THE BOWDOIN ORIENT

The Bowdoin College Library

In 1929, the Bowdoin College Library moved to its present location, which had been previously occupied by the chemistry department. The new library was designed by architects Charles Platt and Edward A. Park, and it was constructed using the materials and techniques of the American craftsman movement. The library's design was influenced by the work of Ralph Adams Cram, who had designed some of the most important academic libraries in the United States, including the Library of Congress in Washington, D.C. The Bowdoin College Library is a rectangular building with a central rotunda, and it features a combination of modern and classical architectural elements. The library's interior includes a large reading room, an exhibition area, and a number of study carrels. The library's collection includes more than 1 million volumes, as well as a significant number of special collections and rare books. The library is open to the public and is a popular destination for both students and scholars. The Bowdoin College Library is located at 318 College St., Brunswick, Maine. For more information, please visit the library's website at bowdoin.edu/library.
Luckyies are always in all-ways kind to your throat.

Luckyies are always in all-ways kind to your throat. They taste better. It’s toasted - for throat protection. And every Lucky is made as round as round, as firm, as fully-packed - no loose ends. There’s why Luckyies “keep in condition” - do not have that objectionable tendency to dry out, or important point in every smoker. Luckyies are always in all-ways kind to your throat.

Only the center leaves are the mildest leaves, and they taste better.
Third And Field Positions
Undecided For Bates Game

"This year's team is as un predictable and strong, and thus as hard to decide for, next season," stated Coach Lois Walker. "One thing is very clear: we have to win in order to make the playoffs.

Increased speed conditions and the return of 1934 season have had their influence favorable to us. The team is organized and will be ready to face any opponent.

The key to our success will be the play of our center. He will have to lead the team in all phases of the game.

The offense will be based on teamwork and speed. The defense will be held to a minimum by the speed of the team.

The coaching staff is fully convinced that the men are capable of achieving their goals.

Conservatism is the key word in the success of the team. We will not take risks unless absolutely necessary.

The future is bright for our team. We are looking forward to another successful season.

THOMAS DISCUSS MODERN SOCIALISM

(Modern socialists claim that modern socialism is not a dynasty or a brotherhood. It is a movement of workers for the betterment of society.

They believe that through cooperation, every man can achieve his potential and live in harmony.

The goal of modern socialism is to create a society where everyone has a fair share of the benefits of the economy.

Votes and Injuries

Injuries have been an issue for the team this season. However, the players have been able to stay healthy and contribute to their team's success.

The team is looking forward to a healthy and productive season.

MEAGER FIGHT STARTS TROUBLE

The fight started off slow, never really getting out of first gear. The players were not at their best, and the attitude was cautious.

However, as the game progressed, the players showed more spirit and energy, but it was not efficient.

In the end, the team was unable to overcome the challenges faced in the fight, but they learned from the experience.

BOWDOWIN GOLFSTERS
COMMENCE PRACTICE

The golf team started their season with a practice session. The players were ready and excited to begin their season.

The weather was perfect, and the course was in excellent condition.

The team worked hard and showed great promise for the season.

Ten Undergrads Form Rifle Club

A group of ten undergrads

The Sun "Rises"

In a convincing article in the Bowdoin Orient last week, the editor of "The Sun, "Fog," drenches the heads of those who dare to oppose the new athletic rules with a deluge of pertinent facts. Its arguments are so powerful and its conclusion so logical that the editors of other college publications would do well to follow its lead. "Fog," however, is a bit rough in some of its expressions, and will doubtless meet with some opposition from the friends of our old adversaries, the "Laxatives" and "The Pneumonia." But we hope that "Fog," with its aim of "Superseding" the "Laxatives," will continue to submit its arguments in a more dignified manner. We are confident that it will soon be heard with more respect by the authorities of the university, and when the "Laxatives" are defeated, "Fog" will have a finest day. In the meantime, let us all join in the efforts of "Fog" to establish a better order on campus.

Bowdoin Issues Challenge Meeting Bates' Withdrawal

Replying to the administration's threat of withdrawal, the Bates administration has issued a challenge toBowdoin to meet its football team this fall. The administration of the two schools has been in negotiations for several weeks, and it is hoped that a meeting will be arranged soon. The challenge is a fair one, and we urge our students to support the administration in this endeavor. A meeting of the two teams will be a most interesting event, and we are confident that it will be a fair and friendly contest. We hope that the students of both schools will come out in force to support their respective teams.

Recent Issue of Quill Favorably

The Quill, T the Bowdoin publication, has been brought to the attention of the public by the recent release of its latest issue. The publication is known for its high quality and unique content, which has made it a valuable resource for students and faculty alike.

The current issue includes a range of articles, from literary pieces to scientific reports, reflecting the diversity of interests at Bowdoin College. The editorial team has done an excellent job of curating a selection that is both engaging and informative.

The Quill's strength lies in its ability to present complex ideas in an accessible manner, making it an excellent read for both students and faculty. The publication's commitment to quality and originality is evident in every page, ensuring that it remains a valuable resource for those interested in the Bowdoin community.

We recommend the current issue of the Quill to anyone looking for a thought-provoking read that celebrates the academic and cultural richness of Bowdoin College.

GEORGE PALMERS WORK; GIVING COLBY 11 TO 10 TRIUMPH

Errors Aided Outfit Welsh Effort of Bowdoin's Hand

Hitting Home Run

Coming from behind to three brilli- nant runs was not quite enough to offset ns easily scored three runs in the second inning, and the Bowdoin, Polar Bears finally scored 11 to 10. After a hard-fought battle, the champion, Championship, returned a score of 11 to 9 in the second inning. The first two batters on the second deck were out, and the third batter, the batter, was out. Thus began a strong-batted battle which continued throughout the game.

Dowell pitched the full eleven innings, but due to the late hour allowed only six walks an s. In the final count, the Bears beat the Gannett, 11 to 9.

The result for the Bears was not a surprise, and the game was played in a true spirit of fair play. The Bear's victory was a splendid effort, and the Bears should be congratulated on their fine showing.

THE Aims of the College

It is not an uncommon occurrence that undergraduates, about to receive the coveted shaft, think for which they have worked four years, and reflect, often with a sense of satisfaction, the realization of the good that the College has done them. They know that they have learned very little about a great many things; that there is nothing they can count on for the future. This is a natural reaction, and it is expected that students who are about to graduate will feel this way. However, it is important to note that this is the last day of the academic year, and that all students who have completed their studies are free to leave.

The nature of the College is such that it is difficult to describe in a few words. It is a place where students are encouraged to think independently and to develop their own ideas. It is a place where they can pursue their own interests and passions. It is a place where they can learn and grow.

The College is committed to providing a high-quality education that prepares students for success in a variety of fields. It is dedicated to fostering an environment that is conducive to learning and personal growth. It is committed to promoting diversity and inclusion in all aspects of the College's operations.

The College values the contributions of all students and recognizes the unique viewpoints and experiences that each individual brings to the College. It is committed to providing a safe and supportive environment for students to learn and grow.

The College is a member of the Association of American Colleges and Universities (AACU), which is a network of institutions committed to excellence in higher education. It is a member of the New England Collegiate Conference (NECC), which is a group of institutions that are committed to promoting excellence in college athletics.

The College is proud of its tradition of excellence and is committed to maintaining a high level of academic and athletic success. It is dedicated to providing a quality education that prepares students for success in a variety of fields.

Watch out for the signs of jangled nerves

You've noticed other people's nervous habits—and wondered why they make no attempt to control themselves. But whether you choose to think that you, too, may have jangled nerves, or just in order to save yourself from people who are as nervous as you, here are some signs to look out for:

Nervous Tics

- Tapping of fingers
- Clenching of fists
- Sweating of palms

Anxiety Behavior

- Constantly fidgeting
- Avoiding eye contact
- Avoiding physical contact

Physical Signs

- Rapid heartbeat
- Sweaty palms
- Trembling hands

Speech Patterns

- Stammering
- Jumbling words
- Speaking too fast or too slow

For those who are jangled nerves, try to relax and take a deep breath. If you feel nervous, try to think of something calming. It can help to practice deep breathing exercises, mindfulness, or meditation. Taking a break or changing your environment can also be helpful.

NIBLOC TO HEAD B.C. NEXT YEAR

At their last meeting, the Niblock Christian Association of the class of '39, elected J. G. Niblock to head the group for the coming year. Niblock, a junior, submitted a plan for the organization of a Bible study group to meet on Sundays at 8:15 p.m. in the college library. The group would consist of anyone interested in studying the Bible and would meet periodically to discuss various aspects of the faith. The plan was approved unanimously by the group.

Library And D U House Feature In Forming Bowdoin Nudist Colony

According to the announcements, the Bovidesque nudists were planning to start their colony in the near future. The group was seeking members who were interested in exploring the nudist lifestyle and would like to form a community that would provide a safe and supportive environment for nudists of all ages and backgrounds. Meetings were scheduled for every Monday and Friday at 7:00 p.m. in the college library. Anyone interested in learning more about the colony or in becoming a member was invited to attend.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

To Limit or to Extend?

While the Faculty of today debates seriously the question of changing the curriculum, so that the student "may obtain a broader scope during the tremendous four years that he spends in College," the undergraduate passes a moment to listen to the argument, then begins to wonder whether he really wishes to subject a bit in extra courses and optional fields. If he seeks to delve deeply into his chosen subjects, he is quite content with the standard course that he must now pursue, but if he looks about him and discovers the many topics which his college curriculum does not only seem to hint, but appears to neglect flagrantly, he inevitably believes that the addition of certain other courses should be approved.

The question of correlation has harassed the manufacturers of the curriculum ever since that institution was established. In attempting to give the student knowledge, they lie between two fires: they may spread his scope of learning thinly over so much territory that by the beginning of his fourth year he will have practically nothing about almost everything. On the other hand, they may pile course upon course in a single subject, so that, although the student can truthfully say he knows that subject from the ground up, he is entirely without background which would almost amount to a foundation, of extra, correlated ideas.

Specialism, it seems, is an invidious device. When the student specializes, he must be thorough in his specialization; he must, in some sense, be a "specialist." The logical result of specialization, he is told, is that the student is given "a clear-cut and distinct view of the world," is made "an expert on a certain subject." This, if the student wishes to have a clear-cut view of the world, is an excellent idea. Unfortunately, knowledge of the world, though it is a blessing, is not the only thing that a student needs, for he must also be a "world traveler." It is not that the student has not been "soon enough" to be a "generalist," but it is simply that his education has not been broad enough to give him a "clear-cut" view of the world.

SCHROEDER SPEAKS ON RELIGION

"At a time when men are afraid to speak for thought," the Reverend Schroeder addressed students of the college last night in a talk on the "spirits and methods of the German church." That the spirits of the German people are not "philosophic," is evidenced. And that they are not "philosophic," is evidenced. And that they are not "philosophic," is evidenced. And that they are not "philosophic,” is evidenced.

It is the irreplaceability of our religious institutions, he continued, that is the true spirit of the German people. They are not "philosophic," he continued, that is the true spirit of the German people. They are not "philosophic," he continued, that is the true spirit of the German people. They are not "philosophic," he continued, that is the true spirit of the German people. They are not "philosophic," he continued, that is the true spirit of the German people. They are not "philosophic," he continued, that is the true spirit of the German people.

The best way, he said, was to make the world know the true spirit of the German people. He continued, that the true spirit of the German people was "philosophic," he continued, that the true spirit of the German people was "philosophic," he continued, that the true spirit of the German people was "philosophic," he continued, that the true spirit of the German people was "philosophic," he continued, that the true spirit of the German people was "philosophic," he continued, that the true spirit of the German people was "philosophic," he continued, that the true spirit of the German people was "philosophic," he continued, that the true spirit of the German people was "philosophic," he continued, that the true spirit of the German people was "philosophic," he continued, that the true spirit of the German people was "philosophic," he continued, that the true spirit of the German people was "philosophic," he continued, that the true spirit of the German people was "philosophic."

1934 NETMEN TURN IN BEST TRIP RECORD IN MANY YEARS

Netmen Nosed Out Jumbo and Middlebury; Secure State Series

For the first time in recent years, the netmen, riding on the heels of their annual eastern trip with considerable creditability toward the national-club competition, rode to victory in the State Series by defeating the Middlebury and Tufts. The netmen defeated Middlebury and Tufts. Two matches were played against Middlebury and Tufts, and the netmen won both.

The netmen began their tour by defeating Middlebury 5-0 on Saturday. The tournament at Middlebury was not without its moments of excitement. The netmen were leading 4-0 but were unable to hold on to their lead. However, they managed to hold off Middlebury in the last match to secure the victory.

The netmen then traveled to Tufts on Sunday and defeated them 4-1. This was another close match, with the netmen leading 3-0 but then Tufts managed to score one point to make it 3-1. However, the netmen closed out the match with a strong performance to secure the victory.

The netmen's impressive showing in the State Series was a testament to their hard work and dedication. This victory is a significant achievement for the netmen and a credit to their team spirit and teamwork.

Bowdoin To Claim State Track Title

A victory by the trackmen in the State Track Meet would be another significant achievement for the netmen. Their performance in the State Series has set a high standard for their upcoming match. The netmen are confident in their ability to perform well and are looking forward to another successful match.

As the number of men who plan to seek higher learning is declined each year, the value of the American college is continually being weighed. Yet in spite of its actual worth as a pursueur of education. Although this situation is anything but a happy one for the small institution with liberal teachings, it is important, in the first place, that a higher must be faced if the College wishes to continue to attract as a high grade of incoming students as it has in the past. An important solution to this problem if it exists, is to be found in the establishment of an independent publicity bureau, to handle the news emanating from the administration, and to keep pace with efficient news bureau service from larger institutions.

At the present time, Bowdoin runs fur behind colleges of equal status in columns of news in metropolitan journals. Journalists seem to be rather likely to regard this as a noncommittal, "What of it?" if the background is not known.

Men who seek to found a reputable New England college in which to pursue their education are often influenced by the relative prominence of the several institutions in the newspapers. If Bowdoin becomes thus or not an unknown quantity to them, vaguely heard of during Institutes and Commencement exercises, they are not favorably impressed by its activities. They may have a vague feeling that it is situated among woods somewhere in the woods of Maine, but other than that know little about it. They will, no doubt, turn to a college which is prominent in the news each day.
Such prominence is brought about only by an active, alert publicity bureau.

During the month of March, 1934, Bowdoin received in the total leading Boston papers, exclusive of sports stories, exactly 51% as much coverage as Amherst, 51% as much as Williams, and 33% as much as Wesleyan. During April, when considerable attention was paid to the Red Sox episode, Bowdoin failed to have even 50% as much as Maine News and Thirty Three. Too much news of can be placed solely on the fact that the limited activities of the Alumni News through to faculty of its own, cannot provide adequate coverage. Similar figures are obtainable for any other college.

Such a feeble sense of news value is not calculated to attract prospectives to the Bowdoin campus.

It is not, however, entirely for the sake of future students of the College that this output urges the establishment of a publicity bureau. A majority of those who receive news from the College when it is not mentioned in the metropolitan papers, other than those in a few special articles, attacked as "filter" at the bottom of an inside page. The constant strivings of the administration to make the alumni "Bowdoin-conscious" are defeated at the outset if the graduate never reads of his college's activities. The Orient, in the present circulation quota, does not even reach a majority of the living alumni: The Association, at best a stop-gap, has a circulation that is microscopic.

An active and alert publicity bureau could accomplish other ends. It should be able to revive the flagging interest of the State of Maine, and it should be able to stimulate the interest of any community that promises to be come acute. However much the athletic policy seeks to meet outside rivals, Bowdoin is a Maine college, and a good portion of its student body is in the State. It holds the tendency of a good school from away from the hidebound intra-state line cannot be permitted to go far too. As a man who played 10 miles said recently, "Bowdoin is in danger of losing two firsts; the first-rate athlete in the State can no longer go to Bates and College. The first-rate athletes in Massachusetts will attend the Little Three and Harvard.
Bowdoin will get the second-raters from the region."

This is an instance of a reputable body as a whole as it is, a portion of it. Unless the College takes definite steps, this danger is imminent. Without a separately managed publicity bureau, Bowdoin cannot keep step with the saying "You are as good as your scores," for they must seek out the better class of students as widely as do the other small New England Colleges. It cannot afford to be outsized.

BOWDOIN 25 YEARS AGO

Two decades ago, a class that was formed to commemorate the 25th anniversary of the founding of Bowdoin College in 1810, on April 26, 1810, was organized. This class was composed of alumni who had graduated from Bowdoin College before 1810. The class met in a spirit of unity and camaraderie, and enjoyed a number of social and educational activities. This class also played a significant role in the development of Bowdoin College, and helped to shape its future.

Gym Dance to climax Three Day Activity; Dorsey Bros. to Play

Two hundred and fifty guests, including eleven bands, were present at the twenty-third annual Ivy Party of the University of Chicago, held at the Fieldhouse in the evening. The Ivy party, which is one of the most popular events of the year, was attended by a large number of students from other universities, as well as by many members of the University faculty and administration. The event consisted of a variety of activities, including dancing, music, and games, and was a great success.

The evening began with a parade, consisting of the eleven bands, which marched through the Fieldhouse, accompanied by a large crowd of students. The parade was followed by a dance, which continued until the early morning hours.

The next day, Friday, a gym dance was held, featuring performances by the Dorsey Brothers and other acts. The event was a great success, and the University community turned out in large numbers to enjoy the music and company of their fellow students.

Throughout the weekend, the University community continued to celebrate the Ivy Party, with a variety of events and activities. The Ivy Party is an important event in the University community, and is a symbol of the University's commitment to tradition and community. The University looks forward to hosting the next Ivy Party, which is expected to be even more successful than this year's event.

To the Editors

Whatever THE ORIENT might say concerning the late lamented State track meet was very adequately said by the editorial columns of the Colby Echo in its issue of May 14. Its attitude was such that the editorial space was almost completely filled with praise of the Maine tracksters and their opponents. The Colby Echo was a fair representative of the last year's peaks and valleys of track, and its columns were equal to the height of the task imposed upon them.

The story of the meet is told in detail in the Echo, and the editors are to be congratulated on the way in which they have handled the whole matter. They have been fair-minded in their treatment of the Maine tracksters, and their columns are a credit to themselves and to the track meets in general.

THE NEW DENTISTRY

A new technology has emerged in the field of dental care. The new technology is called "dental implants." Dental implants are small metal posts that are inserted into the jawbone to replace missing teeth. These implants are then covered with a special material called "crown." The crown is made of ceramic or metal and is shaped to look like a natural tooth. The procedure is done under local anesthesia, and patients return to normal activities within a few days.

The technology is still in its early stages, but preliminary studies have shown promising results. Patients report that dental implants feel and function like their natural teeth. In addition, dental implants have been shown to improve facial aesthetics and oral health.

HARTMAN OBTAINS SCHOLAR'S AWARD

Professor Herbert Hartman of the Bowdoin chemistry department has, through the efforts of the American Council of Education, been placed among the students of the world known as class "ten-year" scholars. This special honor was given to Professor Hartman by the American Council of Education on the basis of a paper read by him at the annual meeting of the council in New York City in January. The paper was entitled "The Biology of the Photosynthesis of the Leaf." It was read before the American Chemical Society and the American Society for Microbiology.

Richard R. Given At Commencement

PRES. SILLS GIVEN HONORARY LL.D.

Following the award of the honorary degree by President Sills at the commencement exercises, President Sills delivered the speech, 'The American University at the Present, and the Future.'

Kenneth Charles Sills, Jr., for fifteen years called to accept a great President, in a day of questioning, when uncertain futures are clouded by the haze of uncertainty, when the past is a matter of history and the future a matter of speculation, our country needs

the candidate for President who can give us assurance of leadership and moral guidance. The candidate for President must be able to lead the American people in the right directions, to the right ends. The candidate for President must be able to inspire confidence and patriotism in the American people. The candidate for President must be able to give us hope for the future, to give us confidence in our ability to solve the problems that confront us.

In the case of President Sills,

the American people have been given assurance of leadership and moral guidance. President Sills has been a great President, and the American people have been given hope for the future, and confidence in our ability to solve the problems that confront us.

JONES’ MUSIC HEARD AT PROM

Orchestra Well Received by Large Throng of Seniors and Alumni

During the final of Java acres and its historically important broadcasting and recording conferences, two hundred complete programs were broadcast over the nation’s stations. The orchestra was conducted by Charles Hegman of the College of the University of Michigan. The program included works by J. S. Bach, Beethoven, and Schumann. The audience was enthusiastic and the performance was well received.

PRES. EXTENDS GREETING TO UNDERGRADS
Silks in Chapel Address, Calls Freshmen Society: Predicts Good Year
REQUESTS IN PAST MONTH OF $700,000
President Also Tells of Vision of Self-Discipline

President Stills gave a hearty welcome and a hearty expression of appreciation to the members of the Freshman Society. His address was delivered in the Chapel and the student body was present in full. The President said that the students of Bowdoin had been doing a great deal of work during the past month and that the results of their efforts would be noticeable soon. He predicted that the Freshman Society would be successful in its future activities.

In the existing class, freshmen are organized in the following groups: first, the students of the class of 1933; second, the students of the class of 1934; and third, the students of the class of 1935. Each group is headed by a member of the class of 1932.

POLAR REAR REACH BAND PLANS YEAR
With the addition of our new organ, the band will be able to play for the first time in the year."
Every college has its own unique spirit, its own song and story, "maker of men." The vision of thousands of alums, eager, bright-eyed, with brains whetted sharp by four years of education, stepping down upon a wailing world each June, is indeed one to swell the heart of any college president—or, for that matter, any college junior. That is the essence of college life. Almost every freshman sees it before he enters, and during the first few weeks of his stay, he learns that college is just as much a "maker of men" as it is a "maker of marks," perhaps because it is a little better on the breaking side.

A good percentage of the undergraduate bodies might just as well have come to college for the improvements they find in their education and culture. They may not learn to paint or write or read, but perhaps they do not become more intelligent or more learned than they were when they started their course. There are those who are not more intelligent than they were when they left prep school. An experiment conducted by the Carnegie Foundation has shown that serious students are not likely to be made more learned by college.

It is not the college itself that offers this general broadening, but rather the attitude of the undergraduate towards the college. Of course, if all students believe that they are "maker of men" as well as "maker of marks," it is not surprising that they are likely to be made more intelligent than they were when they left prep school.

The fact that every year's college turns out a few men—precious few, to be sure—who have acquired an education, proves that it can be done. The way to do it seems to be to make the point toward a Phi Beta Kappa key from the moment the bell rings for the first class, yet to keep the inspiration of men who can and will instill into the undergraduate a third for if not knowledge, at least culture. There are such men, and they are the salvation of the modern college. That they exist is one of the few reasons for the presence of schools of "higher learning" today.

Freshman, if you wish to extract even the most discerning benefit from the institution you have chosen, you must release yourselves from the immediate preparation at Bowdoin can dissuade us. You can make college whatever you will, but if you choose to make it what a great many of those before you have chosen, you will merely be throwing away some $4,000 that you might well put to work elsewhere.

The group, composed entirely of editors of Eastern, Southern and Western college papers, met with a purpose. It might not state the college press from the intellectual endeavors, and act as a spur for its success.

The editors, who were gathered at the University of Pennsylvania, met for themselves, experience alone will show. But how much so

The college newspaper, in the course of time, made itself the object of general ridicule. Several editorials, in a recent volume of the papers, has described the college editor as having "the lovely test of quality of the script", and his characterization seems not far wrong. The editor, with a new jargon in his hands, has revealed in incomprehensible jargon and incoherent reasoning. Feeling power for the first time, he has overflowed his bounds, and as a result of his attempts, he has been labeled more level-headed, if not wiser, than he. He has offered panaceas and pan-cure for many ills of society, without a word on the subject of economics. He has added to the alreadymultitudinous list of gobbledygook, and his contribution is likely to be remembered only by the namesake.

If the A.C.E. succeeds not only in perpetuating the beastly word of the editors, but also in molding them toward a common end, it will have achieved more than any so-called "press association" in the history of the American college.

Henry A. Wallace has said of Youth Movements, "There has never been anything of this sort in the United States before because our youth have not fit to disagree with their elders only on super- tition." That they have done this is eminently true; more often have they sought to place the blame of what their elders have done, than to correct the wrongs themselves. The Convocation of the A.C.E. does not seem to have been the least bit more powerful than its predecessor, in spite of the problems of today, in externally peace, to obtain honest, intelligent and efficient government, and in the states and communities they have attacked at their sources. No panaceas have been offered; no suggestions, evolved in the discussion, have been rejected. The organi- zation has been formed merely to make the college man think on the problems of today, not to tell him what to think.

Thus far the A.C.E. has proven itself to be the "A.C.E." that President Roosevelt desired it. If it can continue, and spread its influence, it will be a power to be reckoned with in the future. If it can start the student thinking, even though it does not direct his thoughts, it will be a success.

OUR MAJOR SUBJECT IS CORRECT APPAREL

For just about 25 years, Bennett's have been serving the apparel needs of Bowdoin Men. With this experience it's not unreasonable to suppose that we have a fairly definite idea of the kind of clothes — furnishings — hate, and above you like. So it is with a feeling of confidence that we invite you to our store, to review the new, the correct, and the comfortable wearers for the present season.

The work-end suit—whether you prefer the soft roll, the new three button, or the sports idea in a suit—you'll find it here. Correct in cut and designed and moderately priced—$29.00 to $50.00—and tailored by Hickey-Freeman at $60.00.

The maples in Deep Brown or Medium Grey, crown slightly tapered. The correct new necktie in headwear—$3.50 to the Dobbs at $7.00.

The Ties: West still seems to be the preference of many college men. This year you'll find no new importations designs. Styles of course—from $1.00.

The Suit: Bold is the word. In our new presentations you'll seem to find one as bold as you want—or if you want something subtle, we have it—from $1.00.

The Sport Coat: Gray Flannel slacks—they rate number one, and they are too irrate to do without. If yours are all gone—or you forgot to bring a pair—we have them at $8.00.

The Wellman Process does it

It makes the tobacco act right in a pipe—burn slower and smoke cooler

In the manufacture of Granger Rough Car Pipe Tobacco the Wellman Process is used.

The Wellman Process is different from any other process or method and we believe it gives more enjoyment to pipe smokers.

... it gives the tobacco an extra flavor and aroma

... it makes the tobacco act right in a pipe—burn slower and smoke cooler

... it makes the tobacco milder

... it leaves a clean dry ash

—no soggy residue or build in the pipe bowl

FAERA appropriations aimed to be utilized by students, especially those interested in the arts and sciences, have been approved to the amount of $150,000. This is the second largest amount ever appropriated to date, the largest being $250,000 in 1962.

The approval of the appropriations was the result of a demonstration held in the Student Union. The demonstration was organized by a group of students who had been working on the issue for several weeks. The demonstration was successful in attracting a large number of students and faculty members to the cause.

The FAERA appropriations will be used to support various programs, including scholarships, grants, and research. The money will also be used to support the arts and sciences departments.

Fair enough—

FROM time to time we tell you facts about Chesterfield Cigarettes.

To that extent that Chesterfields are different from other cigarettes—that the tobaccos are different, the paper is different, and the way they are made is different.

Everything that modern Science knows about or that money can buy is used in making Chesterfield's a milder, better-tasting cigarette than any other.

You can prove what we tell you about Chesterfield.

May we ask you to try them

—that would seem to be fair enough.

SPORTS GUIDELINES

A guide to the football records of the past two weeks reveals a rather consistent pattern of play. The results indicate that the veteran team is beginning to take form and that the younger team is also improving.

Williams will note next Saturday’s game a pleasant change from the other two games. The weather forecast shows a clear day, which will make for better conditions.

Motor defeat rather well at Harvard, and may be expected to put on the field at least two of the team members. In the event of a possible Halley against both Hampshire, however, the Halley will be ruled out.

Malone did not feel too well at Harvard, and may be expected to put on the field at least two of the team members. Malone's condition is not expected to improve, and may be expected to put on the field at least two of the team members. Malone's condition is not expected to improve.

The next Harvard meet will be against Harvard on Saturday. It is expected that Harvard will be well prepared for the meet, and that the game will be quite an interruption.

The Harvard men were not expected to be very active in the foreign meets. The team is expected to return to the United States next week.

THE BOWDION 56 YEARS AGO

Browdion's recently installed president, President Burroughs, was installed in office yesterday. The ceremony was held in the main hall of the college and was attended by the entire student body and faculty. The new president was greeted with applause and cheering by the gathered audience.

The installation was followed by a special address delivered by the speaker. The address was well received by the audience and was met with enthusiastic applause. Following the address, the new president took his seat in the president's chair and promptly addressed the students and faculty. He outlined his plans for the coming year and expressed his determination to work hard to build a strong and prosperous Bowdion.

ROBINSON '26, Three Letter Man, Gov't Attorney In Virgin Isles

It is a far cry from Sweden, God's country, where he was born, to the Virgin Islands where the present Gov't Attorney,1 Mr. Menander (Mendy) M. Robinson, resides. There he was born in 1896, the son of a sea captain. His early years were spent in the seaport of Goteborg, where he attended school for a brief period. Robinson graduated from the University of Michigan in 1922 with a Bachelor of Laws degree. He was admitted to the bar of Michigan in 1924.

Robinson is a man of many talents. In addition to his legal work, he is also interested in athletics. He has been an active member of the Governor's Cabinet and has served as a delegate to several international conferences. He is a member of the American Bar Association and the International Law Association.

He is married and has three children. His hobbies include reading, fishing, and playing golf. He is an avid sports fan and enjoys attending games of all levels, from local club games to major league games. His favorite team is the New York Yankees, and he is a regular attendee of their games at Yankee Stadium.

ROBERT E. BOWDoin '02, Attorney At Law, Andes Islands

Robert E. Bowdoin, Esq., is a well-known attorney from the Andes Islands. He was born in 1900 and received his law degree from Harvard University in 1924. He has been practicing law for over 50 years and has handled numerous cases involving international law.

Bowdoin is a member of the American Bar Association and has served on several committees related to international law. He has authored several articles on the subject and is frequently called upon to speak at legal conferences.

Bowdoin is married and has two children. He is an avid golfer and enjoys playing golf in his leisure time. He is also an active supporter of local charities and has volunteered many hours of his time to help those in need.

Professor Bolen, in this week's issue, has given a general review of the current situation in his department. He concludes his remarks by stating that the situation is not as dire as it seems at first glance. The focus of his remarks is on the importance of maintaining a positive attitude in the face of adversity.

The students of the department are encouraged to stay engaged and to continue their studies despite the current challenges. They are reminded of the value of perseverance and the importance of maintaining a sense of community.

CAST SELECTED FOR FIRST PLAY

McCann, Tibblets, and Miss Barber Accsent Leads in Production

Shakespeare's "The Tempest" will be presented tomorrow in Memorial Hall

"The Tempest" is a play by William Shakespeare. It was first performed in 1611. The play tells the story of a group of shipwrecked sailors who are stranded on an island. They are led by Prospero, a former Duke, who has been banished from his kingdom. Prospero uses his magic powers to manipulate the other characters and ultimately takes control of the island.

The cast selected for the production includes McCann, Tibblets, and Miss Barber. The play will be presented in Memorial Hall at 7:30 PM. Tickets are available at the box office.

One-third Vote Against New Deal Policies; 11% Not Yet Decided

VOTE AND COMMENT: PROFESSORS' PROTEST

Some Against Methods New, Although They Approve Principles

A survey of the faculty of Bowdoin College reveals that one-third of the professors are opposed to New Deal policies, while 11% have not yet made up their mind. The remaining professors approve the methods of the New Deal, although they may have reservations about the policies themselves.

The survey was conducted by the Bowdoin College Survey Committee. The committee is made up of ten faculty members, including professors from the departments of economics, history, and political science.

The results of the survey are expected to be presented at a forum to be held in Memorial Hall on October 22. The forum will feature discussions with the professors who participated in the survey.

BOWDOIN CLUB OF BOSTON CONVENES

At the first meeting of the year for the Bowdoin Club of Boston, a new executive committee was elected. The club is made up of alumni of Bowdoin College who live in the Boston area.

The new executive committee includes: President, J. F. M. '36; Vice-President, H. W. '37; Secretary, W. H. '36; and Treasurer, J. B. '35.

The club met on October 22 to discuss the plans for the year. The club will hold meetings on the first Wednesday of each month at the Bowdoin Club in Boston.

Tobacco is a very important to a good cigarette

On the sunny slopes of Smyrna... in the fertile fields of Macedon... along the shores of the Black Sea... grows a kind of tobacco that is different from any other tobacco in the world. These Turkish tobaccos are the only tobaccos of foreign cultivation that are used to any great extent in making American cigarettes. Turkish tobacco is famous for its spicy aroma, and a blend of the right kinds of Turkish tobacco with our own home-grown tobaccos is better than any one kind used alone. In Chesterfield we balance mild, ripe tobaccos grown in this country with just the right amounts of the right kinds of tobacco. It is by blending and cross-breding these different tobaccos that we make Chesterfield the cigarette that’s milder, that’s tastier.

Polar Bear Offensive Must Keep Pace with Defense to Win Saturday

"If the line can play afield half as well as the Bears have been playing it in our recent week’s games, we shall have a chance of taking the title," Coach Stewart announced before Saturday’s game against Bowdoin. "The Bears are playing a great deal of defense, which is the only way to win this season. We have to keep our defense up if we want to win."

The game was played in perfect weather conditions, with the Polar Bear offensive looking strong from the beginning. The Bears were led by their star running back, who scored two touchdowns in the first half. However, the Bears’ defense held strong, limiting the Polar Bear offense to only 14 points in the game. The Bears’ defense was led by their star linebacker, who made several key tackles and forced two fumbles. The Bears’ offense was led by their star quarterback, who threw for over 250 yards and two touchdowns. The Bears’ offensive line was solid, allowing the quarterback to operate comfortably throughout the game.

The Bears’ win was their third in a row, and they are now tied for first place in the conference. The Bears’ next game is against the Eagles, who are currently in second place. The Bears are confident that they can continue their winning streak against the Eagles and win the conference championship. The Bears have been playing well as a team, and they are looking forward to the challenge of playing against the Eagles.

To Mr. Hearst

To Mr. William Randolph Hearst, America's most ardent Nationalist, the Association of College Editors expresses the following open letter, questioning his facts and theories. This letter will appear among four and a half editorials in American newspapers, on the occasion of Armistice Day. If Hearst answers the questions presented to him by the A.C.E., he will have a fair copy of the letter, signed by several college editors, at his convenience.

This letter is significant not only in that it represents one of the first real challenges of Youth in America, but that it represents the first time the college editors have banded together for any purpose that has not had necessary profit as its ultimate goal.

Sincerely yours,

[Signature]

Mr. Hearst

In a recent interview, you challenged all Americans:

"If Americans have not lost their common sense and balance of judgment entirely, they will also follow through on their smooth talkers some day and settle down calmly and reason out a few things for themselves.

The Association of College Editors, as stated in its Covenant, is dedicated to 'stimulating and encouraging thoroughgoing thinking and inquiring and questioning the world in promoting international understanding and cooperation in the hope of ultimately achieving and insuring international peace and security.'

A number of us are setting down calmly to reason out a few things for ourselves. We would interject a word of encouragement to you, Mr. Hearst, that the problems in the contemporary 'international' and 'internationalist' controversy are not really so different.

You may recall that Beverly Nichols recently wrote a book called 'Cry, Hoy!' which is devoted to the betterment of conditions between 'internationalists' and 'nationalists.' Beverly Nichols hit upon the idea of bringing together an organized spokesman for each side.

Sir Norman Angell, probably winner of the Nobel Peace Prize for this year, was elected and consented to be the 'Nationalist's' spokesman. Lest he make the same mistakes.

It is worth noting that the great American college editors are as a singular and significant fact, that in the wording of those questions, the word 'American' may be substituted for the word 'British.' The name 'William Randolph Hearst' may be substituted for the name 'Lord Birdwood,' without losing the tremendous importance to our generation of having an answer to those questions from the most intelligent champions of nationalism.

The thoroughness of a Doughboy, Duran and Company, publishers of the college papers, to their questions in vain, Sir Norman Angell drew up a set of questions, a cross-examination of nationalism. You have not answered this set of questions to my knowledge.

It is a great many American college editors as a singular and significant fact, that in the wording of those questions, the word 'American' may be substituted for the word 'British.' The name 'William Randolph Hearst' may be substituted for the name 'Lord Birdwood,' without losing the tremendous importance to our generation of having an answer to those questions from the most intelligent champions of nationalism.

Maine Has Won 21; Bowdoin 11; In Half A Century Of Football

The Bowdoin-Oxford match of yesterday was the 11th in a series of Maine-Bowdoin football contests. The first match was held in the fall of 1898.

The program was followed by a dinner at the Bowdoin Hotel and the annual alumni meeting.

The game was won by Oxford 14 to 0.

The score was 1 to 0 at the half.

CARAVAN TROOP WELL RECEIVED

Jumping ahead of the game, the members of the Caravan Troop, which consists of 13 students from Bowdoin College, have been received with open arms by the students and faculty of the university. The group has already visited several of the surrounding colleges and universities, and has been well received by the students and faculty of each institution.

PRESIDENT'S ADDRESS

President Miller has spoken at several events during his recent trip to the Bowdoin College campus. He has discussed the importance of education and the role of the university in society. His speech was well-received by the students and faculty, who appreciated his insights and perspectives.

SPORT SIDELIGHTS

Last week we expressed a desire to know what the Bowdoin football team was planning to do this season. We have been informed that the team will be working hard to improve its performance and to win more games. The players are working on their strength and conditioning, and are also practicing their skills.

THE CUMBERLAND

On Wednesday, November 14th, Bowdoin College hosted a game against the University of Maine. The game was a close one, with Bowdoin ultimately winning by a narrow margin. The players on both teams showed great skill and determination, and it was a thrilling match to watch.

EX GRID CHIEFS ATTEND ALUMNI MEAL SATURDAY

President A. Hauck of Maine Addresses Gathered at King Grades

With more than two hundred and forty former Bowdoin undergraduates in attendance at the Alumni Luncheon held the other evening at the Hotel Bowers, President Hauck addressed the group.

The proceedings were begun as usual by an introduction and song, after which President Hauck spoke, prefacing his remarks with a brief account of the early history of Bowdoin College.

The program consisted of a roll call of the graduates present and an account of the present condition of the college and its alumni associations.

The meeting was concluded by a song, "The Bowdoin Song," and the roll call of the graduates present was read.

Stanwood Discusses Renewal

Of Track Interest in Europe

National pride, according to Charles Stanwood, is the main factor in the renewed interest in track in Europe.

The results of recent track meets have shown a marked increase in the number of competitors and the quality of performances.

The publicity manager has announced the success of the "track meet" at the Maine State Fair, which served as a preview for the upcoming season.

Four Fraternity To Hold Dances Saturday

Four fraternities have announced their plans to hold dances this Saturday night.

The events will take place after the campus dance and will feature music by the college band and other groups.

The dates for the dances are as follows:

Funeral for "The Sun Rises"

The tragic death of "The Sun Rises" has been mourned by the entire campus.

A fitting tribute to the beloved student will be held this Saturday night, with a special program dedicated to his memory.

The event will be attended by alumni and friends who will gather to remember the life of "The Sun Rises."
A Test of Liberalism

The decision of Bowdoin College to encourage the use of 'Sperry Eagle' as the Christmas House play is an interesting one. It is, in effect, a test of Bowdoin's "liberal attitude". 'Sperry Eagle' has, since its premiere at the Eaves Theatre, on March 15, 1927, been one of the most widely discussed plays of the twenty-first century, and because of its indictment of the methods of war and the American attitude toward war, has been almost universally banned.

The play is, in brief, a chronicle of the events leading up to an imaginary American invasion of Mexico. An uncannily American capitalist, seeking to protect his mines-holdings in Mexico, submits a revolution, claiming American intervention. Stag tag is stirred up by the reported murder of the son of the President of the United States, likewise engineered by the capitalist, and the play reaches a crescendo with a screening demonstration of war in any form.

From the first the two authors, George S. Broeder, onetime editor of "Aid's" magazine, and Walter R. Lister, editor of the Brooklyn Times, found themselves in the play, adding their personal criticisms, imparting in the mechanics of the production, found it so uneventful, the American Legion immediately denounced it.

On the one hand, a reviewer said: "It is more indirect than melodrama. If this is the war nations are tricked into war, no one will deny that it is a striking picture of the war—manipulated, monstrous, hateful.

On the other hand, the military spirits of America rose in horror at the presentation. A great many of the men present presumably for producing it were the statement made by Herman R. Latourre, chairman of the Veterans' Department of the American Legion, in a letter of protest to E. H. Bantam, then district-at-large of New York City, the magazine.

"We feel that the show is positive anti-American and uncommercial American spirit.

Other members of the Veterans of Foreign Wars wrote to President Coolidge, calling attention to "disturbances" portions of the play. Two radio broadcasts, planned by stations WPFA and WWVA, New York, were banned. It was finally withdrawn from the New York stage, and immediately banned in this country.

If the College wishes, it may point to the so-called "disturbances" aspects of this play and claim that it is a case for the use of the Act. But if the College wishes to claim that it is a case for the use of the Act, they must be those who will ask the College to do this. The path of pacifism has been re-classed, and at the present moment it is such a vital point that propaganda, either for or against it will be received derisively by some.

This College, however, the administration will work its way to the liberal principles of the American eagle. The play may indeed be pacifist propaganda, but it is not an American propaganda. And if the college does show its true colors, any arguments for peace will be warmly welcomed.

The day of the flag-waving Veteran of Foreign Wars is going out. He may react to the present toward peace, and propaganda such as 'Sperry Eagle' positively anti-American and uncommercial for American youth," but his own flag-waving, bayonet-bashing tactics seem to be even more "aesthetic". He was born in the spirit of War, and cannot conceive that modern youth is doing its utmost to be the breed that demands the world for the battle of the world but effects the nation.

This ONE in behalf of many students at Bowdoin who are deeply interested in world peace, and who believe that the use of 'Sperry Eagle' should be disregarded, and the Masque and Groton, is allowed to produce the play unhindered by outside interference.

GOAT CAUSES HELL WEEK CRIMMAGHES

The goat that was supposed to be on the campus of Bowdoin College in the fall of 1928 has become the official mascot of the college, but the goat has caused a great deal of trouble. The goat, named "Bill," has been known to cause a great deal of trouble, and the college administration is now considering the possibility of having him removed from the campus.

The goat was first seen by students, who were surprised to find a goat on their campus. The goat quickly became popular, and the college administration decided to make him the official mascot. However, the goat has caused a great deal of trouble, and the college administration is now considering the possibility of having him removed from the campus.

White Gridmen Lose To Black Bears, 13-0

Close Decisions Rain Polar Bear Chances to Score as Pale Blue Gets First Touchdown on Perfect Play at Harvard

Although in such a high profile game the Bears were not able to score, the Pale Blue Gridmen had 13-0 points to their credit, a score which was well in the game. They had a perfect play from the start and made good use of their opportunities.

After the first quarter of the game the Bears were ahead, 7-0, and the same score was maintained until the Pale Blue Gridmen scored in the second quarter, making the score 7-0. The Bears then increased their lead to 13-0 in the third quarter and held onto it for the rest of the game.

4000 See Maine Play Boudoin At Whittier

"About 4000 people attended the Maine vs. Boudoin game last Saturday," Mr. Malcolm Mosher, Director of Athletics at the University of Maine, said. "This was quite an audience at a non-competitive game."

The game was held at Whittier Stadium and was a non-competitive game. The Maine Gridmen defeated the Boudoin Gridmen 40-0, the largest margin of victory for the Maine Gridmen in recent years. The game was played in front of a record crowd of 4000.

"Student Opinions" on Athletics

The communication printed in another column of this page was obviously designed to force THE BOWDOIN ORIENT on the athletic situation. It was stated that the student body has underlined opinions on questions more credibly than the football team should have won the game. For this latter appears to be an echo of that editorial. However, a canvass of the student body has shown that undergraduate opinion is very strong and close to the opinions on the football situation, and as such should have voice.

The students want a new football coach.

Perhaps they have not stopped to examine the inner workings of the athletic department, but they do feel a change is necessary. They have no quarrel with the present coach as a man or a leader of men; they merely feel that he has failed to produce, and like any man who has failed to produce in the field of business should be replaced.

They feel that a new coach would sweep clean the memory of several lose football years, or at least give new life to an extra- or ordinary organization that is now in a state of growing moribundity.

They believe that their so-called "squad" is a result rather than a cause, and, given a new hope and some small victory — any victory — to show them, they will prove that they have some measure of ingenuity.

Beyond those simple facts student opinion as a concentrated force does not exist. Some of those who offer theories for the failure of the team. Still others believe it is not the fault of the mentor.

But by far the greater majority simply say: we want a new football coach.

From Mr. Hearst

Shortly before Adams Norseman, the Congressman, in conjunction with several hundred other college spokespersons throughout the country, published an open letter to the Harvard athletic director, Henry C. Patrick, Jr., asking for an explanation of the Harvard athletic program. We have reproduced, in this space, the letter which has been recently appeared on the front page of every Hearst newspaper under the heading "Mr. HEARST ON: Internationalism and Nationalism" following up each of the newspapers.

Acting as president of the Association of College Editors, Frank D. Torney, of New York, has asked Hearst to step down in his -- to a certain extent - rôle as journalist. Torney's letter has been obtained by the London Daily Express, and an article on the point of the letter has appeared in The Times.

Following is Mr. Hearst's reply to Editor Smith conveying the same message.

Mr. Dear Sir:

I appreciate the opportunity to learn that Mr. Torney has been a "palatable" Peace Party spokesman, but have not been thoroughly impressed by such a person whose record as a journalist has been so thoroughly discredited as a journalist. In consequence, I do not feel inclined to reply to your letter.

I am a deeply disturbed man, as a result of the attacks of those who, in my opinion, are using the newspapers for political purposes.

By way of illustration, I will cite the fact that a newspaper which has been known to me for many years, has recently published an article attacking the foreign policy of the United States, and has accused the administration of being unpatriotic.

I therefore believe that it is the duty of every newspaper to defend the foreign policy of the United States, and to point out the mistakes of those who attack it.

I am not prepared to discuss the merits of the argument presented by Mr. Torney, but I will say this: I believe that the best way to silence those who are against the foreign policy of the United States is to show them that the policy is sound and is in the best interests of the country.

I therefore believe that Mr. Torney's letter is a waste of time and effort, and that it is unnecessary to reply to it.

Yours truly,

WILLIAM RANDOLPH HEARST

The Wellman Process does this... it leaves a clean dry ash-no soggy residue or heel in the pipe bowl.

In the manufacture of Granger Rough Cut Pipe Tobacco the Wellman Process is used.

The Wellman Process is different from any other process or method and we believe it gives more enjoyment to pipe smokers.

. . . it gives the tobacco an extra

President Faust has been asked about the possibility of bringing

Pipe tobacco made by the Wellman Process and rough cut as Granger do not clog the pipe but stays lit, smokes longer, slower and cooler.

We believe this process is the reason for Granger being milder.

We know it adds something to the flavor and aroma of the good, ripe White Burley Tobacco that cannot be obtained in any other way.

We wish, in some way, we could get every man who smokes a pipe to just try Granger.
I Cigarettes for Christmas! No smoker ever had too many. But which cigarette? Remember that the brand you give reflects your good taste—your sense of discrimination. That’s why we suggest Camel. They’re made from finer, more expensive tobaccos than any other popular brand. They’re the choice of distinguished men and women in every field of the social and business worlds. And their fine tobacco bring that welcome "lift" to energy—that warm good cheer—which is, after all—Christmas.

Students Hear Rev. Schroeder

True Progress is Not Merely Material Gain, Says Bible Instructor.

This program was presented by the Student Union of the Bowdoin College. The program included a lecture by Rev. Schroeder, who spoke on the subject of "True Progress."
At the time of the election, the student and faculty committees to study the athletic situation, and the student Senate took a vote on the proposition that "no personalities will be involved"; and, in effect, told the committees that they would not be expected to make a report on the football situation, as this was no longer a question of the regular scheduled meeting of the Executive Committee of the Colleges "sometime before the opening of the second semester," indicative of the possibility of quick action on the subject. The Executive Committee of the Colleges stated that the football problem must be worked out at the meeting of the Executive Committee—certainly on a "small" scale.

Thirty-two days have elapsed since the Athletic Council met, and it has no word from the College authorities regarding the matter of the new athletic director. The promptness of the meeting and the events that followed at the time was such that the Council cannot afford to make any delay; it realizes that the promptness and administration of the facts carefully before it arrives at conclusions. But it seems that the necessary declaration should have been made this time. If the authorities cannot now see that the situation is intolerable, it is of no use to ask the cards on the table.

The Council is even shrewder—that the football team needs a new coach, and it believes that the students think so, as well. It is almost impossible to know as yet whether the decline of the team can be halted before it has begun. The students have asked for a new coach in the past few weeks. It is common knowledge that there is a majority of the student body. The Council was in favor of a change, and the only reason it did not declare itself was because the matter could not be brought to a vote.

The argument has been presented that Bowdoin would lose academic prestige if it dismantled football because it would win games. One has but to refer to Harvard, substantially the only highly regarded institution of learning in the world, to guess how this argument is done out of existence. Only this year Harvard has accepted the resignation of its coach, and Harvard has done this in a manner that is acceptable to the Council, and it is one that the students think the matter is tolerable.

The handwriting is on the wall. In plain sight all those who have the courage to look. The situation is beyond the vacillating phase. Bowdoin would lose a new coach; there are many who feel, this time, that it is better to do without. The argument of proponents of both sides of the question will not, having progressed to this point, change the minds of those who have been convinced. A few votes will have the cause of the controversy.

The Beginning of the End for Half-Way

It begins to look as though that grand old institution, Half-Way, were on its last legs. The cause of the problem is to be found in the fact that the present order needed remodeling, and the students are beginning to realize this. It is also the problem of the majority of the students, a fact which will not be met with at the time.

The decision of the Eight Charge of Theta Delta Chi to abolish Half-Way was probably the most far-reaching step taken by a fraternity in twenty years. If others have courage to follow in the footsteps of Theta Delta Chi, it may mean that Bowdoin Greek societies will emerge from the miasma in which they have struggled throughout the present college generation. It is generally conceded that Half-Way is the most outstanding of ancient institutions, yet never has a fraternity had the courage to abolish it completely. They have chipped at its edges, and removed large amount of the brutality, but never have they sought to destroy its central purpose: that of fraternity.

Tradition would scarcely fumble if Half-Way were done away with. The fraternity system is no longer dependent on either local or national organization, and the stability of the College would not be upset so seriously that there would be greater difficulty in finding a suitable fraternity in any given case. The fact remains, however, that the fraternity system is no longer dependent on either local or national organization, and the stability of the College would not be upset so seriously that there would be greater difficulty in finding a suitable fraternity in any given case. The fact remains, however, that the fraternity system is no longer dependent on either local or national organization, and the stability of the College would not be upset so seriously that there would be greater difficulty in finding a suitable fraternity in any given case.

That it exists at all is no less to the intelligence of the student. The position of the fraternity in the college student social order is too strong at the present.

Methodist Episcopal Bishop Harvey Gibb talked in Sunday service.

"Personality as person," bequeathed Bishop Gibb, "is not the mere sum of one's gifts. It is the way in which one uses them. It is the way one is remembered by others. It is the way in which one lives up to one's own ideals. It is the way one inspires others to do their best. It is the way one is accepted by others. And it is the way one is accepted by God."

Bishop Gibb went on to say that personality is not something that can be taught or learned. It is something that must be cultivated and developed.

White Quintet Overcomes Portland Y, Northeastern

Defeating the Portland YMCA on Saturday by a score of 138-32 and the Portland YMCA on Sunday by a score of 121-32, the White quintet, led by Al Fife, proved that its solid winning form from every other team. The Portland Y, however, demonstrated its ability by taking the first two games against the teams from the north, the Portland Y, and the Portland YMCA.

Boyd, who was the star of the day, was followed by Carey in the opening meet, while Sampson took second place in the diving event. Boyd's performance in the diving event was equally as good as Carey's, for he scored a high of 18 points. Sampson, on the other hand, had a lower score of 15 points.

SPORT SIDELIGHTS

I don't think of the White weather will be as cold as the last night's performance. The weather will be a factor in the dual events, for the White team will have to work harder to overcome the cold. Boyd and Carey will have to work even harder to keep their point totals up.

Millenium Swamp B. U. 47-41 Duke Purple Turtles by 42-45 Wins

Rebuffed by the late-arrived debutant, Harry Franklin and Frank Kreg, the swimming team improved its record to 7-0 with a double victory over the Turtles. The win over B. U. was a defensive triumph and the win over Duke a more exciting affair. The Turtles were the victims of a surprise attack from the Franklin-led team.

The U.S. Navy, despite the head-to-head efforts of the Navy, was unable to prevent the Franklin-led team from scoring a championship.

The Student Thinks

The eventful results in the A.C.E.-Literary Digest Peace Poll may, so some believe, reveal little, but the underground opinion of the people is rather to be consulted. Despite the dicey nature of the issue, we have come to the conclusion that the poll will have to come to the fore this fall and may cause the electors to react to the issue.

There are many things about the poll. Anti-War Court sentiment, on the other hand, can be expressed as a whole. Such feeling has won the hearts of the people. It is a sign that the world can now control the issues of youth.

The past year has seen a change in the attitude of the students. At present the poll is a matter of fact. Perhaps the proof of the pudding is in the eating. It is true that the poll was made by the students of the University of Oregon, but it is a fact that the poll was taken by the students of the University of Oregon.

The poll is a fine thing. It is a matter of fact. Perhaps the proof of the pudding is in the eating. It is true that the poll was made by the students of the University of Oregon, but it is a fact that the poll was taken by the students of the University of Oregon.

HARRIS TWEED SUITS

$19.50
FORMER SELLING PRICE - $23.95

Now is the time to get that suit you've been thinking about. Harris Tweed—very smart in these days of rough fabrics—in good shades of Brown and Gray-Green mixes. The reduction of price alone would make this an attractive offering—even though the clothing wasn't quite as desirable as it actually is. While the quantity of these garments isn't extremely large—the variety is ample enough to please almost anyone desiring to take advantage of the saving.

JUST WHAT IS MEANT BY CROSS-BLENDING TOBACCOS
AND HOW DOES IT MAKE A CIGARETTE MILDER AND TASTE BETTER

In making Chesterfields we take bright tobacco from Virginia, the Carolinas, Georgia and Florida. We take Burley tobacco from Kentucky and Tennessee, and tobacco from Southern Maryland. Then in addition to these homestyle grown tobaccos we take tobacco grown in Turkey and Greece. We balance these mild, fine homegrown tobaccos with the right amounts and the right kinds of aromatic Turkish.

Then, instead of just mixing the tobaccos together, we blend and cross-blend them so that all the different flavors go together into one full flavor—the Chesterfield taste that so many smokers like.

Cross-blending as it is done in Chesterfields gives the cigar a pleasing base and aroma—they're mild and yet they satisfy.

Initial Performance in Chess A Brings Victory Over Bates and Maine; Good Equal to World's Record in High Hurdles

Tocurring to the University Club at Bowdoin for the first time, Bowdoin Chessmen played their best chess to date on the weekend, winning both matches against Bates and Maine.

The victory over Bates came in a hard-fought battle, with Bowdoin losing 2-3 but bouncing back to win 4-2. The match against Maine was a blowout, with Bowdoin winning all four games.

The team of Bowdoin was led by the team of Richard Walker and Owen, who both scored a perfect 4-0. Walker, who had previously played in the varsity chess, was named the Most Valuable Player.

COMBINING — Cause and Cure

In another column, an editor has written an article on "combining" (change of block votes among fraternity members during class elections, to obtain a majority for certain candidates) which invariably results in elections in which the most powerful fraternities would have been elected. The solution suggested is somewhat like the present system used in the elections for the Student Senate and other offices in the A.S.B.C.

The suggestion seems to be the first intelligent one that has come out of the protracted discussion about the class fraternities in a long time. The Student Council admits that its own elections are held with a minimum of controls and with little interest. It would seem feasible then, that the class elections could be run on the same basis. Certainly there is no more to the matter than a change in the running for any of the three important offices, and the Council could be trusted to select these impartially.

Another advantage of the proposed system would be the quickness with which the election results could be had. All the classes could be represented on each ballot, each undergraduate voting for his own classmate. This election might take four weeks, and the result known a day or two. It would, of course, be necessary for the Junior and Senior class officers to make a short statement of omission of minor officers such as marshals, orators, dance committees, etc., which these elections have always been characterized by a complete lack of controls, since the job falls to the nearest friend.

Fable

Once upon a Time there was a Seumhas who Plunged himself in Literature. He used to read all the Great Things that had been written and it was the Proud Prose that he had read more of than the Last Fifty Pages. When he had begun to think that he had Drunk it all, he heard that there was to be an Institute of Literature at the College. He was very happy, because always he had wanted to know if Dreiser really looked like That, and if Elliot were Slippers when he lectured. So when the time came, the Institute came around, he was All Set and Ready to Go.

The evening of the first Lecture he studied until eight o'clock and then went to Memory Hall. He managed to squeeze through the Door by bailing out with a Sid. He finally got to the Balcony, and looked upon the Mindful below. After all, he thought, I must see the lecturer. So he went over and saw the lecturer and the lecturer saw him. And while 500,000 Roses were Elgiers, and there was no room for the Student who had brought their Knitting and were going to tell him what they thought they could do for the Union, he was All Set and Ready to Go.

The Bohemian never did find out what he had looked like, although someone told him that Elgier was Slippers. He went home, very Disgusted. After all, he thought, I must see the lecturer. So he went over and saw the lecturer. But he did not see the lecturer at all. He had a Box Seat.

What are your qualifications? Nothing better than a Blanket tax to be good for?

PRO and CON

A letter written to the Daily Northwestern and the Daily, "The editor is not responsible for opinions expressed in these letters." The letter was addressed to the Daily, and it carried the following letter from the editor:

Editorial

With the second session of the Senate, various changes were made in the elections of the three officers. The changes are the result of a plan to have the people on each campus run their own elections. This has been done for a few years past, but we know that they are not entirely happy with it. It is a job to do it all right, and if it is a difficult job to do it right, there is no reason why we should not strive to do it.

In order to facilitate any such work, it has been organized and arranged in such a way as to be of great help to the Senate. It is a difficult job to do it right, and if it is a job to do it right, there is no reason why we should not strive to do it.

LIFE IN COLLEGE is a busy sea," says John Coward, 16. "Take my case, for example: I have a leasing around campus, and spend every available moment making the rounds of the colleges, and trying to impress the people on each campus. One day I was doing a lecture on an important subject, and I was asked to say my time is a pretty full. I get time... other people... but I am sure that I can see my time is a pretty full. HOLMES TALKS ON NEXT WAR

Declarating that democracy of today is a century away from the English system of law, Mr. Fay described the development of war since 1903. Since 1903 the world has been in a state of international tension, not war. Fay said that the basis for peace is in the international status of the national states. This status is based on the 1918 Treaty of Versailles, which has established the League of Nations and the International Court of Justice. Fay also said that the League of Nations is the only way to prevent war. Fay also said that the League of Nations is the only way to prevent war.

Declarating that democracy of today is a century away from the English system of law, Mr. Fay described the development of war since 1903. Since 1903 the world has been in a state of international tension, not war. Fay said that the basis for peace is in the international status of the national states. This status is based on the 1918 Treaty of Versailles, which has established the League of Nations and the International Court of Justice. Fay also said that the League of Nations is the only way to prevent war. Fay also said that the League of Nations is the only way to prevent war.

SPORTS LIGHTS

Early morning edition of the Boston papers carried the information that Springfield was leading Harvard in the University Club track meet. In the final event, the flintlock relay, led by Iwanowicz, the last Springfield man, had reached a lead of more than a minute. But at the signal the relay was scattered, which enabled Harvard to return with a score of 217 to 297. But Harvard had pulled ahead to win by several points. For a college track meet a score of 217 to 297 is quite remarkable, especially when one considers that the meet was held on a track which Harvard has been using for years. However, the raw team may be added to have a good chance of staying in the meet when the Harvard men return. The meet will be resumed on the Connecticut campus next week.

Although Mills declared great varities in both height and defense, the club left a positive impression on the audience. He thought the team was of the best in the state, and there are a number of talented players who will be observed at various positions throughout the season. The first match is to be played against the Wells College next Saturday.

The Phantom of Basketball

For several years the official College has been attempting to lay the ghost of basketball, which arises every winter to frighten the athletics department, hockey enthusiasts and those among the undergraduates who look on with disgust at the irregularities of national athletic programs. This year, however, it has become evident that this ghost will not be exorcised. An unofficial basketball team, the "Pigeon Barons," has met with success in playing against other college athletic clubs and the leading amateur teams of Maine. They have reasonably achieved considerable notoriety, and have in many games in Bowdoin at least, provided a running display.

With three committees attacking this whole situation from every angle, it seems certain that some sort of a decision will be forced to discuss an intercollegiate basketball at Bowdoin, and that it will take some time to make that decision effective on the whole. But none of these committees is aware of the present sentiment in the College council over the matter. It is quite possible that anyone who is able to shut the game out of sight has a widespread demand for it, but others are not quite so sure that the student really exists.

Although THE ORIENT is in no way attempting to make a bribing issue of the question, it would seem altogether practical that the undergraduate pool should be taken on the prevailing sentiment for or against basketball. It should try to allay all these rumblings in their work, and it may help to clarify a situation that has long caused a solution. Therefore it will take an irrevocable habit of the student body at the Pigeon Barons being the basketball commission tomorrow evening. The results will not be interpreted as a reflection on a definite decision on one way or another. They should certainly help all committees in their consideration of the possibility of basketball. With the student body given a chance to articulate the first, any rate, will be taken.

Revision in Elections

The rest of all evil, according to the undergraduates, seems to be the Student Council. At least two students, advocating THE ORIENT this week, believe that better changes can be instituted in the class elections, the personnel of the Council would be improved.

Of course, this has been thought up before—almost all possible ideas for revision or change in the Council have at one time or another been proposed. There have been, however, many objections to all such ideas, and they have been governed by the principle that the undergraduates who have most criticized would always re-elect themselves. Doubtless both the plans expressed in letters appearing in this issue have interesting points. Where their weakness is a problem for the Council itself to decide. It seems that both plans have advantages which the present organization has, perhaps disadvantageous where none exist now. At any rate, THE ORIENT believes that the Council should study these plans and act upon them.

THE ORIENT will be very glad to publish any argument the Council may be prepared to make on these or any other plans in contrast with its present standing.

It Pays to Advertise

Some time last semester a large white wooden sign was erected on the Delta at the corner of West and Harpswell Streets. Its black lettered sign reads that they have a wonderful national Bowdoin College and that visitors are welcome. To every undergraduate the sign was a complete surprise and in the manner of the young man in the street, "I can't believe it, man!"

For it had all the earmarks of a sign, but it did not hold that contributions would be gladly accepted—of those inviting billboards which urge tourists to visit the historic home of John Adams and Priestley.

On East Street, near the Whitney Field, was erected a second sign, smaller and less obvious than the first, which revealed that the towering paper in the foreground were the finest of Bowdoin. It seemed to suit the purpose. "This is a hillside" shop will open? Why not send your hood here?

The sign on the Delta was long gone removed, but the other still remains, not for long I hope. Bowdoin needs no such advertising, nor is it consistent with the College's best traditions to clutter its society with billboards, nor is Bowdoin a treasure to be vacated by curious tourists. The College need not descend to the level of streetrailers, law, and medical schools which publicize their wares in every newspaper and periodical.

There has been much talk about putting billboards signs on the dormitories. Bowdoin dormitories are not spectacles of architectural beauty. But they do possess to those who know them well a certain charm which does not suit well with publicized here and there like markers in Egyptian monuments. Convictions to visitors in sufficient quantity to each...

WHITE MERMEN BEAT M.I.T. TO COMPLETE VICTORIOUS SEASON

May Wins Breather; Franklin is Outstanding for Millermen

To finish a highly successful season, College's men's water polo defeated M.I.T. in the Canter Bowl Saturday by a score of 14 to 5. Both teams played with great intensity throughout the game, with M.I.T. taking the lead in the early stages of the match. However, the Millermen fought back to tie the game 5-5 at halftime. The second half saw a strong push from both teams, with M.I.T. taking the lead back, only to have the Millermen respond with a powerful goal from Franklin. The third goal from Cranberry put the game out of reach, and the Millermen went on to win, 13-7.

FORENSIC RELATIONS REWARDED WITH BATES AFTER ELEVEN YEARS

WILL BE DECISIVE FOR LEAGUE TITLE

In a match which probably decide the outcome of the season, Bates defeated Bowdoin 48-16 to clinch the New England League championship. The victory was particularly significant because Bates had not defeated Bowdoin since 1925. The game was a showcase for the Bates offense, which scored 16 unanswered points in the first half to put the game out of reach.

SECRETARY OF AGRICULTURE VISITS FARMERS' ENTHUSIASTIC SUPPORT

INTER-FAVOURITE MEET COMING FRIDAY

Secretary of Agriculture Has Farmers' Enthusiastic Support

There is little doubt that in recent years the Secretary of Agriculture has become a powerful advocate for farmers' interests. His speeches and writings have been characterized by a vigorous and unflinching advocacy of the needs of the farmer, and his influence has been felt far beyond the shores of the United States. He has always been a friend of the farmer, and his efforts have been directed towards the promotion of the interests of the farming community.

During his recent visit to the state of Maine, the Secretary of Agriculture paid a visit to a number of farms in the vicinity of Brunswick, and was given an opportunity to see at first hand the condition of farming in the region. He was especially interested in the problems of the small farmer, and spent a good deal of time discussing these matters with farmers and agricultural leaders. He was impressed by the need for better education for farmers, and advocated the establishment of more extension service programs to help farmers to adjust to the changing conditions of modern agriculture.

The Secretary of Agriculture was also interested in the progress being made in the field of agricultural research, and was pleased to see the amount of work being done by the various state agricultural colleges and experiment stations. He was particularly interested in the work being done in the field of soil conservation, and praised the efforts being made to improve the quality of the soil in the region.

In his speeches and writings, the Secretary of Agriculture has always been a staunch advocate of the need for better education for farmers. He has been a strong supporter of the establishment of more extension service programs, and has advocated the need for better training for farm leaders. He has also been a strong advocate of the need for better research programs, and has been especially interested in the work being done in the field of agricultural economics.

The Secretary of Agriculture has always been a friend of the farmer, and his efforts have been directed towards the promotion of the interests of the farming community. He has been a vigorous and unflinching advocate for the needs of the farmer, and his influence has been felt far beyond the shores of the United States. He has always been a friend of the farmer, and his efforts have been directed towards the promotion of the interests of the farming community.
They won't help you catch rivets they won't cause any ills or cure any ailments but they satisfy

...when anything satisfies it's got to be right...no "ifs" or "buts" about it.

Chestersfields satisfy because, first of all, they're made of the right kinds of mild ripe tobaccos. These tobaccos are thoroughly aged and then blended and cross-blended. It takes time and it takes money, but whenever it costs in time or money we do it in order to give you the kind of quality that's milder, a cigarette that tastes better.
SILLS ATTACKS HASTY JUDGING

Says Character Prejudice Based on Idle Rumor is Most Unfair

"Hasty judgments, or judgments based solely on unfounded rumor or misapprehension, are frequently a very serious matter. The adage, 'The best of friends, the worst of judges,' is sometimes true, for it is only when the facts are not known or understood that the judgment may be made. In such cases, the person who is the subject of the rumor may be in a position of great disadvantage, for he cannot defend himself against the accusations made against him. Therefore, I believe that character prejudice based on idle rumor is most unfair, for it is a false and unfounded opinion, and is therefore not a valid basis for judgment."

PSI U Favored in Swim Meet

Following the success of last year's meet, Coach Bob Miller has announced that the Psi U Swim Meet will be held on Tuesday, March 3rd. The meet will be held at 7:30 p.m., and will feature Psi U versus the people of town. It should be a great event, and everyone is encouraged to attend.

"I am高兴地支持农场运动, and as such, I am a strong supporter of the Farmer's Union. It is important that we support our farmers, who are working hard to provide us with food."

Dean Of Durham To Give Lecture

Next Thursday evening the Very Reverend Cyril A. Anderson, Dean of Durham College, will speak in the Union Building at 7:30 p.m. He will be speaking on "The social and religious aspects of the English Paper." The lecture is open to all, and is expected to be very interesting.

HIGH POINT GAIN

HAINED BY NIBLOCK

Niblock, Marvin Break Old Marks in Shat, Put Down 11-5-0 Dash

Titling below their individual signs, Niblock and Phil Good, the duplexed winning throws in the Masters for last year, by devoting the powerful lifting movements of their bodies, placed first and third in the Masters, respectively, forwarding a total of 11-5-0. They broke the previously set record of 11-5-0, which had been held by Dave Conklin, and Niblock, who last year won third place, led the pack.

Debate offering to cut down the preliminary rounds of the field, the Debates Committee directed the "Best of the Best" game to decide the winner of the Masters, beginning at 8 o'clock on February afternoon. The "Best of the Best" was the first of its kind in the city, and the players were expected to bring some of the hottest action and the most interesting events of the season to a close.

Volume XXIX No. 2

THE LAST WORD

It is not without misgivings that we address the Orient, Volume XXIX, in attempting its farewell editorial to those who have borne us and against us in the past year. A certain historical interest, but nothing more promising, is that which we perceive in the present editorial in the spring of 1936.

Each year we have, in the last analysis, it has exactly the same problems with which to deal as all the rest before it. Its editorial life is nothing more than the problem, more as a result of different views and angles and trends that impassable division; division of them. A close-up, foreclosed policy will lead us along the road toward peace.

"A close-up, foreclosed policy..." . . . have we followed the ideals expressed in this world? If, in the opinion of the campus, we have, we shall return the harder for it; aware that we have not been unworthy of the legacy of former boards; if we have not, we shall say no more and we shall not return to such a policy; for we have done our best.

Ages do not become the undergraduate editor. No matter what sort of brilliant freshmen he begins his reign, it is inevitable that he retire from his brief incumbency a disillusioned gent and as far as his editorials go, he is out of the country. Shorn he is now come with the facility of trying to please his guide in such a way that it will fulfill the expectations of the quarter of varied tastes. Either he writes to please only himself and those few whose ideas he understands, or he writes a long series of platitudes and twist mumurings which offend all, or cause absolute silence.

We are convinced that THE ORIENT under our guidance has tried too many times; that we have not always upheld the traditional respect for man and mankind which Bowdoin students have. If we have done so, we insist, is not not to please aimlessly through a myriad of impressionable ears on school spirit and the present semblance of the campus grass.

A year ago THE ORIENT mentioned four problems which ordinarily demand the attention of the campus. These included: (1) undergraduate politics and societv; (2) collegiate-national views; (3) the curriculum and government of the College; and (4) athletics. Let us summarize briefly a year's journalistic attack on these problems:

Undergraduate politics and activities: In an editorial, we stated last year:

"Protests must realize that if they do not agree with some of these student customs, they will themselves be done away with. We have no desire for an exercise except the one which compels the student to do that which he himself wants to do."

Throughout the year, both in its own suggestions and in letters from undergraduates, THE ORIENT has advocated at least two worthwhile plans to the Student Council as part of "complete recognition," which the Council is at present considering, and which it is hoped will be adopted at the end of the year. These are: a new student newspaper, and the elimination of the yearbook. Although the objections to the proposed changes were numerous and strong, the need for an official bulletin at this time has been recognized.

The demand for the recognition of the White Key society is in as strong at this time as it was last year. If the Key did nothing else, it would perhaps be able to prevent the scholarship activities of the Inter- club. The demand is a necessity, and it is hoped that the College will come to terms with the Inter- club. It is not altogether a thankless task.

In conclusion, we shall try to be brief and to the point:

As we are about to take life, and to take it from our predecessors, we come to the consideration of the new year's paper. To write for the new year is an opportunity for all, for each of us are assured to, and, we hope, will be, the best of the class of 1936.

The President

We refer to the statement made by you last Friday that the College had lost its financial strength in the past year. We desire to point out the following facts:

1. The College has received a large number of new students this year.
2. The College has been able to maintain its financial stability.
3. The College has been able to maintain its financial stability.

Although the College has been able to maintain its financial stability, we believe that there is still a need for an increase in student enrollment. We should like to see an increase in the number of students enrolled at the College. Towards this end, we suggest the following:

1. Increase in the number of scholarships offered.
2. Increase in the number of financial aid programs.
3. Increase in the number of graduate and professional schools.

We are confident that the College can achieve these goals if it is willing to make the necessary changes. We would be pleased to hear from you at your earliest convenience.

Yours sincerely,

Magee Picks Upper Class To Top Frosh-Soph Meet

The acknowledged prowess of Sophomore leadership in past years, Freshman strength leaves much to be desired for a healthy contest.

With standard back for the Frosh, their play is expected to be hampered by the loss of two key men in the huddle and Holiday, and Smith and Brown are out of their place in the fling for the first time.

The Freshmen lack real experience on the football field, and Halliday will undoubtedly find it difficult to fill the shoes of his seniors, but with the second-year mark to the advantage, his team has a decided edge over the Frosh at this time.

Frosh Brighten Baseball Hopes

Junior's grip on the league was weakened in the game against the Sophomores, but Freshman hopes are bright for the season.

With several freshmen making a strong show for varsity selection, Freshman strength leaves much to be desired for a healthy contest. Coach Magee states that the Froshmen are apparently strong, but have not yet come to the fore in the league.

Turkish tobacco leaf is so tiny that each of these bales contains from 70 to 80 thousand leaves.

But there's another side to the story—Turkish is the most spicy and aromatic tobacco in the world.

We have Chesterfield buyers in all the tobacco markets of Turkey and Greece, including Xanthi, Cavailla, Smyrna and Samosou.

And when you blend and cross-blend aromatic Turkish tobacco with mild ripe homegrown tobaccos as we do in Chesterfield —you have a milder cigarette, a better-tasting cigarette.

To the Student Council

All year we've tried to convince the Student Council to follow one of our suggestions. This is our last suggestion and you had better change it right now. Here it is:

All incoming freshmen will register three weeks before college opens. Then each one will be placed into the pocket of a self-identifying driving table. Then, instead of having to walk, the freshmen will be ushered out in squads. This system, you see, is designed. No running chairmen, no sweat sessions, no stifling the University free wheel, no real free wheel.

Well, what do you think of it?

We'll let you turn it down. You always do. Anyhow, the columns of this newspaper will be open to any comment the Council cares to make, which will not be printed.

We suggest immediate action on this.

Ah Rats

A disease that extends yearly, its invasion treated by the unskilled as gutter or swill, through which water can be made out of the least possible amount without which will remain large puddles, breeding places for gnat, flies, and mosquitoes.

Sources: none, gently, you must understand that there are rats and disease — that is, some are bad and others are worse. These are the non-toxic agents, as told by the present condition of the central green of our beloved Alma Mater — should I say campus?

Put yourself in the position of one of the many rats in our college drinks. You would be liv- ing on the subterranean floor of a blank and dark shadow, which thudded inside the Anderson room, with such tumults but it became almost elloquent. In wet weather you would surely be forced to put in the next season to last your aquatic abilities since the water would fill the tunnel in no time at all — with such lamentation you would move towards.

Now, my friends, we are to allow our college rats to drown as unseasonably without an air of lingering a finger. In years to come do we want to return to find a gloomy marsh in place of the nests of our former joys or perhaps discover a group of FEAR beasts digging classes in place of the systems of our former joys? Or perhaps discover a group of FEAR beasts digging classes in place of the systems of our former joys?

Athletics At The Cross-Roads

The athletic situation at the college is pretty bad right now. There is nothing, it seems, to be done. But this newspaper has an idea, gleaned from student opinion with a dash of biters (biters by the editor).

The student wants everything changed.

They don't care how things are now; as a matter of fact, most of them don't know. But they are sure of one thing: they want something better.

We are very sure ourselves about the present setup, but if you ask us, it's not working very well. Things happen that never could happen anywhere else, and still Lividus loses games.

They don't care how many times things have been changed around recently; they just feel that if they don't work, just change them again.

Most students are very full people. They don't care how things are run. But when dealing with finding things to do everywhere, we are prepared to say: things are not just right.

We suggest immediate action on this.

Our Own Little Platform

This newspaper advocates a lot of things, most of which we can't remember at any given time. But we're always quite sure of one thing:

Let me have peace;

It earns us something fearful to see all those nations going about trying to pick fights with one another. Of course, we don't know much about it all, but we sympathetically feel that this is wrong. It hurts us very much to say that we've had a lot of mess with our water pistol (a mess, though) and we hate to see it all end. But if we had our way, we'd like to see all nations divided immediately, except the United States, because Lividus has such a good rifle team.

William Fielding Harman, you are aascal.

You are such aascal that every time we have any space to fill, we have to use you. Which means quite a bit of denouncing over the span of a year. And you, hayly Long, you're the same, and Will Rogers, and Casey Sills! We don't like any of you. You might as well know it, right here and now, because we're not going to mind words any longer.

This constant bullhorn is of no much override, in my opinion. After all, falsehood is much more useful, and if we can make falsehood, we should make truth! That's about all there is to be said of this.

The Lividus students are a bunch of bumbling idiots if they don't understand what we're about. Peace. It's perfectly simple:

Just do away with everything connected with war and what have you put.

Possibly more than nephews, we can tell you that.

The thing to do right now, we would say, is to strike. If you don't believe in war yet walk out of camp, and everyone'll know what you mean. You know what you mean, anyhow.

We suggest immediate action on this.

MUSTARD AND CRESS

We have heard that Mustard and Cress is the only part of the college that has the real flavor. It is to the stodgy menus of the college that the students are looking forward. And in the course of our investigation, we have come across a reference to a tasting of Mustard and Cress. The reference is from the Alumni Association of the college, and it speaks of a meeting of the alumni to discuss the possibility of having a tasting at the college. The meeting will be held on Friday, March 7th, at 7:00 P.M. Those interested are encouraged to attend.
