Coffee, Doughnuts, Fair Sex Defeat Purpose Of Philosophical Patterns For College Men

"Changing the pace of the familiar Christmas atmosphere to a different one in the campus was among the experiences conducted by Dr. T. L. Hickey, President, in his speech on Monday evening, meeting of the 12th, at the Bowdoin Chapel. The informal dinner was held in the Bowdoin chapel, on Sunday evening in the Student Union.

The mood of the evening was scaled up to the level of the men by the speakers, which were all chosen from the upperclassmen. Dr. T. L. Hickey, President, was the first to speak with the title of "The Importance of Being Earnest," which dealt with the evils of the conventional life to the students.

The second speaker was Dr. H. C. Sills, who introduced the theory of "Democracy and Religion," which dealt with the evils of the conventional life to the students. The third speaker was Dr. J. C. Williams, who introduced the theory of "Democracy and Religion," which dealt with the evils of the conventional life to the students. The fourth speaker was Dr. J. C. Williams, who introduced the theory of "Democracy and Religion," which dealt with the evils of the conventional life to the students. The fifth speaker was Dr. J. C. The faculty will be notified of the proposed change of the College (Continued from front page)

The BCA Students' Government has proposed a change in the College's policy concerning the blanket tax. The proposal was made by the students' council, and it is to be voted on by the students at the next meeting.

The change was proposed as a matter of economy, to save the College money. The proposal was made by the students' council, and it is to be voted on by the students at the next meeting.

The students feel that the proposed change would be a step in the right direction, and they are in favor of it.

need for orderly rushing plans apparent to orient, s. council

It is most pleasing to note that the social scene is in general at Bowdoin this year as not only in a healthy condition but that it has shown marked improvement over the past season. More specifically, the fraternities have steadily encouraged such tendencies as less than more, more intelligent behavior, as well as less hectic and more refined home parties. Unlike many other social and cultural activities, Administration officials have not considered it necessary to impose unwise restrictions upon the students. On the contrary, we have recently witnessed the tendency in more obvious form, to designate certain groups of students, especially the fraternities, as being the most suitable candidates for such routine.

No administrative action

It is the opinion of the students that such action at all will be forthcoming for very important reasons, the one of the major causes of social complaint which had the public attention centered on it this year. Second, Admissions have recognized that this year, in particular, was a point out to the students every chance to iron out new problems through the student council and the orient.

One more student-initiated improvement would be helpful at this time, and that concerns the use of alcoholic beverages at the variousbeginning of the social season. The Student Council and the Orient both encourage the outlawing of aplan which would specifically ban all beverages during any rushing activities or even the use of such beverages within the company of any students.

In fact, the Student Council has planned a special meeting for tomorrow night (Tuesday) at which time will call the attention of all interested.

Good taste involved

This plan would not be considered a radical or even a prohibitory prohibition; it merely involves the elimination of good taste. Many houses have already acted in this manner, and the student council strongly encourages all houses to follow suit. This means the elimination of such behavior as is usually considered unseemly and offensive to good taste.

Letters to the Editor

March 31, 1952

To the editor:

The past two weeks have been very memorable and enjoyable for me, as I have been attending all the social events on campus.

My letter is a protest against the religion tax as it is now in force at Bowdoin and at many other institutions. Let us agree that the religion tax is a form of discrimination.

My letter is not based on any personal opinion, but rather on the fact that I believe it is the best interest of the student body to have a fair and just system of taxation.

In conclusion, I urge all students to support the motion of the student council that the religion tax be abolished immediately.

Although allaying a coach's job, being a captain does seem to provide a great deal of satisfaction especially when a team is doing well.

The Maine '62 crews are trying to get to the final meet at a National Championship Coach. They have already made it to the National Championship Coach and plan to continue their preparations for the meet.

White Key Meet Devoted to Action

Intentionally intense and useful, the tense was the topic of discussion at a recent conference held in the Maine Union Building. The theme for the meeting was "The Role of the White Key." The conference was sponsored by the White Key, a student organization dedicated to promoting peace and understanding among all students.

Dr. William T. Foster, keynote speaker, stressed the importance of unity and cooperation in the work of the conference. He urged participants to work towards a better understanding of each other and to strive for peaceful resolutions to conflicts.

The conference was attended by over 200 students from various colleges and universities. The keynote address was followed by several panel discussions and small group sessions where participants could share their thoughts and ideas.

The White Key is committed to promoting peace and understanding among students, and hopes that their efforts will help bring about a more harmonious and just society.

The conference was a success and is expected to be followed by similar events in the future.
New Smith Girls’ Quarterly Reviewed
Son of Graduate Writes Despite Mother, H-Party Dates

By George T. Saunders '32

The February edition of the Illinois Review was published in the Alumni office last week. Among the various topics discussed in this edition, a most interesting feature is the article by '32 Smith Girls’ Quarterly Review.

The reviews are signed by several different students who are not members of the Smith Class. This is a great innovation, and the articles are well written. The best of these is by Allen A. Orcutt '32 who has written an excellent review of the Smith Girls’ Quarterly Review.

The reviews are supposed to be written by members of the Smith Class, but they are not always the best. This year, however, the reviews are much better than usual. The reasons are probably that the Smith Class is larger this year, and the new members have more experience in writing.

The reviews are published in the Illinois Review every month. They are very interesting, and they give us a chance to read about the latest books and plays. We look forward to reading them each month.

This week saw the opening of the play, "Behind the Ivy Curtain," at the Granada Theater. The play is directed by Mr. Arthur Fred."32 and produced by the Smith Class.

The play is a comedy that takes place in an academic institution. It is about the relationship between the students and the faculty. The play is very well acted and the dialogue is humorous. The play is a great success and should be seen by everyone who enjoys good theater.

The play will be performed at the Granada Theater every evening at 8:30. It is a must-see for anyone who enjoys a good laugh.

Brown Dean James S. Coles To Replace Sills As Bowdoin Head

Coles' Neighbor Bartlett '55 Calls New President 'Striking, Brilliant'

Coles' Family Extremely Popular In Home Town; Activities - Civic Affairs, Sailing, Duck Hunting

Describing Dr. James S. Coles as an "exciting man, absolutely wonderful and brilliant," Frederic Bartlett '55, a close friend of Coles and his family, said that Coles' appointment to the presidency of Bowdoin "will be a thing of great significance for the college and for the community." Bartlett said that the announcement of Coles' appointment had been greeted with "enthusiastic enthusiasm." Bartlett noted that Coles had been actively involved in the affairs of Bowdoin College, having served as a member of the Board of Trustees and as a member of the Faculty. Bartlett also said that Coles had been "a great contributor to the life of the college," having been involved in a wide range of activities, including athletics, music, and the arts.

Dr. James S. Coles was appointed to the presidency of Bowdoin College by the Board of Trustees on April 9, 1960. He succeeded Lawrence C. Sills, who had served as president of the college since 1932. Coles was a well-known figure in the academic world, having served as the president of Amherst College, the University of Wisconsin, and the University of Rochester. He was also a member of the American Philosophical Society and the National Academy of Sciences.

Dr. Coles' appointment was announced by the Board of Trustees at a special meeting held in the trustees' room at Bowdoin College. The announcement was made by President Sills, who said that the appointment was "a great honor for Bowdoin College and for the state of Maine." He also said that Coles was "a man of great vision and great ability," and that he was "a man of deep integrity and great wisdom." The announcement was made to a large audience of faculty, students, and alumni, who were "overjoyed" at the news.

Coles' appointment was met with widespread enthusiasm, and he was welcomed by the community as a "man of great promise and great potential." He was described as "a man of great vision and great ability," and as "a man of deep integrity and great wisdom." He was also described as "a man of great promise and great potential." He was described as "a man of great vision and great ability," and as "a man of deep integrity and great wisdom." He was also described as "a man of great promise and great potential."
Past Presidents’ Comparison Shows Coles Not Atypical

Dr. James C. Cole, the ninth president of Bowdoin, is the first in the line of presidents of Bowdoin to have served for two consecutive terms. The other presidents who have been re-elected have served for one term. He is also the first president of Bowdoin to have been re-elected in 1952. The previous presidents were re-elected in 1942, 1932, and 1922. Dr. Cole was a graduate of Bowdoin College and has served as president of Bowdoin for the past 10 years. He has been re-elected for another five-year term.

Urged A Return To Old Virtues As Only Means Fighting Communism

The campus mission of an alma mater is to provide a liberal education, to encourage the development of critical thinking skills, and to foster personal growth. The idea of "freedom within law" is important in this context, as it promotes a balance between individual rights and the needs of society. This concept is also relevant in the context of fighting communism, as it suggests that freedom can be achieved only within the framework of law and order.

Bartlett topped the Bowdoin bench for the second time, one year after his first appearance in the post. The Chemist then led the Bobcats to an 18-2 record this season. Bartlett, a native of Maine, holds the record for the highest number of points scored in a single game by a Bowdoin basketball player. He was the leading scorer in the Maine State League last year and is expected to lead the team again this season.

Polar Bears

By Camille F. Scullard '33

The question of seasonal sport and participation in athletics at the Bowdoin campus is one of prime importance to all Bowdoin students. With the approach of spring, the athletic season is once again upon us.

Why aren't there more freshman basketball matches? Why isn't there more band music? Why aren't there more concerts? Why isn't there more painting? The reasons for these questions are many, but the most common are lack of interest and time. The athletic season is a time of activity and excitement, but it is also a time of study and work. Student and Glow need to be able to balance their time between athletics and their studies.

Council Urges Houses Rule Temperance For Un-Pledged

Fraternities Will Decide; Face Enforcement Problem

A resolution outlawing the use of alcohol beverages by the fraternities during the regular hours of the day in the academic year in the fall was passed unanimously by the Student Council in a special meeting last Thursday.

The measure was passed unanimously; however, the results of fraternity voting will determine the effectiveness of the new proposal which will not be obtained until their first houses are occupied after vacation.

Most of the members which will make up the house are expected to arrive before the end of the month, although the exact number cannot be given. They will be arrived at in the fall, unless some other plans are worked out.

In an effort to be fair to the students, the council voted to allow the fraternities to make their decision on the matter themselves. It was decided that the students will be allowed to continue their drinking habits.

In the meantime, the council will work on a plan to enforce the resolution. They will meet again next Thursday to discuss the matter further.

It is necessary to strongly stress the need for interpreting a more benevolent and organized freshman orientation program.

The Orient recommends that the smokes at which the extra-curricular activities explain their activities be extended somewhat so that none of the usual freshman student is permitted in others' sections.

Also a pre-game pledging of some sort should be held at which students and faculty interest either should be admitted to the pledge ceremony. It has been held that they have left only two full weeks of formal activities this spring.

1952-53 College Calendar Restores Normal Vacations

Trimester Cancellation To Give Undergraduates Underserved Vacation Time

Vacations will be restored to their normal length and time. Chris Tallman, dean of the regular Bowdoin College Calendar, next year, Chris Tallman told the Student Council at their regular meeting. The Calendar had been changed, he explained, to accommodate the release of Spring Term from January 7 to Thanksgiving and Spring Var-cation. This year the Calen-der had been changed in the hope that the students of all colleges similar to Bowdoin College would be more closely arranged.

New College Offers To Get Specialized Education in Health, Happy-Fish Alpha Delta's

By Catherine T. Dougiett

In the morning, and "Emmy" Marsteller told us what it was like to live in the dormitory of the new college on the campus.

The dormitory was built on the outskirts of town and was a far cry from the old Bowdoin College dormitories.

The new college offers a specialized education in health, with a focus on fish and aquatic biology. The college was founded to provide an opportunity for students interested in this field to pursue their studies in a unique setting.

By permitting students to live in the dormitory, the college is able to provide a practical and hands-on learning experience.

ARU's Buy Former Sigma Nu Fraternity House

Old House Included In Purchase Price Of New; "Amie" Sale Separate

ARU's Sell House After Five-Year Tenure; New Kitchen Promised

After negotiating for several months, the Sigma Nu and Alpha Delta Fraternities sold their houses, the former to ARU house being included as part of the price for the building. The Sigma Nu house has been purchased by Troy Tallman, owner of the ARU, who will use it as a fraternity house.

The sale of the Sigma Nu house is expected to be completed within the next few weeks, with the new owners preparing to move in shortly after the sale is finalized. The Alpha Delta house will remain in use as a fraternity house for the foreseeable future.

The ARU is expected to make some improvements to the property, including the addition of a new kitchen, to enhance the living conditions for the fraternity members.

ARU, which is located about a mile from the main campus, has expressed interest in acquiring additional houses in the future to accommodate the growing number of fraternity members. The ARU's purchase of the Sigma Nu house is seen as a significant milestone in the development of the fraternity community at Bowdoin College.

They Went to College
By Ernest Havemann and Patricia Siler West

Sensitve in the spring of 1957 results of this survey have just been published under the title "They Went to College." At the survey was under taken, and so in an analysis of the results, Professor William G. Seashore, Director of the Department of Research, was the originator of the project, and to the Department of Research, was given specific charge of the survey. Actually, it is not done by the Department of Research, but by the company to which it is assigned.

Polar Varsity Baseball 9 Lose Three Straight Tilts

Beaten by Wesleyan, Williams, Tufts, Pettersson, Cosgrove Poke Home Runs

By Candace F. Ward '18
The Bowdoin Bearcats dropped the last three games of the season last weekend, losing to Wesleyan and Williams on Saturday, and Tufts on Sunday. The Polar Bears finished the season with a 9-16 record, and are currently fourth in the NESCAC standings.

Wesleyan, Williams, and Tufts each scored one run in the third inning of their respective games, and the Polar Bears were unable to overcome these early deficits. Wesleyan scored its first run in the third inning of the first game, while Williams scored in the third inning of the second game, and Tufts scored in the third inning of the third game.

The Polar Bears were unable to recover from these early deficits and lost all three games. Wesleyan won the first game 2-1, Williams won the second game 3-2, and Tufts won the third game 5-3.

The Polar Bears will continue their season with a home series against Bates this weekend. The first game is scheduled for Saturday at 1 p.m., with the second and third games scheduled for Sunday at 11 a.m. and 1 p.m., respectively.
Fourteenth Bowdoin Institute Ends

Schlesinger Stresses Social Legislation For New England's Future

New England needs a new spirit of public action, said Mrs. John W. Davis, an important and influential woman from the United States according to the Bowdoin Institute, during a lecture Friday afternoon.

"The way the states are going is beyond my belief," Mrs. Davis said. "The way things are going is beyond my belief."

Mrs. Davis was the keynote speaker at the Bowdoin Institute's lecture on the Citizens' Forum, which was held in the Coltrane Room of Bowdoin College's Orono Union Building.

She went on to say that New England has been in a state of depression for a long time, and that the depression has been caused by the depression of the United States.

The depression has been caused by the depression of the United States, she said, and that the depression has been caused by the depression of the United States, and that the depression has been caused by the depression of the United States.

"The depression has been caused by the depression of the United States," Mrs. Davis said. "And the depression has been caused by the depression of the United States, and that the depression has been caused by the depression of the United States.

Mrs. Davis went on to say that she believed the depression would end when the depression of the United States ends.

"I believe the depression will end when the depression of the United States ends," Mrs. Davis said. "And I believe the depression will end when the depression of the United States ends."

Brown Claims Major Exams Put End To Students' "Glittering Generalities"

Three Points...

The recent activities in the Student Council and elsewhere concerning the Centralized Dining Room Service brings to light a situation that exists and has for some time been an undetected and unimproved student underprivilege niche. Goggin is one of the few students of the understandings, and the one who attempted to influence situation. This is a situation which is publicized and must be solved.

The showers of Bowdoin's 12 fraternities are holding a meeting next Tuesday evening to discuss fraternities of the situation in character. The showers will attempt to organize and provide a solution to the problem of complaints and suggestions to the Centralized Dining Room Service.

If the showers are as successful as they should be, and if their complaints are legitimate and just, then the problem can be solved through a better understanding and a more effective relationship with the Co-op. To effect constructive action, the showers might be able to move the situation up to the level of the Student Council and the Centralized Dining Room Service Committee. It is a situation that needs to be addressed.

Interfraternity Singing Competition

To The Editor:
The Interfraternity Singing Competition of last Wednesday was a splendid one, one of the best in recent years. The show was underdeveloped in singing from trained Choir that has been active in the past.

In several cases the performances were as high as a vocal group could be found in the city.

The standard was as consistently high in each of the participating fraternities that it can be said that there were not less than one song that surpassed the others and was a victory of the singing.

It is unfortunate that the fraternities found their relation to the Centralized Lunch Service Committee so close in this way, but the singing of competition has been held to a high level by the singing of the students, and the singing of the singing was very pleasing.

Next Year Under "Bowdoin Plan"; 5 To Stay

Eleven foreign students, including both men and women, will be selected next year under the "Bowdoin Plan" for the purpose of introducing American students to the students of the foreign language and culture.

The "Bowdoin Plan" was conceived and carried out the last year, and it is expected to continue this year.

Philip S. Wilder, Announces

The "Bowdoin Plan" is administered by the Department of Foreign Languages, under the direction of Professor J. W. Bowdoin, and it is expected to be continued this year.

The Interfraternity Singing Competition of last Wednesday was a splendid one, one of the best in recent years. The show was underdeveloped in singing from trained Choir that has been active in the past.

In several cases the performances were as high as a vocal group could be found in the city.

The standard was as consistently high in each of the participating fraternities that it can be said that there were not less than one song that surpassed the others and was a victory of the singing.

It is unfortunate that the fraternities found their relation to the Centralized Lunch Service Committee so close in this way, but the singing of competition has been held to a high level by the singing of the students, and the singing of the singing was very pleasing.

Next Year Under "Bowdoin Plan"; 5 To Stay

Eleven foreign students, including both men and women, will be selected next year under the "Bowdoin Plan" for the purpose of introducing American students to the students of the foreign language and culture.

The "Bowdoin Plan" was conceived and carried out the last year, and it is expected to continue this year.

Philip S. Wilder, Announces

The "Bowdoin Plan" is administered by the Department of Foreign Languages, under the direction of Professor J. W. Bowdoin, and it is expected to be continued this year.

Brown Claims Major Exams Put End To Students' "Glittering Generalities"

Three Points...

The recent activities in the Student Council and elsewhere concerning the Centralized Dining Room Service brings to light a situation that exists and has for some time been an undetected and unimproved student underprivilege niche. Goggin is one of the few students of the understandings, and the one who attempted to influence situation. This is a situation which is publicized and must be solved.

The showers of Bowdoin's 12 fraternities are holding a meeting next Tuesday evening to discuss fraternities of the situation in character. The showers will attempt to organize and provide a solution to the problem of complaints and suggestions to the Centralized Dining Room Service.

If the showers are as successful as they should be, and if their complaints are legitimate and just, then the problem can be solved through a better understanding and a more effective relationship with the Co-op. To effect constructive action, the showers might be able to move the situation up to the level of the Student Council and the Centralized Dining Room Service Committee. It is a situation that needs to be addressed.

MacFaydenmen Beat Bates, Tech As Sluggers Win Day

Bishop Outpirches McAuliffe As Team Whops Bobcats

By Canvia F. Sewell '61

After four straight defeats, the Bobcat baseball team came back to take games from Bates 8-3 and MIT 10-8 in last week's contests, which are their second and first victories of the season.

The win over Bates kept the Polar Bears in a favorable position in the New England Series, while during the week Walter Bartlett banned his team's fall and fast to a 4-3 figure.

The Bobcat baseball team beat Bates 8-3 on a 24 hit attack, coming up with a fireball, and MIT 10-8 in a 2-7 offensive effort.

Andy McAuliffe, who gave Bates their only run in the Bates' contest, was the best of the Bobcat pitchers, while MIT'sstrategy was led by the starting pitcher, who made a 1-6 start, and taped by a 1-7 finish.

The loss to Bates dropped McAuliffe's record to 12-7. In the Bates game, McAuliffe made the dean of the afternoon with a triple and a double for a walk-off hit. In the MIT game, he scored two runs, ran to a triple, and made a double for a walk-off hit.

The win over Bates was the feat of the year, as the team had not won a game in three years. In the Bates game, McAuliffe faced the dean of the afternoon with a triple and a double for a walk-off hit. In the MIT game, he scored two runs, ran to a triple, and made a double for a walk-off hit.

Magree’s Tracksters Down Maine Team To Grab 32nd State Series Meet Title; Dasher Milliken Gets Hillman Trophy

Milliken and Getchell Smash Former Records In 220 Yd. Dash, Hurdles; Big White’s Depth In Running Events Prove Decisive Factor In Triumph

By Ron Searls ‘61
The Bowdoin College varsity track team got its 22nd straight victory in the State Series Meet last Saturday, with a small upset victory over the University of Maine. The meet was held at the Maine State Fairgrounds in Augusta.

The meet was a repeat of last year, when Maine beat Bowdoin in the first meet of the season. This year, however, the Bowdoin team proved too strong for their opponents.

Dasher Milliken ‘61, who is a representative of the College’s Football Team, compiled 13 points and received the Hillman Trophy for his performance. The Hillman Trophy is awarded annually to the outstanding track and field athlete of the year.

Chuck Chamberlain ‘62, who is a representative of the College’s Basketball Team, compiled 11 points and received the Chamberlain Trophy for his performance. The Chamberlain Trophy is awarded annually to the outstanding track and field athlete of the year.

Other Bowdoin tracksters who compiled points in the meet included: Alan Tschantre Jr. ‘63, 4 points; Alan Maxwell ‘62, 3 points; and James Tschantre Jr. ‘63, 3 points.

ALUMNI RETURNS INDICATE CHANCE IN SONG DESIRE

Alumni of the College appear to be overwhelmingly in favor of changing the Alma Mater from "Bowdoin Boys" to "Bowdoin Men," according to a survey which was conducted by the Student Council.

Although all of the alumni have not yet been contacted, the great majority of those returned in favor of the change.

The survey, which included both men and women alumni, helped to support the theory that the change is necessary in order to reflect the changing nature of the student body.

Various alumni expressed their support for the change, with many citing the need for a more inclusive representation of the student body.

"This is a great idea," said one alumni. "The current song is outdated and should be replaced in my opinion." A more radical expression of the same sentiment was that of a graduate who wrote, "The words are inappropriate for a modern day Bowdoin." Other alumni added that the song should be changed in order to "reflect the diversity of our student body." Many alumni also commented that the current song "lacks the spirit of the current generation." Some alumni even went so far as to say that the current song is "out of date and should be replaced with something more modern." For example, one alumni suggested that the song could be changed to include references to current events or popular culture.

Some Opposed

Not all alumni were in favor of changing the Alma Mater, however. Some alumni expressed concern that the change could lead to a loss of tradition and history.

"The song has been around for decades," said one alumni. "It has a rich history and should not be changed." Another alumni added, "The current song is a part of our college's heritage and should not be replaced with something new." Other alumni expressed concern that the change could lead to a loss of tradition and history.

"I am against changing the Alma Mater," said one alumni. "It has been a part of our college's history for generations and should not be changed in my opinion." Other alumni added that the current song is "a part of our college's identity and should not be changed." Racketeers Swamp Maine; Strengthen Hold On Lead

Squad Wins All Singles Matches; Coach Ladd Predicts Championship

The Bowdoin men began their film grip on the State tennis meet champions, 2-1 over Bates yesterday. Bates' main hope was the doubles of Bob Lane and Bill Marquardt, who defeated the top team of Bowdoin.

Doubles, however, brought the victory. Donald Izzard and George I Keefer, a Bates team, were defeated by Bowdoin in the state meet. The final score was 3-0, with Bowdoin winning all three matches.

Bowdoin will play Maine in the third round, while Bates will meet the winner of the first match between the two teams. The final round will be played on Saturday, May 15.

Bowdoin has a good chance of winning the championship, according to Coach Ladd. The team is well-balanced, with strong singles and doubles players. A victory over Maine would place them in the final round.

The Bowdoin men are well-prepared for the meet, having practiced extensively in preparation for the state meet. Their coaching staff is led by Ladd, who has been coaching the team for several years.

The Bates men are also well-prepared, having had a good season so far. They are led by Coach Audet, who has been coaching the team for many years.

On the women's side, Bowdoin and Bates have already faced each other in a dual meet. Bowdoin won that meet, 7-0, showing their strength in singles play.

The women's meet will be held on Saturday, May 15, with the winner moving on to the final round.

In Flippin', Arkansas, the Flippin' Bears defeated the Bates Bears, 9-0, in a dual meet. The Bears are led by Coach Bob John, who has been coaching the team for several years.

The Bates men and women are also well-prepared for the meet, having practiced extensively in preparation for the state meet. Their coaching staff is led by Coach Audet, who has been coaching the team for many years.

President Sills Stresses Need For High
Individual Ideals In His 35th And Final
Bowdoin College Baccalaureate Address

"The Basis Of Loyalty" is Subject of Speech;
Large Audience attendees

Sills is Assisted By Nicolaus J. G. Sills, Jr., of the First Parish Church

President Kenneth C. M. Sills attended Bowdoin College Baccalaureate address to thousands at the First Parish Church before a class of 1,591 graduates.

Choosing as his topic, "The Basis of Loyalty," Sills addressed his graduating class, who included several hundred alumni, who were honored at the Baccalaureate address. The ceremony included the presentation of the degree of Doctor of Literature in Arts to John Nault, the editor of the Concord Monitor.

Sills, who is a member of the Class of 1937, gave the keynote address at the graduation, which is the 147th Commencement Exercises of Bowdoin College. He spoke on the subject of "The Basis of Loyalty," and in his address he discussed the importance of loyalty in both personal and professional life. He emphasized the need for graduates to be loyal to their families, their communities, and their country.

Sills noted that loyalty is the foundation of all other virtues, and that it is essential to the success of any endeavor. He reminded the graduates that they are not alone in their endeavors, and that they are part of a larger community. He urged them to be true to their beliefs and to their ideals, and to always strive to do their best.

The address concluded with a prediction of a bright future for the graduates, and a call for them to live up to their ideals and to be true to their convictions.

A large crowd attended the ceremony, which was held in the College Chapel. The event was moderated by Professor Clifford Swann, and was attended by many faculty members and guests.

The morning Commencement Exercises included the presentation of the degree of Bachelor of Arts to 1,591 graduates, including 784 seniors, 577 juniors, and 230 sophomores. The ceremonies were highlighted by the presentation of the degree of Doctor of Laws to John Nault, the editor of the Concord Monitor.

The students, alumni, and guests were also treated to a number of musical performances, including a performance by the Bowdoin College Symphony Orchestra, and a performance by the Bowdoin College Choral Society.

The day ended with a reception in the College's dining hall, where the graduates had the opportunity to socialize with their classmates and faculty members.

Nineteen Honorary Degrees Awarded

On the morning of the Commencement Exercises, nineteen honorary degrees were awarded to distinguished individuals. The recipients included:

• Margaret Chase Smith, recipient of the degree of Doctor of Laws, was a significant figure in American politics.

• Frederick A. Irving, recipient of the degree of Doctor of Laws, was a prominent figure in American literature.

• William Hattery Grimes, recipient of the degree of Doctor of Laws, was an influential figure in American business.

• Marcus C. Connolly, recipient of the degree of Doctor of Laws, was a notable figure in American literature.

Chemistry Building Formally Dedicated To Former Professor Parker Cleveland

We are both very pleased to announce that the Chemistry Building has been formally dedicated to the memory of Professor Parker Cleveland, a long-time faculty member of our department. The dedication ceremony, held on [date], was attended by many of Professor Cleveland's former students and colleagues.

Professor Cleveland made significant contributions to the field of chemistry during his tenure at our institution. His research focused on [specific research area or achievement], and he was highly respected for his teaching and mentorship.

During the ceremony, [names of speakers] delivered speeches highlighting Professor Cleveland's achievements and impact on the field of chemistry. The event concluded with a plaque unveiling ceremony, symbolizing the honor bestowed upon Professor Cleveland.

We hope that this dedication will serve as a lasting tribute to Professor Cleveland's legacy and inspire future generations of chemists.

Three Overseers, Two New Trustees Elected To Governing Boards

The Board of Trustees has recently elected three new members and two new trustees to its governing board. The newly elected trustees are [names]. Their contributions will undoubtedly strengthen our institution's governance and leadership.

The Board of Trustees is responsible for overseeing the strategic direction of the institution, ensuring its financial stability, and aligning its goals with the needs of society.

We look forward to working closely with these new trustees to continue advancing our mission and delivering high-quality education to our students.

Alumni Cast Over 2000 Votes To Effect Change; 95% Favorable Switch

The BOWDOIN ALMA MATER is now "Rise, Sons of BOWDOIN" by Alumni, Student, Faculty Vote

The BOWDOIN ALMA MATER is now "Rise, Sons of BOWDOIN" following a poll of the Alumni which revealed that an overwhelming majority favored the change from "Bowdoin Boys". Out of well over 2000 votes cast by the Alumni, only 150 voted against the proposed change. This means that 95% of the Alumni polled approved the move.

The change of songs came as the result of a new Institutional student poll which revealed that the majority of students were in favor of the change. Currently, the "Bowdoin Boys" is the only song that is not sung at every game and is not represented on the Gameday video.

The new polls are being taken through the Institution's new, high-tech, 710 ballot rating system, only 100 were opposed. However, it will take at least 25+ hours before 65% of those votes were in and counting in the polling.

A poll of the Faculty showed overwhelming support for the switch in the songs, and with the new Institutional student poll, the switch will take place during the time of "The Bowdoin Boys". After several years, the switch will take place during the last home game of the season.

With the "Bowdoin Boys" being written in 1933 by President Hill, this change will be a significant step forward in acknowledging the Institution's rich history and traditions.

The President, Robert R. McNamar, introduced Mr. Joseph T. O'Reilly, the first of the three distinguished guests of the evening. After a brief recital of Mr. O'Reilly's career, President McNamar extended congratulations to the guests and members of the University and wished them a pleasant evening.

The President then turned the floor over to Mr. O'Reilly, who proceeded to make a speech of welcome. His address was received with considerable enthusiasm, and the members of the University present were deeply impressed by the eloquence and incisiveness of the speech. Mr. O'Reilly spoke of his own personal experiences as a student and his career since graduation, and he gave a vivid picture of the University's progress and development over the years.

Mr. O'Reilly then turned the floor over to the first speaker of the evening, who proceeded to make a short address. The speech dealt with various topics, such as the University's history, its current state, and future plans. The speaker also spoke of the University's influence on the community and its role in advancing knowledge and research.

After Mr. O'Reilly's speech, the floor was turned over to a second speaker, who proceeded to make a short address. The speech dealt with various topics, such as the University's history, its current state, and future plans. The speaker also spoke of the University's influence on the community and its role in advancing knowledge and research.

The floor was then turned over to a third speaker, who proceeded to make a short address. The speech dealt with various topics, such as the University's history, its current state, and future plans. The speaker also spoke of the University's influence on the community and its role in advancing knowledge and research.

After the third speaker, the President rose to his feet and concluded the program. He praised the speakers for their informative and inspiring addresses and expressed his hope that the audience had enjoyed the event.

The audience then dispersed, having been thoroughly entertained and educated by the evening's proceedings.
Rigid Enforcement Of 'Dry Rush' Resolution By Heads Progressive

The ORIENT congratulates the College administration on its standing up to the "dry rush" resolution rigidly enforced. Furthermore, they contend that the criminals of the College who were sufficiently common to have been known to the administration have always been more successful in covering their tracks than in being caught. The ORIENT is of the opinion that if the "dry rush" resolution cannot be enforced by the administration, it is a matter of weakness on the part of the College administration.

POLAR BEARINGS

By Charles R. Hinsten Jr., '64

The surprising showing of the 1962 Bowdoin football team on Saturday should make the season players and take notice of 1962. Bowdoin was at least two touchdowns better than the club that had exclaimed it was the last game played by the team.

It was the first time in the history of the school that a football team had not lost a game in a season. Whether this pattern will be continued in the future is uncertain, but it is the first step of the right track.

Traditional College Rules Governing Freshmen During Hazing Period

By John E. Nylander '76

With the beginning of the new college year, the freshmen class faces the challenge of surviving the hazing period. Freshmen are expected to follow a strict set of rules and regulations, which are designed to ensure a safe and enjoyable experience for all.

A balance of five returning men and four newcomers makes a total of nine members in the freshmen class. The freshmen class, which is led by Mr. Arthur M. Brackett Jr., will be divided into two groups for the first week of training. The freshmen class will be supervised by Mr. Brackett Jr., who is also the head of the freshmen class.

Freshmen will be expected to wear uniforms and follow a strict code of conduct. They will be expected to participate in team activities and work as a group to achieve the best possible results.

ENCOMIUM

The present student body of the College must, in paying tribute to Kenneth Charles Marshall, be mindful of the time that words become tinged with the admittance and respect that it has felt for him. Dedication to twenty years, we, not you, nor we, nor any of those who now tell of our memories, could, I think, have associated with Casey while he was here. As today we hasten to speak in superlatives lest our words be too insincere. In a period of from one to three years as a member of the College faculty, Dr. Marshall has shown himself a master of his profession and a skillful and efficient administrator. He has contributed to our understanding of the problems involved in the proper conduct and development of the College, and has given us in his writings and lectures on the subject of the College's mission, a profound and far-reaching understanding of the College's mission.

Wesleyan Aerial Barrage Clobbers Polar Bears 27-7 As White Blocking, Passing/Collapse In Second Stanza

The Wesleyan aerial barrage was too much for the Polar Bears in their matchup at Bowdoin, Saturday afternoon. The Polar Bears were down by a 27-7 margin at the end of the first half, and 27-7 at the end of the game.

Wesleyan quarterback Bob Winnehauser passed for three touchdowns, two of which went to end Earl Johnson. The other touchdown was scored by running back Bob Totman. Wesleyan's defense held Bowdoin to one touchdown and 12 first downs, while the offense had 20 first downs and 477 yards of total offense.

Bowdoin's quarterback, Fred Neilson, passed for 224 yards and a touchdown, but his team was unable to score on the ground.

The Wesleyan defense, led by linebacker George Brown and defensive back Bob Totman, held the Polar Bears to 179 yards of total offense. Wesleyan's running game was led by fullback Bob Totman, who rushed for 110 yards and two touchdowns.

Wesleyan head coach Bill Johnson was pleased with his team's performance, saying, "Our offense played well today. We had good balance with our running game and passing game. Our defense was solid. We held Bowdoin to one touchdown and 12 first downs. We played a good game of football and I'm happy with our team."

Goya Etchings Featured in October Art Exhibit

Goya etchings by the Spanish master, Francisco Goya, will be on display at the Boudoin College Art Gallery Oct. 17-Nov. 15. Goya is considered the greatest draughtsman of the Romantic period and one of the most influential artists of the 19th century. His work was characterized by a realistic depiction of human nature, often with a touch of satire and social commentary.

A responsible confectionary organization has reported the results of a continuing study by a competent medical specialist and his staff on the effects of smoking cigarette filters.

A group of people from various walks of life was organized to smoke only Chesterfield for six months this autumn. Each man and woman smoked their normal amount of Chesterfield for 10 to 40 a day, 45% of the group have quit smoking Chesterfields continuously from one to thirty years for an average of 12 years.

At the beginning and at the end of the six-month period each smoker was given a thorough examination, including x-ray pictures, by the medical specialist and his assistants. The amount of nicotine covered the souses as the nose, ear, throat.

The medical specialist, after a thorough examination of every member of the group, stated: "It is my opinion that the ears, nose, throat and accessory organs of all participating subjects examined by me were not adversely affected in the six-month period by smoking the cigarettes provided."
TEXT OF ADDRESS BY JAMES STACY COLES

Mr. Mauro, Mr. Frace, Judge Mayne, and Members of the Alumni Association of Bowdoin College:

I am deeply honored to be here today to address the Alumni Association of Bowdoin College. The occasion is a special one for me, as I am a member of this distinguished group. We are gathered today to celebrate the achievements of our alma mater and to reflect on the values that we hold dear.

Our college has a long and proud history, and it is fitting that we take a moment to honor those who have contributed to its success. The alumni of Bowdoin are a testament to the strength and resilience of our institution, and we are all grateful for their support.

As we celebrate the achievements of our college, we also recognize the challenges that lie ahead. The world is a complex and ever-changing place, and we must be prepared to meet the challenges that it presents. Our college has a responsibility to educate our students for the future, and we must ensure that they are equipped with the skills and knowledge that they need to succeed.

In conclusion, I would like to thank the Alumni Association for this opportunity to speak to you today. I am proud to be a member of this organization, and I look forward to continuing to support Bowdoin College in the years to come.

Thank you.
JACK COSGROVE LEADS BIG WHITE TO UPSET VICTORY OVER LORD JEFFS

The Bowdoin football squad faces Hebron this Friday afternoon.

The Bowdoin football team has had an outstanding season, winning five out of six games. The team has been led by Jack Cosgrove, the new coach, who has been successful in turning around a losing team. Cosgrove's leadership and coaching skills have been instrumental in achieving this success.

The team's victory against Hebron was a significant milestone in their season. The players were elated and proud of their accomplishment. The coaching staff and the fans were also thrilled with the win, and the team is now looking forward to their next game against a tough opponent.

The team's success is a testament to the hard work and dedication of the players, coaches, and staff. The team's victory against Hebron is a significant milestone in their season, and they are looking forward to their next game against a tough opponent.

Aostigellini Cops J. Bowdoin Cup

By John B. Goodrich '55

The 12th annual James Bowdoin Cup ceremonies held at Bowdoin's manuscript room on Monday, Oct. 5, followed by a victory supper

The record address of the student to the society, "The relation of the society to the student," was delivered

Dr. Condon addressed the following remarks: "The Bowdoin Cup is the oldest and most prestigious award in American education. It is presented to the member of the Senior Class who is outstanding in scholarship, leadership, and character, and who has contributed to the welfare of the College in a positive way. This year's winner, John B. Goodrich '55, has demonstrated his ability to excel in all these areas. His dedication to the College and his contributions to the community have made him an ideal recipient of the Bowdoin Cup."
Non-Participation In Activities Ignores Liberal Arts School Value

Thus in the case of extracurricular activities has become increasingly obvious the need for students to participate in these activities. Participation in extracurricular activities is not an end in itself, but a means to an end. It is a means of developing the individual and preparing him for future life. Participation in extracurricular activities helps to develop leadership qualities, teamwork, and a sense of responsibility.

However, participation in extracurricular activities is not automatic. It requires effort, dedication, and a willingness to commit oneself. It requires a commitment to the values and principles of the college.

In conclusion, participation in extracurricular activities is an essential part of the liberal arts education. It provides an opportunity for students to develop their full potential and to prepare themselves for future life. It is a means of becoming a well-rounded individual, capable of contributing to society.

Orient Not To Endorse Candidate Of All Parties This Year

Orient has decided not to endorse any political candidate or political party in the forthcoming election for President of the United States.

The decision to not endorse any candidate or political party was made by the editorial board after careful consideration of the issues and the candidates.

The Orient views its decision not to endorse any candidate or political party as a way of promoting a more civil and respectful political discourse. It is a way of encouraging everyone to participate in the political process and to make informed decisions.

In conclusion, the Orient decided not to endorse any candidate or political party in the ongoing election for President of the United States. It is a decision that is based on the principle of promoting a more civil and respectful political discourse.

Behind the Ivy Curtain
By E. V. Wilt Grobe '38
In view of the beginning of the fall term, it might be well to start the season with a bit of the social history of the College. The first term of the College found the students so poor that a dancing party was the only means of subsistence. The ladies were seen wearing one of the dyed, clove-colored dresses with which we are still familiar today. The men wore the black dress which is still their uniform.

Deferent Test To Be Suffer Says Hersey

Major General Louis W. Hersey, Director of Selective Service, recently made a statement on the subject of deferment tests which were to have been held this fall. The tests were designed to eliminate young men who might not be physically fitted for military service.

Writing in his agency’s monthly newsletter, Hersey explained that the selective regulations are more complex than expected. This is due to the fact that the number of men eligible for selective service has increased significantly since 1938, when a Selective Service Board was established. The board is responsible for determining who is fit for military service and who is not.

The 1935-36 school year was the first year in which Hersey’s agency had to deal with the issue of deferment. The agency had to prove the need for the tests before allowing them to continue. If the need could not be proven, the tests were canceled.

The tests were held in the fall of 1935. The agency had to show that the need for the tests was due to the number of men eligible for selective service. The agency was able to prove this need, and the tests were held.

It is not expected that the tests will be held again this fall. The agency is now focusing on other issues, such as the need for more selective service registrants.

MULES EDGED BY BOWDOIN IN STATE SERIES OPENER

Crucial 4th Period Fumble Costs Colby Contest 12-6

Bowdoin's Polar Bears opened their 1952 State Series campaign with a hard-fought 12-6 victory over an extremely stubborn Colby Terriers. The game, played before a blizzard-bemused crowd of 3,000 fans at Bowdoin's Davis Field, featured a driving rain and a heavy snowfall which made the field almost unplayable. Despite these conditions, both teams were able to move the ball with some success, with Bowdoin having the edge in both total yards and first downs.

The game began with Bowdoin on offense. The Bears drove to the Colby 32-yard line but were unable to convert on third down and were forced to punt. The Terriers received the ball at their 23-yard line and quickly moved to the Bowdoin 44-yard line. A fumble was recovered by Bowdoin at the 39-yard line, setting up a third-down-and-goal situation. Bowdoin quarterback Bob McCall, who earlier had thrown two touchdown passes, then threw his third, a 14-yard reverse trick play to end man Bob O'Neil for a 6-0 lead.

Colby, however, was able to move down the field and tie the game at 6-6 with a 21-yard pass from quarterback Art Ziegler to wide receiver Jim O'Sullivan. The Terriers then had possession at their 43-yard line. On the first play of the drive, Ziegler connected with O'Sullivan for a 30-yard gain to the Bowdoin 23-yard line. Two plays later, fullback Jack Ryan tackled for a loss, but Colby still had the ball at the Bowdoin 21-yard line. On the next play, Ziegler scrambled to the right sideline and threw a pass to halfback Joe Sabin for a 21-yard touchdown. The PAT was missed, but Colby led 12-6.

Bowdoin's next drive moved them to the Colby 40-yard line, where a punt was blocked and returned for a touchdown by Colby's Jim O'Sullivan. The PAT was missed, but Colby's lead stretched to 19-6 with 1:10 left in the game. Bowdoin would have to score a touchdown in the last two minutes of the game to win.

The Bowdoin defense held Colby to a gain of only 99 yards in the second half, and were able to stop Colby on downs at their own 34-yard line with 38 seconds left on the clock. However, Bowdoin's offense was unable to move the ball, and as the clock expired, the game ended with Bowdoin leading 19-6.

For Bowdoin's team, the victory was a testament to their hard work and preparation. "Our players played as well as we can," said Coach George Folsom. "We knew that we had to win this game, and we did it."

For Colby, the loss was a disappointment, but they were able to take some lessons from the game. "We have to improve our special teams," said Coach John Dyer. "We had some mistakes that cost us the game."

The victory was a significant one for Bowdoin, who had not won a State Series game in five years. The win also improved their overall record to 4-1, and put them in a good position for the remainder of the season.

For Colby, the loss was a setback, but they remained confident. "We have a lot of work to do," said Coach Dyer. "But we're not giving up. We're going to come back stronger next week."
Students Should Be Given Chance To Decide Social Rules, Privileges

It is evident that the College administration is going to continue this practice of socialization activities until there will be nothing left of Bowdoin parties except a faint odor of male beer issuing from the basement of our all-consumed tent.

We have the greatest respect for the men who are behind this behemoth administrative action. There is no doubt that alcohol has been the cause of damage from Bowdoin about as one can possibly observe, some of whom maintain that the College's repugnance for dealing with abusive alcoholism in more temporary terms. The College depends upon its alumni to supply both financial and ethical arguments and prospective candidates for the school, and their advice cannot go unnoticed.

If it is an inseparable fact that an alcoholic vice has pervaded the entire campus for some of our men, and we are not sure that it is, we are not sure that it is not. If it is, the College administration is going to continue the practice of socialization activities until there will be nothing left of Bowdoin parties except a faint odor of male beer issuing from the basement of our all-consumed tent.

"Brave New Choral"

It was a cheerful noisy day at Bowdoin, as students of the "Brave New Choral" prepared for their first performance in the Music Hall. A.N. Ziering said the show will be "all right in itself." He wanted to see the show, but was not quite sure of it. The distance between the stage and the musicale was not quite feasible. The distance between the stage and the musicale was approximately 8 feet. At a time of 8 feet, height of the musicale will be 10 feet, and the musicale will be able to be played. He had spoken of his enthusiasm for the musicale.

The show will be based on the idea that a new type of choral music will be performed. The musicale will be written by students, and the idea is "to try something new." The show will be produced by the "Brave New Choral." The musicale will be performed on April 17, at 7:30 in the evening. The show will be open to the public. The admission will be $1.00.

The deadline for application is March 1, 1982. For more information, please contact the NYU Law School Office of Financial Aid.

Soccer Rules

"In soccer, as in many other games, to be successful players, players must have good sportsmanship, and the ability to work as a team. As a coach, it is my duty to see that the players understand the rules of the game, and that they are able to apply them in practice. The rules of soccer are quite simple, and they are designed to make the game fair for everyone. The object of the game is for the teams to score goals, and the team with the most goals at the end of the game wins.

The week will open with the fraternities and sororities of both colleges in meetings that will enable them to plan their activities for the coming week. The Bowdoin Fraternity Council and the Middletown Club will meet on Thursday afternoon.

The Alumni Meetings Luncheon will be held at Bowdoin on Saturday afternoon. The guest speakers will be Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Reid, alumni of Bowdoin's Class of 1928, and Dr. J. B. Martin, of the Middletown Club.

A mixer for the Class of 1955 will be held at the Bowdoin Inn on Saturday night.

The main event of the week will be the football game between Bowdoin and Middletown on Saturday afternoon. The Bowdoin Bearcats will be favored by 10 points in this game.

The game will be played at 2 p.m. at Bowdoin’s Athletic Field. The Bowdoin Inn will be open for lunch and dinner on Saturday.

Bowdoin students are urged to attend the game and show their support for the Bearcats.

A.T.O., T.D. FRESHMEN SERVE COMMUNITY

The Placement Bureau has assigned a number of freshmen to a work program designed to help alleviate the housing shortage on campus.

The freshmen who have been assigned to this program will be housed in the Dorr Hall dormitory and will work in the maintenance department of the Bowdoin Inn.

The freshmen will be paid $2.50 per hour for their work, and will be housed in single rooms with the other freshmen.

The freshmen have expressed a great deal of enthusiasm for this program and are looking forward to their experience.

Bowdoin's social rules are considered by many to be the most liberal in the country. The rules are designed to allow students to have a good time, but also to promote responsibility and community service.

The rules include prohibitions against hazing, drinking, and driving under the influence, and require students to attend classes and participate in campus activities.

Dean Kendrick, who has been in charge of the rules for several years, has been praised for his efforts to create a balanced set of rules that are both fair and effective.

In conclusion, Bowdoin's social rules are an example of how institutions can create a community that is both fun and responsible.

Class of 1955 To Select Officers For Three Posts

Major Joseph B. Miller, Assistant Manager of ROTC and Drench, this week announced the nominations of three students for three positions. Miller revealed how the ROTC officers were selected last week. All candidates for the various positions were made to members of the senior class by the members of the senior class.

The three candidates who were selected are: Nathaniel K. Moore, Junior; Nathaniel J. Moore, Jr., Senior; and Nathaniel K. Moore, Jr., Senior. The candidates will be nominated for the three positions and will be addressed by "muster" during the National ROTC Commission meeting.

Among the various advantages of this method of organization cited by Miller was the ease with which the students could be nominated and the freedom from all political influence. The candidate with the most votes will be selected in each case.

Letters To The Editor

To the Editor:

Mr. Naughton's editorial in the November 2, 1952 issue of the Orient was so excellent that I must respond. He was so right about the state of the world and the importance of education. I agree wholeheartedly with his views.

The state of the world is in a state of chaos and disorder. The world is in need of education to help it understand itself and the forces that are shaping it. Education is the key to unlocking the mysteries of the world and the forces that are shaping it.

The importance of education cannot be overstated. It is the foundation upon which a strong and prosperous society is built. It is the key to unlocking the secrets of the world and the forces that are shaping it.

I wholeheartedly agree with Mr. Naughton's views. Education is the key to unlocking the mysteries of the world and the forces that are shaping it. I urge everyone to support education and to contribute to its cause.

Those who went to the opening day party were given a preview of the activities planned for the College's Homecoming Weekend. The activities will include a parade, a football game, and a dance.

The parade will begin at 10:00 a.m. and will proceed through the town. It will feature floats, marching bands, and other entertainment. The football game will take place at 3:00 p.m. It will be a highly anticipated match between the College and its rival school.

The dance will be held on Saturday night and will feature music, dancing, and food. It will be a great opportunity for students and alumni to come together and enjoy each other's company.

We are looking forward to Homecoming Weekend and to seeing everyone there. It will be a great event to celebrate the spirit of Bowdoin College and the people who make it such a special place.

Sincerely,

On Wednesday, November 5th, the bowl broke through Exeter's rugged defense and the game was over.

Steady leads by Bob Carter and other Bear backs helped the Bowl-Mor team to a 28-6 victory.

The Bears scored early in the first quarter and led 7-0 going into the half.

In the second quarter, the Bears scored again and led 14-0 at the half.

Despite a strong effort by the Bear defense, Bowl-Mor scored again in the third quarter to take a 21-0 lead.

The Bears scored once more in the fourth quarter to complete their 28-6 win.

Bowl-Mor's defense was led by Bob Carter, who had 100 yards rushing and two touchdowns.

Bowl-Mor's quarterback, John Smith, completed 15 of 25 passes for 220 yards and three touchdowns.

The Bears' defense held Bowl-Mor to just 107 total yards.

The win improved Bowl-Mor's record to 6-2 and sets up a tough conference game against another strong team next weekend.

Bowl-Mor's next game is against the rival team on Saturday, November 15th.

It will be a tough match-up, but Bowl-Mor is confident they can come out on top.

They have been practicing hard and are ready to put in a strong performance.

The crowd is excited and ready to support the Bears as they aim for a homecoming victory.

"The soul saved from wearisome toil, lost in the presence of the Lord, in the stillness of the night." -- Ralph Waldo Emerson.

A responsible consulting organization has reported the results of a recent study by a competent medical specialist and his staff of the effects of smoking Chesterfield cigarettes.

A group of people from various walks of life was organized to smoke only Chesterfields. For six months this group of men and women smoked their normal amount of Chesterfields - 10 to 40 a day. 45% of the group had smoked Chesterfields continuously for one year from an average of 10 years each.

At the beginning and at the end of the six months period each smoker was given a thorough examination, including X-ray pictures, by the medical specialist and his assistants. The examination covered the sinususes as well as the nose, ears and throat.

The medical specialist, after a thorough examination of every member of the group, stated:

"It is my opinion that the nose, throat and accessory organs of all participating subjects examined by me were not adversely affected by the six-month period of smoking the cigarettes provided."

The victory was Bowdoin's first in the last two seasons, and the Bears' win in the last two seasons was their first in the last two seasons.

The other two Bowdoin touchdowns came on the two-yard passes from quarterback to tight end, and from quarterback to fullback, respectively.

The Bears' defense gave up only one touchdown, a fumble recovery by fullback, and held the Saints to 110 yards rushing.

The Bears' offense was led by quarterback, who completed 15 of 18 passes for 233 yards and three touchdowns.

Who Pays For Advertising?

Not the newspaper reader, because he saves both time and money by shopping the wide selection of honest values offered through the advertising columns.

Not the advertiser, because advertising always return a profit when it is used correctly and consistently.

Every line of advertising in our paper is paid for by the fellow who doesn’t advertise. The business which the non-advertiser loses pays the cost of advertising, and also returns a profit to the fellow who does advertise!

The merchant who does not advertise is the man who pays for advertising. For the value of his business he loses - in the number of customers who buy elsewhere.

Good advertising does not cost. Good advertising pays. It brings back the original investment and profit. Every store wants more business than it is getting. Hoping for more business is not as effective as advertising, more business.

Overstreet To Speak Friday For Delta Sigma Lectureship

Banquet, Reception To Fete Social Philosopher

Dr. Henry A. Overstreet, acknowledged as one of the world's leading philosophers, will speak Friday evening in the Student Center at an informal reception and banquet, which will be the opening event of the-year-long, $10,000 social philosophy campaign of the Delta Sigma Sigma sorority.

The banquet, which is to be held in honor of Dr. Overstreet, is sponsored by the Delta Sigma Sigma sorority, the largest group of college women in the school, and the immediate purpose of the banquet is to introduce Dr. Overstreet and to set him questions during an informal discussion.

Dr. Overstreet has achieved fame throughout the country as an artist, poet, social philosopher, and musicologist. He has made a new book, "The Human Mind," which has drawn much attention.

Dr. Overstreet, a graduate of the University of Chicago, was immediately successful in the field of social philosophy. He has made a book, "The Human Mind," which has shown him to be a great innovator in the field of social philosophy. He has made a new book, "The Human Mind," which has drawn much attention.

Dr. Overstreet returned to the University of Chicago after his return from California; he has made a new book, "The Human Mind," which has drawn much attention.

This year he will return to the University of Chicago to teach at the university. The University of Chicago is known for its excellence in the field of social philosophy. It is the only university in the world which has a faculty with such an excellent reputation in the field of social philosophy. It is the only university in the world which has a faculty with such an excellent reputation in the field of social philosophy.

Dr. Overstreet is expected to address the members of the Delta Sigma Sigma sorority, who have been planning the event for many weeks.

Student Council Holds Meeting For Changes In Social Regulations

The Student Council met in the office of the University of New Hampshire in order to discuss changes in social regulations. It was decided that the council would put forward a proposal to the board of trustees for the establishment of a new social organization, and that the council would also ask for the removal of the present social regulations.

In a 5-0 vote, the council voted to ask for the removal of the present social regulations. The council felt that the present regulations were no longer relevant and that a new set of regulations should be established. The council also voted to propose the establishment of a new social organization.

The council will present the proposals to the board of trustees at the next meeting of the board.

Music Club To Collaborate For "Murder In The Cathedral"

By John B. Cundiff '54

"The music for "Murder in the Cathedral," as performed by the Rockford College music faculty, was voted cash of $250 by the Rockford College music club.

The music club, which is the largest in the school, decided to give the money to the music faculty to help them with the production of "Murder in the Cathedral." The music club is one of the largest in the school and has a large following among the students.

The money will be used to help the music faculty with the production of "Murder in the Cathedral," which is scheduled for performances in the next few weeks. The music faculty is planning to produce a large, elaborate production of the play, which will include a large cast of actors and a full orchestra.

Chalmers Proposal Merits Consideration

The offer ofBowdoin College in part may be measured by the vitality of its curriculum. Since the undergraduate is the direct supplier of a curriculum's vitality, he must be allowed a part in the development and maintenance of a sound and beneficial body of course offered in his field. He must be given the opportunity to assist in the planning of a curriculum and the giving of an opportunity to know himself the responsibility that goes with the freedom of his choice. However, the curriculum's continuing vitality is no guarantee that an individual student may become a constructive participant in its development. The undergraduates were designed to give each student an unimpeded opportunity to objectively evaluate any and all courses taken in Bowdoin since his admission. The point aimed at was to increase a student's understanding of the curriculum and increase knowledge of what was and what was not underpriced by the undergraduate.

The Bowdoin course was developed from similar a course at Harvard University and Yale University. The course at Harvard was designed to allow the student an opportunity to offer constructive criticism and to correct on academic matters which affect the curriculum. The Bowdoin curriculum committee met regularly and analyzed the results of the curriculum analysis. The curricular committees of a college are naturally selected by the student council for willingness to serve in the field of education. The committee's functions included the establishment of a curriculum, the study of the curriculum, and the maintenance of a curriculum.

However, only approximately 85% of the 3500 curriculum questions were answered. The disappointing undergraduate response to the worldwide inquiry led to the establishment of a student project for the collection of curriculum data. This project was viewed as an attempt to have the students respond to the curriculum's critical questions and, if possible, to answer them. The project was also intended to provide a means of communication between the student council and the faculty. The student council was to write the curriculum questions and the faculty was to answer them. A communication committee was formed to write the curriculum questions. The communication committee was composed of faculty members, departmental heads, and departmental presidents.

Chalmers will appear before the Student Council next Monday afternoon to state his position on the matter of the curriculum. The objectives of the Student Council are to state the position on the matter of the curriculum and the administration action. The administration action is to state the position on the matter of the curriculum. The administration action is to state the position on the matter of the curriculum. Lightened Sophomore Program Desirable

The sophomore year at Bowdoin with its requirement that each student take four courses during each semester has become more difficult. For a bulk of the students, this is normally a fairly light load. Many of these students are taking courses that are not of much interest to them. In many cases, their load is increased by the ROTC requirement which further reduces their freedom.

Many students have expressed the desire to do away with this requirement and have suggested that every student should be free to choose the courses that interest him. This would not only increase the number of courses that they take, but it would also enable them to get rid of those which they do not want to take.

The proposal was voted on by the faculty and was approved by a large margin. The ROTC requirement will be abolished immediately, and every student will be free to choose the courses that he wishes to take.

Primeuf Direction, Power, Suspense, Mark Production Of Eliot’s ‘Murder’

In March, Eliot published his new play, "Murder in the Cathedral," which has been well received by the public. The play has been produced on Broadway and is now being shown in several cities across the country. The play tells the story of King Richard II, who was executed by his subjects for his tyrannical rule.

The play has been well received by the critics, who have praised it for its powerful dialogue and its realistic portrayal of the characters. The acting has been excellent, and the production values have been highly praised.

Eliot has stated that the play is a reflection of the political conditions of his own time. He has said that the play is a warning to those in power to be careful of their actions, for they may not be able to escape the consequences of their deeds.

Critics Rate Latest Bowdoin Quill "Startling And Inspired" Success

The early literary attempts of the past are not always of interest to the present generation because they are often too simple and not very profound.

The material presented in this edition of the Quill is very interesting and well-written, showing a lot of young talent and promise. The topics are not too difficult and the material is not too dry or too easy.

The Quill is a very good and well-written edition and it will be enjoyed by all students.
The BOWDOW ORIENT, WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 17, 1982

Racial Segregation Must Go On...

The examination of the social and economic consequences of racial segregation is both a scientific and a moral imperative. The problem of segregation is one of the most pressing issues of our time, and it is essential that we understand the causes and effects of segregation in order to work towards its elimination.

The scientific examination of segregation is important because it is based on empirical evidence. The results of sociological and economic studies have consistently shown that segregation has negative consequences for the well-being of individuals and communities. Segregated schools, for example, have been shown to produce lower academic achievement and higher rates of dropout than desegregated schools. Similarly, segregation in the housing market leads to lower property values and higher crime rates.

The moral imperative to eliminate segregation is even stronger. Segregation perpetuates and reinforces systems of inequality, and it violates the fundamental principles of justice and fairness. It is wrong to deny anyone the opportunity to live, work, and study in a community that is integrated and inclusive.

The examination of segregation must be guided by a commitment to the well-being of all individuals, regardless of race. We must work towards a society in which everyone has the opportunity to reach their full potential, and in which discrimination and prejudice are eradicated.

Coles Maintains Academic Freedom Involves Compliant Without Conclusions In Action, Speech

Coles On Academic Freedom...

No concern for the college campus today is more pressing than that for academic freedom. Unfortunately, this great concern for the protection of the material of liberal and freedom does not lie in the records of the college's Dean of the College, but rather in the minds of the students and faculty. This has been the case for many years, and the college has been making strides in this direction.

Coles' views on academic freedom are well established, and his views on this subject are well known. He has said that the college has a duty to protect the rights of all its members and that the college should not interfere with the freedom of speech or expression of any member of the college. He has also said that the college should not try to control the ideas of its members, but should allow them to express themselves without interference.

The college's support of academic freedom is evident in the way it handles cases of speech and expression. For example, if a member of the college expresses an idea that is unpopular, the college does not try to silence them. Instead, they are allowed to express their ideas without interference.

Coles' views on academic freedom have been supported by the college's administration. For example, the college has had a number of cases where members of the college have expressed ideas that are unpopular, and the college has allowed them to express their ideas without interference.

Coles' views on academic freedom are also supported by the college's faculty. For example, the college's faculty has supported the college's position on academic freedom, and they have allowed members of the college to express ideas that are unpopular.

Coles' views on academic freedom are also supported by the college's students. For example, the college's students have supported the college's position on academic freedom, and they have allowed members of the college to express ideas that are unpopular.

In conclusion, the college's views on academic freedom are well established, and they are supported by the college's administration, faculty, and students. The college's support of academic freedom is evident in the way it handles cases of speech and expression, and it is strong evidence that the college is committed to protecting the rights of all its members.

Bitterly Attacks House of Education

Dr. Edward U. Coles, who was part of the committee which planned the twelfth annual Coles Day, has been accused of having represented Bowdoin College's Academic Activities Committee.

Coles has been accused of using his position as a member of the committee to gain undue influence over the college's Academic Activities Committee. The committee has been accused of using its power to promote the interests of Coles and to suppress criticism of his policies.

Coles has denied the accusations, saying that he is merely trying to improve the academic activities of Bowdoin College. He has also said that he is willing to step down from the committee if the college feels that he is not a suitable member.

The college has not yet decided whether to accept Coles' resignation. However, the college has said that it will investigate the accusations and will take appropriate action if the college feels that Coles is not a suitable member of the committee.

The college's decision is expected to be made in the near future. Coles has said that he is willing to step down if the college feels that he is not a suitable member, and he has said that he is willing to cooperate with the college's investigation.
Polar Bears

Last Friday's 15-7 victory by the Fredonian basketball team over Packer will most likely be the last time any of the Fredonian players will face any of the players from Packer, as the Fredonian team was scheduled to play its last game against Ipoh this week. The game was moved up because of inclement weather earlier in the week. The Fredonian players were all on the court early, coming off of a three-game losing streak. They started out by warming up by running the court, doing some layups, and working on their passing skills. The game started off with Fredonian taking an early 7-0 lead, but Packer fought back, tying the game up at 10-10 by the end of the first quarter. The second quarter saw Fredonian extending their lead to 20-14, but Packer fought back again, cutting the lead to 27-23 at halftime. The third quarter was a seesaw battle, with Fredonian holding on to their lead, but Packer continued to push, cutting the lead to 37-33 by the end of the third quarter. The final quarter saw Fredonian pull away, winning the game 48-38. The Fredonian players were all in good spirits after the game, the players celebrating their victory and looking forward to their next game against Ipoh.

Swimmers Win Over Trinity 45-39: Season's First Victory Hard Won

A victory in the final event, the 200-yard medley relay, enabled Fredonian to claim its first season win over Trinity last Friday night at the Fredonian Aquatic Center. TheFredonian swim team has worked hard all season, but this week, everything seemed to come together, as they won their first meet of the year, a dual swim meet with Trinity. The meet took place at the Fredonian Aquatic Center, with Fredonian winning seven out of the nine events. The meet was won by Fredonian, winning seven out of the nine events. POLAR BEARINGS

The Boston Globe visited the strange world of winter sports here at Bowdoin, one day after telling the story of the ice hockey team's slide down the hill into the ocean. The story has been the talk of the town, and the players are still trying to come to terms with the experience.

The players themselves were not too impressed by the Globe's coverage. "They just printed a bunch of stuff about how we were training," said one player. "But it's not like that. We're just practicing, trying to get ready for the season." The players seemed more interested in the weather, which was still cold and snowy, and the possibility of a snow day.

The team's coach, Bob Miller, was more philosophical about the situation. "It's just a part of the game," he said. "We'll just have to get used to it."

Miller added that the team was working hard to prepare for the coming season. "We're working on our conditioning," he said. "We're trying to get in shape for the season."

The team's next game is scheduled for next week, and the players are looking forward to getting back on the ice. "We're glad to be back," said one player. "We've been waiting to get back on the ice."
Behind the Ice Curtain

We have entered the seventh century A.D., as we thought we were. Instead of the usual signal of the cannon, we heard a gentle ring of bells that our ears. Instead of the usual signal of the cannon, we heard a gentle ring of bells that our ears.

We were in a large room, which was filled with people. They were all dressed in the same manner, and were seated on benches around a large table.

The room was dark, and the only light came from a few candles placed on the table. The air was cold, and the people were shivering.

The speaker was a man, who stood up at the head of the table and began to talk. He spoke in a formal manner, and the people listened attentively.

The room was silent, and the only sound was the voice of the speaker. The people were tense, and the atmosphere was thick with anticipation.

The speaker finished his speech, and the people burst into applause. The room was filled with a sense of excitement and anticipation.

The speaker announced that the guests would be served a meal, and the people began to move around the table, preparing to eat.

The guests were served a hearty meal, and the atmosphere was convivial. The people chatted and laughed, and the atmosphere was one of joy and celebration.

The meal was finished, and the guests were served a round of drinks. The atmosphere was one of relaxation and enjoyment.

The speaker announced that the event was over, and the people began to disperse. The atmosphere was one of satisfaction and contentment.

The event was a success, and the visitors were happy to have been a part of it. The speaker was praised for his speech, and the guests were grateful for the hospitality they received.

The event was a memorable experience for all who participated. It was a night of celebration and enjoyment, and the guests went home happy and satisfied. The speaker was pleased with the outcome, and the people were grateful for the opportunity to participate.

Dr. Carl Anthon Describes Soviet Power In Germany As Sovietization

By John W. Smith

Dr. Carl Anthon, a professor of history at Bowdoin College, has described the Soviet occupation of Germany as "Sovietization.

Anthon has written extensively on the subject of Soviet occupation and has published several articles on the topic.

Change Of Theme

Dr. Anthon continued his history of the Soviet occupation of Germany, starting in 1945.

The professor has noted that the Soviet occupation of Germany has been a key factor in the development of modern Germany.

Anthon has stated that the Soviet occupation has had a profound impact on the country, and that it continues to shape the nation today.

Since that time, the Jews have been the most oppressed group in the country. It is estimated that over 6 million Jews were killed during the Holocaust, and that many others were displaced or forced to leave the country.

Along with the occupation of Germany, the Soviet Union has also been blamed for the rise of communism in the world. It is estimated that the Soviet Union was responsible for the deaths of over 100 million people during the Cold War.

The Soviet occupation of Germany has also been a source of controversy, with some scholars arguing that it was necessary for the survival of the Western democracies.

The professor has also noted that the Soviet occupation has had a significant impact on the country, and that it continues to shape the nation today.
Deficit May Increase Tuition

Despite the increase in enrollment income of $13 per cent over the last 12 years at Bowdoin, the general inflation of costs has reduced the real income from endowment per student by almost 65 per cent. Faced with this reduction in real income and by an expected deficit of perhaps over $7,250,000 during the current fiscal year, the College may be forced to raise the tuition in the near future. This is what President Cotes has said, and the figures back him up.

The endowment of Bowdoin now stands at 12½ million, an impressive figure. The financial report for the 1951-52 fiscal year showed a surplus of $12,000 for the period, another encouraging sign. But these financial reports reveal that a deficit is expected for the 1952-53 academic year, a deficit which despite careful planning and budgeting could run well over $7,500.

Within the last several weeks both Harvard and Williams have announced tuition increases for next year. Three years ago at Harvard was raised 200 dollars, while the tuition at Williams was jumpe$100 dollars.

Any increase in tuition has its problems. Those on scholarships must receive increased financial aid to equal the increase in tuition. Many students now just able to get through Bowdoin without scholarship will be less able to do this on their own.

That an increase in tuition has to be matched by an increase in scholarship funds has been mentioned several times by President Cotes. Pointing out the difficulties of a tuition increase, the President told the Brunswick Rotary Club in a recent speech: "We might easily find ourselves limiting our student body to a group of wealthy families."

The Bowdoin student body can be sure that any proposed increase in tuition will be studied from every possible angle and that the increase found to be necessary, adequate scholarship aid will be made available for as many as possible.

POLAR BEAR TANKSMEN SINK WESLEYAN, BOSTON UNIVERSITY

Bowdoin College ended its victorious Bowl Season with a 38-6 rout of Wesleyan University Saturday afternoon at the Nelson Bowl. The 8-3-1 Bears led 31-6 at the half and never looked back. Wesleyan, with a 2-6-1 record, scored its first points in the final 35 minutes.

The win was Bowdoin's second in its last three games and lifted it to a tie for fifth in the seven-team Liberty League. Bowdoin finished 8-3-1 overall, while Wesleyan was 2-6-1. It was the Bears' fourth victory in their last five games.

The Bears, who had not played since Nov. 14, were coming off a bye week and were looking for a win to close out their season.

The Bears scored the first 27 points of the game and led 31-6 at the half.

Bowdoin got four first downs on its opening drive and marched 50 yards to the Wesleyan 1.

Wesleyan Contacts Seen Lost

When Bowdoin meets Wesleyan in football next fall it will apparently mean the end, for the time being at least, of athletic cooperation between the two republic's basketball and swimming teams have already met Wesleyan for the last time, and recently Harvard replaced that college on Bowdoin's football schedule this spring.

Wesleyan, whose geographical location places it within moderate miles of almost countless colleges and clubs, is able to make its schedule up of institutes near at hand and far enough away, but Bowdoin from its schedule.

The disappearance of Wesleyan from Bowdoin's athletic schedule does not mean that we play Trinity instead of Wesleyan in football in 1974 or that the Connecticut next winter or this year will play Harvard in football this spring. Last, in addition to many contacts picked up in which cooperation is included, in the last fall, so many Bowdoin students made the weekend trip to Middlesex for the Wesleyan game, and on the odd numbered years, a number of Wesleyan students saw the two teams in Bowdoin's national contests. Wesleyan is not considered the only college or choice, but Bowdoin's club at Hopkins college has aided in making this choice possible.

Bowdoin has much in common with Wesleyan. As a college, we like to compete ourselves with the little Three of which Wesleyan is a member. The administrative officers of the two colleges have realized that this is possible. The president, Dr. A. E. H. Hurst, and representatives from the faculties of Bowdoin, Wesleyan, Amherst, Dartmouth, and Williams meet each year in what is known as the Presidents' Conference.

Relations between the two institutions, Bowdoin and Wesleyan will, of course, continue in an administrative level, but the social and athletic contacts between the two will be lost, and probably the contacts between the students of the two colleges will be seen but at a distance.

Poly Forum Revival Hoped For

In a period of inactivity for nearly two years, the Bowdoin Forum will soon be active. The Forum was first established in 1913, and for a few years was the college's forum. It is hoped that the Forum will revive after two years of dormancy, and that it will continue in an active and prestige form.

The Forum is the student's vehicle for expressing his views on current events.

Polar Bears

By Robert M. Blunt '34, OCEANA Sport Editor

The OCEANA varsity basketball team, which has been playing well this year, is really it could be rated one of the better teams in the league. Greatest handicap to this team is the fact that it consists of only four men with experience. But with the talent we have on the floor, we could probably rate ourselves as a medium-large basketball team in the league.

Two men have continued to remain on the floor through all this time. We can probably look forward to this type of basketball for some time to come.

Coach C. E. J. Blake, who has been coaching the team, has played one of the best games of the season against Bates and Tufts. Both games were won by Bates, but in both games the Bears had better chances. In the Bates game, we could have had a tie if we had been more consistent. In the Tufts game, we could have had a tie if we had played better defense.

The Bears have been playing well this year, and have shown great improvement from last year. However, we have to remember that we have only played two games and have not had a chance to play against the better teams in the league.

Gordon Chosen Alpha Kilo's New President; Other Officers Named

Professor E. Gordon St. John, former Student Council Representative for Alpha Chi Omega, has been named Alpha Kilo's new president for this year. Other officers who were chosen are: Mrs. George C. Emerick, treasurer; Herbert R. F. Munn, secretary; and Gladys E. H. Keen, steward.

Curriculum Committee Installs Typing Course

A typing course will begin next month under the direction of Mrs. George C. Emerick. A number of students already have registered for this course.

Prof. Munn Includes Australia, Egypt On World Tour

Though still on leave of absenee, Professor Norman L. Munn has returned to his home in Baltimore, where he will remain until the end of the month. During his absence, Professor Munn will visit various countries in Europe, Africa, and Asia, including Australia, Egypt, and India. His tour will take him to some of the world's most remarkable and fascinating places.

Home Again in Adelaide

Adelaide, Australia, is a city of 200,000 population, and was host for the Muns on their tour. During their stay, the Muns visited several universities and explored the city's cultural and recreational offerings. They also tried some of the local food, which proved to be quite excellent.

Before departing, Professor Munn received a warm farewell from the people of Adelaide. They expressed their gratitude for his visit and wished him a safe journey on his return home.

Behind The Icy Curtain

GENEVA--This is the time of year when the cold winds of winter begin to sweep across the land, bringing with them snow and ice. In the cities, people bundle up in warm clothing, and in the countryside, farmers prepare their fields for the winter months ahead.

From a distance, the city of Geneva seems alive with activity. The lights of the shops and restaurants twinkle in the darkness, and the sound of music can be heard throughout the streets.

Yet, in the midst of this lively scene, there is a feeling of strange isolation. The people who live here seem to exist in a world of their own, separate from the rest of the world. It is as if they are living in a time capsule, frozen in a moment of history.

The streets are filled with people, but they move in a slow, deliberate pace. The shops are open, but there is a sense of hushed anticipation in the air. The restaurants are filled with diners, but there is a feeling of quiet reflection.

It is a curious, almost surreal world, where the past and the present coexist in a delicate balance. And as the winter months pass, the people of Geneva continue to live their lives, undisturbed by the changes that are taking place around them.

Despite the cold, the people of Geneva remain steadfast in their beliefs. They work hard and they play hard, and they do it with a sense of purpose and determination. And as the winter months pass, they continue to strive, to grow, and to thrive.

It is a world of contrasts, where the past and the present coexist in a delicate balance. And as the winter months pass, the people of Geneva continue to live their lives, undisturbed by the changes that are taking place around them.

Despite the cold, the people of Geneva remain steadfast in their beliefs. They work hard and they play hard, and they do it with a sense of purpose and determination. And as the winter months pass, they continue to strive, to grow, and to thrive.

1953 Religious Forum Seen Successful; Interest Lively

By Russell E. Pessall '34

For two hours Monday, April 12, each of Bowdoin's theological societies and the Muslim Union Monday and Tuesday evening, the campus was filled with interest and activity by the Bowdoin Christian Association.

This interest was due largely to a pre-choice at the Edmunds-Ogilvie Chapel Monday evening by the Reverend L. Ray Taylor of the Episcopal Theological School of Cambridge, Massachusetts.

Taylor discussed his experiences with the various religious groups in all parts of the United States, making the presentation so interesting that it was hard to believe he was only discussing his experiences and not the presentation itself.

The other societies that had speakers were: Dr. W. T. Graham and Mr. LeRoy C. Linn of the American Baptist Student Union, Mr. T. L. White of the Southern Baptist Convention, and Mr. T. B. W. Parker of the United Presbyterian Church.

Sunday School teachers met at the College of the Holy Cross, in Worcester, for a discussion on the Layman's Church and the New World Order in their religion and commitment of faith. A follow-up course will be held there next June for those who are interested.

The combined glee club concert with Wellesley University was held in Memorial Hall on Thursday evening, April 15, with a reception following.

A large number of students from both Bowdoin and Wellesley were present, and both faculties and students were pleased with the concert. The students from both colleges were seated in the auditorium and the faculty members were seated in the stalls, as is the custom at the glee club concerts.

Dr. LeRoy C. Linn, of the American Baptist Student Union, and Mr. T. L. White of the Southern Baptist Convention, were present at the concert, and Dr. W. T. Graham and Mr. T. B. W. Parker were present at the reception.

The concert was a great success, and both the students and faculty members were pleased with the results.

There are some topics of discussion which always arouse some controversy; there are political topics, and religious ones, but when members of a university community are engaged in a serious discussion then a certain amount of agreement and some point of agreement is assumed.

Polar Bear Quintet Registers First State Series Victory Over Maine 64-51

by James S. Carter 36

Unsuccessful in establishing an automatic start to gain a victory at Maine since 1937, Bowdoin finally managed to come out on top in the showdown meeting on Saturday afternoon, March 2, at the Colisee in Brunswick. The Bears defeated the Black Bears of Maine 64-51, tying the State Series at 1-1.

The victory was a welcome one for the Bears, who have been struggling all season. Maine was the only team that had defeated Bowdoin this season, and the Bears were determined to make up for their previous loss.

The game was a close one for most of the first half, with both teams scoring evenly. Bowdoin took the lead early in the second half, however, and never looked back. The Bears were able to maintain their lead throughout the game, and the final score was 64-51 in favor of Bowdoin.

When Grover talks to his dreamboat — something clicks

A call from Dreamboat always clicks with Grover. And an Antonovich-Koch automatic time- counting machine has been clicking too — down in the telephone office, usually punching impressions on a tape roll.

You may be interested in what this ingenious recorder does. Yes, it can be readily seen from what telephone number you called, how long you talked, and record this information in such a way that not only can it build a caller's phone record, but it can automatically produce a monthly bill.

The development of this new automatic accounting machine is the result of team work by Bell Telephone Laboratories, Western Electric and the manufacturer of the machine.

Telephone people working on this and other interesting and important projects were in college just a short time ago. Perhaps you'd like to join them.

Muddy Paths Costly To Maintain

A recent survey of the campus has revealed that many of the walks, which are considered to be "muddy paths," are actually more costly to maintain than was previously thought. The survey, which was conducted by the Department of Amenities, found that the current maintenance schedule for these paths is not adequate, and that it is time to review the entire system of walking trails.

The survey revealed that the current maintenance schedule is not only insufficient, but also inefficient. The current schedule involves only occasional cleaning of the paths, which is not enough to prevent the accumulation of mud and debris. As a result, the paths become increasingly difficult to walk on, and the cost of maintaining them increases significantly.

The Department of Amenities is currently reviewing the survey results and is considering several options for improving the maintenance schedule. These options include increasing the frequency of cleaning, using different materials for the paths, and possibly even redesigning the layout of the campus to reduce the number of muddy paths.

The survey also revealed that the current schedule is not only costly, but also time-consuming. The current schedule involves several hours of work each week to keep the paths in good condition. This is a significant amount of time, and it is time for a change.

The Department of Amenities is currently working on a plan to improve the maintenance schedule and to reduce the cost of maintaining the muddy paths. They are also considering the possibility of involving students in the maintenance process, as this would not only save money, but also provide valuable hands-on experience for those interested in the field of landscape management.

The survey results are expected to be finalized by the end of the month, and the Department of Amenities will begin implementing the new schedule as soon as possible. In the meantime, the Department asks for the patience and cooperation of all those who use the muddy paths.

Student Initiative Needed To Help Attract Top Calibre Sub-Freshmen

The College of the Holy Cross is currently seeking a new group of students for its incoming class. The College has traditionally attracted students from a variety of backgrounds and academic experiences, but it is now looking to increase its diversity and to attract a more varied group of students.

The College is currently accepting applications from students who are interested in pursuing a degree at the College, and it is encouraging all interested students to apply. The College is particularly interested in students who are from underrepresented groups, and it is offering a variety of scholarships and financial aid to help make its programs more accessible.

The College is also seeking to increase its visibility and to attract more students from outside of the region. It is currently working to build partnerships with other institutions and to increase its presence in various communities.

The College is also currently working on a variety of initiatives to improve the student experience, including the development of new courses and the expansion of its facilities. It is also working to increase its visibility in the community and to attract more students from a variety of backgrounds.

Curriculum Change Proposal

According to a recent poll taken by the Student Curriculum Committee, there is a definite preference from the members of the sophomore class in the ROTC against the heavy academic burden, which is forced on us all, particularly when the requirements of the sophomore and junior years are completed. The second year enrollment in ROTC must take six credit courses in addition to the military science courses. Averaging the time spent on the drill in the Fall and Spring, this amounts to six courses. The juniors, however, who continue in the military activity, receive credit for drill, but, by all odds, they have the major work, they have completed the minimum requirements, and should there be any need for drill, it should be included as one of the courses other than the major work. This plan would be more acceptable to both the army and the students.

COMMENTS AND QUESTIONS

1. What do you think of the current ROTC program at the college?
2. Would you support a change in the curriculum to reduce the academic burden for juniors and seniors?
3. How would you like to see the ROTC program changed to better fit the needs of the students?

With the annual sale of winter sports finally at an end, except for the New England championship, the bar is now nearly back to its usual level. The baseball team, despite a couple hits, is not in the same championship state, as the season is a few weeks behind and the Bowdoin of July is ready for action.

This year, the Senior class was taken on a eight-year tour to the States, and over the 16 teams, it is the usual issue.

The tour was a great success, and the team will be back in action next season. The New England championship was also played, and the team took the prize in the Maine

League. The team is looking forward to a great season in the Fall.

Theodore D. Sizer

Directors, colleagues, and friends of Theodore D. Sizer, Director of the National Education Association, were gathered at the AAAS meeting in Washington, D.C., last week to honor him as the recipient of the Association's highest award, the Frederick J. Taubes Award. The award, given in recognition of his contributions to the field of education, was presented to him by AAAS President James E. Grady.

Sizer is a leading figure in the field of education reform and has been recognized for his work in promoting innovative teaching methods and policies. He has been a strong advocate for educational equity and has played a key role in shaping the national discourse on education policy.

The award was presented in a ceremony at the AAAS meeting, where Sizer delivered a keynote address on the future of education. In his speech, Sizer emphasized the importance of creating a more inclusive and equitable educational system, and called for a renewed commitment to the principles of social justice.

Sizer's contributions to education have been widely recognized and have earned him numerous awards. He has served as the president of the National Education Association and has been a member of the National Commission on Achieving Preparing for the 21st Century, among other organizations.

The Frederick J. Taubes Award is given annually to an individual who has made significant contributions to the field of education. Previous recipients include former Secretary of Education8 La France Peuris, and former Supreme Court Justice Thurgood Marshall.

Kendrick Wants More Discussion On Question of Delaying Initiations

Suggests Blazing Deed of Merit
For List of Proctors

President Kendrick said that it would be right to have a further discussion of the question of delay in initiating the fraternity.

The fraternity was established in 1925, and the question of delay in initiating has been a topic of discussion for several years.

The fraternity has been successful in its efforts to attract new members, and President Kendrick believes that a further discussion of the question of delay would be beneficial.

dated November 2015

Kendrick cited the exemplo of the University of Wisconsin, which has a similar fraternity, and said that the delay in initiating there has been successful.

dated November 2015

Kendrick said that the fraternity has a strong tradition of excellence and that it is important to maintain that tradition.

dated November 2015

Kendrick ended his talk by reminding the fraternity of its responsibilities and by urging them to continue their efforts to attract new members.

dated November 2015

Kendrick then addressed the question of delay in initiating and said that he believes that it is important to maintain the tradition of excellence.

dated November 2015

Kendrick concluded his talk by saying that he believes that the fraternity is ready to take on the challenge of delay in initiating and that he looks forward to watching the fraternity succeed.

1953 Tennis Situation

The 1953 Family Tennis matches have

By Robert M. Head, '44, "SPORTS "SPEAK""

Remember him? That's right--Robert M. Head, author of "SPORTS "SPEAK."

The 1953 Family Tennis matches have come to a close, and with them another chapter in the annals of the College's athletic achievement. This year's matches were marked by a high level of play and a degree of competitiveness that was truly令人惊讶。From the opening match of the season to the final showdown, the players displayed a level of skill and devotion to the game that was truly令人惊讶。The matches were held on the College's own courts, with the Head Tennis Center providing the perfect setting for the event.

The matches began on April 1 and continued through May 1. During this period, the matches were held on various days of the week, with each match lasting for two hours. The matches were divided into two sets of games, with each set consisting of three games.

The matches were held on the College's own courts, with the Head Tennis Center providing the perfect setting for the event. The matches were divided into two sets of games, with each set consisting of three games. The matches were closely fought, with each side fighting hard for victory. In the end, however, one team emerged victorious, and the other was left to rue their fate.

Overall, the matches were a great success, with both teams showing their best efforts on the court. The matches were a testament to the dedication and hard work of the students, and a reminder of the importance of teamwork and perseverance. The matches were a fitting end to the season, and a fitting tribute to the spirit of tennis.
