fighting spirit and in its importance toward getting more students to Bowdoin. "Dusty" Rhoads, although himself out of the coming contest on account of injuries, expressed the fighting spirit of the team that was to represent the White on the field and urged the support of a crowded grandstand behind the team to a man with songs and cheers. "Jack" Magee told of the history of the team so far this season using it as an example to point out its fitness for the coming contest. In his characteristic manner he led the students to see their duty to the team and the college in supporting not only this game but the rest of the series with all their hearts.

The band developed by Professor Wass and Manager Allen is a credit to any institution and contributed the fire to start the enthusiasm. Playing all the old familiar fighting tunes as well as some newer pieces it quickly won its way into the heart of every man present. It is scheduled to play next Saturday at the Bates game and a large proportion of it will make the trip to Orono. A student subscription to make it possible for the whole band to make the trip has been suggested and is an idea worthy of being carried out.

The rally broke up after the singing of Bowdoin Beata. The presence of a number of alumni added to the general spirit of the gathering.

INTER-CLASS TRACK MEET.

Manager Buker announces that an inter-class track meet is to be run off this week on Wednesday and Thursday afternoons. A schedule of events and the time of each event will be posted early. This is an informal meet for the purpose of finding out what material we have in college. The distances have been cut down so that everyone will have a chance to show his caliber. Regardless of whether you are in training you should avail yourself of an opportunity to have a couple of afternoons of fun and exercise by entering for some or any of these events as posted at the bulletin board. You may register with Manager Buker any time now.

DEBATING.

Prior to the war Bowdoin had formed an Inter-scholastic Debating League. On account of war activities this league had not been formed during the last two years. A recent letter from Portland High School inquiring about the league and expressing a desire to enlist if such was to formed, led the men in charge to consider its reorganization.

Letters were sent to all local secondary schools asking what they intended to do. If enough schools reply favorably, action will be taken at once to reorganize interscholastic debating.

VARSITY DEBATING.

The Varsity Debating Team is prepared for fall and winter debating. Negotiations are now under way with Brown and Wesleyan to reform the Triangle League. It will be remembered that last year Bowdoin was the winner of the league debates.

COMMUNICATIONS:

FRESHMAN SPIRIT.

Freshmen, the cheering, the singing, the band music on Friday evening were evidence of a fine active interest and spirit in your chosen Alma Mater, an interest which extends into the classroom, out onto the athletic field and into the literary work of the college. But this interest falls short in a particularly noticeable respect either because many of you have not been informed, or because you haven't had spirit enough to pull yourself out of the ways of a "prep" school past. Your laurels of prep school days are nothing to us. At Bowdoin you are a new man in a new world with a new mark to make. Extend therefore your interest, modify your spirit, and become a real Bowdoin man.

Pack away the insignia and letters of your "prep" school, they are but personal memorabilia, and enter wholeheartedly into our prided and traditional Bowdoin democracy.

Know every Bowdoin man, and never fail to shout a friendly "hello" whenever you meet him. Find out the names of the leaders in college and of the men on the teams and all the rest, that you can talk intelligently with your fellow students on college activities.

We have welcomed you heartily, join us, be one of us! In so doing you shall reap the exceptional benefits to be derived from the intimate touch with your fellow men. S. M. G.
A WORD TO THE FRESHMEN.

It is an obvious fact that many of the Freshmen are not following the Bowdoin custom of speaking to upperclassmen. Many of the newcomers to college not only fail to speak first, but also decline to return the greeting of an upperclassman.

One of the “pointers” given to the Freshmen in the Freshman Bible is, “Say ‘hello’ to every Bowdoin man even if you have never ‘met’ him.” This is not a mandate but merely a hint. Again the Freshman Bible says, “Bowdoin doesn’t like snobs.” And if a fellow intentionally neglects to speak to a Bowdoin man he is nothing less than one.

The man who does not follow this unwritten law is hurting himself. He is bound to be disliked.

Snap into it, Freshmen. Show us that you like us, and have a “Hello” for every man in Bowdoin.

UNION DANCE.

The first Union Dance of the year following the football game was enjoyed by about thirty couples Saturday evening. The committee in charge was composed of Rounds ’20, Goodwin ’21, and Perkins ’21. Mrs. Davis and Mrs. McClean were chaperones. Music was furnished by an undergraduate orchestra of Richan ’20, Sturgis ’20, Helson ’21, and Ross ’23.

The next dance comes Saturday night following the Bates game. These informal Union dances are being run this year instead of a big football dance in the gym. The floor space is limited but there is plenty of room for all who get in an early application for tickets. Avail yourself of this opportunity for a good dance on the Campus.

STUDENT COUNCIL.

At the last meeting of the Student Council it was decided not to hold the football dance as has been the custom. The big Christmas dance is not far off and it was thought best to put all the energy into making that a success.

It was also decided to appropriate money to send some flowers to Zeitler ’20, president of the Student Council. Zeitler is in a Portland hospital where he was operated on for appendicitis.

CROSS-COUNTRY COMING STRONG.

Although the cross-country team laid off for a few days, it did not lay off for good. All the men are out again, as strong as ever. Intensive training during the two weeks will put the team in excellent condition for its run in the Maine intercollegiate run on November 7. If the team makes a good showing on that date, it will enter in the New England cross-country run, to be held at Boston November 15.

BOWDOIN CLUB OF BOSTON SUPPORTS CURTIS.

October 15, 1919.

Dear Sir:—At the first meeting of the Bowdoin Club of Boston, held at the University Club Friday evening, October 16th, a resolution was unanimously passed whereby the undersigned were directed to formulate and send to you the following resolution with respect to your attitude in the recent police crisis in the city, to wit:

Whereas, the Bowdoin Club of Boston desires to extend to Edwin U. Curtis, a graduate of the College and one of the founders of the Club, direct evidence of its loyal support throughout the unprecedented situation resulting from the strike of the policemen of the City of Boston, therefore, be it

Resolved: That this Club express to Mr. Curtis its recognition of his sound judgment and unflinching devotion to public duty through this present crisis, and commend his resolute stand as to the maintenance of constitutional government at a time when others were inclined to yield to forces destructive of the rights and principles upon which the body politic is established;

And furthermore, that it express to him, as the representative of law and order, its unqualified support until it shall be conclusively demonstrated that the authority of the people, as expressed through their duly elected officers, is supreme; and that the dictation of a small minority is not to be tolerated.

Very truly yours,

CHARLES L. FAVINGER, Chairman,

STATE BASEBALL SCHEDULE.

There was a meeting of the baseball managers from the four Maine colleges Saturday, October 18th, at Waterville. No officers were elected, but the following tentative schedule was drawn up. There will probably be changes in it later as it has not yet been submitted to the Athletic Council.

April 17 (exhibition game), Bates at Lewiston.
May 1, Colby at Brunswick.
May 8, Maine at Orono.
May 22, Colby at Waterville.
May 29, Bates at Lewiston.
June 4, Bates at Brunswick.
June 5, Maine at Brunswick.
THE PRESIDENT'S WESTERN TRIP.

President Sills returned to the College last Friday after a trip of over a fortnight through the Middle West. In Detroit he attended some of the meetings of the General Convention of the Episcopal Church; made an address at Ann Arbor before the National Student Council; preached in the North Woodward Avenue Congregational Church on Sunday, Oct. 12th, of which church the Rev. Chester Emerson '04 is pastor; and spoke at a luncheon given by the Detroit members of the D. K. E. fraternity for Bishop Burch of New York. In Chicago he met the alumni of Bowdoin at a very successful dinner held at the University Club on the evening of Friday, Oct. 17th, at which meeting an association of the alumni of Chicago was formed. From Chicago he went to Minneapolis where on Monday evening, Oct. 20th, at the Minneapolis Club about a dozen of the alumni met to hear reports from the College. The Minneapolis alumni who have not had a meeting for several years are going to keep alive the Alumni Association of the Northwest. At Buffalo on Wednesday afternoon, Oct. 22nd, the Hon. D. S. Alexander gave a dinner at the Buffalo Club for President Sills and the alumni of Buffalo and vicinity. The next morning the President spoke at the Technical High School and visited the Hutchinson High School. During his trip President Sills visited the University of Michigan, the University of Chicago, Northwestern University, the University of Minnesota, and the Dunwoodie Institute at Minneapolis, which is a very important trade school. He found everywhere a lively interest among the alumni of the College.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

The College has received the gift of $500 in memory of the Rev. Professor Roswell Dwight Hitchcock, D.D., who was professor at Bowdoin from 1832 to 1855, and afterwards President of Union Theological Seminary. The gift will be used for purposes of instruction.

FRESHMAN-SOPHOMORE DEBATE.

The Debating Council has announced a debate to be held between the Freshman and Sophomore classes on December 8, 1919. Trials will be held on November 3 in Hubbard Hall. Each man who tries out will be allowed five minutes in which to discuss any phase of the question, "Resolved, that municipal police should have the prerogative of collective bargaining." This debate offers an opportunity to practice for the Bradbury prize debates which take place later in the year.

FRESHMAN FOOTBALL PROSPECTS.

For five weeks coach Markthaler has been training a husky squad of Freshmen in the arts of football in anticipation of the game with the Sophomores which takes place after the Maine game. There are about twenty men out; some three times a week, others every day. Tackling the dummy, falling on the ball, and every other form of practice is rapidly developing a snappy and well organized Freshman squad. The Freshmen have been complimented for tackling and defensive work against the varsity and they hope to keep living the fine precedent set by the Freshman baseball team.

On the Campus

Carl J. Longren '19 was on the Campus last week.

The Colby baseball schedule for next spring, which was announced not long ago, contains two games with Bowdoin, the first at Brunswick on May 1, and the second at Waterville on May 22.

Edgar O. Achorn '81 was on the Campus recently.

The results of the Maine series games last Saturday provide more or less interesting food for the dopesters and betters on the remaining contests. Obviously, from a comparison of scores, Bowdoin undoubtedly is the favorite for the championship. The game last Saturday found Colby a much weaker team than the aggregation that faced Fort Williams and later Harvard. Bates apparently is getting stronger all the time in spite of a rather inauspicious start. After Harvard had swamped the Garnet and after New Hampshire College had defeated them, Bates certainly looked feeble, but their stand against Colby and Maine shows that Bowdoin will not have an easy time next Saturday. On the other hand, Bowdoin had three men out last Saturday, Capt. Rhoads, Sprague, and A. Smith, who would add greatly to the strength of the team.

Miss Sawyer of Portland, Maine, had Professor Kimura, professor of modern European history at the University of Tokio, Mr. T. Mitziui, and Mr. B. Mitziui, bankers in the same city, as her guests on the Campus last Thursday. Professor Kimura is spending part of a two years' vacation at the Graduate School at Harvard.
The Freshman-Sophomore football game will be played two weeks after the Maine game. No varsity men will be allowed to play on either side. Practice has already begun.

Parent '21 went to Lewiston Wednesday to referee the game between Lewiston High and Brunswick High. Saturday he refereed the Hebron-Coburn Classical game at Hebron.

Trials for the upperclassmen candidates for the Glee Club were held in the music room, Wednesday the 22nd. The material is very good this year.

At a meeting of the Sophomore class last week the committee for the Sophomore Hop was made up. It consists of Fogg, Partridge, Ludwig, Woodbury, and Curran.

The Debating Council has made plans for a Freshman-Sophomore debate to be held December 8th. Trials will be arranged on November 3rd, and all candidates should give their names to Badger, 23 Maine Hall, at once. The question reads, "Resolved that municipal police should have the prerogative of collective bargaining."

Plans are being made for an informal interclass track meet to take place October 20th and 30th. It is for the purpose of bringing out new material.

There has been much discussion both in and out of the college about the price of admission to the State Championship games. Articles have appeared in several newspapers which seem to show that the general public consider the charge exorbitant.

Richards '20 is teaching mathematics at Hebron until Thanksgiving.

Many alumni returned for the game on Whittier Field Saturday.

The other score in the State series was: Maine 26, Bates 17.

With the Faculty

Mr. Furbish returned from a two weeks' vacation last Friday.

Professor Woodruff returned last week from Norwich University where he has attended the centennial of the founding of the university. Dean Nixon has returned from Dartmouth where he attended the sesqui-centennial of the college.

President Sills returned Friday night from his Western trip.

Professor Stanwood will address the members of the Equal Suffrage League at the residence of Mrs. Woodruff this evening.

At a meeting of the Men's Club of the First Parish, held in the Congregational Church vestry not long ago, the following members of the faculty were appointed to serve on a committee to have charge of a drive in Brunswick and Topsham for the Pilgrim Memorial Fund: Professor Burnett, Professor Catlin, Professor Davis, Professor Elliott, Professor Mitchell, Dean Nixon, Mr. Wilder, and Professor Woodruff.

Alumni Notes

The Orient desires to be of the greatest possible service to the Alumni in keeping them informed of one another's activities. Alumni are earnestly requested to support the Orient in this work by sending items about themselves or their brother Alumni.

The Alumni of Portland and vicinity are making an effort to have Bowdoin play in Portland on Armistice Day. If possible they will have the University of Maine game transferred from Orono to Portland. Otherwise they will try to have Bowdoin line up against Boston College or some other strong Massachusetts team.

'05—A very elaborate three volume history of the State of Maine has just been received at the Library. The greater part of this work was written by Louis Clinton Hatch, Ph.D. (Harvard, 1899). In the third volume there is a chapter entitled "Education in Maine," which was contributed by Professor Mitchell.

'03—Clement F. Robinson, Esq., of Portland has announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for County Attorney, and his name will go before the primaries in June, 1920. Mr. Robinson received his LL.B. from Harvard in 1906, since when he has been a practicing lawyer in Boston and Portland. From 1907 to 1909, he was the secretary of the Maine Tax Commission.

'13—In the August issue of the Quarterly Journal of Economics, there appeared a contribution entitled "Definition of 'Conditions of Labor,’" by Professor Paul H. Douglass of the University of Washington. Also, in the July number of the Journal of Political Economy, he had an article on "Plant Administration of Labor."

'15-'18—Francis P. McKenney '15 and Orrin S. Donnell '18 of Brunswick recently went to Texas where they plan to go into the oil business.

'17—Carleton M. Pike is with the Foreign Department of the First National Bank of Boston this year.

CROCKETT AWARDED RHODES SCHOLARSHIP.

Philip Dyer Crockett, 1920, of Everett, Mass., has been awarded the Rhodes Scholarship from the State of Maine for the 1919 Class. Crockett was a Phi Beta Kappa man in his Junior year and has played quarterback on the football team for the last three years. He upholds the Bowdoin standard of winning most of the Rhodes awards in this State. So far Bowdoin has won seven of the eight appointments.

BOWDOIN DEFEATS BATES BY ONE POINT.

In the hardest fought football game seen on Whittier Field for many years, Bowdoin defeated Bates 14-13 before a large crowd of enthusiastic supporters of both teams. The two elevens played a surprisingly strong game and the fighting spirit prevailed to the last minute of play. Because of the rain Friday, the field was slippery and this greatly impaired the speed of the fast backs, although there were many sensational runs during the game.

Doherty won the game for Bowdoin in the second period when he intercepted a forward pass by Bates on Bowdoin's 10-yard line, and made a brilliant dash out of the scrimmage and down the field for 90 yards and a touchdown. The line plunging of Dahlgren and the end runs of Dostie (who was injured in the last of the game), enabled Bowdoin to obtain more first downs than her opponent. It was by solid formations that Bowdoin had the most success in rushing the ball, for Dudgeon, Doherty, Brewster, and McCurdy played wonderfully well on the line. The reliable toe of Mason assured the goals that gave Bowdoin the necessary two points which defeated Bates.

The Bates aggregation fought a stubborn game to the end and played a better brand of football than it exhibited earlier in the season. The forward pass was used with some success, and, with the aid of the peculiar "eagle spread" formation, Tierney caught a pass and crossed the goal line in the last period, for Bates' second touchdown. Sauvage and Wiggin also played a snappy game for Bates.

Bowdoin opened the game with Peacock, James, Miller, and Sprague in the backfield, reserving Dahlgren, Dostie, Crockett and Curtis until later in the game. After an exchange of punts, Bowdoin rushed the ball far down the field, and Peacock carried it across the goal line within the first 10 minutes of play. Mason kicked the goal. Bates however came back, and when she received the ball from Bowdoin's kick-off, advanced it to Bowdoin's 45-yard line. At this point on fourth down Sauvage ran the remaining 45 yards for Bates' first touchdown. Davis failed to kick the goal from a difficult angle.

First Quarter—Bowdoin kicked off to Bates, Wiggin of Bates receiving the kick and running it back 15 yards. Moulton 3 1/2, Sauvage 4 and then Davis kicked.

Peacock received the kick and then lost a yard, tackled by Davis. Peacock punted to Wiggins on the 20-yard line, who was tackled by Drummond. Savage ran 3 yards, Davis 1 1/2, Moulton 1 yard. Moulton kicked to Peacock who ran it back to the Bates' 35-yard line. Then Miller rushed 4 yards, Peacock 1 yard, Miller 6 yards, James 8 yards, Miller 1 yard, Peacock 1 yard, Sprague 2 yards, then James went through for first down. The ball was on Bates' 10-yard line. Miller 1 1/2 yards, Sprague 3 yards, James lost 1, then Peacock took the ball over the line just outside right tackle. Mason kicked the goal. Bowdoin 7, Bates 0.

Mason kicked to Bates, Sauvage running it back 8 1/2 yards. Davis took it 1 yard and Moulton went over for first down. Wiggin made an incomplete forward. Sauvage rushed 1 yard, Wiggin made another incomplete pass. Sauvage took the ball 45 yards to the goal line for a touchdown, through left tackle on a fake punt. Davis failed to kick the goal. Bowdoin 7, Bates 6.

Fabbri kicked to Peacock who ran it back to his 40-yard line. Miller made no gain, then 1 1/2 yards, James 8, and then James took it through for first down. Miller 1 1/2 yards, James 8 yards, Peacock fumbled, Buffet picking it up and running it back until Brewster tackled him. Sauvage rushed 8 yards and Wiggin forwarded... to Titerney who ran it down to the 10-yard line.

Second Quarter—Sauvage rushed 1 yard, Wiggin lost ½ and then Doherty intercepting a pass from Wiggin ran 90 yards for a touchdown. Mason kicked the goal. Bowdoin 14, Bates 6.

Mason kicked to Moulton who ran the ball back 7 yards, Sauvage 1 yard, Wiggin 35 yards on a tackle-around play. Moulton kicked to Dostie who ran the ball back 20 yards. Dahlgren 1 yard, Dahlgren passed to Drummond for a 25-yard gain. Dostie went through for first down, Dostie 3 yards, Dostie 1 yard, Dahlgren no gain. The ball was then on Bates' 3-yard line. Drummond lost a pass from Curtis behind the line. Bates' ball on the 20-yard line. Davis 1½, Sauvage 4 yards, Moulton 1 yard, Moulton kicked to Dostie who was tackled by Titerney at mid-field. Dostie gained 2 yards then passed to Drummond for a 25-yard gain. Dahlgren 1 yard, Dahlgren 3 yards, Dostie no gain. Mason tried for a field goal but failed; Bates ball on the 20-yard line. Sauvage lost 3 yards, then gained 4, Moulton kicked to Dostie who ran the ball back 20 yards. Curtis 4, Dostie 1½, Dostie forwarded over goal line for an incomplete. Bates' ball on the 20-yard line. Davis 3, Moulton 1½, Sauvage lost 4 yards when tackled by Kern. Moulton kicked to Dahlgren who ran back 10 yards. Sauvage picked up a fumble but Dudgeon came back and got the Bates fumble. Dahlgren 3 yards. An incomplete pass over the goal line gave Bates the ball again. Moulton gained a yard and the half ended.

Third Quarter—Fabbri kicked to Dahlgren who ran back 20 yards. Dahlgren 15, Dahlgren 1, Dahlgren 4, an incomplete pass from Dostie. Then Bates got the ball on downs. Wiggin 5, Sauvage lost 2, Sauvage no gain. Moulton kicked outside at mid-field. Ostie 7 yards, Curtis 3, Curtis 15 yards, Curtis 3, Dostie 2. Dahlgren made first down. Crockett gained 2 yards. Dahlgren lost, tackled by Ross, Dahlgren 1 yard, Dostie 1. Bates' ball on downs on their 5-yard line. Sauvage ran length of field but was caught out of bounds on his yard line. Titerney 1, Kelley 5, Kelley 4, Kelley no gain, Sauvage 5. After an incomplete forward Sauvage passed to Kelley for a 20-yard gain. Sauvage lost 2 yards tackled by Curtis, Crockett and Smith 2, blocked forward, and then Kern intercepted one and ran back 2 yards. Dahlgren made 7 yards.

Fourth Period—Peacock 5, Crockett no gain, Peacock kicked to Kelley. Kelley 1, Sauvage 1, James intercepted a pass from Wiggin. Curtis 3, penalty against Bowdoin for holding, 15 yards; Curtis 1, Peacock kicked to Kelley, Sauvage 11 yards, Kelley received forward pass for 35-yard gain. Sauvage 9, Sauvage passed to Titerney who caught the ball behind the goal line for a touchdown. Guiney kicked the goal. Bowdoin 14, Bates 13.

Bates kicked to Bowdoin, Rhoades running back to the 30-yard line. Dahlgren 12, James 5, forward pass from Mason incomplete, Dahlgren 7 yards, Curtis 3, Dahlgren 1, Stonier got a fumble. Sauvage no gain, Titerney no gain. Sauvage threw an incomplete forward pass and then Bowdoin took the ball on downs. Curtis gained 5 yards and Dahlgren 4 before the whistle blew. Final score: Bowdoin 14, Bates 13.

UNION DANCE A SUCCESS.

Helson's Jolly Jazz furnished the supermelodious and peppy music at the dance in the Union last Saturday. Refreshments of ice cream, fancy cakes, and cookies were served to all. The roaring fire in the old-fashioned fireplace and the homelike air of the affair certainly made it an enjoyable occasion.

The committee consisted of Rounds '20, Perkins '21, and Goodwin '21. The patronesses were Mrs. Roscoe J. Ham and Mrs. L. D. McClean.

EXHIBITION OF WATER-COLORS IN ART BUILDING.

Through the kindness of a Bowdoin graduate, Mr. Eben Haley '02, a collection of modern water-colors, chiefly American and Italian, were exhibited in the Bowdoin Galley of the Walker Art Building on Wednesday afternoon, October 29th. The collection belongs to the painter and collector, Mr. C. E. A. Merrow, who has a wide acquaintance with artists and their work. While these water-colors, done by such artists as F. F. English, Carl Weber, Paul de Longpré, Olivetti, Moretti, and Baldo, were not done in the style that one is accustomed to seeing today, many of them were beautiful and of such fine workmanship in detail, that they would bear the closest scrutiny. In spite of the very short notice, a large number visited the museum, which shows the value of an exhibition in interesting the public.

ALUMNI COUNCIL MEETING.

Last Saturday morning, the Alumni Council met in the Dean's Office. The most important matter that was taken up was in respect to the raising of funds each year by the various classes. It was decided to appoint a committee to put in operation a plan like that used at Yale for this purpose. It was voted last year at Commencement to adopt such a plan, to be definitely decided upon by the Alumni Council. Other matters of less importance were discussed, and reports of various committees were read. The following members of the council were present: Charles T. Havens '76, president; Alfred B. White '98, E. Farrington Abbott '03, George R. Walker '02, Professor Wilmot B. Mitchell '90, Ralph O. Brewster '09, Harold L. Berry '01, President Kenneth C. M. Sills '01, and Leon V. Walker '03.

RED CROSS MEETING.

Last Tuesday afternoon in Memorial Hall there was a meeting of the Red Cross workers of Brunswick, Topsham, Lisbon Falls, Bath and vicinity. President Sills as chairman of the Brunswick Chapter presided, and addresses on the after-war program of the Red Cross were given by Mr. James Jackson, manager of the New England Division, Miss Elizabeth Ross, Division of Nursing, and Mr. C. C. Jones, director of Civilian Relief. Mr. Jackson called attention to the fact that Bowdoin College had during the war been particularly interested in the Red Cross and had conferred its highest honorary degrees upon Mr. Henry P. Davison, chairman of the War Council, and Mr. Harvey D. Gibson, Bowdoin 1902, general manager of the Red Cross during the war.

RIFLE CLUB MEETING.

The first meeting of the Rifle Club was held in the Union last Thursday evening. About twenty members were present. Hurlin '20, was elected president, Low '20, secretary and treasurer, Pendexter '21, armorer. There are at present about 65 members of the club and it is essential that this number be increased to more than 100 before this week is out. It is also necessary that each member pay his dues at once because the National Rifle Club from which our club draws rifles and ammunition recognizes only paid members. There seems to be a good deal of enthusiasm this year for shooting but it is not yet large enough.

MUSICAL CLUBS.

Since there are a great many former musical club men back, and a large number of new men of good calibre out for the clubs, there undoubtedly will be some fine performances this year. The last trials for the Glee Club were held last week, and the rehearsals will begin next Thursday. The Freshman trials for the Mandolin Club will be held next Monday, and the trials for the upper-classmen will be held on Wednesday, or Thursday. No trips, as yet, have definitely been decided on, but there are many good ones in view. Altogether, the prospects of the clubs are the best that they have ever been.

“WORK-AND-SAVE PROGRAM.”

Treasury Department, Washington.

October 18, 1919.

To the Editor of College Publications:

We ask you to give publicity to the enclosed statement with such editorial comment as you may be able to provide. The Savings Division, Treasury Department regards the “work-and-save program” as of fundamental importance in the present economic crisis and it believes that the college students of America by promoting this program among themselves will achieve far-reaching results through the example which they will set.

We will greatly appreciate it if you will see that the extra copies of the enclosed statement are sent to the presidents of the student debating and literary societies.

Very truly yours,

Benjamin R. Andrews,
Vice-Director Savings Division.
Are You Going To Maine Next Saturday?

Of course, every Bowdoin man is. Next Saturday the Bowdoin-Maine game will be played at Orono; this game will decide the football championship of the State. The Bowdoin team is going to invade hostile territory to play an able team backed by a student body of a thousand odd. Is the team going up there to play Maine supported by a few scattering faithfuls or by a loyal student body en masse? The latter can be the only answer.

Two cars and more if necessary will be reserved for the Bowdoin student body on the Saturday morning train. Whether we get reduced rates or not, the cost will not be so enormous but what everyone can bear it even if he has to go without a new hat or shirt or absent himself from a dance or two. There is also the chance of saving money by keeping away from the movies and, incidentally, away from jail.

There can be few excuses for anyone not attending that game Saturday. Let’s show the spirit in victory that Bates showed last Saturday in defeat. With the chance of winning the State championship before us, this is an opportunity such as has not been presented in recent years, for demonstrating the old Bowdoin spirit of loyalty.

The Bates Game.

All those who had evolved the idea that we would have an easy time beating Bates last Saturday were badly shaken in their calculations by the actual results. In a game featured by admirable spirit, clean playing, hard fighting and spectacular plays, Bowdoin won by a one point margin. Entering the game with a good supply of confidence, supported by a student body which was decidedly over-confident, the team, along with its supporters, soon realized that it had a different proposition to deal with than that of the week before, and that if it intended to win it must put forth every effort possible.

While a victory by a larger margin would have been welcomed by Bowdoin men, the narrow margin of victory which we achieved may be beneficial to both students and team. Whereas if we had won by a large margin we would be very liable to fall prey to a spirit of over-confidence, now everyone realizes that if we are to beat Maine, we have got to go the limit and give the team every ounce of support available.

THRTIS AS A COLLEGE STUDENT’S PROBLEM.

The war demanded that every American save money and students in educational institutions were not excepted. The Liberty Bond and War Savings Campaign showed that even the college student who is self-supporting could set aside a small margin for saving and investment. After-war economic conditions are demanding a continuance of war economics, and universal saving and safe investment on the part of all our people.
Shall the college student have a part in this after-war program? At first thought one would say that it is inexpedient for the college student to set aside part of his current money for savings but a closer examination of the student's own best interests, regarded from the long-time point of view, and of his fundamental relation to the national economic crisis through which we are now going, has led thoughtful advisers of the Treasury Department's Savings Division to urge that the present opportunity for regular saving and investment in government securities be put before the college students of the country, as was the need for war savings.

The Treasury Department is offering the 25c
Thrift Stamp, $5 War Savings Stamp and the $100 and $1,000 Treasury Savings Certificates, as a means of popular saving. It is also urging the
banks as a means of reducing the expanded credit which is partly responsible for constantly increasing prices.

College students are urged to participate in Government Savings primarily because the country needs a rapid increase in its savings fund and because the practice of regular saving carries personal economic benefits so fundamental and lasting that college students as future leaders will wish to share in this movement.

Many a college student has earned and saved money before going to college and during his four years or more of academic and professional training has got entirely out of his habits of thrift and so starts his business or professional career heavily handicapped by the weight of un-thrifty standards taken on during college life.
The college student who practices thrift gets a self-discipline that like faith will move mountains.

The Treasury Department proposes the following program:

That students, as a matter of national service as well as personal advantage, work during term time when opportunity affords, and during part at least of vacations.

That every college student should save a minimum of a dollar a week during his entire college course.

That these savings should be funded as the nucleus for the start-in-life fund for use after graduation.

That these savings be invested safely in government savings securities.

That the student on receiving an allowance from home set aside, as a first charge on this allowance, his weekly savings.

That the student who is working his way through college and paying his own expenses in whole or in part, should set aside regularly a sum for savings even if it be so little as 25c a week, the cost of a U. S. Thrift Stamp.

That students plan their personal expenditures with a personal budget now recognized as the most practical instrument for promoting wise expenditure in government, in business and in personal finance.

That students discuss in debating clubs, fraternity clubs and other organizations, the relation of personal thrift to business efficiency and success in life, and the relation of individual savings to the country's capital fund, and to present economic problems.

That student organizations should as a national after-war service organize a public discussion of the economic problems related to thrift, savings and investment, seeking particularly a statement of their practical bearing on the reconstruction problem and of the personal responsibility which the college student has during college and afterwards, for personal thrift and for its promotion in the community, to the end that colleges and all higher institutions which in the work-and-save program for the bigger and better America.

BOWDOIN HAS OLDEST BAT.

Fifty-nine years ago this month a Bowdoin College nine played its first game of baseball with a team outside the college, and the bat used in that historic contest is now on exhibition in the trophy room of the college gymnasium. If there is anywhere a baseball bat used earlier than Oct. 10, 1860, Bowdoin men would like to have its owners produce it.

The game in question was not an intercollegiate contest, for the opponents of the Bowdoin nine were the members of the Sunrise Club of Brunswick—their name coming from their habit of practising the national game, then very much in its infancy, before breakfast. The college team was composed wholly of members of the Class of 1861, then beginning their senior year.
There was friendly rivalry between town and gown, and the challenge for a game came from the Sunrise Club. The game was played on the Topsham Fair grounds, Oct. 10, 1860, and something of its exciting nature may be judged from the score of 46 to 42, in favor of the Sunrise team.

The bat used was fashioned on the morning of the game by John Furbish of the Sunrise team, long a hardware dealer of Brunswick and the father of Samuel B. Furbish, the present treasurer of Bowdoin. The bat was made of soft wood, probably spruce, though it is difficult to determine with the old bat so soiled with usage it received that day and so stained with time. But think of a spruce bat in a game today—with 88 runs pounded out! After the game the 18 players, realizing that the contest opened an era in the history of Maine athletics, wrote their names in ink on the bat, and it became a treasured trophy in the possession of the winning team. Later it passed into the possession of the Pejepscot Historical Society of Brunswick, which has recently passed it over to Bowdoin for its trophy room. All the names written on the bat 59 years ago can still be made out, though with difficulty in some cases. The bat is about the same shape as the bat of today, though a bit longer and of course much lighter.

Only two or three of the 18 players of the first game are living today. No members of the Sunrise team survive—most of them were older fellows than the college boys. Of the Bowdoin seniors who played in that game the survivors include Lucius A. Emery, long chief justice of Maine, a trustee of Bowdoin and for several years past a lecturer in the Boston University Law School; also Edward Stanwood of Brookline, another trustee of the college, who has won fame as a writer and editor. Judge Emery was the pitcher and Mr. Stanwood the catcher.

The second baseman of the Bowdoin team was Henry J. Thurber, who became a millionaire in Chicago. He founded the mathematical prize of $300 awarded annually at the college. G. E. Stubbs, the right fielder, rose to the top of the medical profession in Philadelphia. On the Sunrise team, in addition to John Furbish earlier mentioned, was Ira P. Booker, who became for a generation the treasurer of the college. He was the catcher of his nine. In those days the players went to bat in order of position, not in order of hitting ability.

One of the favorite songs of the chemistry students, just now, is “I'm Forever Blowing Bubbles.”

One of the favorite questions of our ever studious Freshmen is “What did you get in Math?” (Usually followed by a sigh.)

Crosby ’17 was on the Campus last Friday.

Minot ’19 attended the Bowdoin-Colby game.

Clarke ’18 was on the Campus last week.

Lloyd Colter ’19 was a visitor on the Campus recently.

Dr. and Mrs. Harrison L. Robinson of Bangor were in Brunswick during the Colby game.

The annual cross country meet will be held at Colby Friday. Jack Magee is planning to enter seven men, five of whom to score.

Norman J. Greene, M. I. T., ’19, was seen on the Campus Tuesday of last week.

Trials for Freshman candidates for the Mandolin Club were held in the music room last Tuesday.

The informal track meet which was run off Wednesday and Thursday of last week was highly successful. Much promising new material was unearthed.

There has been a rumor that the Bowdoin-Maine game would be staged at Portland November 11th, as a part of the Armistice Day celebration, instead of at Orono as scheduled. It is reported that the Maine students greatly opposed this change because of the additional expense and the fact that the game with Bowdoin was their only home game this season.

Burt Whitman, sporting editor of the Boston Herald, and Cartoonist Collier were on the Campus last Thursday making special stories of the football situation. They are touring all the Maine colleges to find information concerning the State series.

Warnings for the Freshmen came out after the Faculty meeting yesterday.

The football squad will leave for Maine Friday noon in a special Pullman car. Coach Greene will take 24 plays besides the manager, assistant manager, and three candidates for assistant manager. They will stay at the Bangor House while on the trip.

The band held several rehearsals last week in preparation for the Bates game.

The Bowdoin Calendar is being prepared now and will be out shortly.

The student body with the band will leave Brunswick for Orono on special cars attached to the 8:30 train. It is expected that a very large number will go.

On the Campus

The exhibit of water-color paintings at the Union on Thursday was of great interest to many students, especially to those who have followed up Art, and to those who have taken the course in Art in college.
Because of the crowd expected at the Bates game additional bleachers were built last week.

Most of the leaves on the Campus have now been burned and the annual campus smoker is at an end.

On Friday last Parent '21 journeyed to Waterville to referee the Coburn Classical-Westbrook Seminary game. Saturday morning he refereed the Hebron-Kent's Hill game at Hebron, and Saturday afternoon he acted as head linesman at the Maine-Colby game at Waterville.

Jack Magee and Bob Cleaves '20, were in Waterville last Friday looking over the course for the cross country meet.

Merrill '14 attended the Bates game.

Zeitler '20 is back on the Campus, after a successful operation for appendicitis in Portland.

With the Faculty

Several members of the Faculty were in Portland last Friday to attend the Teachers’ Convention in session there. Among those present were Professors Burnett, Mitchell, Davis, Browne, Ham, Stone, and Wilder. Professor Ham presided at the meeting of the Modern Language Department, where Professor Burnett spoke on the “Aids of Psychology to the Modern Language Teacher.” Also, Professor Stone discussed the problem of second-year work in French and Spanish. Miss Anna Smith, the curator of the Walker Art Building, addressed the Department of Drawing on “The Museum Habit.”

From 1893 to 1897 he was assistant county attorney in Cumberland. He was in the House of Representatives of the Maine Legislature in 1899 and again in 1901. In 1904 he was one of the alternate delegates-at-large to the Republican National Convention. In 1908 he was the delegate.

'13—A daughter, Helen Schaeffer, was born to Professor and Mrs. Paul H. Douglas of the University of Washington, on October 18.

'14—Word has just been received that Ensign Stanley Dole arrived in Paris recently from Russia, where he has been since last February. He left Portland for overseas service October 17, 1917. For a time he was in the North Sea with the U. S. S. Florida, and had many interesting and exciting experiences. Later he was sent to London, and then to Russia where he learned at first hand some of the results of the activities of the Bolsheviki.

'19—Hugh A. Mitchell has a position with the McCann Advertising Agency of New York. Harrison K. McCann, the founder of this agency, is a Bowdoin graduate in the Class of 1902. He has several Bowdoin men in his employ among whom are J. Dawson Sinkinson '02, Henry Q. Hawes '10, Harry Palmer '04 (manager of the New York office), and Harrison Atwood '09 (manager of the San Francisco branch).

"THE OLD HOUSE WITH THE YOUNG SPIRIT"
The "Constitution" of To-day—Electrically Propelled

The U. S. S. "New Mexico," the first battleship of any nation to be electrically propelled, is one of the most important achievements of the scientific age. She not only develops the maximum power and, with electrical control, has greater flexibility of maneuver, which is a distinct naval advantage, but also gives greater economy. At 10 knots, her normal cruising speed, she will steam on less fuel than the best turbinedriven ship that preceded her.

The electric generating plant, totaling 28,000 horsepower, and the propulsion equipment of the great super-dreadnought were built by the General Electric Company. Their operation has demonstrated the superiority of electric propulsion over old-time methods and a wider application of this principle in the merchant marine is fast making progress.

Six auxiliary General Electric Turbine-Generators of 400 horsepower each, supply power for nearly 500 motors, driving pumps, fans, shop machinery, and kitchen and laundry appliances, etc.

Utilizing electricity to propel ships at sea marks the advancement of another phase of the electrical industry in which the General Electric Company is the pioneer. Of equal importance has been its part in perfecting electric transportation on land, transforming the potential energy of waterfalls for use in electric motors, developing the possibilities of electric lighting and many other similar achievements.

As a result, so general are the applications of electricity to the needs of mankind that scarcely a home or individual today need be without the benefits of General Electric products and service.

THE RHODES SCHOLARSHIP.

On Saturday, Nov. 1, the committee to select the Rhodes Scholar from Maine met in Augusta and interviewed the candidates. There were four, George Casey, Bowdoin '19, Philip Crockett, Bowdoin '20, Powers of Bates, and Steadman of Maine. The committee consisted of State Superintendent of Education A. O. Thomas, chairman, Dean Paul Nixon of Bowdoin, secretary, Professory Webber of Colby, and Robert Hale, Bowdoin, 1910. Monday it was announced that Crockett was the successful candidate from the State. This Rhodes Scholarship provides for three years graduate work for American students at Oxford University. They are allowed a salary of $1,500 a year for expenses. Besides the work at studies during the year, an opportunity is provided for summer travel in Europe if desired.

Philip Dyer Crockett is in the Class of 1920. He hails from Everett, Mass., and is a member of the Theta Delta Chi fraternity.

He was awarded his Phi Beta Kappa key at the end of his Junior year. For three years he has been regular quarterback on the Varsity football team and this year developed remarkable skill in selecting plans and in generalship. He has participated in the dramatic productions of the Masque and Gown from time to time. So it is that this time the coveted Rhodes Scholarship has been awarded to an all-round man, good student and good athlete.

RALLY FOR THE MAINE GAME

Last Thursday night the student body pledged its support to the Bowdoin eleven in the final contest of the season. Every man who expected to go to Orono on Saturday, and most of those who didn't, were there to show the team how they stood.

The first speaker was Professor Bell who expressed his greatest confidence in the ability of the team. When Dr. Whittier spoke, his only worry seemed to be, that the student body would not make noise enough. His audience quickly demonstrated how much noise it could make, and Dr. Whittier seemed satisfied.

On account of Bob Cleave's absence Cook '20 led the cheering. The band was at its best and, alone, was enough to start the traditional Bowdoin "Fight." Apples and "smokes" were passed out and the singing of "Bowdoin Beata" closed the meeting. The motion was made and enthusiastically carried to meet at the Chapel the following noon and march to the station to give the team a good send-off.

FENCING NOTICE.

There are two Junior honorary societies here at Bowdoin which have been in existence for several years. The fact that they are called "honorary" makes us believe that their original object was to select men from the Junior class who had achieved marked success in college activities. However, it seems that in the last two years this idea of selection has been lost sight of and a more inconsistent and unscrupulous method has been adopted. Because of this new policy, the question has rightfully come up: Have Junior societies which are not doing any good any right to exist?

You would expect from the very title of these societies that the greatest care would be exercised in selecting new men. You would expect that no man would be selected by any honorary society until he had proven beyond doubt that his accomplishments in undergraduate activities were sufficiently worthy to entitled him to membership in a Junior society. On the other hand, you would expect these societies to keep their standards so high that men in the lower classes would make greater efforts to achieve distinction in college activity than they would if these societies did not exist. One would expect the accomplishment of these men to be looked up to by underclassmen as a goal to be attained only by hard work and the exhibition of true Bowdoin spirit. You would expect that these societies would try to so fortify their position with sound policies and good men that all non-members would feel envious and that the students and college officials would feel proud to possess such organizations.

Some of the things to be expected of such societies have been stated; now let us see what the actual results are. We find that a policy has been adopted by which men are approached at the end of their Freshman year. This policy is most unfair from two view-points—that of the man approached and that of the society. It is unfair to the man because the average Freshman learns little about Junior societies during his first year so that he is not capable of deciding with justice to himself the organization which he prefers. It is unfair to the society because at the end of a man's first year in college, it is impossible to determine with certainty what degree of success he is going to win in his college life. A policy of pledging three men to get one manager is very poor. To get one man that deserves the honor, two others are accredited with the same distinction and become nothing more than loafers and parasites, thereby decidedly lowering the standards of the society and perhaps of the members themselves. A policy which allows such procedure should not be tolerated.

These two societies should get together and adopt a fixed policy with regard to pledging... whereby no man could be approached until April or May of his Sophomore year. Such a policy of “Fair play and may the best man win” could be followed safely by any respected group of men. If these organizations, The Friars and Abraxas, are not capable of policies requiring such high standards, then the student body should rise in protest against their continued existence. Junior societies, are you ready to justify your existence by setting the highest standards for membership, thereby encouraging the members of the two lower classes to honorable accomplishments in undergraduate activity?

STUDENT ELECTIONS.

On Thursday, November 13th, the manager and assistant manager of tennis and the committee for the annual Christmas dance will be chosen. The nominees are as follows:

- Tennis Manager—Haines ’21, O.A.X.; Cole ’21, K.Y.
- Assistant Tennis Manager (Tobie ineligible)—Freeman ’22, W.Y.; Tileston ’23, B.O.H.
- Christmas Dance Committee—From 1920 (three to be chosen): Brown, Δ.K.E.; Cleaves, A.Δ.Φ.; McWilliams, A.Δ.Φ.; Richan, K.Y.; P. Smith, Z.Y.; Zeitler, Z.Y.
- From 1921 (one to be chosen)—Buker, Δ.T.; Lovell, A.Δ.Φ.
- From 1922 (one to be chosen)—Meador, Δ.K.E.; Finlin, A.Δ.Φ.
- From 1923 (one to be chosen)—Palmer, A.Δ.Φ.; Sheesley, B.O.H.

MASQUE AND GOWN.

The Masque and Gown held its first meeting on Monday, November 3. Asnault ’20 presided as last year’s manager, and officers for this year were elected: They are—President, Asnault ’20; manager, Cole ’21. Two assistant managers will be elected from the Sophomore members at a later date. An executive committee was appointed consisting of Cole ’21, chairman, and Asnault ’20, Curtis ’20, Crossman ’20, and Redman ’21. All men who had speaking parts in the Ivy Commencement plays last spring were elected to membership.

At a meeting held later in the week various plays were suggested to be given next Ivy, one of which will be selected immediately. Tryouts for parts in the cast will be held very soon.

FRESHMAN DEBATING TRIALS.

The Freshman trials for the coming Freshman-Sophomore debate were held in Hubbard Hall, Tuesday evening, November 4. A number of candidates were present and each made a very good showing.

The question for discussion was: Resolved; That the municipal police should have the prerogative of collective bargaining. Both the negative and the affirmative of the question were upheld. The judges for the evening were Professors Mitchell and Davis, and Badger ’20.

The excellence of the majority of the speakers in the minds of the judges made a second trial necessary, so on some day in the near future a debate will be held with Jacobs, Cousins, Slater, and Davis, alternate, upholding the affirmative of the question; and Mitchell, Little, Finnegan, and Love, alternate, upholding the negative.

NEW SOCIETY FOUNDED.

Last Wednesday evening the second year medical class of Bowdoin College were delightfully entertained at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Earl C. Follett.

Before the merry party ended a new society was born to old Bowdoin. It is to be called the “Society of Pathology and Bacteriology,” and its aims are both instructive and social.

The founders of the new order are as follows: Dr. F. N. Whittier, Dr. Earl C. Follett, Perlie J. Mundie, Reginald Lombard, Harold G. Lee, Edwin T. Murray, Edward Whalen, and Henry W. Hanson, Jr. Mrs. Follett was unanimously elected the first honorary member.

The officers of the society are to be elected at a later meeting.

Y. M. C. A. ACTIVITIES.

Tuesday evening the Y. M. C. A. Cabinet had a special meeting in the Library. The Red Cross drive in the college has been entrusted to the Y. M. C. A. and plans were made for canvassing the houses and ends. Mr. James Barnes, who is State Boys Secretary at Waterville, spoke to the Cabinet, suggesting ways and means of carrying out this year’s program. Some of his suggestions will undoubtedly be put into effect with the hope that the “Y” can be a more vital force in student life in the future.

Wednesday, Clarence P. Shed, the field secretary for New England of the Student Division, International Y. M. C. A., was on the campus helping the Cabinet to get things under way to send a student delegations from Bowdoin to the Des Moines Convention. Already steps are under way to send our quota, a delegation of five students, secretary of the “Y” and a faculty delegate. The committee shaping this up consists of Look ’20, Young ’21, Cumming ’21, McGown ’21, and Ridley ’22.
MAINE DEFEATS BOWDOIN 18-0.

In a game characterized by its smashing old-time tactics, the Maine eleven defeated Bowdoin and won the State championship Saturday, November 8, at Orono. The one-sided score of the contest did not prevent the huge crowd (the largest ever seen at Orono) from supporting each team by constantly cheering encouragement to the end of the last minute. Both teams showed a grim fighting spirit which is ever present in the Maine-Bowdoin game. The lighter Bowdoin team, however, could not hold Maine on the slippery field and its offensive failed to penetrate the Maine line. Maine lost much ground by penalties for offsides and other infringements, the lost ground on this account amounting to 105 yards. In the last of the second period this failing almost cost Maine a touchdown.

Peacock played a good game for Bowdoin both in the backfield and at end. He had the greatest success in bucking the line and his sure tackling prevented many long runs. Dostie, who was put in late in the game despite his injuries, played his usual fast game. The secondary defense of Dahlgren and James stopped many Maine men. The center of the Bowdoin line was impregnable to the Maine attack, but with their excellent interference the Maine backs made much ground around ends and through tackles. For Maine, Ginsberg at quarterback starred; he ran the ball many yards. With the aid of a fine interference, Coady and Captain Stewart also gained consistently.

Maine received the kick-off and started to rush down the field but Bowdoin held firm and Maine was forced to kick. Bowdoin kicked back and Ginsberg rushed the ball 30 yards to Bowdoin's 30-yard line. Maine carried the ball to Bowdoin's 10-yard line where the Bowdoin line held. Bowdoin received the ball and Dahlgren kicked to Bowdoin's 40-yard line where Ginsberg caught the punt and ran it back 10 yards. But Bowdoin's line again held and took the ball on the Bowdoin 19-yard line. Bowdoin punted, was driven back to its 4-yard line, held, and again punted. This time Maine carried the ball to Bowdoin's 7-yard line and the period closed, neither side having scored.

In the beginning of the second period Maine, after being held for two downs, carried the ball over the White line for the first touchdown. Hussey failed to kick the goal. Score: Maine 6, Bowdoin 0.

Maine kicked to Bowdoin and Curtis ran 8 yards to his own 33-yard line. Maine took the ball on downs and Ginsberg ran for 32 yards. This was followed by an end run by Stewart for the remaining 28 yards and a touchdown. Stewart missed the goal. Score: Maine 12, Bowdoin 0.

Following this score, Maine became over-eager and consequently was penalized several times. This brought the ball down to Maine's 30-yard line. Dahlgren hit the line for 4 yards and then made Bowdoin's one successful forward pass to Peacock who gained 12 yards. After his carrying the ball 4 yards further however, the whistle blew for the end of the second period. Score: Maine 12, Bowdoin 0.

At the opening of the third period Stewart rushed 20 yards down to Bowdoin's 40-yard line. Maine, by short gains, advanced consistently and Ginsberg ran off 23 yards around the end to the 6-yard line, from whence Coady carried the ball over for the third time. Neavling failed to kick the goal. Score: Maine 18, Bowdoin 0.

Following this, Maine played defensive for the rest of the game. Dostie entered at this point and had some success in piercing the line of the Maine team, up to the end of the third period.

At the beginning of the fourth period, Maine resorted to kicking by Neavling to a great extent. In Maine's attempt to rush Bowdoin succeeded in stopping her before she threatened a goal.
Peacock and Dostie tackled all men attempting to pass them and forced Maine to kick several times. Towards the last of the game, Maine again neared the Bowdoin goal line by a forward pass to Ginsberg, but lost on a penalty of 15 yards and failed to come back before the whistle blew.

THE DES MOINES CONVENTION.

During the Christmas holidays from Dec. 31 to Jan. 4 there will be held in Des Moines the greatest gathering of college students in the history of the country. This is being called the Student Volunteer Convention but that is really a misnomer as it is not essentially a gathering of Student Volunteers. Again although the Y. M. C. A.'s and Y. W. C. A.'s are promoting it in the colleges, it is not fundamentally a Y. M. C. A. Convention. It really is an assembly of about 8,000 picked students, men and women, from all the colleges in America to consider for a few days some of the underlying principles and ideas that govern life in America and in the world today. Two delegates are allowed from each college in the country. Additional delegates are on a percentage of membership basis, allowing one delegate for every hundred students above the first two hundred.

The speakers and leaders for this convention are selected from those best able anywhere in the world to discuss these subjects without the least regard for effort or expense in securing them. Dr. Samuel M. Zwemer, an authority on the situation in the Near East, was in America in June but returned to his work in Arabia at that time. He is being brought back all the way from Arabia just to address the convention because he knows the situation best. This is typical of the makeup of the program. Dr. John R. Mott and Dr. Robert E. Speer are powerful leaders who are behind this whole gathering. In all probability it will prove a strong factor in influencing the life of the nation for the next generation. All the problems that cause so much unrest today will be discussed by authorities. The influence of these meetings on the individual lives of the delegates cannot be estimated and the effect of their activity as undergraduates returning to the campus will be a strong factor in student life.

Surely, Bowdoin does not want to be left out of such a program. Our quota is five student delegates, secretary of the Y. M. C. A., and a delegate from the faculty. This convention occurs but once in every student generation. We can send our full quota, if we will. Practically every college in New England has already responded asking for the privilege of sending more than its quota. Now, Bowdoin, let's go.

NEW FLAGS.

During the past week many favorable comments have been heard about the new flags from the staff on Memorial Hall. These two flags, one large one for fair weather and one smaller for stormy weather, were given the college by Edgar O. Achorn, Esq., of Boston, of the Class of '81. They greatly improve the appearance of the whole campus.

On the Campus

Perry '22 was in Portland the greater part of last week for an operation on his eye. The operation was executed successfully.

Many students were surprised to look out of their windows last Tuesday morning onto a campus covered with the first snow of the season.

President Sills was the principal speaker at the Armistice Day celebration in Portland Tuesday.

The cross country team went to Waterville Thursday before the meet in order to look over the course.

Jones '20, and Tileston '22, were in Boston last Saturday.

It is doubtful whether the cross country team will enter in the New England meet on the 15th. Warnings caused many anxious looks last Tuesday.

The football team escorted to the station by the student body and the band left for Orono on a special Pullman car attached to the 1:30 train Friday. They made their headquarters at the Bangor House while on the trip. The student body left on the 8:30 train Saturday morning.

Excuses were granted for Saturday classes and chapel to all men who went to the Maine game.

A subscription for the purpose of paying the expenses of the band on the Maine trip was raised last week in all the chapter houses.

Plans are being made for the entertainment of the principals of the high schools of the three neighboring counties who are to have a conference at Bowdoin during the first week of December.

Through an error in last week’s ORIENT, the patronesses for the last Union dance were incorrectly stated. They were Mrs. Roscoe Ham and Miss Anna E. Smith.

"DE S MÔINES NOTES."

These telegrams have come into headquarters in the last two weeks:

Princeton University:
"We are ready to send twice as many as we are allowed."

Prince of Wales College, Charlottetown, Prince Edward Island (farthest from Des Moines):
"We will be represented by two delegates."

Pennsylvania State College:
"How many more can we send?"

Harvard University:
"Our quota is 25. Can we send 40?"

University of California (600 miles further from Des Moines than Bowdoin is):
"We are faced with the task of sending 97 and we will do it."

Maine, Bates, and Colby have all guaranteed full quotas.

HUGH WALPOLE

The Man and His Works

The presence of this distinguished young English novelist in America recalls that of Charles Dickens, who, at the age of 30, paid his first visit to the "States." There is more than an arbitrary association of names in the linking of Walpole with Dickens, for here on our own soil for the first time since he was eight years old is the man who, conspicuously, is carrying on the finest traditions of the English novel, reviving in his books the rich, spirited and beautifully human and tender emotions that stamped the pages of Fielding, Thackeray and Dickens for what they were.

ATHLETIC COUNCIL NOTES.

At a meeting of the Athletic Council last week it was announced that this year's football season was financially one of the most successful seasons in the history of the College. While the complete report is not yet ready it is thought that a substantial balance will be found when all accounts are settled.

It was decided at the meeting to build a hockey rink soon between Hubbard Hall and Hyde Hall. It is hoped that Bowdoin will have a strong hockey team and there are rumors to the effect that there will be games with the other Maine colleges.

At a meeting of the Athletic Council held Wednesday, November 12, seventeen letters were awarded to the following men: Brewster '20, Crockett '20, Curtis '20, Doherty '20, Dostie '20, Drummond '20, Kern '20, Rhoads '20, Peacock '20, Sprague '20, Dudgeon '21, Thomson '21, Dahlgren '22, James '22, McCurdy '22, Mason '23, and Manager McPartland '20.

Sweaters are to be presented only to those men who made their letters this season. These men are Doherty '20, Dudgeon '21, Thomson '21, Dahlgren '22, James '22, McCurdy '22, Mason '23, and Manager McPartland '20.

M. I. C. A. A. MEETING AT WATERVILLE.

A meeting of the Maine Intercollegiate Athletic Association was held Friday at eleven o'clock at the Hotel Elmwood, Waterville. Bowdoin was represented by Coach John Magee and Lewis W. Brown, '20; Bates by Manager L. W. Philbrook; Colby by Manager R. H. Sturdevant and Coach Michael Ryan; and Maine by Athletic Director Rider and Alfred B. Lingley.

Matters relative to the cross country run were discussed by the coaches. It was voted to amend article 14 of the constitution so that it shall read: "The discus shall be thrown from a circle 8 feet, 2½ inches in diameter." The constitution originally called for a 7 foot circle, but other intercollegiate associations now use the larger circle.

The advisability of holding an indoor intercollegiate track meet in the Exposition Building, Portland, was discussed. All the representatives appeared favorable to the proposition. This will be brought up before the athletic boards of the four institutions. If such a meet is held it would probably be during the month of February or March.

SOPHOMORE FOOTBALL ORGANIZED.

At a class meeting in the Union, November 12, the Sophomores elected Pickard as class manager of football. The football squad of the class which held its first practice Monday, Nov. 10, elected Woodbury, captain. Although the Freshmen have had the advantage of a long season of coaching and practise the Sophomores hope to put up a good exhibition of football in Saturday's game.

Brewster '20, has been appointed head coach of the Sophomore team with the varsity members of the class as his assistants. Mr. Markthayler continues to coach the Freshmen.

The Freshman football team, under the direction of Markthayler '22, is fast rounding into shape. With the completion of the baseball season eight new men came onto the gridiron, bringing the number of candidates up to thirty. The material is excellent—the backfield men showing up particularly well. Butler is at present doing well in the punting, but none of the men will be picked until Friday night. The Sophomores, coached by Brewster, have assembled a well rounded team and expect to put up a stiff battle on Saturday.

THE GLEE CLUB.

W. H. Berry, manager of the Glee Club, announced last week that the first Glee Club cuts have been made. The following candidates reported at the music room Monday afternoon, November 17: Lyons, Chase, Sprince, McClave, J. J. Whitney, Crossman, E. A. Allen, P. Doherty, Lindner, Hart, H. Nixon, Woodbury, Ryder, Kiley, Congdon, James, Butler, Willey, Ferris, J. A. Black, M. P. Chandler, J. E. Mitchell, Turgeon, Ruber. Accompanist: Lyseth.

No announcement of the results of Monday's meeting have as yet been published. The musical clubs ought to be successful this year for much fine material has been discovered. It is hoped that this year may be the best ever for both the Glee and Mandolin Clubs.
BUGLE BOARD ORGANIZED.

The Bugle board has started its work with Ryder editor-in-chief, Crowell business manager, and Halpin assistant business manager. Other members of the board are Coberne, Cook, Hatch, Howard, Lovell, Schonland, St. Clair, and Young. This board was elected last spring by the present Junior class. Omerod has been recently appointed art editor.

Any suggestions or aid in any of the departments will be appreciated by the board. Contributions to the “Grind Section” will be especially welcome.

KEEN COMPETITION FOR FRESHMAN DEBATERS.

Last Friday evening a final trial was held in Hubbard Hall for the Freshman debating team. Previous to this time, first trials had been held but it was deemed advisable to hold a second trial on account of the excellence of nearly all who were in the first try-out.

The question for discussion was the same one used in the first meeting: Resolved; That the Prerogative of Collective Bargaining Be Given To the Municipal Police. The affirmative of the question was upheld by Cousins, Slater and Jacobs; the negative was upheld by Mitchell, Little and Finnegan.

Both sides presented very forceful arguments and the debate on the whole was very interesting. The final choice was difficult to make but finally Mitchell, Cousins and Little, with Jacobs as alternate, were chosen to constitute the Freshman team which is to meet the Sophomore team some time in early December.

COMING HOUSE PARTIES.

Five of the ten fraternities at Bowdoin are going to have house parties before the Thanksgiving recess. The following fraternities will have their dances on the evening of Friday the twenty-first: Delta Kappa Epsilon, Theta Delta Chi, Delta Upsilon, and Kappa Sigma. The Kappa Sigma and Delta Upsilon houses are to combine their dance at the Delta Upsilon house. On Tuesday the twenty-fifth the Psi Upsilon house party takes place.

RESOLUTION FROM ZETA PSI.

Hall of Lambda of Zeta Psi,

November 13, 1919.

Whereas, the Student Council has placed the date of the Christmas dance as on the evening of December 23, and, Whereas, this date is inconvenient to a large number of the student body, therefore,

Be it Resolved, that the Lambda Chapter of Zeta Psi place itself on record as being in favor of the date of December 19 as more appropriate for the Christmas dance.

OLIVER G. HALL,
For the Chapter.

RESULTS OF STUDENT ELECTIONS.

Following are the results of the student elections held Thursday, November 13: Christmas Dance Committee, McWilliams ’20, Richan ’20, Zeitler ’20, Buker ’21, Avery ’22, Sheesley ’23. Manager of Tennis, Haines ’21; assistant manager, Freeman ’22.

MAINE IS WINNER OF CROSS COUNTRY.

The University of Maine won the annual intercollegiate cross country run over the Colby course at Waterville Friday, November 6, making a score of 27. Bates was next with 51, Bowdoin had 60 and Colby 87. The weather was ideal and the course was in fairly good condition. The four colleges each entered a seven-man team and Maine clinched the run when they placed second, fourth, fifth and sixth. R. B. Buker of Bates was the first man to cross the finish line, with Raymond of Maine close behind. Goodwin of Bowdoin finished third in the five-mile grind. The entrants in the position they finished are as follows: R. B. Buker, Bates; Raymond, Maine; Goodwin, Bowdoin; Barnard, Maine; Herrick, Maine; Philbrick, Maine; Costley, Colby; Levine, Bates; R. S. Buker, Bates; Emery, Maine; Hatch, Bowdoin; Batter, Bates; Webb, Maine; Towle, Bowdoin; Cleaves, Bowdoin; Henderson, Maine; Hunt, Bowdoin; McCormack, Colby; Guthrie, Colby; Perkins, Colby; Peterson, Bates; G. H. Buker, Bates; Clifford, Bates; Conary, Colby; Avery, Bowdoin; Marden, Colby; Warren, Bowdoin. Time for the first three men, A. B. Buker, 32 min., 37 4-5 sec.; Raymond, 33 min., 4 2-5 sec.; Goodwin, 33 min., 12 sec. The officials were: O’Connell of Portland, referee; judges, Parmeuter of Colby; Grover of Maine; Pomeroy of Bates; Greene of Bowdoin; scorers, Brown of Bowdoin, Tilton of Colby, Grace of Colby, McGorrill of Maine; timers, Buse of Colby, Hersum of Colby, Finley of Maine.
With the Faculty

President and Mrs. Kenneth C. M. Sills entertained a few guests at dinner Wednesday evening to meet Hugh Walpole, the Annie Talbot Cole lecturer. Out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Harold Lee Berry of Portland and Mr. and Mrs. David Gray of Falmouth Foreside.

Professor Davis presided over a meeting of the teachers of English in this part of the State last Saturday at the Brunswick High School. He was elected temporary chairman of the English Department of the Maine Teachers’ Association at the meeting in Portland on October 31.

Professors Cram and Burnett were elected members of the executive committee of the local Red Cross chapter at its annual meeting last Monday evening.

THE RED CROSS DRIVE.

The campaign for the Red Cross which was launched last week in the college has been successfully completed. The drive at Bowdoin has been conducted by members of the Bowdoin Y. M. C. A. who gave their assistance at the request of the Brunswick Red Cross committee. These men during the week industriously canvassed every fraternity and end on the campus.

Success has met their efforts even beyond their expectations and thus far they have placed the button of the Red Cross on 249 college men. These subscriptions and those which obviously have been made previous to the drive, again place Bowdoin “Over the Top.”

NEW ENGLAND STATE COLLEGE CHAMPIONSHIP.

When the Orient went to press the New England State College Championship was still in doubt. In the hard fought game at Durham, N. H., Maine was leading in the fourth period by a touchdown when during the last twelve seconds of play New Hampshire pulled an outside kick with Reardon, New Hampshire’s back, eligible to regain the ball. Reardon fell on the ball, which had rolled over Maine’s goal line. Referee Ingalls, of Brown, first ruled the play a touchback for Maine, then reversed his decision, and finally reserved it. The question seems to be as to what impetus caused the ball to cross the goal line. Both coaches agreed to refer the question to the Central Board of officials for ultimate settlement. Meanwhile the score is still in doubt.

ANNE TALBOT COLE LECTURE.

Hugh Walpole, the distinguished English novelist, was the Annie Talbot Cole lecturer at Memorial Hall, Wednesday evening, Nov. 13. The speaker has a splendid personality and the large audience listened with the greatest pleasure to his address on “Creating the Novel.” For three years during the war Mr. Walpole was serving with the British Red Cross in Russia. His lecture, divided into three parts, told of the influences which made the style of writing during his very first attempts, of the pre-war influences, and of the effect of the war upon novel writing.

Mr. Walpole is a young man and served much of the time while in Russia as a stretcher bearer. The impressions of Russia, gained during his three years’ stay, were told in a manner which revealed the man’s marvelous powers to describe people and happenings. He has the power to see both the sublime and the ridiculous in whatever he chooses to speak about.

A TEACHERS’ CONFERENCE.

On Saturday, December 6, there will be held at the College a conference of men teachers of the secondary schools in this vicinity of Maine. The conference is being arranged by the Faculty Committee on Relations with Preparatory Schools. The fraternities have offered to provide entertainment for the visitors.
Scholarship Aid.

December first is near at hand when all applications for scholarships must be in the hands of the college treasurer. Awards will be made later. It is well to call to the attention of the students at this time that scholarship aid is money distributed by the college "in aid of meritorious students of slender means." It is quite easy for the college authorities making the awards to determine the relative merit of applicants but it is a very difficult and quite impossible thing for them to determine the financial means of students without the honest assistance of the students themselves. While there is no college law, written or unwritten, to prevent any undergraduate from applying for and receiving scholarship aid, it is unfair to the college and to those who actually need assistance that students with ample means should take advantage of the offer of scholarship aid in order to get a little easy money. Such students should be subject to the universal contempt of the student body.

The Quill.

The November number of the Quill has just appeared and brings an appeal for greater support from the student body. This appeal, while not in writing, is very evident in the size and character of the November number. This number is quite under its normal size and half of its pages are occupied by alumni contributions. This fact is emphasized, not to discourage alumni contributions by any means, but to show that the amount of student contribution is entirely below what it should be.

The Quill is a student publication just the same as the Orient. If anyone has the idea that it is published by, and for the benefit of, a board composed of a certain number of inspired literateurs, that person has been grossly misled. In content, the Quill is not devoted, by necessity, to short stories, poems or literary criticisms alone. Essays on subjects in the field of economics, politics, history or science are equally acceptable. This last mentioned side of the Quill must be more highly developed if the paper is to secure a circulation warranting success. The literary scope of the Quill is not narrow; it is and should be wide and comprehensive. Admitting, as everyone will, that we have many lines of intellectual interest represented among the student body, why not have a larger and more varied student contribution to the Quill?

On the Campus

John Clair Minot ’96, was on the Campus Sunday.

The number of "Lost—a Freshman Cap" signs on the bulletin board are becoming strangely numerous as Thanksgiving draws near.
Coach Magee was out of town over the week end to attend the A. A. U. Convention at the Copley Plaza in Boston.

McGown '21, as secretary of the New England Intercollegiate Y. M. C. A. Council, was in Boston for the week end where he attended a meeting of the Executive Committee.

Last year's Bugles may be obtained of Hurrell at the Sigma Nu house for a dollar and a half, a fifty per cent. reduction over last year.

Charles Spaulding '17, was on the Campus during the early part of last week.

The large number of Red Cross buttons seen on the Campus as a result of the active campaign of the Y. M. C. A. testifies eloquently to the Bowdoin students' appreciation of the activities of the Red Cross.

Minot '19 was a visitor at the College after the Maine game.

Hon. Charles F. Johnson, judge of the United States Court, and trustee of the College, was seen on the Campus last Friday.

Several students from the College took part in the musical production, "Katcha-Koo," given in town last week.

Webber '16, was in town last week.

A meeting of the Sophomore class was held in the Union last week. Several committees were chosen.

Practice is being held every day for the Freshman and Sophomore squads in preparation for the game which is to be played the 22nd.

The first issue of the Quill came out Friday.

A gratifying letter was read to the student body of Bates College Monday morning by Professor Hartshorn, acting president. The letter, received from President Sills of Bowdoin, referred to the football game in Brunswick. President Sills complimented Bates on its team and especially on the sportsmanship shown by the players and the student body. In conclusion he said it was an honor to win from such a team as Bates had this year.

Alumni are earnestly requested to support the Orient in this work by sending items about themselves or their brother Alumni. Communications should be addressed to the Alumni Editor.

Medic-'53—The Library has recently received news of the death of Dr. Oscar Fitzgallan Swasey on June 4, 1919. He was born at Danville, Vermont, on Christmas day in 1826. Three years after his graduation he began practicing medicine at Beverley, Mass. He remained in that city for sixty-two years, until the time of his death. Dr. Swasey was the last member of his class to die, surviving all his classmates for over ten years.

'56—Woodbury Lunt Melcher died September 10, 1919. He was born October 7, 1832, at Meredith Bridge, N. H. Three years after his graduation he received the degree of Master of Arts from Bowdoin. Since 1862—for nearly sixty years—he has been a lawyer in Laconia, N. H. He was major in 1903-04. He was treasurer of the Laconia Savings Bank for twenty years until 1885, since that date he has been in the insurance business.

'59—Another death, news of which was recently received at the Library, is that of Dr. Henry Melville King, who died June 16, 1919. He was born the third of September, 1838, at Oxford, Maine. He graduated from Newton Theological Seminary in 1862, in which year also he received an A.M. from Bowdoin. Colby awarded him a D.D. in 1877, and Bowdoin in 1899. From 1863 to 1906 he was a pastor in Roxbury, Mass., then Albany, N. Y., and finally in Providence, Rhode Island. From 1891 to 1895 he was president of the Rhode Island Baptist Convention. Later he was a trustee of Vassar College. He was a member of the Alpha Delta Phi fraternity.

'61—Benjamin Shute Grant, who has been engaged in the machinery business in Boston, Mass., for fifty years, died at Newton on the thirteenth of September. He taught at Stockton for two years after his graduation, and then practiced law at Bangor until 1869, when he moved to Boston. He was just seventy years and one day old at the time of his death. He was a member of the Theta Delta Chi fraternity.

'64—Dr. William Henry Pierson, pastor emeritus at Somerville, Mass., for ten years, died August 7, 1919. He was born at Newburyport, Mass., January 12, 1839. He graduated from Princeton Theological Seminary in 1867, and was awarded an A. M. by Bowdoin in the same year. Since then he has held pastorships in various Massachusetts cities, but he was in Somerville the longest period,—from 1891 until his death.

'66—The death of Delavan Carleton, who had been in ill health for a number of years, occurred July 1, 1919. He was born at Portland, Maine, June 22, 1840. He taught school for three years in Sandusky, Ohio; Manistee, Michigan; and Leland, Illinois. From 1870 to 1888 he taught music in Manistee. In 1888 he went into agriculture at Oriska, North Dakota, in which occupation he remained until his death.

'72—The death of Herbert Harris at Chicago on the eighth of June was not known at the Library until recently. He was born at East Machias, Maine, December 17, 1846. He was a composer and teacher of music at Boston from 1872 until 1884. From 1884 to 1900 he resided at East Machias. During the next four years he was an organist at Bangor, later at Portland. In 1900-1910 he was a member of the International Commission of Esperantists. From 1905 until shortly before his death he resided in Portland. He was a member of the Athenaeum Society and of the Alpha Delta Phi fraternity.

'73—George Allen Sargent died in Bangor, October 28, 1910. He was born August 1, 1851, at Haverhill, Mass. He was at Bowdoin for two years and then went into business at Haverhill, Mass., until 1891. In 1906 he entered the Methodist ministry in this State. He was a member of the Zeta Psi fraternity.

'81—Alvin Everett Whitten died June 22, 1919. He was born August 22, 1853, at Yarmouth, Maine. In 1887 Bowdoin awarded him the degree of Master of Arts. He was principal of a number of secondary schools from 1881 to 1892. From 1893 to 1906 he was at the head of a business college in Carroll, Iowa. Since 1906 he has been residing in Fresno, California. He was a member of the Zeta Psi fraternity.

'91—Mrs. Rufus G. Brown of 92 Moreland Street, Roxbury, has announced the engagement of her daughter, Miss Rebecca Brown, to Charles Vincent Minott of Phippsburg, Maine. Miss Brown is a graduate of Radcliffe. Mr. Minott, who comes from a famous old shipbuilding family of the lower Kennebec, was graduated from Bowdoin in 1891, and has served in both branches of the Maine Legislature.

'92—Rev. Winifred S. Randall, for the last three years pastor of the North Deering Community Church, has recently received an offer from the Near East Relief Committee to act as divisional organizer for this society. He graduated from Andover Theological Seminary in 1895, after which he was a pastor in Ware, N. H., and Rochester, N. H., until 1900. Aside from his religious work, he has been engaged in educational work in Massachusetts and New Hampshire for a number of years.

'95—At a meeting of the Boston Life Underwriters Association, James Everett Hicks, the senior vice-president of last year, was elected president. Mr. Hicks, who has been a member of the association for nearly twenty years, has been connected with insurance work in Boston since 1895. He is the State manager of the Union Mutual Life Insurance Company. He believes that the War Risk Insurance was the greatest advertisement that life insurance companies could have asked for. He does not regret the loss of clientele, and strongly urges people to accept "an opportunity that no company can offer."

'99—Friday, November 7, while en route from Boston to Chicago, Hon. Frank Leslie Dutton died very suddenly. He was born at Starks, Maine, December 19, 1870. Since 1902, he has been a lawyer in Augusta. In 1906 he was city solicitor. In 1913 he represented Kennebec County in the State Senate. IS THIS BOWDOIN’S CASE?

At one time when Eurybiades was admiral of the Greek fleet, he desired to flee to the vicinity of the isthmus of Corinth and would have sought refuge there but for the remonstrances of Themistocles. And this was the occasion of the well known words when Eurybiades to check his impatience, told him that at the Olympic games, they that start up before the rest are lashed. “And they,” replied Themistocles, “that are left behind are not crowned.”

Our Y. M. C. A. in the past has been left behind. Compared with that of similar institutions it has seemed like “a wandering bark upon whose pathway shone, All stars of heaven, except the guiding one.”

If there was ever a dynamic impulse behind it and a righteous goal ahead: the impulse must have dissipated to obscurity, and left an organization which fell somewhat below its mark.

The Y. M. C. A. had its elections and officers were elected whose names in connection with the “Y” were printed in the Granite—a doubtful honor as the organization has stood in recent years.

Among some of the savage tribes of the Far East there is a heathenish custom of binding a limb in such a manner that it cannot be moved. Eventually long immobility renders it useless.

In our “Y” the same effects may be observed, long disuse or misuse has weakened it excessively. A weak and powerless organization is surely of little value to the college. The college today is stronger than it has ever been before. Its rapid growth in recent years is remarkable. But the rapid strides that it is going to make in the future will be a surprise to all. It is only natural that organizations, which are such an important part of the college, must grow in proportion. And they must increase in strength if they are worthy of continuation. The Y. M. C. A. has inherent worth and possibilities which far excel those of any organization in college. It stands for greater things than do the various social organizations. If Christianity of the kind that Christ preached and exemplified: freed from theological dogma and petty sectarian squabbles, forming as it does the very foundations upon which our modern society rests; if this Christianity means anything to us, why should not the “Y” which stands for these principles mean something to us? If the “Y” which stands for clean thinking, clean living, and all the better things of life that distinguish the real Christian of today from the Hittites of ancient times, means anything to us why shouldn’t we support the “Y”? Why shouldn’t the “Y” mean more to us for instance than the athletic teams which themselves take from Christianity their ethics of fair and clean play?

It is useless and unnecessary to speak of the value of the “Y” as a whole and the work it has done in the past. The world knows of the inestimable services that the “Y” has rendered to civilization during the recent war. And however it may have been criticised, the intelligent doughboy knows it to be a great power for good.

With the return to normal conditions at this the start of a new college year, the Y. M. C. A. in N. H. C. has an unparalleled opportunity ahead. It must not continue to be the weak organization of past years.

Strengthened by a new burst of enthusiasm, and a new personnel and supported by a loyal constituency, it will be a credit to the college to which it can bring honor and renown.

Take a little time, you who are loyal students, and think about the “Y.” Do a little constructive thinking. Try and get a new vision of its possibilities. Criticise it honestly if you will and then resolve that the Y. M. C. A. of New Hampshire College shall have a new birth, a new purpose, and by zealous co-operation and support a new strength in God.—New Hampshire Student.

A two-day Thanksgiving house party was enjoyed by the Kappa Sigma fraternity last Friday. and Saturday, November 21 and 22.

Friday evening was spent at a joint dance of the Kappa Sigma and Delta Upsilon fraternities at the Delta Upsilon House.

On Saturday, sight seeing and the Freshman-Sophomore football game passed the time very quickly until evening, when the party enjoyed a straw ride to Freeport. On arriving at Mosely’s a banquet was served. Two hours later the party started back to Brunswick, where an informal dance was held.

Among those present were the Misses Harriet Sweetser, Yarmouth; Margaret MacDonald, Portland; Helene Blackwell and Evelyn Priest, Brunswick; Eleanor Hawes, Skowhegan; Marion Judkins, Miss McDougald, Miss Flannigan, and Miss McLons, Rockland; Louise Merriam, Yarmouth; Miss Fuller, Bangor; and Miss Bradish.

The patronesses were Mrs. Richan of Rockland, and Mrs. Priest of Brunswick.

THE MUSICAL CLUBS.
The Glee Club has the start on the Mandolin Club, for rehearsals of the former are now well under way. Every Monday and Thursday afternoon at 4:45 the club rehearses in the music room of the chapel. Professor Wass is very enthusiastic this season and firmly believes that this year’s Glee Club will be the best ever.

No further cuts will be made for some time although the final number of men in the Glee Club will be less than at the present time.

THE RIFLE CLUB.
The Rifle Club has so far been outwardly silent, but inwardly has developed prospects for the coming year. The approximate membership just now is seventy, but this is by no means the number of men desired. No matter whether or not you have had any experience with arms of any kind before, come out and give yourself at least a fair trial. Each man is given one hundred and twenty rounds of 30-30 ammunition and the membership fee is just one dollar.

Members in good standing become automatically members of the National Rifle Association.

The officers of the club are: Hurlin ’20, president; Law ’20, secretary and treasurer; Pendexter ’21, armorer.

FAMOUS WELSH CHOIR COMING.
The Mountain Ash (male) Chorus, one of the finest organizations of its kind, will give a concert in Memorial Hall, Friday evening, Dec. 5.

The program will consist of choruses, duets and solos; native Welsh compositions as well as the more standard operatic choruses and part songs.

There are fourteen men (all soloists) in the concert party—and they sing under the conductorship of T. Glyadwr Richards, the most noted conductor in Wales. It will be well to keep this date in mind.

DEBATING.
The Freshman-Sophomore debate is scheduled for early December and the teams of both classes are preparing for the contest. The members of the Freshman team already selected are as follows: Mitchell, Cousins, Little and Jacobs, alternate. The members of the Sophomore team have not yet been fully decided upon.

The question for debate will be the same as that used in the trials, namely: "Resolved, That the Municipal Police Should Have the Prerogative of Public Bargaining."

A number of Sophomore debaters competed for places on the team which will soon oppose the Freshmen. The trials were held in Hubbard Hall Monday night, the subject being the same upon which the Freshmen were chosen.

Medals for the intercollegiate debating team have been offered this year as they have been sometimes in the past by a graduate of the College who is much interested in debating. If the team loses its debate the medals will be of silver, if it wins, they will be of gold.

SOPHOMORE CLASS MEETINGS.
At a meeting of the Sophomore class held in the Union at one o’clock on Wednesday, November 19, the Sophomores were urged to go out for the debating team. Assessments were taken for back bills and also for present expenses. Also every member of ’22 was urged to come to the game Saturday and give the team its just support.

A second meeting was held in Memorial Hall on Wednesday at one o’clock. Assessments for present issues were taken. Everyone was earnestly appealed to be on the Delta Saturday and do his share for his class and the fellows who were doing their best to make a name for ’22. It was also voted that there should be an organized cheering section.
SOPHOMORES BEAT FRESHMEN, 25 TO 7.

The Sophomores defeated the Freshmen, 25-7. The field was deep with clay mud, which made fast playing difficult for both sides.

Fumbles by the Freshmen near their own goal lines gave the Sophomores two touchdowns; another came by intercepting a forward pass. The Freshmen's score was made by Bisson, who picked up a fumble on the 45-yard line and ran over the goal line. The summary:

MEETING OF NEW ENGLAND COLLEGES.

President Sills and Professor Hutchins represented Bowdoin at the sixty-first meeting of the Association of Colleges in New England. The meeting was held at Middlebury College and was presided over by President Thomas. President Lowell of Harvard, President Hadley of Yale, and President Meiklejohn of Amherst were present.

Twenty-three questions of general interest were discussed such as: "What action should be taken by the Colleges in view of the present popular prejudice against the study of German? What effects of the war can be observed in the student elections this year? The general examination and its relation to various methods of instruction. The new scheme of Carnége pensions next year at Wesleyan."

Fifteen leading colleges of New England are members of this association, and all were represented at the meeting.

THE NEW CATALOGUE.

The new catalogue, upon which Mr. Wilder, the librarian, has been working for several months, is almost entirely printed. It will be out directly after Thanksgiving. This year the catalogue has returned to its normal pre-war size. With its 125 pages of information it is most complete.

There are a number of important changes and additions this year. Announcement is made of one new trustee, Hon. Clarence Hale of Portland. New overseers are George R. Walker of New York City, Lewis A. Burleigh of Augusta, James L. Doherty of Springfield, Massachusetts, and John W. Manson of Pittsfield. The officers of the Board of Overseers are, president, Hon. D. S. Alexander of Buffalo, N. Y., and vice-president, Hon. F. A. Powers of Houlton.

The enrolment this year is the largest ever. The total has reached 499. While the total enrolment of the Medical School is rather small, that of the entering class is large.

Among the Faculty several changes will be noticed. There are two new members. Professors Stone and Little. Mr. Stanwood has received his professorship, and Mr. Nolan has been made assistant professor in Mathematics. Professors Nixon, Davis, Bell, Merge, and Van Cleve are back after war service. Professors Hormell, Andrews, MacMillan, and MacCormick are on leave of absence; Professor Gross has a leave of absence for the first semester, and Professor Davis for the second.

The only changes in the requirements for a degree are those in the science department, which have been previously mentioned. There are several new art courses which will be given next year.

Two new scholarships and one new prize are announced. The new scholarships are the Weston Lewis Fund of $15,000 in memory of Weston Lewis of the Class of 1872, and the Stanley Plummer Scholarship Fund of $2,000 bequeathed by Stanley Plummer of the Class of 1867. The new prize is the Stanley Plummer Prize, also bequeathed by Stanley Plummer, which provides the income of $1,000 to be awarded to some member of the Junior Class for excellence in written or spoken English. There is also the Class of 1875 Library Fund providing the income of $1,500 for the purchase of books on American History.

FENCING

Practice in fencing will begin soon after Thanksgiving. Twelve men have already gone out and it is expected that others will follow soon.

The Abuse of Union Privileges.

There have been many complaints of late of the abuse of the privileges of the Union. All students should know by this time the purpose of the Union,—to provide a place where all students may meet in "informal sociability." To attain this end the Union provides varied means of recreation for the use of the students. Pool and billiard tables, a Victrola, magazines and daily papers are available to all students. A small fee is charged for the use of the pool and billiard tables to cover current expenses.

Some students do not appear to appreciate these privileges. They try to get out of paying for the use of the pool table; they mar and disfigure the furnishings; they break records through carelessness and abuse the Victrola. These are only a few of the pernicious practices which have been in vogue but must cease in the future. If students don't appreciate the privileges of the Union enough to use them decently, they should be deprived of them. The Union Governing Board has this power of deprivation, and will exercise it if there is not marked improvement in the near future.

COMMUNICATION.

Editor of the Orient:

Dear Sir,—As chairman of the editors of the Quill, I thank you for your editorial of November 19, urging more numerous and more varied undergraduate contributions to the magazine. The idea of this recommendation of yours forms part of the policy of the present editors, and I am glad of this chance to say that we are especially interested in introducing new men and new subjects to the pages of the Quill whenever possible. Perhaps a few words as to the inner workings of the editorial mind may be here of some value.

Only a man who has tried being an editor will appreciate fully the troubles of the office. Primarily stands the editor's literary sense, such as he may have. A college magazine, it will be agreed, should be well written. No amount of good idea, much as that is sought, can redeem a paper with bad unity, hackneyed phrasing, or a stiff and amateurish high school sound. Conversely, a well written paper not infrequently contains no new idea. These things I say not to scare prospective writers, whom we are here to encourage rather than discourage. Let papers be submitted at all events; but these are the kinds which must usually give way at first to a more practised or original art, if such can be secured. By effort, however, is a new man nearer to distinction than by no effort. The trick is often this: not to be "sore" over a first rejection.
I echo your plea that the Quill’s field be widened so far as is consistent with the qualities of literature. Before the publication of your editorial the Quill had accepted for the December issue the prize-winning historical essay delivered by Foulke at last June’s Commencement. It is unfortunate, if you will, that the author is another graduate rather than an undergraduate, but the chief Commencement essay is usually worth printing, and it is not written until its author is graduating. This paper was chosen by the Quill partly because its subject is history.

I would say that good humor is always acceptable. It has been rather lacking of late, and yet it is perhaps the easiest and most natural form in which the budding author may try his hand.

With regard to the value of the Quill, I cannot refrain from a word of championship. This is one of the mediums through which new men may be found out who will be interested in using the pen, the same pen, no less, which sometimes rules the world. And at least the Quill is read. Of two class papers recently submitted in Bowdoin English courses, one used as its theme the quotation from Emerson in the November Quill; the other imitated the playful and original conclusion of Butler’s well written story, in the same issue. Imitation is the sincerest flattery.

Through the Orient, I should like to say that the editors will always gladly welcome, even prefer, papers by new men. And if rejections displease, come and argue it out. Freshmen and Sophomores, being the coming lights, are especially invited to contribute here and now.

Respectfully yours,

ROBERT MORSE ’21

With the Faculty

The members of the Equal Suffrage League met at the home of Mrs. Frank N. Whittier, on Tuesday evening, November 25. Professor Warren B. Catlin addressed the meeting, taking for his subject, “Freedom of Speech and Press.”

Professor Frank E. Woodruff preached at the Central Congregational Church, Bath, Sunday, in the absence of the pastor, Rev. D. L. Wilson, who is spending his vacation at Fort Fairfield.

President Kenneth C. M. Sills has been appointed a member of the State committee, which between Thanksgiving and Christmas is to raise funds for the relief of the 4,000,000 Armenians, Syrians, Jews, Greeks, and Persians who face starvation as the result of the activities of the Turks in their efforts to annihilate the non-Turkish population.

Mrs. Paul Nixon returned Monday from an extended visit at her former home in Illinois. Dean Nixon went to Boston Friday, November 14, to meet her and accompanied her home.

William E. Wass left Thursday for Waterville, where he has accepted an excellent position in the paper mill. Mr. Wass, who is the son of Professor and Mrs. Edward H. Wass, served throughout the war in aviation.

Dean Nixon was in Portland Thursday. In the afternoon he addressed the students of Portland High and in the evening spoke at Laurence Church. On Friday he appeared before the Portland Town and College Club where he read a paper on Oxford.

President Sills has resigned his position as chairman of the local branch of the American Red Cross, which office he has held since 1908. Professor Burnett has been elected to fill this office.

PHYSICAL TRAINING BEGINS.

Everyone in college must report for physical training at the time designated for his class beginning Monday, December 1, unless otherwise assigned. The hours for the respective classes are:

1920—Monday, Wednesday, Thursday, 4.30 P. M.

1921—Tuesday, 4.30; Thursday, 4.30; Friday, 3.30 P. M.

1922—Monday, Wednesday, Thursday 3.30

1923—Monday, Wednesday, Thursday 11.30.

The attendance will be taken at exactly ten minutes past the half hour and any later than this will be marked tardy. The attendance will be taken by the monitors of each class on the chapel slips and these are to be handed in to Mr. Markthaler directly after.

Each man must have a gymnasium suit which includes a white jersey, running pants, and rubber soled shoes. Spiked shoes will not be allowed under any conditions on the gymnasium floor but may be worn in the athletic building. All runners, however, must otherwise be dressed in the regular gymnasium suit. Anyone appearing without the gymnasium suit will not be given credit for attendance to the class.

On entering the gymnasium the man is to go up to the gymnasium floor by the back staircase instead of using the two front staircases. It is also announced that all the apparatus required will be loaned to the students and if not returned when called for, will be charged on the regular term bill.
BOWDOIN CLUB OF PORTLAND MEETS.

The Bowdoin Club of Portland held its first meeting of the year on Saturday evening, November 15, at the Elks Club in Portland. Professor Donald B. MacMillan ’98, who is on leave of absence from the College, gave a most interesting lecture on his Arctic explorations. He took a great many photographs while in the North and used a number of them made into lantern slides to illustrate his talk. While he did not announce his plans for returning to the Arctic next spring, it is generally understood that he will go there on a geodetic research in the ship “Bowdoin,” which is now under construction.

The Bowdoin Club of Portland plans to revive the old monthly meetings which were so successful in past years. At the next meeting to be held on the third Thursday in December the annual election of officers will take place.

PHI CHI'S HOLD BANQUET AND DANCE.

The Phi Chi Medical fraternity of Bowdoin College conducted a social at the Congress Square hotel Saturday evening, preceded by a banquet in the private dining room. This occasion was a climax to a series of events, one of which was the meeting at the Elks' clubhouse when 13 candidates were introduced to the mysteries of the fraternity. The social was devoted to dancing and proved most enjoyable. There was no business session. The affair was under the direction of a committee with W. E. Hill as chairman.

FOOTBALL NUMBER OF THE ORIENT.

There will be no issue of the Orient the week following the Thanksgiving recess, but during the second week after the holiday it is planned to put out a Football Number of the Orient. This number will feature the football season of 1919 and will include, besides a picture of the varsity team, individual cuts of this season's stars, the coach, the trainer, and the manager. There will be individual write-ups of every member of the varsity, besides an extended account of the season as a whole. It is hoped that this issue will be one of the most interesting and valuable that has ever appeared. You are advised to order your extra copies now of Allan Hall ’20, Delta Upsilon house.
STUDENT COUNCIL MEETING.
The Student Council met last Tuesday evening, November 18. The main topic for discussion was the Christmas dance. The date had been set for December 23, the day before the Christmas holidays, but a large number of students were dissatisfied with that time. Consequently another date was set, Friday, December 19. This latter date is final.

Most of the fraternity houses plan to have house parties the night preceding the college dance in the gymnasium. Preparations are now under way and this Christmas will see Old Bowdoin in pre-war colors.

SOPHOMORE VIGILANCE COMMITTEE.
A vigilance committee of five was appointed at a recent Sophomore class meeting. There have been many complaints that the Freshmen have not been obeying rules, that they fail to speak on the campus, that they do not wear their caps, that they cut across the grass, and do not keep, to their own side of Maine street. While the fraternities control their own Freshmen, they do not come in contact with the whole class. The purpose of the committee is to see that the rules are strictly obeyed by all the Freshmen.

On the Campus
Frank A. Smith '12, visited the College while on a furlough last week.
Thomson '21, left early last week for Skowhegan where he is teaching Latin in the high school until the Thanksgiving recess.
Clarence Allen '22, has been absent from college during the last week while he was forced to undergo a serious operation. He is reported gaining however and expects to return to school after the Thanksgiving holidays.
The hockey rink between Hyde Hall and Hubbard Hall was laid out last week by George Higgins, janitor of the gymnasium, and a crew of men. It is 125 feet long and 52 feet wide.
The tentative date for the Bowdoin Interscholastic Track Meet is Saturday, February 14. It is planned to have present several prep schools from Massachusetts.
The Sophomores held a class meeting in the Union last Wednesday.
The weight list is being compiled by Doctor Whittier. It is expected that this year the list will show several interesting facts. There are rumors current relative to strong men in the Freshman class.

Several students attended the Harvard-Yale game last Saturday. Jack Magee witnessed the battle from the side lines.
Captain John L. Scott, C.A.C., ex-'18, was seen on the Campus last week.
Smiley '21 was removed to the infirmary Wednesday of last week suffering from a sudden attack of appendicitis.
The annual Bowdoin Calendar will probably be out about December 15. Order blanks are now being distributed. The price is $1.50.
Two Freshman class meetings were held last week in preparation for the Freshman-Sophomore game, one on Wednesday at noon, and the other on Thursday evening. Tice was elected cheer leader. It was voted to assess the class to pay the expenses of the game.
The U. Q. initiation will be held at the Hotel Eagle on December 6.
A recent bulletin sent out from the office contained the Honor Roll of the College and President Sills' memorial address. A pamphlet relating to a swimming pool was sent out at the same time.
Through an error in last week's Orient it was stated that MacGorrell '22 was a scorer at the Cross Country run for the University of Maine.
Fagoni '22 was taken to the infirmary on Friday of last week.
Friday, at noon, the entire Freshman class gathered on the Delta to clean off the snow in preparation for the Freshman-Sophomore football game.
A steam boiler was removed from the basement of Maine Hall last week. It was necessary to tear down a portion of the foundation in order to get it out.

Before the next issue of the Orient the Freshman caps will have disappeared from the campus.
The Christmas dance committee announces that the date of the dance has been changed to the evening of Friday, December 19.
The new skating rink in front of Hyde Hall is beginning to look like business. The boards are now nearly all placed, and hockey ought to be started in earnest soon after Thanksgiving.
Schlosberg '20 announces that nothing will be done on fencing until after Thanksgiving. The number of veterans appears to be small in this sport, but a number of Freshmen have signified their interest in it.
Ben Houzer was on the Campus this week.
The first meeting of the Ibis took place on November 18 at five o'clock in the Classical room of the Library with President Zeitler presiding. The plans for the activity of the society during the coming year was the important question of the meeting.

Alumni Notes

'57—Edward Parker, the principal emeritus of Brockton (Mass.) High School, died November 15 at the home of his son in Brockton. He was born March 31, at Charlestown, Mass. From 1858 to 1860 he was principal of the high school at Georgetown, Mass. In 1860 he received a Master's degree from Bowdoin. For the next four years he was principal of the Melrose (Mass.) High School. After that, for seven years he taught at Biddeford, Maine. In 1871 he became principal of Brockton High School, where he remained until 1914. In 1905 he was made principal emeritus, but continued to teach for nine years more.

'04—Although not engaged in active military service, George W. Burpee is one of many Bowdoin men who have done some very important war work. He is a Managing Engineer with Westinghouse, Church, Kerr, and Company. From August 1917 to July 1919 he was continuously with this corporation, engaged in industrial activities connected with the prosecution of the war. From August to November 1917 he was Assistant to the General Superintendent of Construction on the Port of Embarkation, Newport News, Va., being personally in charge of the construction of Camp Hill. From December 1917 to July 1919 Mr. Burpee was Resident Engineer in charge of the construction of the portion of United States Nitrate Plant No. 2, executed by the company with whom he was employed. This plant, located at Muscle Shoals, Alabama, was one of the two largest war projects to be completed, the other being at Hog Island. The cost of the work at Muscle Shoals was slightly over sixty million dollars, and of this amount the work executed by Westinghouse, Church, Kerr, and Company cost about twenty-five millions. The work covered an area of 2300 acres. In so far as is known this is the largest chemical plant in the world. Mr. Burpee had thousands of men working under him, and they put up with incredible speed the barracks and other buildings required of them.

'11—E. Baldwin Smith '11, from Princeton University, and his mother, Mrs. F. E. Smith, will be the guests of the Misses Anna, Bessie and Belle Smith this week.

"THE OLD HOUSE WITH THE YOUNG SPIRIT"
A Gateway—Electrical

ONLY a forty-foot gateway bounded by two brick pilasters and ornamental lamps, but unlike any other gateway in the entire world.

For back of it is the General Electric Company's main office building, accommodating 2300 employees. And just next door is its laboratory with the best equipment for testing, standardizing and research at the command of capable engineers. Then down the street—a mile long—are other buildings where everything electrical, from the smallest lamp socket to the huge turbines for electrically propelled battleships, is made by the 20,000 electrical workers who daily stream through.

What a story this gate would tell, if it could, of the leaders of the electrical industry and business, of ambassadors from other institutions and from foreign lands.

The story would be the history of electric lighting, electric transportation, electric industrials and electricity in the home.

This gateway, as well as the research, engineering, manufacturing and commercial resources back of it, is open to all who are working for the betterment of the electrical industry.

Illustrated bulletin, Y-863, describing the company's several plants, will be mailed upon request. Address General Electric Company, Desk 43, Schenectady, New York

BOWDOIN'S STRONG MEN.

According to records compiled by Dr. Whittier as the results of strength tests given in the course of physical examinations to students at the College, of the ten strongest men in college six are Seniors, two are Freshmen, one is a Junior and one a medical student.

Due to the upset in the college routine last year tests were not given to the Freshmen but this year, the class as Sophomores was examined. Hence a fair comparison can be made between the two lower classes. In considering the upper classes and the physical development of their members, however, it must be remembered that only men from them who were to compete in athletics were examined.

The strongest man in college is Sprague '20, whose total strength is 1027.3 kilograms. A rough equivalent of this in pounds may be found by multiplying it by two and one-fifth. The second in strength is Ellms '20 with 997.86 kilograms. Close behind is Edmund Albert, the strongest man in the Freshman class and the third strongest in the whole college. His total strength is figured at 993.87 kilograms.

While talking of strong men in general at Bowdoin, it may be well to mention Edward R. Godfrey '99, who set the record at Bowdoin, and for several years for the colleges of the United States at 1716.1 kilograms, made while he was a Junior. In his Freshman year he set the mark at 1121.8 kilograms and advanced it to 1317 kilograms in his second year. In his Senior year his strength was reckoned at 1613.5 kilograms, a drop from the year previous when he set the national record, since broken.

The only time in recent years that a Freshman any where near approached Godfrey's first year strength total of 1121.8 was in 1916 when J. F. Parsons is recorded as having a total strength of 1099.9 kilograms. This is not far in advance of the mark set by the 22-year-old Albert of this year's Freshman class.

The greatest total remembered as having been made by a man at Bowdoin when first examined is that of Walter B. Clarke '99, who in his Sophomore year totaled 1520 kilograms. Due to an accident received while playing football his Freshman year he was not examined so the strength of this classmate of the present Bowdoin strong man cannot be given. In his Senior year Mr. Clarke was captain of the football team and while a Sophomore he won the pole vault and the point needed to make Bowdoin the champion of the New England Intercollegiate meet.

Following is a tabulated report of the strong men this year:

- Sprague '20, total strength, 1027.3 kilograms; strength of lungs, 31; strength of back, 250; strength of legs, 455; strength of upper arms, 161.3; strength of fore arms, 130.
- Ellms '20, total strength, 997.86; strength of lungs, 23; strength of back, 170; strength of legs, 445; strength of upper arms, 203.06; strength of fore arms, 156.8.
- Albert '23, total strength, 993.87; strength of lungs, 26; strength of back, 195; strength of legs, 480; strength of upper arms, 161.07; strength of fore arms, 131.8.
- Peacock '20, total strength, 928.0; strength of lungs, 20; strength of back, 215; strength of legs, 435; strength of upper arms, 126.2; strength of fore arms, 131.8.
- Dostie '20, total strength, 903.75; strength of lungs, 21; strength of back, 210; strength of legs, 340; strength of upper arms, 232.75; strength of fore arms, 100.
- Haggerty '20, total strength, 885.9; strength of lungs, 26; strength of back, 180; strength of legs, 380; strength of upper arms, 152.2; strength of fore arms, 147.7.
- Clark '23, total strength 880.73; strength of lungs, 17; strength of back, 195; strength of legs, 425; strength of upper arms, 125.63; strength of fore arms, 118.1.
- Brewster, Medc. '23, total strength, 871.72; strength of lungs, 18; strength of back, 180; strength of legs, 390; strength of upper arms, 155.72; strength of fore arms, 128.
- Goodwin '21, total strength, 869.68; strength of lungs, 24; strength of back, 140; strength of legs, 385; strength of upper arms, 202.5; strength of fore arms, 118.18.
- Moses '20, total strength, 863.6; strength of lungs 15; strength of back, 145; strength of legs.

HOCKEY TO BE MAJOR SPORT.

The Athletic Council in one of its recent meetings decided that hockey, not played at Bowdoin for several years because of the war, is to be revived this winter as a major sport. A rink 125 feet long and 52 feet wide has already been constructed between Hubbard Hall and Hyde Hall. It is expected that the candidates for manager will be nominated very soon and voted upon in the coming student elections.

Both Bates and Maine are planning hockey teams this winter, while Colby is considering it seriously. The prospects of games with other Maine colleges are therefore promising, while it is predicted that a championship series will be played.

Interclass hockey games will be played in the early part of the season and in this way much of the good material which is known to be in Bowdoin will be unearthed. The game is one of the best of winter sports and many students have expressed their intentions of trying out for the team, so that a large list of candidates is assured.

TRACK NOTES.

Since the Thanksgiving recess track work has begun in earnest in the Gymnasium under the direction of Coach Magee. There is a squad of 75 out for track, choosing this branch of sport instead of physical training, some form of which is required of all men in college. About 50 more are on the waiting list who would like to take track, but the number is restricted as the cage will not adequately accommodate at one time all who would like to try out for the team.

During these first few days the candidates are trying out in any of the events they choose until Coach Magee has an opportunity to size them up and assign them to the event for which they are best fitted. Relay work will start in a few days.

Manager Buker '21 is arranging a schedule for the varsity relay team. New trips will probably be taken on this year. The Freshman relay team will run Hebron and Bates College Freshmen relay teams. The inter-fraternity track meet initiated last year by Coach Magee will be continued this year. Indications are that the meet will be very interesting. There will also be a Sophomore-Freshman meet.

The compulsory athletic system has already proven a decided benefit to the track authorities as a number of promising men have been discovered among the Freshmen.

ATHLETIC COUNCIL NOTES.

The question of changing the track "B" from the present old English letter to a seven-inch block letter with the corners cut off, somewhat similar to the football letter, came up at the last meeting of the Athletic Council. While it is felt by many that the track "B" should be made equal to the football and baseball letters, no decision was reached. The matter was referred to a committee to look into the question and to recommend a new style. The committee was composed of Dr. Frank N. Whittier '85, Luther Dana '03, and Robert E. Cleaves '20.

The offers for two football games next year were received and considered. Harvard wants to play Bowdoin in the Stadium the 26th of next September, and on the same afternoon to play Colby. While the offer is very liberal the general sentiment seems to be against the game because it comes so early in the season and because it does not seem worth while to risk the players in a practice game in which there is nothing to gain. It was referred to the Football Committee. New Hampshire State also wants a game to be played in Portland one week.
before the State series begins. No action was taken in this matter but the game is opposed by many because it is considered too strong a game to be played at that point in the season. The date for the game with Amherst was set for October 9.

It is understood that Coaches Greene and Houser have been engaged to whip the football and baseball teams into shape for the coming seasons. The contracts are now being signed. Both of these men have turned out exceptionally strong teams in the past and a continuance of the good work is to be looked for. This will be the fourth year for Ben Houser with the Bowdoin team. This year he comes under an increased salary.

Willson and Gaffney have been nominated for football manager next year, and Ludden and Harmon for assistant football manager. Nominations for a hockey manager will soon be made, and the elections from these nominations will be held late this week.

March 19 has been set as the date for the inter-fraternity track meet.

Ben Houser has accepted the position of baseball coach for next spring.

MACBETH RECITAL.

Last Wednesday evening a large gathering of townspeople and students filled the auditorium of Memorial Hall to hear a recital of Shakespeare's tragedy of "Macbeth" by Mr. James Plaisted Webber. Previous to the performance Professor Bell delivered a short appeal to the students, urging them to try out for the Ivy play. President Sills introduced the speaker as a graduate of this college, Class of 1900, who has devoted himself to education, music, and drama. Mr. Webber is now teaching at Phillips Exeter Academy.

Mr. Webber portrayed 12 characters in nine scenes, explaining the progress of the play as he went along. He delivered the parts with a fine gradation of tone which never left the audience in doubt as to the character speaking. His technical knowledge of the play was well shown in the scene in which Lady Macbeth incites her husband to the murder of Duncan, the murder scene itself, and the sleep walking scene of Lady Macbeth. Despite the poor acoustic arrangement of the hall, he could be heard everywhere, and he held the undivided attention of his audience. The performance lasted about an hour.

ROBERT HALE TO ADDRESS FORUM.

The second meeting of the Bowdoin Student Forum will be held Friday, December 12, at eight o'clock in the Union. Robert Hale, Esquire, Bowdoin '10, is to address the forum on "The Russian Question." Mr. Hale is a Rhodes scholar and is well known both in this country and abroad. He was a delegate to the American Peace Commission.

The Debating Council urges all students to attend this talk on so timely and interesting a subject presented by a man eminently qualified to speak on it.

NOTED PUBLISHER TO SPEAK.

Mr. William Webster Ellsworth, recently of The Century Company of New York, was intimately connected with the great men and women of American literature of the past 40 years. It is always interesting to hear what a master of any art or craft has to say; especially does the college man find this true of a publisher.

The Saturday Club hopes all students will be able to accept the invitation to be present as guests at the Town Hall, Thursday, December 11, at eight o'clock. There is no admission for college men.

WELSH MALE CONCERT CHOIR.

The members of the Mountain Ash Welsh Male Concert Choir conducted a concert Friday evening, December 5, in Memorial Hall. The choir consisted of 12 singers, the director, and an accompanist. The selections were all given in a splendid manner. Every singer was encored at least once. The quartets and choir work were especially brilliant.

Professor F. Glyndwr Richards, the most famous director of Wales, conducted the concert in an admirable manner. A variety of kinds of music rounded out the program. Mr. Jenkins, the tenor, had a voice which claimed the attention of every one. Mr. John Williams sang "I Fear No Foe," and was encored enthusiastically three times. An unexpected break in the program was made when Mr. S. Jenkins, the comedian of the company, entered and sang some lighter music that drew vigorous applause from all the students. The evening closed with the singing of the National Anthem by choir and audience.
The Christmas Dance.

For the benefit of Freshmen, and at the risk of repeating what may have been said in the past, it might be well at this time to say something concerning the college dance to be held in the Gym the night of the nineteenth. The importance of attending such affairs, as well as house parties given by your fraternity, cannot well be over emphasized. Attendance at such functions is quite as desirable as class attendance in securing the full benefits of a small college.

Roughly speaking, there may be said to be three essential phases to the student's life,—the acquiring of knowledge through the courses offered, the physical training of the student through participation in outdoor sports, and the social training of the student through contact with different people on different occasions. To neglect or stint any one of these means the narrowing of your college life in such a way as to lessen your chances of success in the future. It happens that in our colleges and universities the pursuit of knowledge in courses is made compulsory, that physical training is made compulsory within certain variable limits, while the matter of social training is left largely to the discretion of the individual. It is this circumstance which prompts us to urge on all students the desirability of attending as many of the college and fraternity dances as is compatible with the pocketbook.

Library Conduct.

It is not unusual in entering libraries to see, in conspicuous places, cards with a single word printed on them—Silence. We have no such admonitory signs in our college library here. And probably we don't need them, possibly we do. Be that as it may, we certainly lack the desirable effects, to produce which such an expedient is resorted to. As is patent, the library is the place where most surely of all a student should find quiet. Some will say that if a person can concentrate at all well, the amount of noise now common in the reference and reading rooms is not great enough to be disturbing. There should, however, be practically no unnecessary noise in the library; and we believe that the majority of students at one time or another find their work delayed and interrupted by the selfish and thoughtless talking of someone else in the building.

The noise may be only two or three exchanging friendly greetings as they meet in the corridor or vestibule. No one, of course, would object to that sort of thing if it is not carried to excess; but it is unfair assuredly to the rest for anyone to relate some lengthy piece of news, or to scuffle in the library. The place for social intercourse and for "rough-housing" is elsewhere.
than in Hubbard Hall.

A little serious thought upon this subject from most of us, for it's only a minority who remember the rights of others at all times, is probably all that will be necessary to eliminate this unpleasant cause for loss of time to others. The matter has been thus far in our hands, and as believers in fairness to all, we should each see to it that the amount of disturbance at the library is appreciably lessened. If some change for the better does not soon take place, however, many of us, no doubt, will be glad to see those in charge adopt some means by which a state of comparative silence in the library may be maintained.

COMMUNICATION.

The Masque and Gown was very much gratified to see the large number of men who presented themselves at the trials held last week, and wishes to express its appreciation for the interest there shown. The plan now is to utilize all men who are interested in dramatics and who have ability, in several short plays to be put on this winter. The men chosen for the three tentative casts have already been announced. Ten of those will be given permanent positions in the cast of "Believe Me, Xantippe," and the other twenty should get good parts in the one-act plays mentioned above. If these plays are successful here in Brunswick, it is possible that they will be presented out of town. Other men who came out for the trials and were not put on the tentative casts, will also have a chance to show what they can do, both in these short plays and in the vaudeville show, work upon which will start soon.

Through the kindness and interest of the faculty members the club hopes to be able this year to lay stress upon the educational and training side of dramatics; and give a large number of students profitable instruction along this line, by means of increasing the number of plays produced. As the college curriculum offers no such opportunity, this chance to learn something about acquiring a good stage presence and to get acquainted with the inner workings of the theatre should be welcomed with enthusiasm. H. S. C.

"RING OUT WILD BELLS."

The merry Mule's Hide Season, with its Mistle-toc and Mush is with us once more yet; little Lurline will soon be three years old, without knowing what sugar and eggs look like and one hundred and thirty years ago, on the thirty-first of the February preceding the two Februaries after it and superseding the one before it, the corner stone of the Masque and Gown, one of the few non-profitseering organizations that survived the late International Unpleasantness, was hove deeply into Mother Gravel.

Yes, Ambrose, with a fierce blare of trumpets and a roll of manuscripts the greatest of Bowdoin indoor sports, wabbles splendidly forth, or third, upon its one hundred and eightieth season. Soon, the superb private car of H. Augustus Huse, the former leading man of Carrie Nation and now our high-salaried director will thread the gleaming steel betwixt Bath and Brunswick, drawn by the powerful engines of the Maine Central.

The call to Feets has sounded!

Men of the Student Corpse, last year in the interests of art and civilization, in the interests of the perpetuation of the histrionic art at the Cumberland Theatre we were forced to mace each one of Joe Bowdoin's wards for two bits. This year we want—not two bits, nor four bits, last year's manager overlooked $50, and we are feeling quite affluent; no, this twelve-month we want the same simple and enthusiastic support that you gave us last year, minus the quarter. Let us never again put our relations on a mercenary basis!

If you don't care about going out after a part yourself send brother or sister out, or the often-alluded-to-room-mate, that is if you are rooming with a room-mate and not with a lone. And then, when he returns, with a few ounces of perspiration and a roll of manuscript, treat him as you would a chaperon.

See that his favorite brand is always at hand when he studies his lines, don't punish the Spearmint too loudly and above all see that he sips a little malted milk before retiring. It's very soothing for the avuncular glands.

Dear Fellow Sufferers! Let us work together side by each. The Masque and Gown kneads bright and happy boys and girls. We can offer all the advantages of a Mohammedan Home—sans the seraglio! During our long and glorious existence no hint, no odor of tainted money has ever smirched the fragrance of the fair orchids on our Pant of Arms. Indeed, there have been days when there wasn't a cent, tainted or otherwise, in our jeans! Throughout it all, however, in darkness or dawn, rainy or wet, our order has retained the cold, virtuous, innocent chastity of shredded wheat!

Whango ex Miserosco ad Punctatutum! R. A.
MASQUE AND GOWN.

This past week has seen much activity on the part of the Masque and Gown. The play which will ultimately become the Ivy Play has been announced as "Believe Me, Xantippa." Manager Cole intends to take this play on the road and present it several times before Ivy Week. He also intends to produce a vaudeville show this year and to present it in several near-by towns. In this show there will be ten acts of vaudeville and a one-act play entitled "The Ghost of Jerry Bundy."

Trials for the parts in "Believe Me, Xantippa" were held in Memorial Hall last Thursday evening. The judges were Professors Brown and Bell, and Mrs. Sills. There were about 65 candidates, 30 of whom were picked, three men being chosen for each part. The purpose of three complete casts is to select the men who are absolutely the best suited for the parts. The first rehearsal will be held in Memorial Hall on Tuesday evening, December 9, at 6.35 o'clock. With such a pleasing play as "Believe Me, Xantippa" and with such a wealth of material, the Masque and Gown looks forward to a most successful season.

The provisional cast is as follows:

A TEACHERS' CONFERENCE.

A conference of the men teachers in secondary schools of western Maine with the members of the Bowdoin College Faculty was held at the College on Saturday, December 6, 1919. There were 19 visitors present representing most of the schools in this vicinity. The Faculty Committee on Relations with Preparatory Schools consisting of Dean Paul Nixon, ex-officio, Professor W. H. Davis, chairman, Professor F. W. Brown, and Assistant Professors McLean and Nowlan were in charge of the conference. President K. C. M. Sills was the presiding officer. Members of the Student Council who acted as guides were McWilliams '20, Cleaves '20, Ellms '20, Mason '20, Richan '20, and Buser '21.

The first session of the conference was held in the Faculty Room in Massachusetts Hall from 11.30 A. M. to 12.45 P. M. Several topics were considered; among the most important were: the widening the free margin for college entrance, including, specifically, credit for outside Bible study; and the handicap of entrance conditions. It was announced that plans are being made for making possible credit for outside Bible study. These plans are being developed by committees of the schools and colleges of the State in conjunction with the State Department of Education. Regarding the handicap of entrance conditions Dean Paul Nixon presented statistics covering the five years previous to the war, showing that of those who then entered college with conditions fifty-one per cent. failed to graduate with their class and only four per cent. graduated with honors, whereas of those who entered without conditions only thirty-four per cent. failed to graduate with their class and twenty per cent. graduated with honors.

Luncheon was served at one o'clock at the Hotel Eagle. There were thirty-seven present.

The second session began at 2.15 and lasted until 4.30 P. M. Among the topics considered were smoking, fraternities as aids to scholarship, and the value of visits of sub-freshmen during the college year. Those present cordially approved the stand of the preparatory schools in opposition to smoking among the pupils. Dr. Whittier made a very emphatic presentation of the case against smoking and attendant evils on the part of boys and young men. The methods employed by the fraternities to aid scholarship were described to the visitors. Visits to the college by sub-freshmen on other than athletic occasions were favored and also, in general, a more definite attempt to inform prospective students as to the intellectual work demanded in college. A rising vote of appreciation of the efforts and hospitality of the college was taken. In closing President Sills stated that it would be the policy of the college to hold similar meetings in the future.

PHYSICAL TRAINING.

The physical training courses which all classes take in the gymnasium during the winter months started Monday, December 1. The course is in charge of Mr. E. Markthalter. The assistants are Brewster, Richan, Perkins, and McCurdy. Because of the war this is the first time in several years that the gymnasium classes have met regularly during the winter.

A very large number of students are taking track work instead of the regular gymnasium work this winter. There are great possibilities among the Freshmen and, with those taking track regularly, tryouts are being given in search for material. It is with this large stock of material that Trainer Magee expects to develop an unusually successful track team.

CHRISTMAS DANCE.

The Committee for the Christmas Dance has its arrangements well under way. Janitor Higgins will be in charge of the decorating. Each fraternity will be expected to decorate one booth. It is thought now that there will be about 200 couples present. The favors will be leather card cases for the gentlemen and vanity cases for the ladies. The cost of the dance will be in the neighborhood of $6.00. Patronesses have been invited and the committee is looking forward to a most successful dance.

FENCING.

Eighteen men reported to Schlosberg '20, who is in charge of fencing, at the last meeting of the group. Three of these men must be dropped as Dr. Whittier has-limited the number who may take fencing to fifteen. Two trips will probably be arranged. There are few experienced men, but the quantity of material at hand guarantees that a fairly successful team should be formed.

THE '68 SPEAKERS.

The seniors who are to compete for the Class of 1868 Speaking Prize were announced last week by Professor Mitchell. They are Abbott, Asnault, Constantine, Goodhue, McWilliams, and Taylor. The date set for the contest is January 22. The prize is awarded to the senior who both writes and delivers the best oration.

WARNINGS.

The number of major and minor warnings issued this year is nearly twice the number issued at the same time in previous years. The Dean has nothing to say on the matter but believes the following figures speak for themselves:

Year: Majors: Minors:
Nov. 1915................. 28 52
Nov. 1916................. 19 61
Nov. 1919................. 46 88

CERTIFICATES OF HONOR CONFERRED.

An interesting ceremony took place in the college office last Wednesday afternoon when President Sills conferred on twelve men who have returned to college certificates of honor which were voted them last Commencement.

Nearly all of the men whose names follow will receive the Bachelor's degree in June.

Y. M. C. A. PUTS ON LECTURE.

Dr. Frank N. Seerley, Dean of the Springfield Y. M. C. A. College, gave a very instructive talk in the Union last Sunday evening under the auspices of the Bowdoin "Y." Dr. Seerley has had much experience in both peace and war times as an instructor in hygiene. He served during the war both in this country and in France. His subject, "Manhood," was handled frankly yet tactfully and was illustrated by many stories of his wide experiences with men and boys. After the lecture Dr. Seerley stated that he would be only too glad to meet any fellow who might care to discuss any subject with him.

On the Campus

Not long ago a request for railway mail clerks was posted. So many students applied that the notice had to be removed last week.

The Masque and Gown issued a call for actors and vaudeville artists. Shortly afterwards the list of men chosen in the try-outs appeared.

All artists should at least submit a drawing for the Bugle. Max Ryder will receive them at the Delta Upsilon House.

Peacock '20 and H. V. Davis '23 gave brief addresses on the "League of Nations" at the public meeting in the Town Court Room on last Saturday evening.

Dr. Frank N. Seerley gave the Chapel address last Sunday. Dr. Seerley is the Dean of the Y. M. C. A. College at Springfield, Mass.

Samson '17 was seen on the Campus last week.

Rehearsals for the Masque and Gown are taking place in Memorial Hall. Try-outs were started last Thursday at which a large number of prospective actors turned out.

The Welsh Choir entertained a large audience of Bowdoin men and Brunswick people in Memorial Hall last Friday evening.

"Spaghetti," well known to Bowdoin men, has filled the fraternity houses and dormitories with plaster figures and shields.

Principals and teachers from many of Maine's leading preparatory schools were on the Campus Saturday.
Owing to the fact that the cuts for the Football Number of the Orient are not yet obtainable, this issue will appear at a later date than first announced.

In a recent issue, it was stated that Judge L. A. Emery was the first pitcher of Bowdoin College in the notable game between the Sunrise and the Class of 1861 nine's. Instead, the first mound artist representing the White was Edwin Emery of the Class of 1861, father of William M. Emery, 1889, a present overseer of the College.

The following men are appointed assistants in the various courses: English, Morse '21; French, Smith '20; Mathematics, Tibbits '20; Chemistry, Abbott '20, Lyseth '21; Government, Hatch '21; History, Goodrich '20, Prout '21; Spanish and German, Waltz '20; Latin, Avery '20; Psychology, Helson '21; Economics, Ellms '20; Bean '21.

Mrs. George T. Files, widow of Professor Files, has closed her home on Maine street and removed to the Hotel Touraine, Boston, for the winter.

Arthur T. Small '02, of Chicago, III., was on the Campus Wednesday.

On a small ice pond a short distance from the campus, many Bowdoin men are getting in shape for the coming hockey season.

The Masque and Gown held its trials Friday evening, December 5, and the casts for three plays were selected.

Ernest C. Fuller '17 was seen on the Campus last Wednesday.

Before the reading of "Macbeth" in Memorial Hall last Wednesday evening Professor Bell made an appeal for new material for the Masque and Gown.

The Christmas holidays begin December 23 at 4:30 o'clock and end at 8:20 A. M. on the 6th of January.

Trials for the instrumental soloist for the Musical Clubs which were scheduled for last Wednesday afternoon were postponed because of the judges' failure to appear.

Stone '17, was on the Campus recently.

The U. Q., Freshman Honorary Society, held its annual initiation Saturday evening. The initiates were Bates, Bisson, Clark, Colburn, Eames, Gray, Handy, Hanscom, Hill, Mason, Miller, Orcutt, Palmer, A. Smith, Wing.

With the Faculty

President Sills addressed the pupils of the Brunswick High School on Tuesday, December 2.

President Sills spoke at the weekly luncheon of the Rotary Club of Lewiston and Auburn at Lewiston last Friday. In the afternoon he attended the meeting of the committee of the Alumni Council in Portland, and in the evening he addressed the Woodfords Club of Portland.

Professor W. H. Davis was chairman of the public meeting held in the Town Court Room for urging immediate ratification of the Peace Treaty last Saturday evening. President Sills and Professor Van Cleve spoke at the meeting.

Professor Hornell was seen on the Campus Sunday. He has recently returned from a trip abroad.

Exchanges

The Amherst Student: Amherst has good prospects for the coming basketball season, and a well balanced schedule in New England and New York.

Reed College Quest: With the coming of the winter season Reed has turned to the drama for amusement and teaching, and the three plays recently staged are said to be the best ever given by the students.

The Maine Campus: The "Tales of Bolivar's Children," recently introduced in The Maine Campus promises to bring out some interesting "inside dope" from the history of the Blue Elephant.

RESOLUTIONS.

Hall of Alpha Delta Phi:

In the death last June at Providence, R. I., of Brother Henry Melville King of the Class of 1859, the Bowdoin Chapter of Alpha Delta Phi has lost one of its oldest and most prominent alumni.

Brother King was an earnest and faithful member of the Fraternity during his undergraduate days, and loyal throughout life to its spirit and traditions. For over a half century he was a potent force in the Baptist ministry. His unselfish, unswerving devotion won for him the respect and confidence of all who knew him.

It is voted that this acknowledgement of the loss to the Fraternity, and of sincere sympathy with his family in their bereavement, be spread upon the records of the Bowdoin Chapter, and transmitted to the family of our departed brother.

MEETING OF TRACK COACHES IN WATERVILLE.

The track coaches and trainers of the four Maine colleges, John Magee of Bowdoin, Smith of Bates, Ryan of Colby, and Ryder of Maine, met in Waterville last Saturday to discuss the track events for the following winter and spring. At this meeting Coach Ryder of Maine proposed that the four Maine colleges form a nucleus for an intercollegiate meet to be held at Portland. Ryan stated, however, that Colby hadn’t the facilities for track this year as its board track was broken up while the S.A.T.C. was there; so that institution would probably have no team. The other three coaches entirely opposed this proposition of a Maine Amateur Athletic Union as they felt that ‘it had nothing in common with college athletics. Coach Magee thought it would be impractical to run the four colleges in so many scratch races on a small wooden track with bad corners which furnish a great element of danger to his men. He felt absolutely satisfied that the competition he gives his men in the various meets during the winter in the Bowdoin gym are sufficient. The strain on the men would be too great if they were entered in so many meets, since they need to be rested during the winter. The only exception is the usual relay race which includes a small squad of sprinters.

TRACK NOTES.

Relay practise will begin Monday, December 15. The Freshman team will be picked shortly. This year the Freshman Relay Team, in addition to the usual race with the Sophomores, will run the Bates Freshmen twice, once in Lewiston and once here.

Manager Bucker was in Waterville one day last week where he met the managers from the other colleges of the State. The purpose of the meeting was to discuss the feasibility of an Intercollegiate Indoor Track Meet.

Coach Magee reports that an unusually large track squad has turned out this year. During the first week the men were allowed to work out their own events but Jack and Dostie have now grouped them in the events to which they are best fitted. This week the men will begin to work on the assigned groups. The Sophomore and Freshmen gym classes have been combed by Dr. Whittier and Coach Magee for any material that might be placed on the varsity squad. A Sophomore and a Freshman division of the gym classes have been formed which meet respectively at four o’clock and twelve on Monday, Wednesday and Thursday, of each week. Thirty-two Freshmen have already been selected for the varsity squad and many look like good material.

Coaches Magee and Smith discussed the possibilities of a dual indoor track meet at Bowdoin sometime in February. They favored this measure as furnishing the necessary competition for the men. The matter will be taken up later at a meeting of the Athletic Council when it is expected that the proposition will be accepted.

Coach Magee states that Bowdoin has been invited to run Brown, Amherst, Wesleyan, or Williams.

PUBLICATION OF RICKARD’S BOOK.

The press of Thomas Bird Mosher of Portland, long noted for beautiful editions of unusual books, has just issued “Songs with Tears,” a volume of prose and verse by Lieutenant Forbes Rickard, Jr., ’17, who was killed in action July 19, 1918. The title is from a line in his class poem. The volume contains a sketch by Mrs. Forbes Rickard the “mother” of the letters included and compiler of the volume; an appreciation by Mary Cowell Ham (Mrs. Roscoe Ham); and several tributes in verse, by Lloyd O. Colter ’19; R. R. Greenwood of Worcester, Mass.; T. A. Rickard, editor of the Mining and Scientific Press of San Francisco; and H. S. White ’17. The book which is distinctly a product of Bowdoin is reviewed elsewhere in these columns by President Sills. The edition will be on sale at Chandler’s Book Store.

SATURDAY CLUB LECTURE.

Mr. William Russell Ellsworth spoke last Thursday evening in the Town hall on “Forty Years of Publishing.” An invitation was extended to all the students of the College by the Saturday Club which arranged the lecture. The audience was not very large but was very appreciative.

Mr. Ellsworth was connected with the Century Publishing Company for many years. Among his acquaintances were numbered many of the greatest literary men of the time. His personal reminiscences of such men as Longfellow, Lowell, Walt Whitman, Thoreau, Bret Harte, Kipling, Jefferson, and General Grant, told as they were with a charming personal flavor, were most delightful. His story of the making of a book was interesting. The thanks of the Student Body is due the Saturday Club for the excellent lecture.

ROBERT HALE ADDRESSES FORUM.
The Bowdoin Student Forum held its second meeting of the college year, Friday evening, December 12, in the Union. Robert Hale, Bowdoin '10, very ably discussed the "Russian Question." Mr. Hale, a former Rhodes scholar, was sent with the American peace delegation to Russia as special legal advisor where he learned a great deal concerning the turmoil in that country.

Mr. Hale's lecture dealt with the development of Bolshevism to its world menacing position today. He explained in detail the attitudes taken by the Allied Powers, in the peace conference, and separately. Finally he put the question, "What shall we do about Russia?" before the forum. At the close of his lecture he answered many questions asked by his audience and succeeded in clearing up many troublesome points of the perplexing question.

MASQUE AND GOWN.
The final cast of the Iky play will be chosen Monday night, December 15, from the three casts chosen last week. The same judges who selected these casts will probably select the final cast with the aid of Mr. Huse, the coach.

Since a trip to Massachusetts is planned for the last part of January, the elimination has to be made now. Several rehearsals have been held, and Mr. Huse reports good progress.

ANNOUNCEMENT.
The Masque and Gown, realizing the lack of entertainment provided for the guests on next Friday afternoon, announces an entertainment and tea at the Union from 3:30 to 5:30. Two short plays will be given, and there will be music by the College orchestra. Mrs. Sills, Mrs. Burnett, and Miss Anna Smith will pour. A fee of 25 cents will be charged to cover expenses.

THE DES MOINES DRIVE.
The drive to send delegates to Des Moines, Iowa, to attend the Y. M. C. A. Convention in that city was conducted throughout the College last Friday. A small card proclaiming the wearer a subscriber to the cause was given with every subscription. Fraternities, faculty, in fact, every one on the campus received the attention of the canvassers. The reply of the College was so generous that on the close of the drive that evening, the collection amounted to over one hundred and seventy-five dollars. This added to the sum already received from churches and the Y. M. C. A. will make it possible to send Bowdoin's full quota of six delegates to the convention.

The men to go to Des Moines are: Noss '20, Bucker '21, Cummings '21, Reiber '21, and Congdon '22, as student delegates, and McGown '21, as general secretary of the Y. M. C. A.

DR. SEERLEY'S SECOND LECTURE.
In the Union Monday evening, December 8, Frank N. Seerley, dean of the Springfield Y. M. C. A. College, gave an interesting and highly appreciated lecture on "Womanhood." Dr. Seerley, who visited Bowdoin under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. at the College, is well fitted to lecture on his chosen subject. For two years he was in France as general supervisor of the athletic department of the A. E. F. This and many other episodes of his varied life has enabled him to accumulate a large and unusual stack of stories which he used to great advantage in his lecture.

Dr. Seerley's lecture of the preceding evening had evidently placed him high in the estimation of the students, for before quarter past seven every available seat in the Union was occupied. Dr. Seerley adopted a paternal attitude which gave his lecture the atmosphere which such a heart to heart talk called for. The lecture claimed the closest attention of everyone and received generous applause from the students. Following the lecture, Dr. Seerley expressed his desire to meet and talk to personally any man who could be aided by his advice.

SMOKING AT BOWDOIN.

Aside from the comparative strength of the various men and classes in college, other interesting results are to be found on perusal of the physical examination reports. For instance, in the two lower classes, 92 men say that they have never smoked. This number has more significance when it is noted that there were but 237 men in the two under classes who were examined. It means that one-third of the lower classmen do not smoke.

Of the men who smoke, the majority “light up” from five to ten times a day. Eleven smoke more than fifteen times a day. A review of the favorite brands would no doubt be interesting. Included in the number of men who smoke are forty-one who make use of the “makin's” occasionally. That is, they smoke on special occasions; to show their girls how it ought to be done or to prove that they are “reg’lar, college fellers.” Those who smoke from two to five times a day number thirty-three. Sixteen men smoke from ten to fifteen times a day.

Two men have admitted that they started to use tobacco when they were ten years old. Evidently, the age of twelve was a tender and obedient age for none will admit that he began the practice at that time. Two more fellows indulged when they were thirteen years old. At the age of fourteen, three more became users of nicotine. The number of users of tobacco took a decided jump in the 15-year-old column, for here eight names were found.

At the age of sixteen, the figures took a decided jump. Fourteen men say that they have smoked since they were sixteen years old. The peak was reached at the age of seventeen when thirty-four men began smoking.

The number of men starting to smoke dwindles from the age of seventeen. At eighteen years but fifteen began their use of “the weed.” The next year the number dropped one and at the age of twenty six men lit their first cigarette.

BOWDOIN SUPPORTS LEAGUE.

Members of the faculty and undergraduates of Bowdoin College joined some of the townspeople here in a non-partisan meeting at the Court Room Saturday night to protest the failure of the Senate to pass the peace treaty.

The meeting adopted and sent to the two Maine Senators, Bert M. Fernald and Frederick Hale, a resolution urging the immediate ratification of the covenant and the treaty “in such wise that the full effect of membership in the League of Nations shall not be lost to the United States.” Professor Davis presided. The principal speakers were Judge Joseph H. Rousseau of the local Municipal Court, President Kenneth C. M. Sills of Bowdoin and the following discharged officers of the overseas forces: Professor Van Cleve, Davis and Peacock of Bowdoin. The resolution presented by Professor Bell follows: “We, residents and voters of the town of Brunswick, Me., a number of whom have served in the armed forces of the United States during the war for the establishment of international justice and for the avoidance of future wars, believing that our aims will not have been fulfilled and that the cause for which so many of our countrymen died will not have been achieved without the establishment of the League of Nations, and believing that the general principles contained in the proposed covenant and treaty are fair, protest the recent rejection thereof in the United States Senate, and petition that honorable body to reconsider its action and ratify the covenant and treaty in such wise that the immediate and full effect of membership in the League of Nations shall not be lost to the United States.”

DR. HATCH'S HISTORY OF MAINE.

The library received last week its most remarkable acquisition in several months. This is the “History of Maine” in three volumes, by Louis Clinton Hatch, Ph.D. Dr. Hatch was a graduate of Bowdoin '95 and stood high in rank at college. Because of poor health he has devoted his time since graduation to history, already having published a history of the American army during the Revolution. This history of Maine may well be termed the life work of Dr. Hatch for he has thought and written on it for over twenty years in order to complete it for next year’s Maine centennial.

The history is enclosed in three large volumes containing many interesting illustrations. It deals with nearly every possible phase of Maine life, including large sections on government, religion, industry, education, great men, commerce and literature. Professor Mitchell of Bowdoin contributed a large section dealing with education. This section and many others contains illustrations dealing with Bowdoin and Bowdoin men. On the whole the history is a work of which the college may be justly proud.
The Peace Treaty Referendum.

At the chapel exercises last Thursday morning, President Sills read excerpts from a telegram, received from the heads of four of the leading college papers of the country and approved by the Presidents of the four colleges represented, Columbia, Princeton, Harvard and Yale, in which a referendum of college sentiment concerning the Peace Treaty is asked. It is proposed that on the 13th of January such a referendum be conducted in all the colleges throughout the country in order to ascertain the feeling of the student bodies and faculties on this vital question. This is only one phase of a movement under way in this country to ascertain whether the Senate represented public opinion in turning down the Peace Treaty last session. The whole question is of most vital importance to every college man as the success or failure of the Senate in passing the Treaty in some form or other at this session will be a powerful influence in shaping the social, economic and political future of the United States.

It is asked that every member of the student body and faculty vote yes on one of the four following propositions: (1) Do you favor the ratification of the League and Treaty without amendments and reservations? (2) Do you oppose the ratification of the League and Treaty in any form? (3) Do you favor the Treaty and the League but only with specific reservations as voted by the majority of the Senate? (4) Do you favor any compromise on the reservations which will make possible immediate ratification of the Treaty and the League?

The meaning of the first two of these propositions should be perfectly clear to anyone. It is here a question of the unqualified acceptance or rejection of the Treaty. To vote yes on number three would be to accept the Treaty with the reservations which the Senate adopted. Some consider these reservations as necessary to protect the interests of the United States while others look on them as unnecessary and indirectly nullifying the Treaty and the League. A general acquaintance with these reservations is necessary to an intelligent vote on this proposition. Proposition four will appeal to those who are strongly in favor of ratification but who would prefer to see moderate reservations.

It will be impossible to present to the students the different points of view through the columns of the Orient. It is necessarily left to each student to avail himself of his present knowledge and what he may acquire in the next few weeks on the subject in the formation of his opinion. The influence which this expression of opinion by the colleges of the country will have cannot be overestimated. It is therefore quite necessary that a large vote be polled and that every student as far as possible cast an independent vote, uninfluenced by political faith or what others believe. To stimulate the free thinking which is necessary to this, group discussion should be indulged in whenever possible and papers and magazines should be more widely read, especially with the view of ascertaining actual facts and weighing editorial opinion. This is a good time to acquire the habit of reading the daily paper for something more than the sporting news.

RICKARD’S WORK.

When one is inclined to wonder if in the present generation of undergraduates there is as much interest in the finer things of college life, in literature and poetry and ideas and friendship as in the past, there comes this beautiful book to give reassurance and hope to the belief that the college still nurtures and breeds men who in aim and in expression are poets. For it is fair to judge each generation by the best that it produces, not by the average nor by the indifference of the many. No book brought forth under Bowdoin auspices for many a year has more in it to stir the heart than these selections from one of the noblest of her younger sons. In the poems and the essays and letters there are many lines and passages that could not have been written had not the author been deeply and soundly versed in the best traditions of the college. And it is no exaggeration to say that this record of the thought and emotions of a youth of twenty-one is the best possible test of the kind of education Bowdoin gives and worth far more than athletic victories, academic distinction or generous gifts. For the college deals at all times with the things of the spirit. No Bowdoin man would be averse to having his college judged in literary or academic circles of the highest and most rigid standards by this small choice volume. The whole book in its composition and arrangement and make-up is exquisite, and the best memorial we could wish, not only for its gallant young author who now has his little cross at Juilly (Seine et Marne) but for his other comrades from Bowdoin who also lie beneath the flaming poppies. The prelude by his mother, the appreciation exquisitely phrased and tenderly restrained by one here who knew him well, the verse tributes from his comrades and classmates—all these give the proper setting for the poems and prose that set forth the man himself. I doubt if in the long history of the college there has ever been a class poem equal in beauty and pathos to that delivered here by Rickard June 21, 1917; and certainly no letters from the front have moved one more than his. For those who doubt and scoff at the appealing and uplifting power of poetry and religion one has only to recall that this boy whom we knew so well, at the front read from “the little black leather covered prayer book by way of observing the Sabbath” and found there “a bulwark to keep one’s faith in a good world” and assurance that we can in life and thoughts try to be Christian even without the opportunity of church going—and also that in his final march he wrote of leaving all sorts of practical equipment “but the Oxford book I still have with me.”

The publication of this book is a landmark in the literary life of Bowdoin; and though by its very intimate nature it must make its greatest appeal to those who knew and loved Rickard, the college is deeply grateful to the compiler for putting into permanent and beautiful form something that will help us all to catch “a moment that in its aspiration and beauty can seal the later days and make them sure.”

On the Campus

Ray Swift ’17 was seen on the Campus Wednesday of last week.

F. Arnold Burton ’07 of Boston was in town last week.

The date for the Sophomore Hop has been set for February 20.

Dr. Seerly of the Springfield Y. M. C. A. College delivered his second lecture in the Union last Tuesday evening.

Mr. John S. Crowley and Mr. Clarence H. Lunt of the Beverley Men’s Singing Club were on the Campus last Thursday. They were much pleased with the rehearsal of the Glee Club which they attended. There is a possibility that the Beverley Club will have a concert here this year.

The condition of the walks has been very bad this last week. The ice covered with a thin coating of snow was very treacherous.

The usual regulations regarding men leaving college early will be in force this vacation.

Trials for instrumental soloist for the Musical Clubs were held last Monday. There were four candidates. Trials for the reader were also held last week.

The first Masque and Gown rehearsal was held last Tuesday evening in Memorial Hall. The coach, Gus Huse, put some of the men through preliminary work.

Last Friday was tag-day for the Y. The purpose was to raise money to send delegates to the Des Moines Convention.

The College has recently purchased Professor Johnson’s rare collection of Ancient Greek and Roman coins. These coins will be on view in the Walker Art Museum.

Many Bowdoin men attended the lecture in the Town Hall last Thursday evening. Mr. William Ellsworth, who has been forty years with the Century Company, gave many sidelights on the business of publishing.

Many students were seen wearing tags last Friday as a result of the Des Moines drive.

Students unable to get home before six o’clock at night, December 24, are excused from classes Tuesday, December 23, in order to make this possible.

The tickets for the Christmas dance were on sale in the Union last Friday afternoon. They may also be procured from the members of the committee.

Once more the campus is covered with snow and ice.

A snappy relay race is being run daily by the track squad. Much good material is developing.

It will be impossible to run a Football Number of the Orient till the picture of the varsity team and captain-elect are available. Unfortunately these pictures have not yet been taken.

“A group of Bowdoin College students playing under the name of the Brunswick Town Team was defeated 36 to 30 by the Livermore Falls basketball team Friday evening. The members of the Bowdoin team were McCurdy, Perry, Walker, Mason, Marston and Dahlgren. Now the Brunswick boys are planning to organize a team to play in nearby towns under the name of Bowdoin College, the local boys claiming that they have as much right to use the name of Bowdoin as the students have to use the name of Brunswick.”—Brunswick Record.

With the Faculty

Professor Mitchell preached at the Williston Church, Portland, Sunday, December 7. Professor Mitchell was the guest of Judge and Mrs. George F. Gould of Portland for the week end.

Professor Mitchell spoke on Longfellows to the pupils at Goodwill Farm last Saturday evening.

Professor Burnett and family on Thursday moved into their new residence, corner Maine and Page streets. This house, the former Martin residence, has been thoroughly renovated and many improvements have been made in its appearance both inside and out since it was purchased by Professor Burnett last spring.

Professor Gross, who is on leave of absence in Boston, will be back next semester.

Mr. Furbish was in Boston several days on business.

The Library has just received two pamphlets by Professor Copeland. The first of these, reprinted from The Journal of Experimental Zoology of February 1, 1918, is entitled “The Olfactory Reactions and Organs of the Marine Snails Alectria Obsoleta (Say) and Busycon Canalulatum (Linn.).” The second, “Locomotion in two Species of the Gastropod Genus Alectria with Observations on the Behavior of Pedal Cilia,” has been reprinted from the Biological Bulletin of August 2, 1919.

Professor Elliott contributes to the Nation of December 6, an article on the “Neighborliness of Robert Frost.”

Last Saturday Dean Nixon attended a meeting of the superintendents of schools at Augusta.

The Classical Club held a meeting Tuesday evening, December 16, at eight o’clock, at the home of Dean Nixon.

A visitor well known to Bowdoin men was on the Campus Sunday, December 7, in the person of Professor Orren C. Hornell. Professor Hornell has been for several years the professor of government and history at the College, but is now on a year’s leave of absence. While away from Bowdoin Professor Hornell has been conducting a course in Municipal Finance at Harvard University during the present semester. During his visit he saw a great many of his old friends both of the Faculty and of the Student Body.

156—At a meeting of the Yale Corporation on November 17, a resolution was adopted expressing the sentiment of his associates toward the Rev. Dr. Edwin Pond Parker of Hartford, Conn., who retired at the October meeting. The resolution in part is as follows: “The Yale Corporation desires to record its appreciation of the service which he (Dr. Parker) has rendered to the University through twenty-four years. To his fidelity and enthusiasm and wisdom we are all indebted. Among those who by their clarity of vision and sanity of judgment, and nobility of spirit, have co-operated in the building of Yale, Dr. Parker will hold an enduring place." Dr. Parker was born in Castine, January 13, 1836, graduated from the Bangor Theological Seminary in 1859, and received the degree of Doctor of Divinity from Yale in 1875. For more than fifty years (1860-1912) he was pastor of the Second Congregational Church in Hartford. In 1895 he was appointed a Fellow by Yale University, the position from which he has just retired.

'74—In the Boston Herald of November 30, the following mention of the new portrait of President Samuel Valentine Cole of Wheaton, by Alfred E. Smith, was made: "It is what one calls a 'straight' portrait, with stress upon likeness, and dignified, unobtrusive treatment of the clothes and other accessories. It reveals a personality; the alert college administrator, foe of "Bolshevik professors." There was also a copy of the portrait printed in the Herald. This portrait was mentioned in the November 4 issue of the Orient.

Medic '79—Dr. Charles Wesley Pillsbury died in Saco, Maine, December 3, after an illness of seven months. He was born in Scarborough, Maine, June 30, 1851; went to the Bowdoin Medical School for two years, and then transferred to Dartmouth, where he received his M.D. in 1881. Ever since that time he has practiced medicine in Saco.

Since then he has been a pastor in a number of different places, at St. Johns, New Brunswick; Foxcroft, Augusta, Me.; Cliftonboro, and Middleboro, Mass. He came to the last named place in 1907, and remained there for six years until 1913, when he went to Utica, N. Y. He stayed at that place until last September when he received his call to Franklin. '04—Final returns in the recent New York elections, in which John W. Frost of Brooklyn, N. Y., ran for a district judgeship on the Republican ticket in a Democratic stronghold, shows that he made a remarkable showing in the face of certain defeat. He has recently returned from service overseas, where he was a captain who was cited for gallantry in action.

But now that he's wed, why,
He's only subdued.

—Cornell Widow.

A pretty girl sat in a railroad train,
As lonesome as she could be;
And she said to herself with a little sigh—
"If he'd only talk to me."

The young man sat just across the aisle,
From the girl with the pretty stare,
And he said to himself, "If I sit with her,
I wonder if she would care."

And so they rode the whole long day,
And neither one of them knew,
Just what the other was thinking of,
Did it ever happen to you?

Electricity—the Master Force in Manufacturing

The marvels of electricity have revolutionized our manufacturing industries. With belts and pulleys replaced by electric motors operating automatic—almost human—machines, many a slow and tedious process has been eliminated. The factory worker's task of yesterday is made pleasant by his command of this magic power.

The Crane Company's plant at Chicago—electrical throughout—is a model of industrial efficiency. Its 10,000 horse-power of driving energy is brought by three small wires from a distant power plant. Then electricity drives the machinery which handles the coal for heating, cuts the steel, sifts the sand and sorts the material—in fact does everything from scrubbing the floor to winding the clock.

Such an institution is marvelous—superhuman—made thus by the man-multiplying force of electricity. The General Electric Company has been instrumental in effecting this evolution. First, by developing successful electrical generating and transmission apparatus to furnish economically this modern form of power. Secondly, through many years of active cooperation with hundreds of manufacturers, it has mastered the art of applying the use of electrical energy to a multitude of needs. And finally, through branch offices and other distributing channels, its products are made accessible to all.

EX-PRESIDENT TAFT AT BOWDOIN.

Friday evening Ex-President William Howard Taft, under the auspices of the Annie Talbot Cole lectureship, delivered a most interesting lecture on the League of Nations. The Church on the Hill was crowded to capacity,—the college men in the gallery and the public down stairs.

Mr. Taft gave a most interesting lecture on a difficult subject, and added variety to a complicated political question, with an occasional spark of the humor which is so characteristic of him. The ex-President proclaimed his approval of the League of Nations in spite of his Republican affiliations, and expressed a desire to see it go through the Senate either with or without reservations. He carefully explained each reservation and probably convinced the majority of the audience that only ten per cent. of the power of the League was lost by the adoption of the fourteen reservations.

Mr. Taft held the attention of all his hearers during his entire lecture, two hours in length, and received hearty applause at its end. This discussion should aid greatly in facilitating the expression of opinion concerning the League which college men are called upon to make this week.

RECEPTION FOR EX-PRESIDENT TAFT.

The Kappa Chapter of Psi Upsilon held an informal reception for ex-President Taft on last Friday afternoon. Mr. Taft is a member of the Beta Chapter at Yale. A large number of professors and their wives were guests of the chapter and were received by Mr. Taft, President and Mrs. Sills, and R. Schlosberg '20. After the reception, tea was served; Mrs. Burnett and Mrs. Copeland poured.

THE WENTWORTH PHOTOGRAPHS.

Attention is called to a collection of artistic photographs on exhibition in the Bowdoin Gallery of the Walker Art Building until January 31. The exhibition opened Saturday afternoon, January 10, with a reception to Mr. Wentworth, the photographer, who has a wide reputation for his artistic work. He has exhibited in various art clubs, in colleges, and in some of our leading art museums.

IMPORTANT ART LOANS.

The Bowdoin Museum of Fine Arts is fortunate in having two important loans this season. The seven water-colors by Winslow Homer, lent by Mrs. Charles Homer, have already been commented upon. They continue to draw many visitors.

The second loan is that of two portraits by John Sinibert (1684-1751) of William Lamberts and his wife Harriet, lent by their descendant, Mr. William Lambert Barnard of Boston. They have been handed down from generation to generation, always to a William Lambert.

John Sinibert was born in Scotland and he came to this country with Bishop Berkeley and his family. An important group picture of the Berkeley family, begun by Sinibert on the voyage, hangs in the Yale dining hall. Bowdoin owns two portraits by the same artist—one of General Samuel Waldo, the other of the Rev. James MacSparren, which hang in the Boyd Gallery. The wife of the latter by Sinibert is in the Boston Museum of Fine Arts.

The Lambert portraits which the college has the privilege of exhibiting in the Walker Art Building and which have been given a prominent place in the Bowdoin Gallery in company with the Fekes, the Copleys, and the Suarts, are very fine examples of Sinibert's work, and most attractive portraits in themselves.
Hockey at Bowdoin.

It is now an assured fact that Bowdoin will be represented this winter by a hockey team. The college has been represented in this sport in the past, having had a fast team in 1917, but the prospects of the establishment of hockey as a permanent major sport at Bowdoin have never been as good as they are at present. It is probable, and it is quite right, that hockey should take a place in college athletics on a level with baseball, football, and track. Hockey is an attractive game, a fact to which the large number of men out on the ring each afternoon bears witness; being an outdoor sport, it finds a eminently fitting place at Bowdoin where little opportunity is offered in the winter for open air pastimes. It is being rapidly taken up by other colleges in and out of the state and offers a worthy field for intercollegiate competition.

There appears to be no need of urging more men to report for practice. There is, however, a need of candidates for assistant manager. We have a right to expect plenty of competition as the honor of being assistant manager, and eventually manager, of hockey should be comparable with that associated with the managements of other major sports. This is an excellent opportunity for Freshmen who are anxious to do something worth while in the line of student activity during their four years in college.

Games are being arranged now, and part of them will be played here. It may be necessary to charge a small admission but it is hoped that students will not try to avoid paying by using the dormitory windows or any other means. It we are to make hockey a success, we must support it financially, especially while it is in its infancy.

Ex-President Taft's Lecture.

The college was very fortunate in having so prominent a man as ex-President Taft to lecture here on the League of Nations at a time when it is very essential that every Bowdoin man form a definite idea on the subject. Having been in the very forefront of the discussion, his ideas were founded on a broad and first-hand acquaintance with it and the enthusiasm with which the audience received his lecture showed its general approval. His attitude on the question might well be copied by college men for its fair-mindedness and the evidence that he showed of having the whole welfare of the nation at heart rather than the success or failure of any one party or faction.

The only unfortunate circumstance of the evening lay in the fact of its being generally understood by the student body that they were restricted to the galleries only. The result of this was the overflowing of the galleries and the forcing of many men to either stand up or occupy seats where they could neither hear nor see properly, while there were several seats on the floor of the church not taken. Some students were heard to express indignation that a college lecture should seem to be dedicated more to the interests of the outside public than to those of the college men. It might be recommended that at college lectures in the future, no discrimination be made between the seating arrangement of the student body and that of the general public.

COMMUNICATION.

Dec. 3d, 1919.

Editor Bowdoin Orient, Bowdoin College:

Dear Sir,—I was pleased to see you are to issue a Football Number as I am sure it will please all old Bowdoin men interested in football and the State games. Few old Bowdoin men can follow the games as they are played.

There was an error in the Orient's report of the scoring in the Colby game as it seemed to me. From my view it was Curtis, not Dalhgren, who scored the first touchdown. Probably this has now been corrected.

Yours very truly,

Paul H. Tuttle.

RESUME OF THE FOOTBALL SEASON.

The season of 1919 showed one of the best football teams that has represented Bowdoin for a number of years. To be sure, the team failed to win the championship of Maine, but that is only a minor consideration in deciding upon the team's actual ability. It must be remembered that Bowdoin lost the state championship to a team which held West Point to a single touchdown, and which has had an unusually good season. As for those who think the team only mediocre this fall, just let them call to mind the low scores to which Holy Cross and Brown were held, and then again the striking victory over Colby, and the brilliant struggle with Bates. Again let them remember that a number of Bowdoin's men were on injured list much of the time. Captain Rhoads was able to play only in a small part of two games in the Maine series. Peacock, whose splendid work of a few seasons ago is by no means forgotten, was unable to take a very prominent part in the more important games. Sprague and A. M. Smith were out some of the time, but the blow that seemed to be felt the most was the practical loss of Dostie in the Maine game, through a severe injury to his knee.

To begin with the early games of the season, Bowdoin went to Amherst and lost by the small margin of a single field goal. The two teams seemed about evenly matched, and little could be decided about Bowdoin's strength after the contest. Sprague, Rhoads, and Dostie all played a fine game.

In some ways the second game of the season was the most satisfactory of them all. Here Bowdoin, fighting hard against overwhelming odds, held Brown to the score of 7 to 0. It would not have been surprising had Brown scored four or five touchdowns, but only one did the Bowdoin line yield to the Providence eleven. In the first half Bowdoin held three times when the ball was within the ten-yard line, and again in the last period, Bowdoin took the ball on downs on the 12-yard line.

A week later, Holy Cross defeated Bowdoin 14 to 0. Holy Cross got away with two touchdowns in the first quarter, but after that the Bowdoin team settled down, and although it failed to score, outplayed the Worcester eleven. Dahlgren, Dostie, and James did well in the backfield, and the line as a whole played up to its usual form.

The following Saturday Bowdoin had its last game before the state series. The team had no trouble in rolling up 73 points on the green team from Fort McKinley. Practically the entire squad got into the game. The score was the largest that a Bowdoin team has gained in a single game for a long time.

The Colby game came on October 25. In the Orient account of this game it was said that "the Bowdoin eleven surprised and outplayed Colby in all phases of the game and gave evidence of the advantage of its steady practice under Coach Greene and Trainer Magee." The Bowdoin backs simply ran rings around the Colby men. Dostie and Dahlgren were the big stars in this game, where Bowdoin rolled up 30 points on the Waterville aggregation. Thirty points, after Jack Magee had predicted only a small margin of victory. His prediction was like the time when he stated last spring that the track team would win by a scanty margin. It may be well at this time to correct an error that appeared in the Orient's account of the Colby game. Curtis rather than Dahlgren scored the first touchdown.

Bates came down next and was beaten 14 to 13 in a spectacular contest which was in doubt every minute. Some expected a larger score, but just as Trainer Magee had foretold, Bates put up a splendid fight, and forced Bowdoin to the limit.
To get a line on Bates from another viewpoint, these three scores may be compared: New Hampshire 3, Bates 0; Maine 9, New Hampshire 7; Maine 18, Bowdoin 0. These facts help to show that Bowdoin has no need to regret the one-point margin of victory. One result of this game which Bowdoin did have need to regret, however, was the unlucky injury to Dostie in the last quarter, after he had been playing a fine game.

To conclude the season, the Bowdoin eleven went to Orono, and bowed to Maine for the championship of the state. With Dostie out, the White was badly handicapped from the start. Bowdoin put up a hard battle against a stronger team,—the strongest and fastest that Maine has had in years,—but the men seemed to yield a little to the hard strain brought about by so many hard contests before this last one. It seems very possible, as some have said, that if the games with Maine and Colby had been changed about, Bowdoin would have come through and given the champions a much harder struggle. Trainer Magee has consistently stated for some years that Bowdoin’s chances for the championship would be greatly increased by a revision of the schedule.

Coach Green, who has coached Colby and Bates teams has worked faithfully and well with the boys this year. In college he was a star in the line, and his knowledge of the lineman’s job did much to make Bowdoin’s line what it was this year.

Trainer Magee has contributed his usual valuable share to the training and general conditioning of the team.

Much credit is due to the managerial end of the football team. Assistant Manager “Larry” Willson was on the job to start things moving, and was succeeded by Manager McPartland who was elected several weeks after the opening of college, owing to the sudden death of Tracy S. Wood, the manager-elect. Credit is due also to the co-operation of the men working for the assistant managership. Those who stayed with the team till the end of the season were Congdon, Ludden, and Harmon.

In the recent student elections Willson and Ludden were selected as manager and assistant manager respectively.

Contrary to press reports, Dudgeon was the first and unanimous choice of the team for next year’s varsity. Captain Dudgeon was one of the most popular men on the squad this year, being universally liked and respected. Bowdoin followers have no doubt that he will lead the team through a successful season next fall.

Following is the list of games played: Bowdoin 0, Amherst 3; Bowdoin 0, Brown 7; Bowdoin 0, Holy Cross 14; Bowdoin 73, Fort McKinley 0; Bowdoin 39, Colby 0; Bowdoin 14, Bates 13; Bowdoin 0, Maine 18.

Games won, 3; games lost, 4.

Bowdoin’s score, 117; opponents’ score, 55.

Individual scoring by Bowdoin players:

Dahlgren, three touchdowns, 18; Dostie, four touchdowns, 24; Mason, ten goals from touchdown, one field goal, 13; Thomson, two touchdowns, 12; J. Smith, one touchdown and one field goal, 9; Drummond, one touchdown, 6; Guttill, one touchdown, 6; Peacock, one touchdown, 6; Curtis, two touchdowns, 12; Doherty, one touchdown, 6; Kenan, five goals from touchdown, 5; total, 117.

Such is the narrative account of Bowdoin’s 1919 football season, which ought to be known by any Bowdoin man. There were 31 men on the squad who actually participated in one game or more. Of these, sixteen were awarded a letter, together with Manager McPartland. Ten letter men will graduate next June.

There is a good prospect for a successful season in 1920, in spite of the loss of ten letter men. A strong line can be formed with five letter men, —Dudgeon, McCurdy, Thomson, Parent, and Mason,—to start with. A backfield, built up around Dahlgren and James, ought to be satisfactory. New backfield men are J. Smith, Miller, Kenan, and Meacham, all of whom will undoubtedly be strong candidates for positions next fall. Thus Bowdoin has completed an excellent season, without diminishing too much the prospects for the future.

Edward B. Ham.

THE FOOTBALL LETTER MEN.

Captain Rhoads, “Dusty,” has, unfortunately been out of the game the last part of the season, owing to a dislocated knee-cap. “Before his injury,” declares Jack Magee, “he was playing the game of his college career and his absence was keenly felt in the Maine series games.” Rhoads has made his “B” every year in college. Besides his football activities he is a Friar, U. Q., and a prominent and popular man on the campus.

Brewster, returning to the Medical School from war service, has made a valuable addition to Bowdoin’s line. This is his fourth year as a member of the team. During Captain Rhoads’ disability “Jim” acted as captain. He is generally conceded a place on the All-Maine team.
for this season.

Crockett, who has played varsity football for three years is one of Bowdoin's best scholars. He made Phi Beta Kappa in his Junior year and has recently been awarded the Rhoades Scholarship. "Phil" has proved to his own satisfaction that brains can beat brawn even in the roughest of college games.

Curtis has developed into the best defensive back on the squad. In every game he has done good work in stopping the enemy rushes and has made good also as a consistent ground-gainer through the line.

Dostie, the man featured by all local papers this year has played in hard luck. Through the entire season he was troubled with an injury to his ankle, and in the Bates game was hurt to such an extent that he was able to play but a few moments in the Maine game. A faster man, a cleverer dodger and a better tackler was not produced in Maine this year. He is commonly acknowledged to be worthy of a place in the All-Maine eleven.

Drummond, another man with four years' varsity work to his credit has played his usual good game at end. In the Bates game particularly he shone at the receiving end of some clever forward passes. Last year "Drum" was captain and played quarter but his real forte is at the extremity of the line.

Doherty, who transferred to Bowdoin from Mass. Aggie, has been holding down the other end of the line. Paul was tried out as a back, but Coach Green saw an opportunity for a good end and shifted him. In the Bates game he starred in running a forward pass half the length of the field for a touchdown.

Dudgeon, who played throughout the season, first as center, then at guard, has held his place in the line consistently. He well deserves his selection as next year's captain.

Thomson has played a fast and heady game at end. With the build and weight of a track man he has done admirable work.

Dahlgren, who has starred with Dostie in the Maine series games is one of the best open-field runners in the state. He has played in all the games this season, and has been a big factor in ground gaining through the line.

James, another good half-back, did his best work in the Bates game. Time after time he wiggled through the line for long gains. He is a wizard at avoiding tacklers and a heady quarterback as well.

McCurdy, who succeeded Dudgeon at center has the game right at his finger tips. He is a past master at the spiral pass and knows all the inside "dope" on the niceties of the game. Before entering Bowdoin Mac played with Springfield Y. M. C. A. College.

Mason, who did much of the kicking for the team this year, added his share to Bowdoin's scoring by a difficult field goal in the Colby game. Before receiving an injury in his right thigh he promised to be a phenomenal kiker and an excellent tackle.

Kern, who has returned from war service this fall was back in the old game at guard, stronger than ever. John's 220 pounds were a great help to the Bowdoin line in every game.

Peacock, a former Bowdoin captain and star, was in the backfield part of the season. Due to a "charlie horse" he did not participate in the Maine series as much as Bowdoin would have liked but in the Maine game he was rushed in at end where he showed his mettle by outplaying the latter's crack lineman.

Sprague was in the game again at half and full. He is another old Bowdoin star back from the war. In plugging the line he was the most consistent ground gainer. His defensive work was also excellent.

William R. Ludden.

HOCKEY NOTES.

Hockey practice was started upon the opening of College. Every afternoon the squad has been at work at the rink. A call for Freshman candidates for assistant manager has been issued. Manager Page is arranging a number of games for the team and looks forward to a most successful season.

A challenge has been received from the Canadian Club of Portland for two games to be played about January 17 either at Bowdoin or at the Portland Country Club at Falmouth Foreside. On the following week the team will meet the Portland Country Club at Falmouth Foreside. Tufts has written for a game at Bowdoin on February 7, but a game at that time is impossible on account of the mid-year exams and the fact that many men will be at the B. A. A. meet with the track squad. Games with Bates are probable, and if the U. of M. has a hockey team there will probably be a game between Bowdoin and Maine. There will also be games with Springfield Y. M. C. A.

There are about 20 men out for the team at present. Many of them are former prep-school stars. Manager Page '22 of the forward line was captain and star of the Milton Academy team which won the Massachusetts State Championship in 1918. Richardson '22 was goal-tender on the Stone School team of Boston. Parent '21 was a former Boston Latin School star goal-tender. Among the men on the defence are Graves '20, Willson '21, Putnam '22, and Hayes '23. Among the men on the forward line besides those already mentioned are Tuttle '20, Leighton '20, Pendexter '21, Burr, 23, B. Clark '23, Tice '23, Whitman '23, Hurrell '20 is also out for goal-tender.

TRACK NOTES.

Track practice was enthusiastically started on Tuesday, January 6, upon the opening of college. With an intense season ahead of them, the men on the relay squad are working every day. The first race will be at the B. A. A. meet in Boston, on Saturday evening, February 7. Besides the relay team, individual stars will probably be entered in the three mile, the hurdles, and the dashes. The relay team will also be entered in meets at Boston College, Melrose, and Hartford. Among the men out for the relay squad are: Dostie '20, M. Smith '20, Goodwin '21, Hatch '21, Thomson '21, J. Young '21, Allen '22, Averill '22, Hunt '22, Partridge '22, Woodbury '22, Palmer '23, and Slater '23.

The freshman relay squad is also hard at work. The freshman team will run the Bates freshmen at the Dual Meet in the Gym on February 27. A race with Hebron is also scheduled. Among those out for the team are: Brown, Jacobs, Palmer, Slater, Renier, and Varney.

ACTIVITIES OF THE MUSICAL CLUBS.

After weeks of intensive practice and rehearsing, the Bowdoin Musical Clubs left Monday for New York City where they will open their season with a concert, the first in New York for nine years, at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel, under the auspices of the Bowdoin alumni of New York, and the State of Maine Club of New York. The concert on Tuesday evening will be followed by a dance in the ball room of the hotel. Competition for places on the clubs has been very keen this year, and the 38 men who will make the trip represent the best musical talent of the college.

The personnel of the Musical Clubs for the 1920 season is as follows:

Mandolin Club—Sprince '20, leader; Berry '20, manager; Claff '20, Davis '20, McQuillan '20, Phibbrick '20, Richan '20, S. A. Smith '20, Claff '21, Nixon '21, Rochon '21, Ball '22, Bartlett '22, Battison '22, Dahlgren '22, Fletcher '22, Ludden '22, Young '22, Lothrop '23, Turgeon '23. Accompanist, Lyseth '21. Reader, Asnault '21.

THE SOPHOMORE-FRESHMAN DEBATE.

The annual Sophomore-Freshman debate took place Monday evening, December 15, in the debating room of Hubbard Hall. The debate was arranged under the auspices of the Bowdoin Debating Council. The subject of the debate was: “Resolved, That policemen should be given the perogative of collective bargaining.” The Sophomores upheld the negative of the question and the Freshmen the affirmative.

The debate opened with Taylor '20 as presiding officer, by whom the speakers were presented. The speakers for the Sophomores were: Ferris, Ludden, and Thayer, with Welch as alternate; those of the Freshmen were Cousins, Mitchell, and Little, with Jacobs as alternate. The debate was conducted in a spirited manner; every speaker entered into it with enthusiasm. Thayer and Ludden for the Sophomores, and Mitchell and Little for the Freshmen were particularly brilliant. When the time of decision came, a great deal of doubt was expressed concerning the winning team. The judges, however, who were Professor Stanwood, Rev. Raspe, and Rev. Ashby, returned a decision in favor of the Freshmen.

The committee in charge consisted of Badger '21, Helson '21, and Hatch '21.

FOOTBALL ELECTIONS.

The manager and assistant manager of football for the season of 1920 was elected in the student election conducted Wednesday, December 17. The candidates for manager were Wilson '21 and Gaffney '21; the candidates for assistant manager, Harmon '22 and Ludden '22.

The results of the election made Wilson '21 manager and Ludden '22 assistant manager of football for the coming season.

According to the usual custom next year's varsity captain was elected by varsity members of the squad in Webber's Studio after the varsity picture taken just before the Christmas recess. Dudgeon '21, was the unanimous choice.

VOL. XLIX  BRUNSWICK, MAINE, JANUARY 21, 1920  NO. 22

BOWDOIN VOTES FOR PEACE COMPROMISE.

Last Tuesday, January 13, the opinion of the College on a League of Nations was emphatically evidenced by a large plurality vote for an early compromise between the rival parties for the adoption of the peace treaty. Nearly every Bowdoin man, with the exception of those on the musical clubs' New York trip, cast a vote; the fraternity men in the fraternity houses and the non-fraternity men in the Union.

There were four propositions embodied in the referendum to the colleges.

Number 1 called for ratification of the treaty as it stands, without reservation.

Number 2 was a vote against the treaty in any form.

Number 3 called for ratification of the treaty with the Lodge reservations.

Number 4 was a vote for compromising reservations in order to insure the ratification of the treaty.

The Bowdoin vote was as follows:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Proposition</th>
<th>Yes</th>
<th>No</th>
<th>Abstain</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Referendum</td>
<td>1</td>
<td>2</td>
<td>3</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Student Body</td>
<td>41</td>
<td>5</td>
<td>69  239</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Faculty</td>
<td>7</td>
<td>0</td>
<td>3</td>
</tr>
</tbody>

Total 48  5  72  254

The opinion of Bowdoin was found to coincide very closely with that of the majority of colleges and universities of the country, for, with very few exceptions, the referendum favored was number 4, which provided that a compromise should be reached in the reservations which would make possible a ratification of the Peace Treaty. For this reason it is hoped that this vote will have some influence in bringing about a ratification by the Senate.

BOWDOIN COLONY AT HARVARD.

Harvard in its various graduate schools has a colony of the younger Bowdoin alumni which numbers into the dozens this year. The Graduate School of Arts and Sciences, the Law School, the Graduate School of Business Administration, and the Medical School all have representatives from Brunswick. There has been no formal gathering of the group, but there are constant informal meetings in the vicinity of Harvard Square, and every dinner of the Bowdoin Club of Boston finds a good sized delegation from Cambridge. Among the group are: Drapeau '16, Canney '16, Lane '17, Philbrick '17, Sutcliffe '17, Shumway '17, Albion '18, Brooks ex-'18, Manderson '18, Smith '18, Van Wart '18, Young '18, Chin '19, Dunham '19, Haynes '19, Burleigh '19, L. C. Doherty '19, and Hilton '19. Professor Hormell is lecturing in Municipal Government at the University this year, and Mr. Cochrane, formerly of the Bowdoin faculty, is in the history department.

HOCKEY NEWS.

The hockey squad, under the direction of Manager Page '22, is now rounding into shape. Practice is being held every day and some promising material has been discovered. Leighton '20, A. E. Morrill '22, and Tice '23, are doing good work on the forward line, while Graves '20, Wilson '21, and Putnam '22 show up well as defense men. Richardson '22 seems the best candidate for goalie tender. W. L. Parent '21 and J. W. Parent '21 will be out for goal tender and a defense position after the mid-year examinations. Other candidates are Gorham '21, Tuttle '22, Keene '22, Pickard '22, Moses '22, Hayes '23, Swinglehurst '23, Keaney '23, and Hill '23. Four promising candidates, Draper '20, Clark '23, Whitman '23, and Burr '23, have been declared ineligible by the Dean. The three Freshmen may be able to play later.

The attack will probably center around Page who captained the Milton Academy team, champions of Massachusetts in 1918. He is an exceptionally fast man and should cause trouble to Bowdoin's opponents.

Manager Page is attempting to secure games with the Portland Country Club, Tufts, New Hampshire State, Bates, Colby, and Maine. It is very difficult, however, to secure dates at such late notice.

THE MUSICAL CLUB TRIP.

The Bowdoin Musical Clubs opened the season with a concert in New York City last Tuesday evening. The concert was arranged by the Bowdoin Alumni of New York and the New York State of Maine Club. While the concert was not a distinct financial success to the Alumni, they felt repaid for their efforts by thought that this concert would become an established annual custom. This concert was the first to be given in New York for nine years, but it is now proposed to have a concert there every year.

The thirty-eight men who made the trip left Brunswick a week ago Monday morning. The trip was made via the Fall River Line, and the clubs arrived in New York Tuesday morning. Many thanks are due the Alpha Delta Phi Club of New York which offered the use of its rooms, and which served dinner to the members of the Musical Clubs on Tuesday evening. The concert was held in a hall room at the Waldorf-Astoria, and was followed by a dance.

3. Bariton Solo. Queen of the Earth.........Piusotti Mr. Richan.
6. Reading. Mr. Assurn.
7. Flute Solo. Hungarian Pastoral Fantasy...Doppler Mr. Turgeon.

MASQUE AND GOWN.

The Masque and Gown is planning a vaudeville show for the Interscholastic Track Meet. The same entertainment may be used the afternoon of the Sophomore Hop. The show will consist of nine acts including two short plays, besides musical and comedy skits. Preparations are now being made and any men having a suitable act should see Cole '21 at 13 Hyde Hall. Active preparation will begin directly after mid-years in order to have the entertainment ready for February 20.

Rehearsals for the Ivy Play, "Believe Me, Xantippe," are being held regularly under Mr. Huse. The manager has announced that the cast will be ready to go on the road February 15. Performances will be given in various parts of the state, and a trip to Boston will probably be made. Mr. Huse has stated that this will be one of the best Ivy Plays ever presented at Brunswick.

Several members of the Faculty and student body will take part in the first play of the season for the Brunswick Dramatic Club. It is to be "Good Gracious Annabelle" and will be staged February 17. Professors Stone, Brown, and Wass, and Crockett '20, Rollins '20, Cole '21, Pendexter '21, and Quinby '23 will represent the college on the cast. The cooperation between the Dramatic Club and the Masque and Gown have always been a most pleasant and helpful part of Brunswick social life.

RIFLE CLUB NOTES.

The Rifle Club will shoot its first match, February 14, against Harvard. Matches are also being arranged with M. I. T., Tufts, Amherst, and Brown, in addition to the ten N. R. A. League matches. Less than a month is left to select a team. Practise is held at the Armory daily, except Saturday, from 2.30 to 4.30. All members of the Rifle Club should report for practise. The team comprises ten men. The five making the highest scores count in each match.

CLASSICAL CLUB MEETING.

The first meeting of the year of the Classical Club was held at the home of Dean Nixon on Tuesday evening, December 16. Dunbar '20 was elected president, and Thomson '21 secretary of the club. Dean Nixon was made the third member of the executive committee. After the business meeting games were played. Avery '20 was the winner of the Latin game, "Americani Clari"; Nixon '22 was the winner of the Pentathlon; Moses '20 for the third year held the championship of the "Probatio Curnum." The next meeting will probably be held at the home of President Sills on the twentieth of January. The club will initiate its new members at this meeting.

THE DES MOINES CONVENTION.

Have you wondered how the money you gave to the Des Moines Convention Fund was spent? The delegation from Bowdoin has been to the Convention and has returned to the campus bubbling over with enthusiasm and inspiration. If you are interested in what took place at the greatest gathering of college students in the last six years, come to the Union next Sunday night at seven o'clock. Some of the delegates will give us a picture of the Convention and will be ready to answer any questions you may wish to ask about the whole movement. The meeting will be short and snappy and will give anyone interested an idea of what took place.

During the days from December 31 to January 5, the Y. M. C. A. Student Volunteer Convention was held at Des Moines, Iowa. The real object of the convention was to obtain student volunteers to enter upon the work of foreign missions. The convention was attended by 7700 college students, both men and women, who represented over 1000 colleges and universities. This great gathering contained representatives of over 40 nationalities and of every state in the Union. Nineteen special trains arrived at Des Moines, December 31. The students were housed in private residences in the very efficient manner which marked the entire convention. The delegates were divided into state groups in the sessions, California furnishing the most members. Maine sent 22 delegates to the convention.

The convention started at 2:30 p. m., December 31, with Mr. John R. Mott presiding. The sessions consisted of three meetings a day; from 9:15 to 11:45 a. m., from 2:30 to 5:00 p. m., and from 7:30 to 10:00 p. m. During these meetings the delegates were divided into groups in the Colosseum Building of Des Moines. The overflow meetings were held in churches of the city. The speakers were both experienced and interesting. Every delegate, greatly impressed with the great work carried on by the missionaries. The principal speakers were Mr. John R. Mott, Mr. Robert C. Spear, Dr. John Jennier, Dr. T. Zymmer, and Dean Brown of Yale. Sherwood Eddy, the South Indian missionary, was especially interesting.

Bowdoin was represented at the convention by Noss '20, Reiber '21, Buker '21, McGown '21, Cummings '21, and Congdon '22.

BOWDOIN CLUB OF PORTLAND MEETS.

The Bowdoin Club of Portland held its annual meeting at the Elks' Club on Thursday afternoon, December 17, with about 70 members present. After luncheon the following officers were elected: President, Lyman A. Cousens '03; vice president, Robert Hale '10; secretary and treasurer, Dwight H. Sayward '16; members executive committee, John F. Dana '08, Ralph O. Brewster '09, Arthur D. Welch '12, and Carl K. Ross '17.

Ralph O. Brewster, representing the Alumni Council, addressed the club on the proposed plan for a general income and endowments which it is proposed to adopt from the so-called Yale plan.

The principal speaker was Professor Mitchell. He spoke of the size of the enrolment at the College this year, and of the general trend of the subjects taken by the students since the war.

MILLION DOLLAR FUND BEING PLANNED FOR BOWDOIN.

A fund of one million dollars is in prospect for Bowdoin because of the enterprise of her alumni who have recently planned a drive for its subscription. The income of the fund is to be used to cause an increase in the salaries of the professors. This is needed greatly, for there has been a yearly deficit of $10,000 in paying these salaries. This would eventually tend to lower the standard of the college inasmuch as underpaid professors will be obliged to accept more lucrative offers unless their salaries were made commensurate with their services.

The method of raising the fund is the so-called "Yale plan," which has proven remarkably successful. Every class has a member delegated to collect the contributions, and he may appoint a regional agent as assistant to canvass in the larger cities. A meeting was held in Brunswick in order to attend to the details of the preliminary arrangements.

President Sills will name an alumni committee which will handle the fund. The contributions may be either to the principal or in the form of an annuity to be added to the income. Mr. Furbish, college treasurer, will receive any form of subscriptions at the treasurer's office. Securities as well as subscriptions and contributions will not be restricted to alumni. The committee of the alumni council to initiate the drive consists of Harold L. Berry '01 of Portland, chairman, E. F. Abbott '03 of Auburn, and Ralph O. Brewster '09 of Portland.

THE '68 PRIZE SPEAKING CONTEST.

The annual prize speaking contest of the Class of '68 will be held in Memorial Hall Thursday evening, January 22. The prize is forty-five dollars given by the Class of 1868 to the author of the best written and spoken oration. The men to compete are chosen from the members of the Senior Class by the English Department.

The speaker chosen to compete are: Philip Goodhue, Raymond Asaunt, Jere Abbott, Richard McWilliams, Allan Constantine, and Edgar Taylor. All of these men have had a wide experience in composition and public speaking and an unusually close contest is expected.
The Y. M. C. A.

One of the organizations on our campus about which we hear considerable but about which most of us know very little is the Student Y. M. C. A. We may be inclined to ask ourselves what its function on the campus is and whether it justifies its existence. As the name Student Young Men's Christian Association suggests, it is an organization of those students interested in promoting the Christian type of manhood on the campus. It is not purely a local institution. It is associated with the Student Department of the International Y. M. C. A. with a membership of 325,000 students in over 1200 schools and colleges. Of course the local associations vary according to the local needs and the local situations. Our association is trying to adopt itself to the particular Bowdoin field.

The purposes of our local Y. M. C. A. are three fold:

1. To develop the religious and moral life on the campus.
2. To be an agency of service to the students in as many ways as possible.
3. To organize and direct the use of student groups in community service.

The first of these purposes may have several fields of expression. Some years it is possible to secure a series of outside speakers, authorities on moral and religious problems. Dr. Seerley's recent visit was the first of such a series this year. Sometimes it is possible to arrange a series of discussion groups in which the students may become intimately acquainted with some phase of religion or some modern moral or social question.

The second of the Y. M. C. A.'s purposes has been most actively carried out this year. The "Freshman Bible," Freshman reception, and Medical School reception helped to acquaint newcomers with Bowdoin life. In maintaining an employment bureau the "Y" is attempting to find work for those who need it in their spare hours. It is ready to co-operate in any other pieces of service on the campus, such as a Red Cross canteen or a series of life work professional meetings.

The community work is developing along two lines. The first is that of Americanization in the form of night school classes among the foreign speaking population of the neighborhood. The other is the formation of a "deputation" to carry the college man's point of view and the college man's religious and moral ideas into the surrounding rural communities.

There is the Y as it stand today on the campus. There are possibilities of its developing into a much more powerful organization and of its doing a much greater work. But what it is and what it becomes lie entirely with the student body. Under our blanket tax system every student who pays his tax automatically becomes a member of the "Y" and is entitled to any privileges it is able to grant. All of us are general members. How many of us are active members? If we have criticisms or suggestions, let’s give them to the member of the cabinet in our house or our “end.” And if we want some other kind of “Y” activity, let’s suggest it to the Cabinet and offer our services to put it through. There are limited possibilities of expansion above the program now being attempted. There is a place for all of us in that program, too. “It’s time to lay aside the hammers and take up the horn.” Let us stop knocking unless we have some helpful criticism, and let us all co-operate to boost the Bowdoin Y. M. C. A. to make it not only a power on the campus but the best Student Association in New England. R. M. M.

TRACK SCHEDULE ANNOUNCED.

The tentative schedule for track has been announced by Manager Bucker ’21. The winter schedule includes five meets for Bowdoin and a possibility for several others. This schedule has been approved by the Bowdoin Faculty and is expected to be maintained for the entire season.

The Bowdoin relay team will compete in the B. A. A. meet at Mechanics Hall, Boston, running Williams February 7. Several of the special events will also be entered by Bowdoin men. This relay team will also run in the Melrose meet in New York, in the Hartford meet, and in the Boston College meet, although the dates have not yet been announced.

The Bowdoin Interscholastic Schoolboy meet takes place at Bowdoin, February 14, and entry blanks are now being sent out to the different schools.

The other meets arranged are the Bowdoin-Bates dual meet at the Bowdoin gymnasium February 27 or 28, and the Freshman-Sophomore meet Friday evening, March 12.

The schedule follows:

February 7—Boston A. A. at Mechanics Hall, Boston.
February 12—Freshman-Sophomore meet.
February 14—Bowdoin Interscholastic Schoolboy meet.
February 19—Interfraternity meet.
February 27-28—Bowdoin-Bates Dual Meet.

“BOWDOIN MEN WHO HAVE MADE GOOD.”

“Bowdoin Men Who Have Made Good” is the subject which is to be presented at the next meeting of the Student Forum, to be held in the Bowdoin Union, January 26, at eight o’clock.

The speaker is a man of national importance, Mr. George R. Walker ’02, of New York City. Mr. Walker is chairman of the Placement Committee of the Alumni Council. The function of this committee is to secure positions for Bowdoin men. Mr. Walker is an extremely busy man, but, at great inconvenience to himself, has consented to talk to Bowdoin men on this subject which ought to be of vital interest to them.

Besides describing the way by which certain Bowdoin men have attained distinction, Mr. Walker will give a general survey of business conditions as they exist in New York and the opportunities they afford to college, and especially, Bowdoin men. In addition, as chairman of the Placement Committee, he will receive the names of students, who wish to secure positions in the business for which they have preference. Mr. Walker will make it his business to see that these men are introduced to other Bowdoin men who hold positions of influence in industry. By way of preparing the way for Mr. Walker’s work, Dean Nixon will explain the plan informally in the Union, January 22, at seven o’clock. All are urged to attend these meetings that the plan of the alumni may be thoroughly understood and given the support of the student body.

Bowdoin men will not only show themselves ungrateful to Mr. Walker’s efforts, but also unmindful of their own best interests, if they fail to take advantage of this unusual opportunity.

TRIBUTE TO PRESIDENT FOSTER.

In announcing the resignation of Dr. William Trufant Foster as president of Reed College, the Portland Oregonian, of December 19, quotes Dr. T. L. Eliot, president of the trustees, as follows, in part:

“President William T. Foster, who has been at the head of Reed College since it was founded in 1911, has resigned. When President Foster accepted this position in 1910, he was one of the youngest college presidents in the country. It is largely due to the initiative and daring of the young college president, combined with his knowledge of educational administration, that Reed College has rapidly made a place for itself in the academic world. From the outset Reed College has been a pioneer in adopting a progressive program for college administration. . . .

The college began its first year to offer a series of free lectures known as Reed extension courses. During the war the college gave two official government courses. . . .

“President Foster was sent to France during the war as one of the first inspectors sent by the War Work Council of the American Red Cross. He spent three months in England and France. He visited all the Red Cross stations, every American army camp then established, and a large section of the front lines.

"... A group of 177 students were enrolled in the S.A.T.C. The college made an enviable war record. Of all the male students enrolled on April 6, 1918, who were eligible for military service, 89 per cent. entered the service. Of these, 73 per cent. entered by voluntary enlistment.

"Throughout his administration, President Foster has worked for the close connection between the college and the city. ... Besides his participation in public affairs he has had a genuine interest in the individual students of Reed College."

Dr. Foster will be remembered as Professor of English and Argumentation at Bowdoin from 1905 until 1910, when he received his offer of the presidency of Reed College. He graduated from Harvard in 1901, and received the degree of Doctor of Philosophy from Columbia in 1911.

BOWDOIN ALUMNI OF BOSTON HOLD 52nd ANNUAL REUNION.

The Bowdoin Alumni of Boston and vicinity held their 52nd annual reunion on Wednesday evening, January 14. This was one of the first college reunion banquets in Boston this winter. President Sills represented the college and gave a short talk. Two important guests were Judge Anderson of the United States District Court and Professor Dallas Sharpe of Boston University. Shumway '17, whose rise on fighting record from lieutenant to lieutenant-colonel was one of the startling incidents in the record of the 26th Division, was one of the speakers. Henry S. Chapman '91, son of Professor Henry S. Chapman for forty years Bowdoin's chief English professor, acted as president of the Boston alumni organization.

BASEBALL PROSPECTS.

Manager Perkins has announced that indoor baseball practice in the cage in the gym will begin on March 5. Light workouts and training in the fundamentals of baseball will be given the candidates in preparation for the coming season. While Bowdoin lost a number of her best men last year, several old men will return the next semester to fill up the ranks. Lawrence McElwee, who has been away in the service for a long time will return. He was formerly one of the best third basemen in the State. "Gramp" White, one of the college pitchers in the State, will also be back. There is an abundance of material in the Freshman class which will help matters along. A very good schedule has been arranged and great confidence is felt by the management and Coach Houser.

There were no after dinner speeches, but a number of matters pertaining to the interests of the college were discussed. An informal report was made by the committee appointed to make the arrangements for the annual concert by the musical clubs, and February 6 was tentatively set as the date of the event. The matter of having the Masque and Gown present its play in Bangor sometime during the winter was also discussed. The following Alumni were present:

The hockey game scheduled with the Canadian Club of Portland last Saturday was cancelled on account of weather conditions.

With the Faculty

President Sills attended the annual meeting of the National Collegiate Athletic Association, held in New York December 30, as the representative of the First District. He spoke of the success that is being gained by the system of compulsory athletics for Freshmen in so many of the New England colleges. He stated that it will be impossible, however, for the smaller colleges to put their athletics on a sound and wholesome basis until the larger universities reduce their expenses and place intercollegiate contests in their proper proportion.

On Friday, January 9, President Sills addressed the Rotary Club of Portland at its weekly luncheon at the Congress Square Hotel. In the afternoon he motored to Brunswick with ex-President Wm. H. Taft.

Dr. Whittier attended the banquet given to Dr. D. A. Sargent at the Vendome, Boston, Saturday evening, December 27.

Professor Stanwood addressed the Saturday Club of Brunswick on Thursday, January 15, in Wheeler Hall, on the subject of “The Early Gospel Historians.”

RESOLUTION.

Bowdoin Chapter of Delta Upsilon:

The Chapter sorrowfully records the death of Brother John Emerson Burbank of the Class of 1896. Through serious and earnest effort he won several honors in college, and was appointed to Phi Beta Kappa. He was awarded by Bowdoin two degrees, A.B. and A.M. In later life Brother Burbank attained success. He was an assistant and instructor in physics at Bowdoin, a Whiting fellow at Harvard, instructor of sciences at the University School in Providence, Rhode Island, and instructor in physics at the University of Maine. After serving several years as Magnetic Observer in the United States Coast and Geodetic Survey, he was made observer in charge of the Cheltenham Magnetic Observatory at Cheltenham, Maryland. He was an active member of the American Physical Society, the Washington Philosophical Society, and the American Association for Advancement of Science.

To his wife and children the Brothers in Delta Upsilon extend condolence in their deep grief. With them the Chapter mourns for one who fulfilled his life’s purpose perseveringly and worthily.

BOWDOIN WINS B. A. A. TRIANGULAR RELAY.

Before a large crowd of spectators, which included many Bowdoin supporters, Bowdoin ran away from Williams and Worcester Polytechnic in a 1560-yard triangular relay race in Mechanic's Building at the 31st of the series of the Boston Athletic Association Meets, Saturday evening, Feb. 7.

Thanks to the ability of Averill, Bowdoin took the lead at the start in the race with Williams and Worcester Polytechnic. Bowdoin led by three yards when the first relay was over, with Coddington of Williams a like distance ahead of Cart of Worcester.

The relative positions remained unchanged throughout, although the remaining Williams runners forced the Maine runners and it required all the speed and stamina of Goodwin to stave off the determined efforts of Brown. Worcester was a good distance back. The winner's time was 3 minutes 16 seconds. The other two members of the relay team were Hunt and M. Smith.

Bowdoin also scored a victory when Palmer, a freshman, captured the 660-yard handicap. With 20 yards Palmer took the race away from Dave Caldwell of the B. A. A., at the finish. C. H. Nicoll of Harvard, was third with 24 yards. Palmer's time was one minute 30 1-5 seconds.

Bowdoin was represented in the invitation 40-yard dash by Thomson who narrowly lost the fourth heat to W. D. Hayes of Notre Dame University. The time was 5 seconds.

Thomson also made a good showing in the field of crack hurdlers, when he came in close behind W. A. Wilson of University of Virginia, who made a time of 6 3-5 seconds. L. H. Moses of Bowdoin, also made fast time in the hurdles, coming in second behind W. Smith of Cornell University, who made the even faster time of 6 1-2 seconds. E. J. Thomson of Dartmouth won the finals with a time of 6 seconds, equalling his own world's record.

Goodwin, who ran the handicap mile as well as the relay, finished third in this event with 15 yards. M. K. Douglass of Phillips-Exeter, and G. W. Scammons of Yale, each with 50 yards, came in first and second respectively. The time was 4 minutes 24 2-5 seconds.

HARVARD FENCERS BEAT BOWDOIN TEAM.

The Harvard fencing team led Bowdoin in its opening match of the season in the Hemenway Gymnasium Saturday, Feb. 7, by 6 to 3. Captain Snow of the Crimson was easily the star with three victories, and Schlosberg, Bowdoin's leader, won two. The summary:

FIRE WRECKS HISTORIC UNION.

The college community was startled to find the Union in flames soon after mid-night of last Thursday. It was some time before the sleigh arrived with the hose, but this was soon attached, upon arriving, to the college hydrants by the fire-fighting force and student volunteers. With several streams of water spraying upon the flames the conflagration was soon under control. The Union, once the old Sargent Gymnasium and one of the original college group, has been used since the building of the new gymnasium as the lighting and heating plant of the college with recreation rooms and a canteen upstairs. All the furnishings of the upstairs rooms were destroyed but the boilers of the heating plant were saved, and the lighting system was attached to the town supply, so that both light and heat were forthcoming Friday. Students aided in clearing the rubbish and building a shelter for the boilers Friday and Saturday. The cause of the fire has not yet been ascertained.

MUSICAL CLUBS GO UP-STATE.

The Musical Clubs gave their concert at Pittsfield and Bangor over the week end. The bad weather conditions had a tendency to decrease the attendance at the entertainments.
BATES DEFEATS BOWDOIN 5-1.

On the Lake Andrews rink at Lewiston, Wednesday evening, Jan. 21, the Bates College hockey team defeated the Bowdoin seven 5-1. The game was not as one-sided as the score indicates, and provided plenty of thrills for the large crowd which gathered at the rink. In the first 10 minutes of play, with both teams playing a fast game, neither side scored. Then Cutler began Bates' scoring by shooting the puck through the Bowdoin goal. Bowdoin came back strong at the beginning of the second period, when Morrill scored the only point. Sauvage, who shot three goals, starred for Bates, while Page and Morrill played a fast game for the White.

BOWDOIN 6, P. C. C. 4.

Clean sportsmanship shown by both aggregations was the feature of a fast game at the Country Club rink Jan. 24 when Bowdoin defeated the Portland Country Club aggregation 6 to 4. The game was interesting throughout. When the game started, Bill Clapp pulled the greatest sensation of the afternoon when he ploughed down the ice with the puck and in the first two minutes put Portland in the lead by one cage. But they held this lead only a short time before it was again a tie after Page scored one for Bowdoin. The half ended a tie, two all around, but in the second half on fast work by Morrill, Bowdoin won the contest when with the assistance of one goal by Putnam, Morrill made three counts.

Snow at the goal played well and made stops that were most noticeable to the few witnesses whil Foss' and Clapp's work on their quickness was a great help to the losers. Page and Morrill of Bowdoin were very fast and their work was the cause of Bowdoin's victory.

BATES BEATS BOWDOIN, 9-4

A weak defence on the part of Bowdoin was taken advantage of by Bates Jan. 21, and the Lewiston team won the first ice hockey game to be played here this season by a score of 9 to 4. Brilliant games were played by Provost, Roberts, Curtis and Morrill.

TRACK NOTES.

Through an error it was stated in the Orient of last issue that the Freshman-Sophomore Track Meet and the Interfraternity Track Meet would be held on February 12, and February 19, respectively. These meets will take place a month later than the dates given, on March 12 and 19.

Fifty entry blanks for the Bowdoin Interscholastic Meet, which is to take place in the Gym on the afternoon of Feb. 14, were sent out to schools. Six or seven schools have already signified their intention of entering men in this meet, among them being Coburn Classical Institute, Gorham High, and Bridgeton Academy, three new entrants.

As special attractions it is now hoped that Andover and Phillips Exeter will come for the meet. Ray A. Shepherd, former coach at M. C. I. and present Andover coach, is desirous of sending a team to Bowdoin, and it is understood that the athletic director is also heartily in favor of the plan. The decision now rests with the faculty. If Andover decides to send a team, undoubtedly Exeter will do likewise, for the two schools are keen rivals.

The prospects of speed at the meet are rather uncertain, for little is known of the strength of the teams. Hebron, which has won the meet for years, is handicapped this year by the loss by graduation of several men. This situation necessitates a new team, but with Wardwell, Beals, and Pike as a nucleus, Hebron will doubtless be strong. Westbrook Seminary has been practising for the last month, and has a strong aggregation. Jack Magee has been devoting his Saturdays to whipping the team into shape. Pat French, former track coach at Maine, who is now coaching Portland and Deering High Schools expects to bring several stars. Reports have not been received from other schools as yet.

The feature will be a series of relay races between the school-boy teams. As far as possible the teams will be paired according to their wishes. There will be the usual twelve events besides the relay races on the card, including the 40 yard dash, 45 yard high hurdles, 220 yard dash, 440 yard dash, 880 yard dash, mile run, running broad jump, running high jump, pole vault, 12-pound shot-put, hammer throw, and discus throw. Silver, bronze, and ribbon medals will be given in place of cups to the winners of first, second, and third places, respectively.

DRAMATIC CLIPPINGS.

The Masque and Gown calls attention to the Saturday Club vaudeville and dance to be given on Feb. 11. The cast includes a number of the college students.

On Feb. 12, the Masque and Gown will play "Believe Me, Xantippe" in Rockland, and on the following evening in Thomaston. The cast that will play is as follows:

Helson of the College orchestra will furnish the music in both Rockland and Thomaston.

MacFarland ......................... Asnault '20
Sole .................................. Rollins '20
Brown ................................ Crockett '20
"Buck" Kamman .................. Ridlon '22
Calloway .......................... Parcher '23
Rigley .............................. Ingraham '21
William ............................. Hall '21
Martha ............................... Boardman '21
Violet ................................ Reiber '21
Dolly Kamman .................... Badger '21

The month of February will be the banner month for dramas at Bowdoin. The Masque and Gown will make several flying trips to different parts of the State. The itinerary will include performances at Brunswick, Portland, Rockland, Thomaston, Pittsfield, Bangor, and Skowhegan. Manager Cole is trying to arrange a Massachusetts trip during the Easter vacation.

Rehearsals are being held almost daily. Excellent progress is being made by all members of the casts. Following up the custom inaugurated at the Christmas dance, on the afternoon before the Sophomore Hop, the Masque and Gown will again provide entertainment for the guests of the College by means of a tea and a vaudeville performance in the Gym.

Before a large audience in Memorial Hall, Jan. 22, Edgar Curtis Taylor won the annual Class of 1868 Prize Speaking Contest, awarded for the best written and spoken oration written by a member of the Senior class. Fraternity Men Attention!!
Have you thought that the burning of the Bowdoin Union perhaps means more to the non-fraternity men of the college than to you? Your place of recreation, social life, and get-together is still intact; theirs has been destroyed. Are you going to selfishly stand by and simply say, "too bad." Or are you going to open up your hearts and your houses, and give these fellows a chance to enjoy the advantages of your fire-side, living room, and social life? Remember that the loss of the Union means even more this year than it would have in previous years when these men had the Bowdoin Club to enjoy. Now they have nothing, no place to meet the other fellows.

The Union meant a great deal to every member of the College, it was enjoyed by every member, but you can easily see how much more the non-fraternity men enjoyed it than anyone else. You are here to get a liberal education, here is a fine opportunity to make use of its first principle: thoughtfulness for the other fellow.

P. D. C.

DEAN NIXON OUTLINES ALUMNI PLAN.
At an informal meeting in the Union, Jan. 22, Dean Nixon outlined the Alumni Plan to interested Juniors and Seniors. The ultimate purpose of the plan is to get Juniors and Seniors in line for a position in a congenial business when they graduate from college. The Alumni Placement Committee, which consists of three members, heads the organization. A Board of Directors exercises a controlling interest in the movement. Placement representatives will represent the Placement Committee in the larger industrial centers. In close contact with each man who desires a position will be an alumni advisor whose function it will be to confer with, either personally or by correspondence, or both, the man who is considering entry into his particular business. This advisor will give advice concerning the fitness of his protegee for the work he intends to enter upon, size up his general capabilities, and possibly place him in his own or in another man's business of a similar character. Incidental to the opportunity for life work is that of openings in summer work during a man's college course that may be coordinated with his prospective life work.

Men who desire to cooperate with this plan of the alumni will fill out certain forms at the college office, containing the necessary information. One copy of this form will be placed on file at the office and another sent to the prospective employer. It is essential that a man notify the office at once after he has been placed in order that his name may be removed from the files and not cause unnecessary confusion.
GEORGE WALKER, ESQ., IS FORUM SPEAKER.

On the evening of January 26 George R. Walker, Esq., Bowdoin '02, a prominent lawyer of New York City, talked to Bowdoin men on business conditions in New York and enumerated instances of Bowdoin men who have made good there. He described in some detail the phenomenal success attained by Harvey D. Gibson '02 and Harris A. McCann of the same class. Mr. Walker stated that for a young man who was willing to work and make the necessary sacrifices New York offered wonderful opportunities. A large and representative group of Bowdoin men were present to greet the speaker.

CLASSICAL CLUB INITIATES

President Sills entertained the Classical Club on the evening of Jan. 20 at his home. Prosser '20 was elected president of the society to take the place of Dunbar '20 who has left college.

The following men were initiated into the club:

M. A. Avery '20, Lindner '20, Claff '21, Haines '21, Laughlin '21, Thomson '21, Curran '22, Ham '22, Rogers '22, Towl '22, and Willson '22. After the initiation ceremonies refreshments were served by Mrs. Sills. The next meeting will be held at Professor Woodruff's.

BOWDOIN MAN WINS HIGH JUMP AT OXFORD.

Hal S. White '17, holder of the Longfellow Scholarship, won both the high jump and the broad jump in a track meet at Oxford when his college, Brasenose, put Exeter out of the running. Of a second meet, a friend who is also studying at Oxford, writes, "Hal was out today in a muddy field winning the high leap and getting second in the long leap. All the English jumpers use the old 'scissors' jump. They are astounded at Hal's twinkling American style, and gather around to stare and applaud. I feel that he will be a 'Blue' in this next meet with Cambridge." All of White's training was done at Bowdoin under Jack Magee. He is the holder of the Bowdoin record (both indoor and outdoor) in the high jump, with a mark of 5 feet 9 inches. In his Senior year, White won the broad jump in the indoor meet with a distance of 20 feet 5¾ inches.

His letter follows:

"Oxford is a marvellous place. I am simply living and breathing its mellow atmosphere. To an American who comes so directly from the dust of hurrying commercialism and efficiency, the casualness of Oxford is delightful. I love Oxford. The other night I walked down into Oxford. The roads were covered with patches of impermanent snow, and more was falling athwart the lamp-lights. As I walked on through the dark narrow lanes between colleges which are stamped with the magic seal of antiquity, I was strangely aware all at once of the mystery and beauty of it all. It was a marvellous feeling, as though for a moment I had been granted to see into the heart of Oxford of other days. Oxford will not be described.

"You may picture me often wandering through rows of village cottages, whose timbered walls are venerable for their task of supporting thatched roofs for centuries, in order that generations of simple folk may grow old and die under their protection. I have been guilty of sentimentalizing in the surroundings of churchyard burial grounds."

"H. S. White '17."

A PRIZE REPUBLICAN PLATFORM.

A notice was received at the Dean's office of a proposition which should interest many college men. Mr. Truxtam Beale, former United States Minister to Persia, offers, through the Republican National Committee, $10,000 in cash prizes for the best suggestions for the Republican platform by the young men and women of the country. These prizes will consist of $6,000 for the best manuscript received; $3,000 for the second best, and $1,000 for the third best.

The purpose of the competition is to try to develop a national platform which is more solid than that formed by the delegates in the turmoil of a wild political convention. It is believed that, "A political platform would surely have more clearness if thought out in the libraries and studies of the scholars of the country." Even should no practical platform be found, the plan should tend to bring about an educative effect on the people, and should serve to interest young voters in the politics of the party.

The rules for the contest are:

1. The contest is open to all men and women not over twenty-five years of age. Attach a signed statement with your manuscript that you are a qualified contestant.

2. Submit four typewritten copies of your manuscript. Sign only one. Write on one side of the paper.

3. Manucripts must not exceed six thousand words.
4. Send all manuscripts to Walker Blaine Contest, Division of Young Voters, Republican National Committee, 923 Woodward Bldg., Washington, D. C.

5. All manuscripts must be in the judges’ hands not later than March 31, 1920.

6. Announcement of the prize winners will be made prior to the opening of the Republican National Convention in 1920.

OLD DEBATING LEAGUE REVIVES.

Negotiations are practically complete for a triangular debate between Bowdoin, Wesleyan, and Hamilton. This triangle was often in vogue during pre-war days and was always popular with followers of debating. Challenges have been received from several other colleges, but due to the fact that Professor Davis, the debating coach, is on leave of absence for the next semester and arrangements for the maximum number of debates have already been made, these challenges could not be accepted.

Varsity material for the debate is excellent.

The Debating Council is looking forward to a very successful season from every standpoint.

It is with regret that Theta Chapter learns of the death of Brother James Ross Jordan of the Class of 1882.

MacMillan Contracts Boat for Explorations.

Professor MacMillan, the famous Arctic traveler who was with Admiral Peary's party when the daring explorer made his successful dash for the pole, and who is now a member of the faculty of Bowdoin College, has awarded the contract for an auxiliary knockabout to Hodgdon Bros., of East Boothbay. This craft has been named in honor of Mr. MacMillan's Alma Mater, "Bowdoin," and in her the explorer with five companions expects to start early in July, 1921, for Baffin's Land on a voyage of exploration which will last two years.

The western shores of Baffin Land constitute 1,000 miles of unexplored territory, now designated by a blank. Nearly 100 years ago two English ships undertook a voyage of discovery there but did not penetrate the Peary and Hecla Straits.

Mr. MacMillan proposes to make his dash the latter part of June or early part of July, 1921, and hopes to get through the Peary and Hecla Straits. His departure is not timed earlier in the year for the reason that other explorers have been compelled to make a long wait after reaching the frozen region, to the sad detriment of their supplies. He has the utmost faith in Eskimo assistance, without which Peary could never have reached the North Pole, he believes.

Mr. MacMillan got as far north as the 85th degree of latitude on the Peary expedition, and the famous explorer had indicated his intention of taking him on the final dash, but in his excitement and zeal Mr. MacMillan forgot to change the grass in his moccasins, and both feet were frozen, so he was compelled to stay behind while Peary made a new epoch in the world's history.

Mr. MacMillan was very sorry to learn that Admiral Peary's health had become precarious, and will visit the explorer while in Washington.

That there is no further object to be attained by again seeking the North Pole is Mr. MacMillan's opinion. "We know from Admiral Peary what the conditions are there," he told the reporter. Neither does Mr. MacMillan believe, that it is feasible to reach the North Pole by airship, and this opinion is born of his own experience in aviation.

"In the first place," said he, "the journey would have to be made in a seaplane, and the fields of ice in the Arctic region are far too rough to permit of a landing, even if the airship made the trip safely. It could perhaps be done with a dirigible, but the expense would be prohibitive."—Brunswick Record.

"THE OLD HOUSE WITH THE YOUNG SPIRIT"
The Power of Electricity in Transportation

Electricity has leveled out the Continental Divide. The steam locomotive, marvelous as it is after a century of development, cannot meet all of the present demands for transportation facilities. Its electric rival has proved to be far superior.

On the mountain divisions of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway—the world's greatest electrification—giant electric locomotives today lift an ever increasing freight tonnage over the mile-high Rockies and also make traveling clean and comfortable. They utilize the abundant energy of distant waterfalls and then, by returning some of this power to the trolley, safely brake the trains on descending grades. And their capabilities are not impaired by excessively cold weather when the steam engine is frozen and helpless.

Electricity is the power which drives the trains of New York City's subway and elevated systems. It operates the locks and tugs the ships, through the Panama Canal. It propels the Navy's latest super-dreadnought, the New Mexico. Electric mine locomotives have replaced the slow-moving mule and the electric automobile has also come to do an important service.

Electricity has become the universal motive power. It has contributed efficiency and comfort to every form of transportation service and in this evolution General Electric apparatus has played a large part—from mighty electric locomotives to the tiny lamp for the automobile.

Some Advantages of Railroad Electrification

Saving the Nation's coal.
Lower maintenance costs.
Greater reliability and fewer delays.
Ability to haul smoothly heavier trains at higher speed.
Operation of electric locomotives unaffected by extreme cold.
Ability to brake trains on descending grades by returning power to the trolley.

PORTLAND HOCKEY SEXTET WIN 9 TO 5
DEcision Over BowDoin.

The Portland Hockey Club defeated the Bowdoin College hockey team at Brunswick Saturday afternoon 9 to 5. The poor condition of the rink slowed up the playing as the sun melted the surface ice and formed slush in many places, which handicapped the game and stopped the puck.

The Portland Hockey Club held the edge on the home team throughout the whole game by its superior team work and more accurate passing and shots. Foss and Eaton in the forward line played their positions to advantage. Currey at cover point shot four goals for his team and followed up the puck at all times. Hall was active throughout the two periods and was in the center of nearly every play. He was high scorer for the afternoon with five goals.

Page and Morrill for Bowdoin excelled. Page played a consistent game both offensively and defensively. He shot two of the goals made by the Bowdoin team which were the only successful ones during the first period. Morrill flashed in the second half more especially and placed three goals in the cage during that time. Doherty at center was besieged at all angles with attempted shots at the cage and handed himself well despite the fact that the play was in the Bowdoin territory the most of the game.

The summary:

RIFLE TEAM SHOOTS FIRST MATCH.

The Rifle Team opened its season this week with two matches, a dual match with Harvard and the first weekly Intercollegiate League match. The Harvard match showed improvement over the league match but both matches showed the effect of too little competition.

More competition is needed for the team. Practise is held Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday afternoons at the Armory. The team is picked from those showing best in practice. If you belong to the Rifle Club get out for the team, if you don't belong see Low '20 and join. Only those picked for the week's match will report on Thursdays and Fridays.

MUSICAL CLUBS' TRIP.

The Bowdoin Glee and Mandolin Clubs took their second trip of the season on the first Thursday, Friday, and Saturday in February, directly after the examinations. The first concert was given in Augusta, the second in Bangor, and the third in Pittsfield. In spite of the terrible storm the clubs played to large audiences at every concert. The trip was a success from every point of view.

A number of the members of the clubs were unable to reach Augusta in time for the concert on account of the storm; several others were obliged to stay in Brunswick because of exams. In spite of decreased numbers, however, the clubs presented a successful program. The audience was large and enthusiastic. After the concert several members of the clubs furnished music for a dance. The concert in Bangor was the most successful of the entire season. Nearly all the members of the clubs were present and the audience numbered over a thousand people. Over forty Bowdoin alumni stood when Bowdoin Beata was sung at the end of the program. A dance was held after the concert. The third concert was held in Pittsfield under the auspices of the Senior class of Maine Central Institute. The audience was of course much smaller here than at the other concerts, but what it lacked in numbers it made up in enthusiasm. The clubs returned to Brunswick on the midnight train Saturday.

The program presented on this trip included not only the semi-classical numbers that were given on the New York trip, but also several popular numbers. These jazz medleys were especially successful. Manager Berry has several concerts booked for the near future. He is planning a concert in Brunswick, a trip to Rockland and Camden, and another trip to Massachusetts. It is to be hoped that the present influenza epidemic will not prevent these concerts and thus mar the success of the season.

INTERSCHOLASTIC MEET POSTPONED.

Manager Buker '21 announced last Wednesday that the Interscholastic Meet which was to be held at Bowdoin Saturday, Feb. 14, would have to be postponed indefinitely. The rapid spread of the epidemic of influenza which has been raging in many of the towns of New England prompted the State Board of Health to advise President Sills that such a meet would be very dangerous to the public health. This is especially the case since several of the schools of Massachusetts, where the influenza is spreading rapidly, were to be represented in the meet.

The postponed meet was expected to be the biggest and best schoolboy meet that had ever been held at Bowdoin. Nineteen schools were to be represented, four of which were from Massachusetts. Over 200 schoolboy athletes were expected to compete, the largest number ever to run in the Bowdoin Interscholastic Meet. The Bates Freshmen were also scheduled to run a relay race with the Bowdoin Freshmen. However, the situation was met with the greatest possible grace. Plans are being made so that the meet may be held on some future date when the epidemic of influenza will have abated.

The epidemic has also compelled the postponement of the Sophomore Hop. This, the committee announces will be held at some date in the future, although the exact time is as yet indefinite.

SATURDAY CLUB VAUDEVILLE.

A program of some merit which including several college men, was presented before a large audience in the Town Hall last Wednesday evening by the Saturday Club.

"Pierrot Back from the Wars," by Miss Isabelle Palmer and Rieber '21, started the program in a most pleasing manner. "Tickets Please," presented by Miss Marian Andrews, Miss Helen Harrington, Miss Ida Towle and Mrs. Clyde Stevens, furnished many laughs. Next, a group of living pictures, furnished with remarkable costumes and settings, met the manifest approval of the audience.

Following a splendid vocal solo by Richan '20, a clever, and at times, humorous act of tumbling and jui-jitsu was given by Toyokawa '21, Tarbox '22, and Libby '23. Keaney '23 made a hit in a negro character sketch which he presented.

The one act farce, "Married—But a Woman Still," which followed, was presented in a mirth provoking manner by Assault '20, Redman '21, and Quinby '23. Next, came a musical act by Chandler '23, which was followed by a dance from "Katcha-Koo" by 12 young ladies. A trio, consisting of Merrill '22, James '22, and A. Smith '23 closed the program with some cleverly rendered musical numbers.

Dancing followed the program which was as follows.

1. "Pierrot Back from the Wars." Miss Palmer and Mr. Reiber
2. "Tickets Please." Miss Andrews, Miss Harrington, Miss Towle, Mrs. Stevens.
3. Pictures.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES.

Tuesday evening, Feb. 9, a Cabinet meeting of the Y. M. C. A. was held, at which the plans for spring activities and for future meetings were made.

The Cabinet discussed the feasibility of establishing by the Y. M. C. A. of recreation rooms to take the place of those formerly in the Union. The prospect of sending a delegation to represent Bowdoin at the address at Bates, next week, by Mr. J. Stitt Wilson, the noted speaker on social reconstruction, was also brought before the Cabinet. The plans will be announced in more detail at a later date.

The employment department of the Y. M. C. A. is finding a great demand for men to shovel snow and aid in the spring house cleaning. All men desiring such employment should hand their names at once to McGown '21, general secretary of the Bowdoin "Y."

MEMBER OF PARLIAMENT TO LECTURE.

Mr. Alexander F. Whyte, member of Parliament from 1910 to 1918, will lecture before the College on the evening of Feb. 25. He will discuss some of the most important issues which are dominant in Europe today. Mr. Whyte is the editor of New Europe and is a speaker and writer of note in Europe. He is now on tour in America, coming with a great record as an authority on foreign affairs. The place of the lecture will be announced in the near future.

BOWDOIN ALUMNUS COMMENDS SHOWING AT B. A. A. MEET.

The members of the Bowdoin team which competed at the recent B. A. A. games in Boston are to be congratulated for their splendid work.

The relay team defeated Williams and Worcester Polytechnic Institute decisively, and in time which considering the fact that no Bowdoin man was forced, compared favorably with the fastest relay times of the evening.

In the open events the Bowdoin men performed in a conspicuous manner. It is quite an achievement for a man to place in any event in a B. A. A. meet, or to get into the final heat of the sprint or hurdle race, for the B. A. A. Meet attracts the fastest athletes in the Eastern colleges and athletic clubs. Yet two Bowdoin men placed in running events; a third won his way into the final heat of the hurdle race; and still a fourth qualified for the semi-final in the 40-yard dash. That surely is a fine record.

It was pleasing to note that the Bowdoin men ran with the form and finish that characterizes the running of the fast runners in the country. Those who saw the way in which many of the runners on other relay teams, "tied up," and slowed up in the last 50 yards of their relays, will appreciate what it means for a runner to have form, and to know how to run. The drive that the Bowdoin relay men put into the last half of their last laps was very noticeable, and it didn't come from any energy that had been saved by slow running in the early part of the race. The men knew how to run and keep their form at the end of the race while tired, just as at the beginning while fresh.

It is nothing new, however, for Bowdoin to have a good relay team, for since Mr. Magee came to the college as trainer, Bowdoin has never had a poor team. The record in relay and track since 1913 speaks for itself. In these years, however, there has never been anything sensational in the personnel of any of Bowdoin's teams. Few well known school boy runners have come in to help make up a fast team. On the contrary, it seems that our relay and track teams have in the great majority of cases, been made up of boys who came to Bowdoin with little or no running experience, and who were developed at the College.

Bowdoin is fortunate in having a trainer of Mr. Magee's caliber. It might be more nearly correct to say a teacher rather than trainer, for he has proved by his work since coming to Bowdoin that he is able not only to condition men, but to teach them how to run, jump and hurdle correctly. Many men who are able to perform wonderfully in different events are unable to instruct others, and many coaches really do nothing except to keep their men working on simple running schedules in order to condition them. The result of coaching of that kind was evident in some relay teams at the recent B. A. A. Meet. Many well-conditioned men finished in poor form and lost races, for the simple reason that they didn't know how to use their strength.

If men are willing to go through the grind of a relay or track season, they are entitled to the best instruction that can be obtained for them, and Bowdoin men everywhere who are acquainted with athletics, are thoroughly satisfied with the work of Mr. Magee. The track and relay teams have been consistently good since his connection with the college.

The writer was present at the recent B. A. A. games, and is of the opinion that Bowdoin was never before so well represented at that meet. This letter is just a word of appreciation to the members of the team, and to Mr. Magee. There is good reason to look forward to the spring meets with interest and confidence.

ROOSEVELT MEMORIAL FUND.

Contributors from Bowdoin undergraduates to the Roosevelt Memorial Fund totalled $69.75. These contributions have been duly accredited and forwarded; each contributor will eventually receive an official certificate of membership in the Roosevelt Memorial Association.
Deferred Fraternity Initiations.

The past semester has witnessed an unprecedented number of "flunks" in the Freshman class. This is probably due to no one cause but to a combination of causes. However, we cannot but believe that one of the most important of these is the serious interruption of the Freshman's work at the start of the year by fraternity horseplay, pre-initiation ceremonies and the performance of fraternity duties. This interruption comes at a time when it is important, above all times, that the Freshman has time to do his work properly in order to get a background for his year's work. It is for this reason that we propose that in the future fraternity initiations be deferred until the beginning of the second semester.

Such a step would undoubtedly benefit the Freshman, the fraternity and the college. It would give the Freshman a semester to get started in his college work without serious interruption by the pressure of fraternity duties and obligations. The fraternity would likewise benefit from the higher grade of scholastic work done by its Freshmen. Also, the fraternity would have an effective stick to hold over its Freshmen in that those failing in two courses or more the first semester would probably not be initiated with their delegation. These men would be put on fraternity probation and be initiated only when they had made good. Such a system would give the Freshmen added incentive to work and make good. Thus the college would be benefited also.

This plan of deferred initiations necessitate no change in the pledging system. Pledges would eat at their respective fraternity houses. They would have no part in fraternity affairs except as they might be required to do errands or other similar work by upperclassmen. They would receive any help from members of the upper classes in their courses that is given under the present system. Neither would the plan necessitate any change in the customs of fraternity horseplay except as these pre-initiation ceremonies would come at the beginning of the second semester instead of the first, nor would it mean that horseplay would be drawn out through the first semester. It should be quite plain that this last condition would be in direct opposition to the purpose of deferred initiations. Of course the plan would require uniform action by all the fraternities, since any leniency by one would be unjust to the other. This uniformity could be easily secured, however, through some sort of inter-fraternity agreement.

We believe such a plan of deferred initiations would give the incentive and time for better work by the Freshmen and a proper protection to fraternities against loss of Freshmen at mid-years due to failures. Of course there may be justified opposition to this plan. If so, we should be glad to hear from it.
BOWDOIN CLUB OF PHILADELPHIA MEETS.

On Saturday evening, Jan. 31, 1920, there was held at Kugler's restaurant, 15th and Chestnut streets, Philadelphia, Pa., a meeting of the Bowdoin College Club of Philadelphia. W. L. Sanborn '01, president of the club, presided.

A notice had been sent to every Bowdoin man in this vicinity whose address was available and the attendance was exceptionally good. Those who were unable to be present were kind enough to reply which was very encouraging to the secretary as it showed their interest in the association. The faces of many of the older members were missed owing to sickness and other legitimate reasons but the younger members kept the meeting full of interest.

The club was fortunate enough to have with it as guests of honor President Sills and Mr. Cyrus H. K. Curtis of the Curtis Publishing Co. of Philadelphia.

President Sills outlined the needs of the College and every member felt the strength of his remarks. As the campaign mentioned gets under way there is no doubt but that the Alumni of Philadelphia and vicinity will stand ready to do their part. It is to be hoped that President Sills' ambitions in reference to the increased endowment fund, the addition to the gymnasium to comprise a swimming pool and a room for basketball and, also, a new organ or, at least, the proper rebuilding of the old one, may be soon achieved. The information imparted by President Sills that up to date not one “Red” had been rounded up in the State of Maine made a profound impression.

Mr. Curtis, the head of the large organization that publishes the Ladies' Home Journal, the Saturday Evening Post, the Country Gentleman and the Philadelphia Public Ledger, spoke to us very interestingly for a few minutes. It was of particular interest since Mr. Curtis originally was a Portland boy and is an adopted son of Bowdoin. Mr. Curtis in his usual pleasing manner gave information about the old home State and Portland that, perhaps, many of us had never fully appreciated. Through the kindness of Mr. Curtis the next meeting of the Bowdoin College Club of Philadelphia, which will take place some time in March, will be held in the Curtis Publishing Building and it is hoped that this meeting will be the best yet. Mr. Curtis was made a member of the Bowdoin College Club of Philadelphia.

The first matter brought before the meeting was a communication from the chairman of the Committee on Alumni Associations of the Alumni Council urging a greater degree of co-operation among these associations than heretofore and more systematic efforts to assist the College in various ways. The secretary was instructed to carry out the instructions set forth in the communication.

The next matter to come before the meeting was one of particular interest to the Bowdoin College Club of Philadelphia because it appears to be the crystallizing of an idea that was taken up in this club some time ago. This is in conjunction with the Alumni Council with the support of the Faculty in reference to the placing of our graduates as early as possible in their life work. The plan outlined by Dean Nixon meets the situation. L. G. Schofield, Jr., care of Merchants Shipbuilding Company, Bristol, Pa., and John H. Halford, R. D. No. 1, Norristown, Pa., were elected to represent this organization on the Placement Committee.

All those who attended the meeting found at their places a Bowdoin Calendar which brought us all back to the good old days when we were living in Brunswick.

The next meeting will be held in March.

John H. Halford, Secretary.

BOWDOIN ALUMNI OF PORTLAND HOLD FIFTIETH REUNION.

At the Congress Square Hotel, Saturday evening, Feb. 14, the Bowdoin Alumni of Portland held their fiftieth annual meeting. A banquet was served following the business meeting. Several speakers made up an excellent program. This was the semi-centennial of the first Bowdoin banquet and the first for the men back from the service. These facts contributed to make the affair a decided success.

HARVARD HEADS BOWDOIN SCHEDULE.

A baseball schedule covering eighteen games and including Brown, New Hampshire State, and Boston College has been announced by Manager Perkins. This is the stiffest schedule which has been arranged for a Bowdoin team for many years, with three more games than last year's schedule.

This new schedule includes one exhibition game with Bates at Lewiston, on Patriot's Day, April 19. As usual the Maine colleges play two games each for the Maine State Championship. The two new colleges on the 1920 schedule are Brown University and Norwich University, both reputed as having fast teams.

The schedule as announced is:
April 10—Harvard at Cambridge.
April 17—Fort Williams at Brunswick.
April 19—Bates at Lewiston (exhibition).
April 21—Brown at Providence.
April 22—Wesleyan at Middletown.
April 23—Boston College at Chestnut Hill.
April 24—St. Anselms at Manchester.
April 28—Open.
May 1—Colby at Brunswick.
May 5—St. Anselms at Brunswick.
May 8—Maine at Orono.
May 12—Fort Preble at Brunswick (pending).
May 15—Open.
May 17—Norwich University at Brunswick.
May 19—New Hampshire State at Durham.
May 22—Colby at Waterville.
May 26—Tufts at Medford.
May 29—Maine at Brunswick.
May 31—Bates at Lewiston.
June 2—Open.
June 4—Bates at Brunswick.

FENCING SQUAD HARD AT WORK.

Although defeated by Harvard the fencing squad is hard at work in preparation for a match with Columbia University in the Hyde Gymnasium, March 5. Other matches are pending with Dartmouth and Springfield. The team that fenced against Harvard consisted of Schlosberg '20, captain and manager, Rollins '20, and Ogden '21.

Other members of the squad are Demuth '20, G. G. Houston '20, McClave '20, Wadsworth '20, Badger '21, Osterman '21, Pendexter '21, Sears '21, Standish '21, Barker '22, Battison '22, Fagone '22, McConkey '22, Waterman '22, and Quinby '23.

STRAIGHT "A" MEN ANNOUNCED.

President Sills, in Chapel last Wednesday morning, announced the names of the ten men who have obtained a straight "A" record during the first semester. Commenting on the average mark for the semester, the President remarked that there had been a marked decline in scholastic standing. A greater number of men have failed the final examinations than usual, but, due to an increase in leniency, no more have been compelled to leave college.

The straight "A" men for the first semester were Springer '21, Laughlin '21, McCrum '21, Hatch '21, H. Morrill '21, Prout '21, Ham '22, Ryan '22, Simpson '22 and Towe '22. The Senior and Freshman classes produced no straight "A" men.

OPENINGS IN NATIONAL CITY BANK.

The National City Bank announces the selection of a certain number of men, to be nominated for the recently announced 1920 Foreign Service Scholarships of The National City Bank of New York, the selection is now being made by faculty members of the bank.

Only men nominated by the institution will be considered for the scholarships, according to a statement of the plan issued by the bank. These nominations will be made not later than March 15.

From these nominees from scores of American colleges the bank will select its class. Arrangements will be made for interviewing each nominee at some point convenient to his college.

An increase in the salaries to be paid the college men while in training has just been announced by the bank. Sophomores under the new scale will be paid $90 per month during their summer training, Juniors $95, and Seniors $100, until assigned to foreign posts, when salaries consistent with the assignment will be paid.

FOREIGN STUDENTS DIRECTORY.

A directory has been published by the Committee on Friendly Relations Among Foreign Students which is intended to promote a friendly spirit among the students of foreign countries who are attending school in America. This directory contains the names of over six thousand students who represent eighty different nations. The summary indicates the number of institutions attended and the classification in every state. The directory may be obtained by sending twenty-five cents to the above committee at 347 Madison Avenue, New York City. A copy may be examined by referring to the college secretary of the Y. M. C. A.

RELAY TIME TRIALS.

In the Gymnasium, Monday, Feb. 2, Coach Magee held the time trials which were to decide the composition of the relay team. The trials proved to be fast, Goodwin leading with 47.1-5 seconds in the 390. For this he received the Auburn cup, a cup awarded each year to the fastest man in the relay trials. Palmer was second; his time was 47.4-5 seconds. The results of the trials decided that Goodwin, Palmer, Smith, and Hunt composed the relay team, with Parent and Averill as alternates. Thomson and Moses were also selected to run in the 45-yard hurdles.
BOWDOIN INTERSCHOLASTIC DEBATING LEAGUE.

The debating league, organized and conducted by the Debating Council among the secondary schools near the College, has been revived following the war period, and will this year include Portland, Lewiston, and Augusta High Schools. Taylor '20 will coach Portland High, Badger '21 Cony High of Augusta, and Gordon '20 Lewiston High. As heretofore, a loving cup will be awarded the school whose teams win both debates.

THE INFLUENZA EPIDEMIC.

Cases of influenza in Brunswick are as yet very few in number. It is the duty of everyone to work to prevent any spread of the disease which is at present so prevalent in many parts of the country. As precautionary measures the Sophomore Hop and the Interscholastic Track Meet have been postponed, the latter at the request of the State Board of Health. Both these postponements are hardships, but it is not thought advisable to bring people from all over the state to Brunswick at this time. The epidemic might be spread not only to this town, but also to many other towns. As President Sills remarked in Chapel, our duty to the welfare of the state comes before our own interests.

MacMILLAN TO LEAD ANOTHER EXPEDITION.

Donald MacMillan, Professor of Anthropology (on leave of absence) at Bowdoin, and Peary's lieutenant on the expedition which reached the North Pole, is going on his third journey to the North. Although the project is not officially under the auspices of the College, it is instigated largely through the efforts and finances of Bowdoin men. Admiral Peary '77 is the chief backer and was elected president of the MacMillan Arctic Association, while Alfred B. White '98, president of the Bowdoin Alumni Association of Boston, is vice-president.

The schooner which will carry MacMillan to the frozen north has been christened the "Bowdoin." It is a small but well fitted vessel and is built to withstand the shocks and cutting of the ice. Explorer MacMillan expects to leave Boston about July 1, 1921, and to reach the southern part of Baffin Land in a month. This is a large island north of Hudson Bay which is about 159 miles above the Arctic Circle. It has never been carefully explored and charted, and for this reason offers an especially fruitful field for the investigations of a recognized expert of MacMillan's standing.

The expedition is expected to throw much light on the obscure bird and animal life of Baffin Land and to be of very great value to science. In this way, another expedition to the North by a Bowdoin alumnus will be added to the lengthy list which earns for Bowdoin the title of the "Explorers' College" and justifies the white bear which stands in the Gymnasium.

On the Campus

The slight epidemic of mumps, which has been on the Campus for several weeks, has decreased to a minimum.

The walls of the Union are being raised in preparation of building a roof for the heating plant.

M. Smith '20 was in Providence, R. I., for several days last week.

Many of the pictures for the 1920 Bugle are nearly all taken. This is the last week which will be devoted to this work.

At the Freshman class meeting held last week, Palmer was elected captain, and P. Bisson manager of the Freshman track team.

Ray Swift '17 was on the Campus one day last week.

It was with great regret that the committee announced the postponement of the Sophomore Hop on account of the influenza. A new date will be announced in the near future.

The basement of the old Union has been roofed over to shelter the heating plant. The chimneys have been removed from the ruins.

A number of men from the College took part in an amateur vaudeville show presented by the Saturday Club in town last week. Several played in the annual production of the Brunswick Dramatic Club which was presented Feb. 17.

A canteen will be opened soon, probably in one of the ends. This part of the Union has been greatly missed since the fire.

Pictures of the Ibis, the Orient Board, the Y. M. S. A. Cabinet, and the Student Council were taken last week for the Bugle. Pictures of other organizations will be taken soon.

With the Faculty

President Sills was in Portland Saturday on business.

Dr. Whittier was engaged in work last week connected with the Bartly murder trial.

BOWDOIN'S MEMORIAL TO PEARY

Services in honor of Rear Admiral Robert E. Peary, a graduate of Bowdoin in the class of 1877, were held at the Bowdoin College chapel Sunday, Feb. 22 and were attended by members of Peary's class, the faculty, students and townspeople.

President Kenneth C. M. Sills delivered the memorial address, which was as follows:

It is a singular but very appropriate coincidence that on this Washington's Birthday, filled as it is with national and patriotic memories and inspirations, we should be meeting to do honor to a great American who died last Friday. On the long list of Bowdoin's alumni there is no name more illustrious than that of Robert Edwin Peary, discoverer of the north pole. His life and his career are so full of lessons, particularly for the youth of this land, that it is difficult in an address of this sort to know where to place the emphasis.

First of all, we ought not to forget that he belongs to us, in so far as any graduate of a collegiate institution has that relationship. He was a son of Bowdoin, a graduate in the famous class of 1877, the recipient of the honorary degree of Doctor of Science in 1894, and of the college's highest degree, that of Doctor of Laws, in 1910. On that occasion he came to Brunswick to participate in the Bowdoin celebration of the discovery of the north pole, a celebration in which the college had the right to share, for as Peary himself said, without General Hubbard of the class of 1857, who furnished a large portion of the funds, and without Donald B. MacMillan of the class of 1898, who was his valued aid, the conquest of the pole would not have been achieved. Then again a few years ago he was elected an overseer, so that we mourn also the loss of one of the officers of the college.

The founder of Bowdoin College was a French Huguenot and our most famous alumnus of the present time was also of French Huguenot blood. Thus there is this additional tie to bind together Peary and Bowdoin.

Although born in Pennsylvania Peary passed his boyhood in Portland, his college days at Brunswick, his first professional years as a civil engineer at Fryeburg, and his summers for many years at Eagle Island, so that he is rightfully regarded as a son of Maine. And it is not without significance that he exemplified in his life those granite qualities of pluck and endurance and strength and perseverance that are associated with rigorous and sound elements of Maine climate and Maine people.

In college he showed in part the kind of man he was destined to be.

He was a very excellent student, standing second in a class of unusual distinction. I remember Professor Vose, who was in charge of the department of engineering, telling me once that Peary had the faculty of solving problems in his own way; he would make original cross cuts through the pages of his text book and think out for himself the solutions of mathematical and engineering problems. He was a good athlete, though not enthusiastic about games, but I remember his saying that his small boy was more interested in the trophy he won for throwing the baseball the greatest distance at college than he was in all of his polar exploits. He was always a great lover of the out doors; he knew the region about Brunswick well and spent much of his time in tramping and hunting. Another thing that characterized his college career was his love of truth and his straightforwardness. Many of Peary's collegemates know how he hated a lie; and it was no surprise to them that in the controversy over Cook's alleged discovery he lost his temper and spoke with winged words and some bitterness of the "gold brick" that the imposter had fostered upon the American people. In all those lamentable days when the bloom of the great achievement had been taken away by the cruel fake, men of the Bowdoin faculty who knew Peary's college record were absolutely convinced that he was a truth loving and scientifically trained man, as straightforward and direct as a Viking of the seas. What dreams and ambitions passed through his mind while he was a student here we know not; but in a letter to his classmate, the late Professor Little, there is interesting evidence that he did not anticipate fame. The letter was written to thank his class mates for presenting to the college his bust which is now in the Art Building; and when one reflects that it comes from a man who had been decorated by all the leading scientific societies of the world, and by many monarchs, who had received the thanks of Congress, whose name was a household word, the tribute to his college is lofty and inspiring. "I feel," he wrote, "that no more distinguished honor can come to a man than to have his likeness placed in the hall of his Alma Mater where his memory may be kept green to generation after generation of intelligent youth. High and far reaching are the dreams and ambitions of a college boy I never in my four years in Bowdoin dreamed of such distinction as this."

No one can speak of Peary without paying tribute to his indomitable will. Defeat and disappointment were only spurs to his unflagging spirit. To use President Hyde's phrase, "He accepted nature's haughtiest challenge and proved man the master of the world he stands on." Some people hold that the discovery of the pole, in as much as it brought no direct practical benefit to suffering humanity, was an unnecessary achievement. In reality it was one of the most idealistic performances of the century. It meant that man could conquer; that he is a superior being—that will dominates material difficulties. In telling me about that final dash to the pole Peary once said: "Wasn't it curious that after all the money spent, all the preparations made, all the devices of modern science exhausted, in the end you came to the most elemental things in the world, the dog, the sledge and the man?"

Of course the great explorer did not have all the virtues. Says the New York Times: "The Cook episode, with its bitterness, was only one item in the price which Peary paid for the immortal fame that is now acknowledged to be his. He spent practically all he had in money, gave all that was in him for hard work, and suffered all that the human frame could endure from hunger, cold, and disappointment. He made eight journeys to the arctic, spent upward of half a million dollars, and several times barely escaped the death which in various forms had been the fate of more than 700 explorers before him." Some people complained that he was at times lacking in tact; but it is very doubtful if a tactful man could have reached the pole. Others thought him too self-confident, but self-reliance is a desirable characteristic these days. He was for all his faults from top to toe a man, and his life will not cease to bear influence until the world is done with manliness.

Captain Robert A. Bartlett, who was in command of Peary's ship, the Roosevelt, had this to say:

"I first went with Peary in 1898 and was with him on several subsequent trips, culminating in the discovery of the pole, April 6, 1909. I have seen Peary among his friends at home and in the banquet halls, where he was feted by those who honored his name. I have seen him when both our feet have been almost in the swelliings of Jordan and he has always been the same Peary.

"The Admiral was a born leader. His firmness of purpose and strength of character, combined with his personality, were always inspiring to his men and enabled them to follow him over the most difficult obstacles. In every emergency during his trips he always thought of the welfare of his men first and of himself last. Many such cases came to my personal attention during the various expeditions on which I accompanied him. In some cases Peary's thoughtfulness saved his men from personal injuries; and I know of innumerable case where he denied himself necessities to supply his men. Peary was not a smoker, but he always had a bit of tobacco about him to supply those of us who did use it when we ran out."

"The most remarkable characteristic of Peary was his constant, unchanging temperament. He was extremely broadminded and tolerant. He was the same, unchangeable Peary through stress and difficulties which try men's souls, and through difficulties which seemed almost insurmountable."

"I can honestly and truthfully say that in all the years we were together there never was a misunderstanding or a hasty word between us.

"He was kindness and thoughtfulness personified. I could write a book on his many kindnesses to the Eskimos, as well as to the men who served under him. Peary was a great man and the world today is a great loser by his death."

Nor should we bid him farewell without hailing him as a great American. A poor boy with nothing but his talent and his character to rely on he became a world figure. We need today as always to be reminded of the precious worth of the individual. He was all his life a hard working, adventurous spirit. "Stars and Stripes sailed to the north pole April 6, 1909," was the message flashed by the wireless in the mid-summer of that year and it was a characteristic message. The world does not yet know that the second message sent was "Has anything been heard of Dr. Cook?" But that message showed his insight and intelligent suspicion, as the first test the metal of his achievement. And Peary felt a very deep obligation, not only as an officer of the navy but as an American citizen to dedicate his service to his country and to hit hard all cheats and shams.
His career is a great and wholesome inspiration to all the younger men of the land; for what has been done can be done. His years of sacrifice for an ideal are a rebuke to those members of labor unions who would work but six hours a day and still call themselves Americans and to those merchants and employees who count success only in the terms of huge profits.

As Vice-President Marshall said the other day, it is high time to ascertain if everything that made the Republic great was right or wrong. Peary's life work is a protest against the submergence of the individual; it is the incarnation of that self reliance which as made America what she is. And it is the peculiar glory of Bowdoin College shared by her sister institutions that in various epochs of our history she has contributed to the nation men who have displayed these characteristics:

"You sent the man; seeking afar
The world sought, age long goal
He pushed through perilous ways and grasped
The secret of the Pole.
"However far the purpose run
Or splendid be the plan,
The glory of achievement means
The story of a man."

ZETES LEAD IN FRIAR CUP STANDING

The Friar Cup, awarded annually to the fraternity having the highest scholastic standing, has been won this year by Zeta Psi. The non-fraternity men led the college with a standing of 10.5733, and Zeta Psi led the fraternities with a standing of 10.1818, winning over Delta Kappa Epsilon by four-tenths of a point. By classes, the non-fraternity men led the Senior, Junior, and Freshman classes, Zeta Psi leading the Sophomore class. The second highest by classes were: Senior, Zeta Psi; Junior, Alpha Delta Phi; Sophomore, Delta Upsilon; Freshman, Delta Kappa Epsilon.

The averages were as follows:

The Need of a Commons.

There has always been in College a large number of men not belonging to fraternities who have had to depend on private families, boarding houses or restaurants for a chance to eat. The number of such men has varied widely from year to year, being close to one hundred at present. The question of having a commons or dining room run by the College where these men could eat has often come up in the past, but owing to the lack of room and the pressing need for other facilities, nothing has been done.

Now our Union Building has been burned and it does not appear feasible that the building replacing it should contain more than the heating and lighting plants, due to the fire risk under any such plan as the old. This will necessitate a new and separate building which could well contain, in addition to recreational rooms and space for dancing and student gatherings, a dining room capable of seating seventy-five to a hundred men. The dining room would probably be located in the basement or on the first floor. This would give the non-fraternity men a chance to eat together and any others who so desired, thus satisfying one of the most pressing needs of the College at present, and meeting one of the strongest criticisms advanced by outsiders against our fraternity system at Bowdoin.

James McBain.

One of the exceedingly happy features of the student life at Bowdoin is the very close feeling of friendship and good will which exists between the students and the college employees. Perhaps we do not fully realize this intimate connection until such a man as “Jim” McBain is removed from our daily life. James McBain was ever a faithful worker, and a genial, cheerful friend and helper to the students. Both students and Alumni will feel his loss deeply. His place in the hearts of those who have known him can never be filled.

BOWDOIN SWAMPS BATES

In a dual meet, in which three records were broken, one new one set, and in which another came within a fifth of a second of being equalled, Bowdoin defeated Bates 82-26 in the Hyde Athletic Building last Saturday afternoon.

All the records which were broken were broken by Bowdoin men. Goodwin, in the mile, lowered his record six and a fifth seconds. He also set up a new record for the two mile, a new event, as 10 min. and 13 sec. Hatch in the 800yd. run, pulled down the record of 2 min, 9 2-5 sec., set by Saywood ‘16, to 2 min., 9 1-5 sec. Capt. Dostie cut the previous record for the 220yd. dash from 25 4-5 sec. to 25 2-5 sec. in the second trial heat. In the final, however, Wiggin of Bates secured a great lead and won first place in the event although the time of the final time was 25 4-5 sec. Mitchell Smith of Bowdoin also came within one-fifth of a second of equaling the 440yd. run record of 55 3-5 seconds, set by Simonton ‘18.

The meet was an easy win for Bowdoin, although many of the events were fast and close. The energetic coaching of Coach Magee showed results in the excellent form displayed by all the Bowdoin contenders, and in the extraordinary list of records broken in the meet. The field events did not attain such a high class as the track, but Bowdoin obtained the majority of points in these also.

Near the close of the meet, the Bowdoin and Bates Freshmen ran a very close and interesting relay race. Butler lead for Bowdoin and obtained a ten yard advantage on his opponent. Bowdoin retained the lead until the third man for Bates, Lindley, passed and drew away from Hebb of Bowdoin. The last two runners staged the most interesting race, both men being very speedy. Palmer, anchor for Bowdoin, started seven yards behind Batten of Bates and, although he threatened to pass him several times, he was unable to obtain the lead and finished but one yard behind the Bates man.

The two men who starred in the meet were, Thomson and Goodwin, both of Bowdoin. Thomson won two first places, two second places, and one third place for Bowdoin. He exhibited very good form in all the events in which he entered, especially in the high and low hurdles. Goodwin, the Bowdoin long distance runner, made records in both the mile and in the two mile. In the two mile, although pushed in the finish by Boker of Bates who developed an exceptionally fast sprint in the last lap, he finished twelve yards in the lead. He won the mile with apparent ease, leading by half a lap all his opponents.

Summary:

49 Yard Dash
Won by Thomson of Bowdoin; 2nd, M. Smith of Bowdoin; 3rd, Dostie of Bowdoin. Time, 4 4-5 sec.

LECTURE BY MR. ALEXANDER F. WHYTE

Mr. Alexander F. Whyte, former member of Parliament and a noted English publisher, spoke on last Wednesday evening on the subject of "Changing England." Mr. Whyte was eminently fitted to speak on such a subject, for, from his position of politician and journalist, he has been an acute observer of social affairs. He said that three great changes had taken place in England during the war: namely, that labor had become a most important factor in party politics and had come to realize that strikes should not be used to force political measures; that Englishmen had begun to realize that Ireland must have Home Rule, but that an Irish constitution could be made nowhere except in an Irish assembly; and that England had changed its foreign policy from the theory of the balance of power to that of internationalism as outlined in the League of Nations. His lecture was especially interesting to students.
of economics, international law, history and government.

On the Thursday afternoon following his lecture, Mr. Whyte spoke again, this time on the making of the peace treaty in Paris. Mr. Whyte was in Paris during the Conference as a correspondent and was able to give a clear idea of the occurrences there. He spoke chiefly for the class in government which attended the lecture in place of its usual class.

BOWDOIN COMES BACK AT BATES IN HOCKEY

Bowdoin defeated Bates in the fourth game between these rivals this season by the close score of 1 to 0. Curtis scored the only goal of the game in which the White showed far more ability than in previous games. The Garnet failed to show anything that resembled its previous ability. Wiggins and Mosher starred for Bates while Curtis was Bowdoin's strongest on the offense while Richardson was a prominent factor in staving off defeat for the White.

MUSICAL CLUBS' BRUNSWICK CONCERT

The Bowdoin Musical Clubs presented their annual Brunswick concert in the Town Hall on Friday evening, Feb. 27. There was a large audience of college students and townspeople. Following the concert Sprince's Orchestra played for a dance.

The program was the same as that presented in Augusta, Bangor and Pittsfield where the clubs had such splendid success. It included artistically rendered solos by Richan '20 and Philbrick '20, a reading by Asnault '20, and numbers by the Mandolin and Glee Clubs. The features of the concert were numbers by an instrumental jazz quartet which has made itself famous from New York to Bangor this season. The concert was successful in every way.

Berry '20, manager of the Musical Clubs, has arranged several trips for the near future. While the final details have not been entirely arranged, it is probable that the clubs will play Lewiston on March 9, Camden on March 12, and Biddeford, Portsmouth and Boston on the first three days of the spring recess. Still other concerts are in view. The season promises to be one of the most successful in years.

DEATH OF MR. JAMES MCBAIN.

At Chapel Wednesday morning, Feb. 18, President Sills spoke as follows:

I regret to announce the death last evening in his home here in Brunswick of Mr. James McBain, for many years janitor of Maine Hall and for some time head janitor of the College. Bowdoin has been most fortunate in the character and loyalty of those men who work for her. Mr. McBain—"Jim" McBain as we all knew him—was one of the best employees an institution could have; but in these days when there is so much careless slipshod work it was always a fine thing to see how thoroughly he performed all his duties and the pride and interest he took in keeping the buildings under his care in as fine condition as possible. There was a great deal of Scotch thoroughness about him, both in his character and in his work. He was always popular with the students and with his fellow workmen. I have directed the College flag to be at half mast today in his honor, and I know you will wish me to express to the family the deep sympathy of all the members of the College.

The funeral was held at the home of the deceased on Friday afternoon at two o'clock. Rev. T. E. Ashby was the officiating clergyman, and Cook '20, Ellms '20, Richan '20, Smith '20, and Zeitler '20 of the Student Council were bearers. Flowers were sent by many of the fraternities, the Student Council, and officers of the College.

Cummings; Ivy Day Committee, R. Perkins (chairman), Crowell, Hatch, J. Whitney, Schonland and Dudgeon.

AN ANNOUNCEMENT

The omission of the Orient last week was not due to the desire of the business or editorial management of the paper, but to a misunderstanding created by the somewhat general observance of Monday as a holiday. The omission has thus forced the editor to combine the news of the two weeks, necessitating the omission of much of the department news and other news that would have been given space had there been two issues. It is hoped that no similar incident will occur in the future.

BASEBALL PRACTICE BEGINS

Manager Perkins '21, has issued the call for candidates for the baseball team. The practice is beginning early in order to be prepared for hard work when the weather permits outdoor work. All men answering this call should appear in uniform at the dates set for practicing the branch of the sport which they select. The days and hours of practice are:

Battery candidates: Mon., Wed., Fri. at 1.30.
Outfield candidates: Mon., Wed., Fri. at 2.30.
Infield candidates: Tues., Thurs., Sat. at 2.00.

Manager Perkins also desires that all freshmen who plan to work for Assistant Manager of baseball should hand their names to him as soon as possible.

JORDAN HIGH WINS ABRAXAS CUP

The Abraxas Cup, awarded annually to the preparatory school sending three or more men to Bowdoin, whose graduates attain the highest scholastic standing during the first semester of their Freshman year, was won by Jordan High School, Lewiston, by five-tenths of a point over Farmington High School. The winning average was 11.3333; that of Farmington 10.8333. The figures follow for the schools in the contest:

THE MASQUE AND GOWN TRIP.

The Masque and Gown returned two weeks ago from a successful trip through several Maine towns. The trio included three days during which the comedy “Believe Me Xantippe” was presented in Bangor, Rockland, and Thomaston. The play in Bangor was especially successful.

Future trips will include Portland, Pittsfield, Skowhegan, Bath, and possibly a trip to Massachusetts during the Easter vacation.

On the Campus

As a result of the heavy snow storm last week many college men found work during the week end in clearing the snow from the railroad tracks.

McGown ’21 was in Boston last Saturday attending the meeting of the New England Inter-collegiate Y. M. C. A. Council, of which he is secretary.

Washington’s Birthday falling on Sunday, Monday the 23rd was a holiday. Feb. 20, 21, 24, and 25 were probation days. A patriotic service was held in the Chapel on Sunday at the usual Chapel time.

The College flag was at half mast Wednesday, Feb. 18, and again Friday, Feb. 20.

Pictures of the Board of Managers, the Classical Club, and the College Band were taken last week.

It was announced last week that the course in Mathematics I would be repeated this semester for those who failed to pass it last semester, and who have not changed to another course.

John B. Mathews ’18 was on the Campus for several days last week.

Manager Schlosberg ’20 has announced that the Bowdoin fencers will match themselves against Columbia in the Bowdoin gymnasium on March 5. The team has worked hard and deserves the support of the student body.

RESOLUTION.

Hall of Theta of Delta Kappa Epsilon:

It was with very deep regret that Theta Chapter of Delta Kappa Epsilon learned of the death of Brother Henry S. Payson of the Class of 1881, one of its prominent and very active alumni. Through his earnestness of purpose and ability he won numerous honors in college and was awarded the A.B. and A.M. degrees. Since leaving college, Brother Payson has been actively engaged in the insurance business in Portland, where he won a host of friends by the public spirit he always displayed in affairs of the day.

It is voted that this acknowledgement of our loss and of our sympathy with the family of our departed Brother be placed upon the records of the Chapter and a copy sent to his family.

The Service of an Electrical Research Laboratory

The research facilities of the General Electric Company are an asset of world-wide importance, as recent war work has so clearly demonstrated. Their advantages in pursuits of peace made them of inestimable value in time of war.

A most interesting story tells of the devices evolved which substantially aided in solving one of the most pressing problems of the war—the submarine menace. Fanciful, but no less real, were the results attained in radio communication which enabled an aviator to control a fleet of flying battleships, and made possible the sending, without a wire, history-making messages and orders to ships at sea. Scarcely less important was the X-ray tube, specially designed for field hospital use and a notable contribution to the military surgical service. And many other products, for combatant and industrial use, did their full share in securing the victory.

In the laboratories are employed highly trained physicists, chemists, metallurgists and engineers, some of whom are experts of international reputation. These men are working not only to convert the resources of Nature to be of service to man, but to increase the usefulness of electricity in every line of endeavor. Their achievements benefit every individual wherever electricity is used.

Scientific research works hand in hand with the development of new devices, more efficient apparatus and processes of manufacture. It results in the discovery of better and more useful materials and ultimately in making happier and more livable the life of all mankind.

GRADUATE SCHOLARSHIPS ANNOUNCED

President Sills announced the award of the Charles Carroll Everett Scholarship to Leland Matthew Goodrich '20, and the Henry W. Longfellow Scholarship to Edgar Curtis Taylor '20, in chapel last Friday. The Everett Scholarship is given to that member of the graduating class whom the President and Trustees shall deem the best qualified to take a post-graduate course in either this or some other country, and the Longfellow Scholarship is given to "enable a student to pursue graduate work in some other college, here or abroad,—the work to be done in English or general literature. The student selected should be some one . . . with real ability in the subject and capable of profiting by the advanced work, and of developing in the best way."

PROVISIONAL COMMENCEMENT APPOINTMENTS.

The following is a list of provisional appointments for Commencement speakers at Bowdoin:

COLUMBIA FENCERS WIN BY SMALL MARGIN

The Bowdoin fencing team was defeated 5-4, by Columbia in a meet at the Gymnasium last Friday evening, March 5. A large and loyal audience was present. Previous to the fencing matches there were several exercises on the horizontal and parallel bars, a wrestling match, and two boxing bouts.

For the winning team, Bloomer did the best work while Schlosberg, with two wins, fenced best for Bowdoin. The scores by matches follows: Foster of Columbia 8-3 over Osterman of Bowdoin; Ogden of Bowdoin 8-5 over Bancoe of Columbia; Bloomer of Columbia 8-7 over Schlosberg of Bowdoin; Osterman 7-5 over Bancoc; Bloomer 7-2 over Ogden; Schlosberg 11-10 over Foster; Bloomer 6-0 over Osterman; Foster 8-3 over Ogden, and Schlosberg 9-3 over Bancoc.

As may be seen from the scores, some of the matches were very close, and two went to extra time.

PRESIDENT SILLS RENAMED BY SECRETARY DANIELS.

President Sills has been reappointed as a member of the board of visitors to the Naval Academy by Secretary Daniels of the Navy Department. Announcement of the reappointment was made by Secretary Daniels in a letter just received by President Sills. This is the fourth time that President Sills has been appointed to that position.

REVIVE BIOLOGY CLUB AT BOWDOIN.

The Biology Club at Bowdoin College which was discontinued during the war was revived March 4 at a meeting of the students taking that course. Officers were elected for the club as follows: President, Constantine '20; vice-president, Cook '21; secretary-treasurer, Young '21. About 20 students were present.

The aim of the club is to carry on further research work in the Biological Department taking especially phases which the students do not get in the class work. Lectures on different subjects will be given the club from time to time throughout the year.

TRACK NOTES.

INTER-FRATERNITY MEET

The second annual Inter-Fraternity Meet is scheduled for Friday evening, March 19. The house winning the meet will receive a shield, and the one securing the relay victory, a cup. Men who are to compete in the Interscholastic Meet on the following day, are invited to witness the Interfraternity Meet and will be entertained at the fraternity houses. Despite the fact that the Interscholastic Meet was postponed on account of the influenza danger, great interest is shown by the leading preparatory and high schools of Maine and Massachusetts. The meet is sure to be even better than would have been possible on February 14; for the competitors have received much valuable training in the meantime. Doubtless a fast meet will be staged.

FRESHMAN-SOPHOMORE MEET.

On Friday, March 12, will be held the annual Freshman-Sophomore Meet. Both classes are well represented by trained men who bid fair to make this the most interesting inter-class meet ever held at Bowdoin. The meet is bound to be close, but those who are well able to form accurate judgment favor the Freshmen by a few points. About 30 contestants have been entered from each class. In the afternoon two events, the discus and the 36 pound weight, will be held. The remaining events, 40 yd. dash, mile run, 440 yd. dash, 45 yd. high hurdles, 880 yd. run, high jump, broad jump, 16 pound shot put, pole vault and relay race will be run off in the evening.

BOWDOIN-BATES DEBATE

Bates has accepted the challenge of Bowdoin to debate on a subject to be selected later. Two debates will be held, one at Bates, the other at Bowdoin, sometime in April. Bates was in a position to decline the contest and still claim the championship of the East; for it is acknowledged that she has the best debating team in this part of the country. The Bates team defeated by a unanimous decision the Harvard team, which had previously been unanimously declared the victor over Dartmouth-Cornell, also fell before the superior ability of the men from Bates.

The men, who are to represent Bowdoin, will be determined at the Bradbury Prize debating when the subject to be used with Bates will be argued. In this way the men will receive useful training for the debates with Bates.

MASQUE AND GOWN IN PORTLAND

The play, "Believe Me, Xantippe," went to Portland for its fourth presentation, given at Frye Hall under the auspices of the Y. D. Club last Thursday evening. It was before the largest and most enthusiastic audience that has so far seen it. Following the play, which lasted about two hours, there was dancing until midnight.

The cast follows:

George McFarland, a rich New Yorker...............Asnault '20
William, his valet................................ O. G. Hall '21
Thornton Brown, his friend......................Crockett '20
Arthur Sole, a detective.........................Quimby '23

Buck Kammon, a Colorado sheriff..............Ridlon '22
Dolly Kammon, his daughter....................Badger '21
Simp Calloway, a western desperado............Parher '23
Wren Wrigley, a jailor.........................Ingraham '21
Aunt Martha, Dolly's aunt......................Boordman '21
Violet, a friend of Simp......................Reiber '21

The play will be presented at Augusta, probably on April 12. Arrangements are pending in other large cities.

MEETING OF MEDICAL SOCIETY

The fourth meeting of the Society of Pathology and Bacteriology was held last Tuesday night at Seth Adams Hall. At this meeting the Freshmen medics automatically became members. Papers were read by Mundie and Lee. The remainder of the evening was spent pleasantly in a social manner.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES

At Bates College the Honorable Stike Wilson of Berkley, California, one of the ablest exponents of the new Constructive Christian Democracy, delivered a series of most interesting lectures. The speaker was both well versed and eloquent and held his audiences spellbound during the five discussions which he gave.

Bowdoin, through the Y. M. C. A., sent a delegation of three men, Gibson '21, McGown '21, and Lewis '22.

NEW BOOKS.

A number of books of particular interest to the student body have been acquired by the Library since the first of January. These include biographies, histories, fiction, essays, addresses, and verse. A few, having the widest appeal, are worthy of mention.

Biographies seem to be the most important in the recent acquisitions. Of these the best are: Lyman F. Abbott's "Impressions of Theodore Roosevelt", Robertson's "Bismarck", Beveridge's "Life of John Marshall", and Meig's "Life of Calhoun".

There are four new histories. "America's Race to Victory" by Requin is a history of the last months of the war, which should prove most interesting to students who were in France at that time. "Von Ludendorff's Own Story" and von Tirpitz's "My Memories" are two books which have already received much notice and which will doubtless receive much more. A new "History of France" by Davis completes the list.

In the field of fiction the following books have been obtained: "David Vallory" by Francis Lynde, "The Heart of Rachel" by Kathleen Norris, “The Lion’s Mouth” by Williamson, and “Reynard the Fox” by Masefield. A volume of essays by Bruce Barton, “More Power to You,” is worthy of attention, and John Galsworthy’s “Addresses in America” can be read to good advantage. Finally there is a new edition of Kipling’s “Verse,” an account of “The American Red Cross in the Great War” by H. P. Davison, and a book on “Aircraft” by E. J. David which should interest the exaviators in college.

College Aid to Students.

There has always been a general impression among high school and preparatory school undergraduates that a student, financially poor, would find it quite impossible to finish a four-year course at Bowdoin. In other words, the idea is prevalent in some quarters that Bowdoin is a rich man's college where the man of moderate means has little chance. Why this impression prevails is quite difficult to explain. Needless to say, the whole thing is absurd. Perhaps nothing shows the absurdity of the idea better than a consideration of the scholarship aid given by the college this year. Approximately 160 scholarships ranging from $50 up were awarded, 32 applications were deferred, and only 30 were refused. It would appear from these figures that any student who is in need of financial aid and who shows a purpose to make good, is practically certain of a scholarship. Of course, the college does not guarantee scholarships, but a student may guarantee himself one by hard earnest work. What could appeal more strongly to a self-reliant young man than this?

In addition, it is the policy of the College to favor members of the lower classes in awarding scholarship aid. This is only right as members of these classes do not have the opportunity to profit by assistantships. In view of these facts how can anyone say that a man of slender means hasn't a chance at Bowdoin?

A Word of Caution.

We are all glad to hear that Mr. Palmer has started his cafeteria again. Of course North Winthrop is not so favorable a place as was the old Union, but he will undoubtedly do a thriving business in his new quarters. The disadvantages of having a cafeteria in an end have been recognized from the first, but as no other place seemed available, the only thing we can do is to minimize the evils as much as possible. It would undoubtedly be appreciated by those rooming in North Winthrop if men patronizing the cafeteria would create as little disturbance as possible while in the end. This is only a word of caution and forewarning and does not mean that conditions have not been satisfactory in the past.

The Bates-Bowdoin Meet.

While Bowdoin won the dual meet with Bates by an overwhelming score, the most gratifying and commendable feature of the event was the spirit shown by the whole Bowdoin team. Throughout the whole afternoon, Bowdoin's representatives were out for every point they could get and they fought just as hard as if victory or defeat was a question of a few points. The fighting spirit which has featured Bowdoin track teams is a source of pride to all Bowdoin supporters. It is what will bring honor to Bowdoin in subsequent meets, especially in the Maine Intercollegiates. The reasons for this spirit are none other than the men who go out to work and train every day, and "Jack" Magee. Certainly, much credit is due "Jack." The student body and the alumni are behind him. Witness the letter of Lewis '15 in a recent issue!
INTER SCHOLASTIC DEBATE.

Conly High of Augusta and Portland High, two members of the Interscholastic Debating League, under the coaching of the Bowdoin Debating Council met Saturday evening, March 6, in Augusta on the following question: Resolved, That the electricity generated by Maine water power should be restricted by law to use within the State.

The winner of this debate will compete with Jordan High of Lewiston, and the final winner will be presented with a silver cup.

CENTENNIAL CELEBRATION IN PORTLAND

All residents of Maine, old or young, man, woman, or child, are invited by the Maine Centennial Committee to attend the celebration to be held in Portland on Monday evening, March 15, in commemoration of the 100th anniversary of Maine's entrance into the Union. This is the exact date of the official act of 1820 and was selected by the committee for that reason.

The affair will be held in City Hall, Portland, during the evening. There will be a band concert by the American Legion Band of 45 pieces from 7:30 to 8 p. m., and this will be followed by the exercises. Governor Milliken and his Council will be present and there will be speakers of State and Nation-wide reputation. Maine's delegation to Congress will be invited as well as other notables.

The affair, also, will be featured by the official opening of the Centennial Committee's headquarters in the East Wing of the City Hall. This immense room, donated by the city, has been handsomely decorated and furnished and will be open to all during the summer months.

The complete program will be announced within a few days.

It also has been definitely settled to hold a big State-wide celebration in Portland during the week of June 28-July 5 of which the city of Portland will pay one-half of the total cost. This it is fully expected will be the greatest event of its kind in the history of Maine.

Three Records Broken, Three Equalled in Indoor Track Meet.

The fifth annual Freshman-Sophomore Indoor Track Meet was won on Friday evening, March 12, by the class of 1923. The final score was 59 1-3 points to 44 2-3 points. During the meet three records were broken and three others equalled. In the 440-yard run, Allen '22 equalled the track record of 55 3-5 seconds set up by Simonton '18, and broke the record for Freshman-Sophomore meets of 56 2-5 established by Cleaves '20. Palmer '23 bettered the Freshman-Sophomore record of 2 minutes and 11 seconds established by Cleaves '20 by one second. The Sophomore relay team, consisting of Allen, Averill, Partridge, and Woodbury, with a time of 2 minutes 14 4-5 seconds equalled the record within 4-5 of a second established by the 1918 Varsity Team, and broke the record for Freshman-Sophomore meets set up by the relay team of 1922 last year. With the exception of Allen the same team established the record last year. In the discus throw Abiel Smith '23 with a distance of 100 feet broke the Freshman-Sophomore record established by Perkins '21 of 95 feet 2 1-2 inches. Tootell '23 equalled the Freshman-Sophomore record of P. Young '18 and Zeitler '20 of 30 feet 6 inches in the 36-pound weight. The relay was the special feature of the meet, the Sophomores holding a lead of several yards all the way. In the mile run, Keene '22 who finally took third place made things interesting for a time. A special added feature was a rubber-boot relay race between several seniors after the other events were finished. It received much more attention than did many of the other events.

Two special events were finals in the 40-yard dash and the 45-yard low hurdles left from the Bates-Bowdoin Dual Meet. In the former the first heat was a tie with a time of 4 4-5 seconds; later Dostie won first place, Parent second, and M. Smith, third. In the low hurdles, Parent took first, Dostie second, and Moses third. Time, 53-5 seconds.

The highest individual point winner was Palmer '23 with two firsts. Averill '22 came in a close second with one first, one second, and a place on the winning relay team. The summary of the points was as follows:

The summary:
40-yard Dash—Won by Palmer '23; second, Averill '22; third, Butler '23. Time, 4 4-5 seconds.

Mile Run—Won by Towlie '22; second, Renier '23; third, Keene '22. Time, 5 minutes 2 seconds.

440-yard Run—Won by Allen '23; second, Hebb '23; third, Butler '23. Time, 56 3-5 seconds.

880-yard Run—Won by Palmer '23; second, Partridge '22; third, Jacob '23. Time, 2 minutes 10 seconds.

45-yard High Hurdles Finals—Won by Cobb '22; second, Kemp '23; third, Woodbury '22. Time 6 4-5 seconds.

Special, 40-yard dash, Final Bowdoin-Bates Meet—Won by Dostie; second, Parent; third, Smith. Time 4 3-5 seconds.

Special 45-yard Low Hurdles, Final Bowdoin-Bates Meet—Won by Parenti; second, Dostie; third, Moses. Time, 5 3-5 seconds.

Discus Throw—Won by A. Smith '23; second, McLellan '23; third, Handy '23. Distance, 100 feet.

“BOWDOIN MEN IN BOSTON'S BUSINESS.”

The Student Forum has secured a second speaker, in the series of placement meetings which have recently been inaugurated, in the person of Mr. Ripley L. Dana '01. Mr. Dana is one of Boston's most prominent business men and is well qualified to explain the opportunities which are afforded to college men in Boston and vicinity. The meeting will be held in the debating room of the Library, Wednesday evening, March 17, at 8.15 p. m. The meeting is postponed until this late hour so that fraternity meetings will not interfere with attendance. Everyone is urged to attend these talks which should result in much good for many Bowdoin men.
ALUMNI OF BOWDOIN TO HELP GRADUATES

Faculty and alumni of Bowdoin College, through an organization called the placement committee, are endeavoring to aid members of the graduating classes in choosing a profession or business.

Dean Paul Nixon, speaking at last Saturday evening's meeting of the Bowdoin Club of Portland, outlined the plans of this committee, and the success which it has achieved in the work already done. Dean Nixon said that too often a man graduating from college enters business with a limited idea of the possibilities and future in that particular line, and after a few years realizes that his original choice was not the best one. The principal advantage of this plan, as outlined by Dean Nixon, lies in the fact that men will be aided in reaching a decision by conference with alumni who are experienced in business.

Philip W. Meserve '11, formerly captain of the Chemical Warfare Service, A. E. F., and now assistant professor of chemistry at Bowdoin, spoke on gas as a weapon of offense, and told of the effectiveness with which gas was used by all armies in the war, and the possibilities of its use as a weapon in any succeeding wars.

It was announced that the Bowdoin Club would sponsor a concert by the Bowdoin Musical Clubs early in April.

Last Saturday evening's meeting was held at the Elks Home on Free street. Among those present were Arthur L. Robinson '08, George F. Cary '88, Clarence M. Minot '15, Howard Gilpatrick '96, Joseph C. Fessenden '15, Carol W. Smith '03, Harold E. Verrill '15, Roland E. Clark '01, Carl K. Ross '17, John H. Pierce '93, Dr. C. A. Barker '78, Dean Paul Nixon, Wesleyan '04, Philip W. PROFESSOR McCLEAN RESIGNS.

Professor McClean of the department of economics has tendered his resignation to take effect at the end of the college year. He has been offered and has accepted a position as head of the department of economics and business administration in Allegheny College, Meadville, Pa., taking up his duties at that college next September.

Professor McClean was born at Denver, Ill., fitting for college at Carthage College Academy and graduating from Christian University in 1909. For the next two years he was teacher of history and government at the East St. Louis High School and then took graduate work at Yale University, receiving the degree of Master of Arts in 1912. From Yale he came to Bowdoin as instructor in economics and sociology and in 1914 was promoted to an assistant professorship. He is a member of the American Economic Association and of the American Sociological Society.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES.

At a recent meeting of the New England Intercollegiate Y. M. C. A. Council it was decided to hold the President's Conference for this year at Bates College. The conference will be held from April 30 to May 2 and an invitation is issued to the student cabinet members of all the New England colleges. The purpose of this conference is to develop a strong spirit of co-operation and to establish a better acquaintance among the men interested in the "Y." It is hoped that many Bowdoin men will take advantage of the opportunity offered by the proximity of the conference and reserve the dates of April 30 to May 2 to visit this meeting.

THE HARTFORD CONVENTION.

Mr. Moses R. Lovell and Mr. A. W. Canney, Bowdoin '16, were on the campus Tuesday, March 16. These men are students of the Andover Theological Seminary and visited the college with a two-fold purpose: first, to converse with Bowdoin men who look to a future in theological work; and secondly, to interest the college men in a Theological Convention which is to be held in Hartford in the near future.

This convention, which is the Fourteenth Annual Convention of Eastern Colleges, is under the auspices of the Andover Union and Hartford Theological Seminaries and is to be held in Hartford, Conn., March 19 and 21. The convention bids fair to be one of the largest and most successful yet undertaken and has secured some of the foremost speakers on religious and social subjects in the country, among whom are John R. Mott and Dr. Henry Sloane Coffin. It promises to be a convention of unusual opportunities for men interested in the subject and should be well worth attending by Bowdoin men.

COIN COLLECTION GIVEN TO ART MUSEUM

The valuable private collection of Greek and Roman coins belonging to the late Professor Henry Johnson, who for many years had charge of the College Art Collections, has recently been purchased by friends of Professor Johnson for the Bowdoin Museum of Fine Arts. As soon as the necessary preparations for their display can be completed the coins will be on exhibition in the Walker Art Building and will be known as the Johnson Collection of Coins.

"ALUMNI FUND.

On March 6 there had been received in cash for the Alumni Fund $17,861.54, of which $7,058.50 was for the principal and $10,803.40 for the income. This was contributed by 223 members of the alumni and from eight honorary graduates and friends. The percentage of the living alumni contributing is a little over 10 per cent. Reports will be made to the alumni in the Orient from time to time. It is hoped that by Commencement a very much greater percentage of the alumni will have contributed. Very few of the class agents have as yet reported, so that most of the contributions are the results of the general appeal made by circular letter to the alumni early this year.

The following table shows the number of living graduates in each class, the number that have so far contributed, and the percentage of contributions. At present the Class of 1879, of which Judge Johnson is class agent, leads with 11 contributions out of 15 living graduates, a percentage of 73%. It is interesting to note that the oldest living graduate is a contributor, and that the class graduated last June is also represented. It should be noted that the amounts given include only contributions received, not pledges.

REPORT OF THE DES MOINES CONVENTION

The conventions of the Student Volunteer Movement for Foreign Missions have "literally marked epochs in the missionary and religious life of the students of Canada and of the United States." Of the series which began in 1891, the eighth convention has just been held in Des Moines, Iowa. Certainly it was the greatest of the series in the number of students and professors present, in the number of institutions represented and in the number of students from foreign lands who shared in its great sessions. Moreover, as a result of the new vision coming to students growing out of the great war and its aftermath of world unrest, combined with the vision of the world's spiritual need and Christianity's answer thereto, as set forth in the addresses and discussions at Des Moines, this last convention gives promise of being fully as epochal as those which have gone before.

Convention messages, as presented in platform sessions and in section meetings, will be made quickly available both for delegates and for those not privileged to be at Des Moines, in a report volume for which orders received at the Student Volunteer Movement Headquarters, 25 Madison avenue, New York City, before March 15, and accompanied by remittance, will be accepted at $2.00, carriage prepaid. The price of the volume when published will be $2.50.

America's Gift to France.

July 4, 1885, when the United States celebrated the signing of the Declaration of Independence, France presented us with the Statue of Liberty which now stands at the entrance of New York harbor, as a gift from the people of France to the people of the United States. It is now proposed that the American people make a gift to France in the form of a statue to be placed on the bank of the Marne to commemorate the battle of that name when France hurled back the Germans in their onrush for world domination. The committee in charge of the gift comprises some of the best known men and women of the country with Hon. Myron Herrick, former Ambassador to France, as chairman of the Executive Committee.

The estimated cost, $250,000, is to be met by contributions from the people of the United States. The collection will be taken March 22 to 27. Arrangements will be made for receiving the contributions of the students and will be announced later. We cannot urge too strongly that every student contribute. The aim is not to get large contributions but contributions by everybody. A dime or a quarter will not inconvenience anybody but it will help make possible this simple recognition of our debt to France as a result of the part she played in the late war, and the traditional friendship which has existed between the two countries since the day of Lafayette.

The Date of the Sophomore Hop.

An unfortunate circumstance, namely, the wide-spread prevalence of the "flu," necessitated the postponement of the Sophomore Hop from the original date in February to April 16. This date is undoubtedly the best that could be set under the circumstances. By that time the snow should be gone and any danger of members of the fair sex being drowned on the campus should be past.

While we are satisfied that this is the best date possible for this year, we point out certain distinct disadvantages of this date which make it undesirable as a precedent for future years. It results in an uneven distribution of dances throughout the college year to have the Sophomore Hop come so late. Most important of all, it comes so near Ivy that there is danger of detracting from the enthusiasm for the latter as students who would go to the Sophomore Hop in late April might not feel able or inclined to go to the Ivy dance in late May or early June. In that case, one of them would suffer from small attendance. The logical time for the Sophomore Hop is the middle of February. As for this year, postponement to a later date was unavoidable, but we hope that next year the Hop will revert back to the old date.

PHI CHI MANUSCRIPT.

The Orient is glad to be able to publish the following letter from Edward Page Mitchell, Litt.D., of the Class of 1871, the author of Phi Chi. Several minor changes will be noticed by those familiar with the Phi Chi of the present and also four stanzas will be found that are no longer commonly sung.

Glen Ridge, N. J.,
July 7, 1919.

Dear Mr. Wilder:—

According to your request for the Library, but with some personal doubt of the dignity of the proceeding, I am sending you this disreputable manuscript. You will observe that the text varies a little from the printed version, and that there are several stanzas not now sung.

The thing must have been written in June or early July of 1872, when the class of Seventy-five were about to become sophomores. Apparently the succession passed over Seventy-four, for the credit (or discredit) of keeping Phi Chi alive is distinctly awarded to the boys of Seventy-three, who would then have been juniors. My recollection about this is a little vague. The memory, however, of Seventy-three's energetic Phi-Chism is vivid.

I also remember that the lines were composed and committed to the paper here enclosed in the room of Tutor Charlé Moore, of Seventy, in the south end either of Maine or of Appleton, I am not quite sure which. I had been a year out of college, and to this extent outraged the hospitality of the Administration. It was an emergency production of the early evening of the night when Seventy-five was to be initiated and a song was lacking. The initiation, which lasted from before midnight until dawn, occurred that year in an old ship loft at tidewater at or near Mequoit Bay. The place was reached by going south on Maine street. The party was conveyed in hay wagons carrying initiators and initiatees and the usual paraphernalia. This time there had been borrowed for the occasion from the Medical Building a finely articulated and very expensive skeleton recently bought in Paris. I recall the indignant protest of my dear old friend, Dr. George W. Hale of Sixty-nine, then a medical student, against the rape of this particular set of bones. All through the night he chaperoned the skeleton and faithfully safeguarded it from maltreatment of accident.

These Phi Chi initiations were held in places chosen either for their secluded situation or for the audacity of the choice; several times, for instance, in an old abandoned saw mill on the Androscoggin river to the north of Cook's Corner; sometimes in the Pumpkin Hall of the Topsham Fair Grounds, and once at least (in the year the banner passed from Seventy to Seventy-one) in the City Hall in Bath.

The ponderous “gew-gaw” mentioned in one of the verses should be “gew-gag,” or perhaps more properly “hew-gag.” It was affectionately known by one or the other name but never as “gew-gaw.” One of the most valued of Phi Chi properties, it was a resonant circular saw used as a gong, and when struck vigorously with an able hammer, it could almost be heard in Boston.

The real poet laureate of Phi Chi, as I have more than once taken occasion to plead, was George M. Bodge of Sixty-eight. His spirited and original songs antedating this one were much worthier of preservation. Why the Seventy-five song survived the others has always been a mystery to its author. He can account for the circumstance only by the inspiring and very singable quality of the air to which its words happened to be written.

Yours sincerely,
E. P. Mitchell.

PHI CHI.

Swing out the brave old banner, for the resurrection's come;
Bring out the horns of plenty and the old ancestral drum;
Ring out the ponderous gewgag that has made Gomorrah hum;
For Phi Chi's in her ancient glory.

-CHORUS

Hurrah! Hurrah! Once more for old Phi Chi!
Hurrah! Hurrah! and never may she die,
While pluck beats luck and Prex is stuck and Pros are high and dry
We will follow her to glory.

This baby born to Bowdoin, way back in sixty-four,
Has thundered for admission on many a freshman's door
And, thanks to God and Seventy-Three, will thunder ever more,
For Phi Chi's in her ancient glory.

We give her to you willingly, ye boys of Seventy-Five,
Be yours the task with horn and mask to keep her fame alive.
And as your uncles here have striven, so may you ever strive
For Phi Chi's in her ancient glory.

If the spirit prove too strong, you know, the "spirit of Seventy-Six,
Dilute it down with water, for water and spirit mix,
And never mind the sugar if the little sinner kicks,
For Phi Chi's in her ancient glory.

You have heard her roll of honor and have read her famous score,
How Chapman was her tutor in the jolly days of yore,
And how in times more recent she has had one "Tutor Moore"
When Phi Chi was in her ancient glory.
This moral you may find therein, you moral-seeking Soph.
Just suffer more while Sophomore and shake the shackles off
And you're sure to be a tutor and perhaps to be a Prof.
When Phi Chi's in her future glory.

There, hush the grinning skeleton and shut the coffin-lid
And screw the Freshman in till his infant form be hid,
For he shall learn that he must do precisely as he's bid,
And Phi Chi's in her ancient glory.

There are pails and there are windows and there's water in the well
As the Freshman will discover if the Freshman cuts a swell,
O, water for his diet till existence is a hell!
And Phi Chi's in her ancient glory.

AMERICA'S GIFT TO FRANCE.
The project headed by Hon. Myron T. Herrick, former ambassador to France, of erecting a colossal statue on the River Marne, has met with such hearty approval by the press and public that the gift will undoubtedly be one of the most spontaneous and representative ever made by this country. The National Committee in charge of the project have designated the week of March 22 as the time when contributions will be accepted. This drive differs from all others in that nobody is urged to give and that the number of subscribers is vastly more important than the amount received. In other words it is to be a free-will collection, and it is hoped that the Memorial on the Marne will be representative of all America just as the Statue of Liberty is representative of all France. The statue is now being designed by Frederick MacMonnies and will fittingly commemorate the gallant stand made by the victorious French forces on the Marne in 1914.
Arrangements for the collection in college are being made and will be announced later.

THE BIOLOGY CLUB.
The recently reorganized Biology Club, which has been inactive during the war, has begun to assume a position which assures its success. The club has already more men than ever before, and more are expected to be initiated at the next meeting, Tuesday evening. Moreover, the club has entered into its field with a greater degree of enthusiasm than it has previously shown. The requirements for admission into the club are two or more courses of biology completed and the election of a third course in this subject. Meetings of the club are held every Tuesday evening at which lectures and uncommon phases of the study are heard and discussed.

THE HISTORY CLUB.
The History Club, founded by Professor Davis and revived the first time since the United States entered the war, met at the home of Professor Van Cleave on March 9. At this meeting Goodrich '20 was elected president, and Toyokawa '21, secretary-treasurer. Following the elections, a paper on Sir Walter Raleigh was read by Mac-Williams '20. The members are Avery '20,
Goodrich '20, Gordon '20, MacWilliams '20,
Hatch '21, Prout '21, and Toyokawa '21. Meetings are to be held every two weeks at which important historical figures will be discussed.

MUSICAL CLUBS SCORE HIT IN AUBURN.
The Bowdoin Musical Clubs presented a program which was most enthusiastically received in Auburn on last Tuesday evening. The concert was under the auspices of the Androscoggin Alumni Association and was given on the occasion of the latter's annual meeting. The clubs attended the banquet which preceded the concert and gave a few numbers before and after the banquet and speeches.
The program presented was the same which scored such a success in Brunswick. The large audience was especially pleased with the solos by Richan '20, Philbrook '20, and Sprince '20, and the reading by Assault '20. Several times the clubs found that they lacked sufficient encore selections to satisfy the demands of their audience. The concert was followed by a dance with music by an orchestra from the city. After re-petued calls from the dancers, Sprince's jazz quartet, which had received a tumultuous ovation during the concert, consented to play for one dance. It was generally said that in success this concert outdid even the Bangor concert.
The end of the season for the Musical Clubs is fast approaching. With the Massachusetts trip coming just before the Easter recess all the long trips will have been finished. The clubs will go to Lewiston in April for a one-night trip. There may be other short trips. The season promises to be one on which we can look back with great pride.

AN APPEAL FOR THE BAND!
Because of a misunderstanding on the part of a few of the members of the Band, and, owing to the fact that several of the men were entered in the meet, the band was unable to play at the Sophomore-Freshman meet last Friday night. Of late there have been signs of a lack of interest among some of the members of the Band, but with the best instrumental material that Bowdoin ever had, there is no reason why there should be this lack of interest.

The Band is not called upon very often but when it is needed every man should make a special effort to be present. The Inter-fraternity meet next Friday night, which is one of "the events" of the year, and the Scholastic meet on Saturday night, each call for the Band. Now then, members of the Band, watch the bulletin board for a rehearsal and make an effort to be there!

The Freshman delegation of Alpha Delta Phi entertained two delegates from each of the other Freshman delegations on the Campus at a smoker on the evening of March 2. The Sigma Nu Freshmen followed suit on the evening of the ninth, and invitations have been sent out by the Theta Delta Chi Freshmen for a smoker to be held in the near future.

Ten active members and five alumni of Beta Sigma Chapter of Beta Theta Pi were present at the annual banquet of New England Association of Beta Theta Pi held at the Hotel Vendome in Boston on Friday evening, March 5.

Monday evening, March 15, the Kappa Sigma Freshmen entertained two representatives from each Freshman delegations at a smoker.

The Hon. Charles F. Johnson and the Hon. Frederick A. Fisher of the Examining Committee were on the Campus Thursday and Friday of last week.

With the Faculty

The Orient desires to be of the greatest possible service to Alumni in keeping them informed of one another's activities. Alumni are earnestly requested to support the Orient in this work by sending items about themselves or their brother Alumni. All such communications should be addressed to the Alumni Editor.

'48—On Saturday evening, Feb. 21, Rev. William C. Pond, D.D., the oldest living alumnus of Bowdoin, celebrated his ninetieth birthday at a dinner given in his honor at the Palace Hotel, San Francisco, by his many descendants. There were present, his two sons and two daughters, eighteen grandchildren, and twelve great grandchildren. Dr. Pond is a pioneer clergyman of California, having "rounded the Horn" in 1852. After his graduation from Bowdoin he taught school in Thomaston, Me., and later attended the Bangor Theological Seminary. He is the oldest living member of the Chi Psi fraternity and of the Phi Beta Kappa Honorary Society.

KAPPA SIGMA WINS SHIELD AND CUP IN INTERFRATERNITY MEET.

Three Varsity Records Broken.

Kappa Sigma fraternity ran away with the second annual Interfraternity Indoor Track Meet last Friday evening with 27 points. Chi Psi took second place with a score of 21 points. Kappa Sigma not only won the shield offered for the highest score but also the cup presented to the winner of the relay race. There was an exceptionally large attendance due to the number of visitors on hand for the school boy meet, and enthusiasm ran high throughout the evening.

Three varsity track records were broken during the evening: "Mitch" Smith '20 of Kappa Sigma with a time of .54 4-5 seconds broke the record established by Simonton '18 and equalled by Allen '22 of 55 3-5 seconds in the 440-yard run. In the 880-yard run, Goodwin '21 of Kappa Sigma lowered the record of Hatch '21 of 2 minutes 9 1-5 seconds by 3 1-5 seconds. Every relay team race beat the record for interfraternity meets established last year, and the final heat won by Kappa Sigma lowered the varsity record of the 1918 track team of 2 minutes, 14 seconds, by 1 4-5 seconds. Among the surprises of the meet was the taking of first place in the discus by Walker '23 who was decidedly a "dark horse." The highest individual point winner was Parent '21 of Kappa Sigma who had two firsts and two seconds. In the relay races, Alpha Delta Phi, Chi Psi, and Kappa Sigma won their respective heats, with Sigma Nu qualifying as second in the last heat. In the final heat Kappa Sigma won the race, with Chi Psi second, Alpha Delta Phi third, and Sigma Nu trailing. It was the fastest relay ever run on the track.

The members of the winning team were Parent '21, Allen '22, Moses '20, M. Smith '20.

HAMLIN GARLAND TO LECTURE.

Wednesday evening, March 24, Mr. Hamlin Garland will deliver a lecture entitled "Meetings with Famous American Authors" in Memorial Hall. This lecture will be given in conjunction with two others which Mr. Garland will give to the English classes of Professor Elliot who is lecturing at Haverford College, Pa.
Mr. Garland is one of America’s foremost authors. “The Top of the Trail,” “A Son of the Middle Border,” “Main Travelled Roads,” and “Songs and Season of the Old-time Middle Border,” are a few of the many popular books which he has written. He has met personally many of America’s greatest literary men, including William Dean Howells, Walt Whitman, Oliver Wendell Holmes, James Whitcomb Riley, Eugene Field, and Mark Twain. His lectures throw much light upon the lives and works of these men and, with the spice of humor which he always scatters through the serious, should prove both interesting and instructive.

MUSICAL CLUBS TO GO ON MASSACHUSETTS TRIP DURING RECESS.

The Musical Clubs will set out on their Massachusetts trip Thursday. They will present their concert in Sanford Thursday, in Portsmouth Friday, and in Boston on Saturday. This trip will conclude the longer trips of the Musical Clubs, although they will probably present their concert in Portland sometime in early April.

THE SOPHOMORE HOP.

The Sophomore Hop will be held as announced, April 16, the second week after the Easter recess. The price will probably be about four dollars and a half. In view of the reasonable price, the Hop Committee feels that it is assured of a large attendance, especially since weather conditions are likely to be ideal and since the boys will have ample opportunity to sign up their girls during vacation.

THE COLLEGE RECEIVES A CANOE.

The College, several weeks ago, received an unique and valuable gift. This is a birch bark canoe placed in the Cleaveland Cabinet in Massachusetts Hall. The donor of this canoe, Mr. James W. Sewall ’06, of Oldtown, received it from his father, Mr. James W. Sewall ’77, who purchased it from the Passaquoddy Indians many years ago. This type of canoe is very rare and is one of the last birch bark canoes made by these Indians. Canvas has superseded birch bark, and birch trees which have the right kind of bark are now very scarce in Maine. This canoe, with its remarkably fine workmanship will remain as a fitting example of a Maine product now gone by.

AMBULANCE CERTIFICATES RECEIVED.

Last week two interesting certificates were received at the College from the American Field Sector Department. These were certificates of service for the two ambulances sent out through the College and Alumni and by the citizens of the State of Maine. The first one reads, “. . . To the Citizens of Maine and Alumni of Bowdoin College, donor of Car No. 733, bearing inscription, ‘State of Maine’—left for the front June 17, 1917, in Sector Sontaire, No. 28. In 134th Division of French Army on Champagne Sector while it was stationed at Rourmeil C. Grand. Adan. ‘Post de Secours’ of Village Garson—Six drivers were killed or wounded. Section cited to Order of Division. Finally it was turned over to the United States Army Ambulance. Section of French Army.” The second certificate bears the inscription, “. . . To Citizens of Maine and Students of Bowdoin College, donors of Car No. 687, ‘State of Maine, Ambulance No. 2.’ Sent July 1, 1917, to Section 20 and November 4 to Section Sontaire No. 12, operating in the Champagne Section, attached to the United States Army Ambulance Service with the French Army. Later it was with the 3rd French Army in the region of Vaux Varennes in Amiens—Montdidier and Noyen Han Sector. From American Field Service. . . .”

These two certificates are engraved in red and blue and bear the seal of the American Field Service Department. The certificates are to be framed together and probably will be placed in the Library, marking another of Bowdoin’s contributions in the Great War.

RIPELY L. DANA TELLS OF BUSINESS OPPORTUNITIES AROUND BOSTON.

The second of a series of placement meetings under the auspices of the Debating Council was held in the Debating Room of Hubbard Hall last Wednesday evening. Ripley L. Dana ’02, of Boston, was the speaker. He described interestingly to a good sized audience some business opportunities that exist in and around Boston. He also gave specific examples of several Bowdoin men who have made good in that city. Mr. Dana is himself a lawyer and stated that a man who graduated with high honors from Harvard Law School would be assured of a position with a Boston firm.

Mr. Dana closed his talk by explaining the opportunities now offered to college men. He did not believe that foreign positions would be as advantageous as those at home and advised
New Englanders to stay in the East. He also expressed approval of the plan of working with big corporations for the first few years, for with them one learns the best organization of modern business and obtains much practical experience.

A most interesting forum session followed the talk and for half an hour Mr. Dana was busy answering questions. The forum closed with a rising vote of thanks to Mr. Dana for a talk which was both interesting and profitable to his audience.

Bowdoin '23 DEFEATS BATES '23 IN RELAY

Last Thursday evening in the City Hall, Lewiston, the Bowdoin Freshman relay team defeated the Freshman relay team of Bates in a relatively fast race. The race was run in connection with the Bates Interclass Meet which took place that evening. All of the Bowdoin men ran a good race, both fast and heady. The Bates Freshmen were several yards behind at the finish. Palmer, Butler, Miller, and Eames ran for Bowdoin '23 against Batten, Lindley, Galvariski, and Bernard of Bates '23.

RESULTS OF ORIENT ELECTIONS.

At the annual meeting of the Orient Board held last Wednesday, the annual elections to the Editorial Board were made. Nominations were also made for editor-in-chief and managing editor. The new members selected from the Freshman class were Gerrard, Turgeon, and Quinby; a fourth member will be elected from the Class of 1923 next fall. Nominations for editor-in-chief were Haines '21 and McGown '21; for managing editor, Ham '22 and Ludden '22. The student body voted on these nominations yesterday.

The Bowdoin Publishing Company elections resulted in the election of Boardman '21 as business manager and Allen '22 and Brewer '22 as assistant managers of the company.

PORTLAND AND LEWISTON CONTEND FOR BOWDOIN INTERSCHOLASTIC DEBATING LEAGUE CHAMPIONSHIP.

Thursday evening at eight o'clock in the Debating Room in Hubbard Hall the Portland High debating team will meet that of Jordan High of Lewiston to decide the championship of the Bowdoin Interscholastic League. On March 19 Portland defeated Cony High in Augusta. Morse High of Bath was to have met Jordan High of Lewiston on the same night but the influenza epidemic in Bath prevented the carrying out of this arrangement. Consequently Jordan has to meet Portland without the advantage of a previous debate. The question for debate is: "Resolved, that electricity generated by Maine water power should be reserved for the use within the State." This question, besides being of intense local interest, is one well calculated to bring out keen debating such as both these schools will be prepared to present. The debate is under the auspices of the Bowdoin Debating Council, which furnishes coaches for the teams. This year's coaches are as follows: Cony, Badger '21; Jordan, Gordon '20; and Portland, Haines '21.

Improving the Orient.

This issue marks the end of another volume of the Orient, which is about to enter upon its fiftieth year of service to the student body. During all this time its trials and vicissitudes have undoubtedly been many but never has it passed through more trying days than in the year 1917-18. For a time, the discontinuance of its publication seemed imminent.

This is the first full volume of the Orient since the war period. Perhaps it has been below what we might wish in many respects this past year. If this has been true, the unfortunate condition is easily explained by the fact that the war broke up the editorial board to such an extent that inexperienced men had to assume the duties formerly held by the experienced. A natural decline in quality was inevitable and the process of improvement has been forced to follow in the steps of the acquiring of experience.

One of the real weaknesses of the Orient in the past has been the fact that all the work of collecting news, correcting it, setting up the paper; etc., has rested on the shoulders of one man, the Managing Editor. The Associate Editors have been dead timber, not through any fault of theirs, but because of the system. At the last meeting of the Board, a plan was adopted whereby some of the responsibility for the news of the paper will be shifted to others less occupied.

The question of student communications has been repeatedly discussed in these columns in the past. Yet students still persist in an attitude of utter indifference. Is it because students are no longer interested in the problems of student and college life? Surely problems exist just as they always have in the life of every institution. The apparent truth is that the student body has adopted an attitude of indifference and irresponsibility as regards these questions. They feel that the college always has grown and prospered and always will without any great effort at improvement on their part. They accept conditions as they find them and do not tax their efforts to find anything better. We find this attitude among the great mass of students towards every question of college life whether it be the fraternity situation, athletic policies, or what not. Take for example the question of a new Union building, what shall it contain? Of course, recreation rooms. But shall there be a commons? The attitude of the student body is to let the College decide. The college authorities probably will decide but surely they would welcome any suggestions from the student body, for whose benefit the Union will be built.

It is this apparently passive attitude on the part of the students that is to be deplored. The use of the Orient as a forum for the discussion of student and college problems would add greatly to the value of the paper in college and out. While the news items are of great interest to alumni and outsiders, to the student body for whom most of the news is old, the editorial page is perhaps the central attraction.
Bowdoin and the Winter.

The past winter in Brunswick makes us feel that the “good old days” are not gone forever; that after all, the season from December to March is a time of snow and cold. There is a dark side to it: The extreme cold and depth of snow unknown before to our generation, have caused great inconvenience and suffering; even, in the northern part of the United States. We must hope, therefore, that there will not be another such extreme winter.

But there is a distinction between a winter that occasions suffering and a keen winter that gives plenty of snow for logging and sleighing, and snow and ice for outdoor sports. We hope that the spell of the too mild winter, of these last few years has been broken, and that we shall have in the future, at least a part of the time, solid ice and deep snow.

At the moment we are particularly interested in a wintry winter as furnishing opportunity for fun in the great out o’ doors for us here at Bowdoin. We have in good degree the necessary lay of the land; it remains for King Winter to do his part. The Brunswick plains offer a splendid chance for snow shoeing, and the river for skating, while some of the hills in Topsham would be good for “bobs” and toboggans.

We enjoy these opportunities now to some extent, but not to the full. What we believe would provide good fun and aid our health, for us as a student body, are organized outings, planned for the various phases of the winter—skating for the cold weather, and snow shoeing for the snow, for example: “Dogs” or sandwiches at the end of the trip, added to the group spirit, should be sufficient to attract the fellows.

The history of the famous Dartmouth Outing Club shows that the normal college student likes to get out of doors in winter and particularly when as one of a large group.

As to the machinery of organization. It should not be elaborate, because we do not know beyond a doubt how extensive an activity the coming winters will permit. Moreover, a simple organization is all that is necessary, even under the best of outdoor conditions. The Student Council might well plan the outings. The fellows who could go on any particular trip could sign a paper on the Bulletin Board a couple of days before hand, to give the management a knowledge of how much “eats” to order. Then each one who went would pay his proportionate share of the cost. No dues need be levied at first; as time went on they could be, if it was deemed advisable to increase the scope of the movement.

The out of doors is bound to make a nation of better Americans, if we will give it the chance. The results of such a move as that proposed above might very possibly be a part of Bowdoin’s contribution to the future. P. E. Goodhue.

HUNTINGTON ATHLETES WIN MEET OVER HEBRON.

Upsetting all the strong faith that was banked in the Hebron team, the Huntington School with its well balanced track team romped away with the Bowdoin Interscholastic meet and relay carnival Saturday afternoon at the Hyde Gym and forced the Big Green lads into a low second place.

The Bay State lads, scoring in every event but the shot put, totalled 51 points as a result of their afternoon’s work and the nearest that the green jerseyed boys could come to the leaders was 29 5-6 points. This is the first time since the inauguration of the Bowdoin indoor meet eight years ago that Hebron has not carried away the Bowdoin shield as the victor. The weakness of the Hebron team, especially in the second and third place where always in times past the Green School by its large entry list has figured prominently, was a big surprise to the followers of the track meet. It had been figured that the fight for first honors would be between Huntington and Hebron but it was the strong opinion that the meet would be swayed one way or the other by a few points.

Two interscholastic records were erased from the Bowdoin boards. Marsters smashed the 440-yard record of 57 seconds set up last year by Lawrence of Gardiner and set up a new record of 55 1-5 seconds. Winston Forbes, crack half miler of the Huntington team, clipped the 880-yard record of 2 minutes, 10 seconds, held by Dondero of Hebron when he rounded the dirt track for the time of 2 minutes, 6 4-5 seconds.

It was a sensational meet and the best interscholastic meet ever held in Maine. The appearance of the 12 crack track men from Huntington School, well coached and running and jumping in excellent form, added greatly to the caliber of the meet. The banner crowd that gathered in the Bowdoin Gym, testing its capacity, went wild at times over the thrilling races and sensational finishes which were run off. Each event, save one or two of the relay races, were very closely contested, and the men were bunched well together at the finishes. The field events attracted more than ordinary attention.
George Marsters of Deering High, a protege of Pat French, took the laurels in the 440. He ran a hard, fast race as the record breaking time indicates and he outfleeted a field of far more experienced runners. This young lad, a small but stocky runner, gives promise of developing into an exceptional runner.

Ray Robertson, a crack quarter runner and holder of several school boy records at Huntington School in the 440 and 600, failed to give Marsters the expected fight for first honors. Beside Robertson in the race were Brown and Robinson, both of Huntington and considered fast men. Marsters in the drawing for positions was lucky to draw the pole out of a total of 12 runners who answered the call of the clerk of course for the event. At the crack of the pistol Marsters, who is a fast little starter, shot ahead down the short start-away and struck the first corner a little in the lead of the others. Robertson was in the first row with Marsters but got swallowed up in the field of runners and didn’t dig himself out until later in the race. Brown of Huntington was not far behind Marsters when he hit the first honor and trailed him. The three Hebron runners in the race, Dee, McPartland and Goodrich, kept up well for the first lap or so, but were soon forced to give way to stronger runners. At the pistol lap Marsters was still in the lead with Brown trailing him and Robertson working his way out of the field of runners. Robertson opened up on the last lap and from fifth position at the end of the second lap he shot into second at the finish beating out Brown, who had held next to Marsters, by a very small margin. Marsters did himself proud and reflected much credit on Coach French who had him under his wing.

The 880-yard run proved a feature and record breaking race with the Huntington School boys the principal contenders. Winston Forbes, who broke the 880 record, ran a pretty race all the way. Out of a field of 16 runners Forbes jumped into the pace setting position at the start and was followed closely by Ames of Maine Central Institute. On the second lap Marston Sweetser of Deering worked his way out of the congestion and took fourth place, but was not able to hold it a very long time. It took Robertson three laps to wend his way out of the mob and he slowly worked his way up to the leaders. At the crack of the pistol for the last lap Robertson went after his rivals in earnest and placed second to Forbes who was able to maintain the lead all the way.

Captain Arthur Farley, star sprinter for the Bay State team, proved to be the sensation in the dashes. He won first honors both in the 40-yard dash and the 220-yard dash. He out-sprinted a field of 50 dash men in the 40, the first event on the program. In his trial, semifinal and final heats he broke the yarn for a time of 4 4-5 seconds. A peculiar coincidence placed three Huntington men, Farley, Robertson and J. Brown, and three Westbrook Seminary sprinters, Clavin, Brannan and Redmond, in the final heat of the 40-yard dash. Hebron was completely shut out of the dashes. Beals, who got second in the 40 last year didn’t go into the 40 but saved himself for the other events. A pleasing surprise of the event was the fine showing of Robert Brennan of Westbrook Seminary who finished second to Captain Farley.

The 220-yard dash saw practically the same dash men fighting for high honors, with the exception of Redmond. The trial heats on the 220 qualified two Huntington sprinters, Farley and Gray, and two Westbrook Seminary men, Clavin and Brennan. A Westbrook man, Brennan, drew the pole with Farley second, Gray third and Clavin fourth. At the pistol shot the Westbrook runners on the extreme ends jumped for the corner and landed at the same time that Farley did with the result that the Bay State sprinter was boxed between them, but he worked his way out and at the next corner shot into the lead. He set the pace for the rest of the distance and crossed the tape first, followed by Brennan of Westbrook Seminary. Many looked for Farley to break the 220 record of 25 2-5 seconds as he appeared in such excellent form but in this they were disappointed. The mix-up at the first corner which was in a way unavoidable but at the same time the major fault of Farley himself slowed up the time for the event considerably.

Daigle of Hebron, a stocky and strong little runner, performed well in the mile, and although the time was not exceptionally fast he ran a very fine and heady race. Rice of Huntington hopped into the lead for the first lap but he did not hold it very long as Patten of Brunswick, a dark horse, took over the pace-setting position, for what was thought at first to be a momentary lead. He surprised the crowd by holding the position until the judges announced the sixth lap, when Daigle came out of his hiding and opened up enough to take over the lead. He maintained it throughout the remainder of the race and finished with a very fast sprint. Rich of Huntington succeeded in beating out Patten of Brunswick for second honors, but this sturdy little runner made a point for his school by finishing third. For a runner of no experience in a class with Daigle and Rich, who both have run considerably before, Patten showed up very well.

The Hebron boys failed to come through as well as was expected. The Green School boys were lacking very noticeably in their usual second and third places, which in years past was responsible for their totalling such scores. Getchell, on whom the Hebron men banked as sure point winner, failed to materialize and to prove much danger to the Bay State School. Murphy won the shot, Daigle the mile and Hardy the high hurdles and second in the high jump with Pike second in the shot and third in the broad but the well-balanced team which has represented the Green School in years past was lacking this year. They were, however, very prominent in the shot put winning all nine points.

Had not the Huntington School team been present Saturday, it is thought very probable that Westbrook Seminary would have given its rival, Hebron, a big run for first place, as the seminar boys were especially strong in the events which won Huntington its points.

The Westbrook Seminary team made a very creditable showing at the meet. The team cleaned up six points and won their relay from Leavitt Institute in fast time. Robert Brennan was responsible for the six points, winning two second places, 40-yard dash and 220-dash. Clavin and Redmond, both dash men, however, made a strong fight for points and finished well up with the leaders, although not able to place. The seminary relay team made the second fastest time of the afternoon, 2 minutes, 8 4-5 seconds. The team could have cut that time considerably had they been matched with a relay four more of their own strength but as it was the seminary men walked away with the race and were not pushed in the least. Captain Burton, who was banked on to place the mile drew 26th place for positions at the start. He was forced to weed his way through the large field of contestants and was able to finish a strong fourth.

Beside Farley and Robertson for the Bay State School, two Brown athletes, J. G. and R. S. featured very prominently and rolled up many points for their school. R. S. Brown won the running high jump with the bar 5 feet 4 inches and tied for first place with two others in the pole vault at a height of 9 feet, 9 inches. He came in second to Hardy of Hebron in the 45-yard high hurdles. Hardy stumbled across the tape in the final of the heat, just barely crossing the line and not breasting the finish yarn.

The Huntington-Hebron relay race, the final event on the card, proved to be a walk-away for the Bay State School, despite the fact that Hebron had the pole and started off in the lead. The time for the race, 2 minutes, 14 4-5 seconds, was the fastest made for the relay races.

A special attraction and the most closely contested relay race of the afternoon was the Deer-ing-Portland relay contest in which Deering forged out the victor after taking the lead away from their rival school.

When Roosevelt Threw Dough At His Father

ROOSEVELT'S father whipped him only once. The small boy had bitten his sister on the arm, and then sought refuge under a table in the kitchen. Before he hid he armed himself with some dough which he got from the cook. When father came after him on all fours, the boy defended himself with the dough, "having the advantage of him because I could stand up under the table," as Roosevelt afterwards wrote.

Big, powerful, God-regarding, and fearless was the father whom Roosevelt adored as his hero and model of imitation. Free from the oppression of physical weakness, proud in successful self-expression, independent and able to hold his own in the world, was the ideal boxer whom Roosevelt associated with his father as hero and guide through life.

How did these two inspirations combine to form his decision to enter politics? He had money, education, family position, everything he desired, and his friends told him that "politics were low," and that "the organizations were not controlled by gentlemen." Yet he fought his way up to the White House. And Harvey O'Higgins tells us in the March Cosmopolitan what "Doctor X" told him about Roosevelt.

The pastor read Edna's first letter right out in church, but the second letter—and the third—well, you'll have to read the story to find out what shocked the Carthage folks.
