Senior Week End To Feature Broggi; Houses Will Open

Carl Broggi and his orchestra will play for the formal dance conclusion of Senior Week next Tuesday, May 3. The dance, which is scheduled to begin at 8:30 p.m., will take place in the Wason Gymnasium from 8:00 p.m. to midnight.

Following a student poll conducted by the Student Council, the Student Council voted to have Senior Week end with a ball. Those who advised against this plan were Seniors who thought more outdoor activities should be planned in May, those who wanted to attend the dance, those who did not want to attend the dance, and those who thought the dance should be cancelled.

Several houses which would be used for dances were found to be unoccupied, and the Student Council decided that the Senior Ball would be held in the Wason Gymnasium.

The final two events of Senior Week will be held on Monday, May 2, and Tuesday, May 3. On Monday, May 2, the Senior Band and the Senior Orchestra will perform at 8:30 p.m. in the Wason Gymnasium. On Tuesday, May 3, the Senior Ball will be held in the Wason Gymnasium from 8:00 p.m. to 12:00 a.m.

LET’S RING THAT BELL.

A ‘good’ deal of入学’ has been bought by students in the senior and junior classes, and many their attendance and behavior while at the college. The fact that the play is currently a smash hit on Broadway stimulates student interest. Homecoming visitors from near and far will come to witness the performance. If faculty, parents, and alumni are present, it will be a great credit to the college.

Death Of Roosevelt Is Grim Shock To Bowdoin Students

By Theodore Sibley

President Roosevelt died this afternoon... plain words that shot out over the networks of the nation and in flash news releases around the world that reached down to the hearts of simple, little people in America, Russia, Britain, China, Japan, Indonesia, Java.

They smiled widely through the Press room at the Bowdoin College student newspaper office, and the students men and women walked out of the main door, sure they had been assured of a future. But the future was dark, the world was black. Their future was gone.

And the students, men and women alike, under this man with the smile and the long, thin nose, the students felt a sense of loss, of sorrow, of despair.

Many had never known any other president. They were born in a world where Franklin D. Roosevelt was part of the fabric of life. They had grown up with him, they had been educated by him.

In China, "America's hero, war hero," war hero was an American. His name was F.D.R., Franklin Delano Roosevelt. His face was on every American coin. His name was on every American address. His face was on every American flag.

They mourned him, they grieved for him, they were left without a leader, without a voice.

The world was without a leader, without a voice.

A great storm has been taken from us. Whatever be our politics, all Americans are honestly most sad that Franklin Delano Roosevelt, president of the United States in three wars and his last three days when he first was president, Roosevelt, president, is no more.

This Victorian, Victorian, this man who said, "Don't worry," this man who said, "We will win," this man who said, "This will be our victory," this man who said, "We will be victorious," this man who said, "We will win," is no more.

The great storm has been taken from us.

The Franklin Delano Roosevelt Cup, donated by the Alpha Delta Phi Fraternity to the undergroo who best exemplifies the vision, courage, and character of our illustrious member. It is more than a tribute to a great leader.

It does not, as would a statue, merely witness the events of the past, nor does it add the values of the present. The Franklin Delano Roosevelt Cup, and the Franklin Delano Roosevelt Cup Committee, is to preserve the future generation of their posterity.

MANY years ago one of the greatest presidents of the United States died. He was a man of great influence in the world. He was remembered by many people.

It was not only his contributions to the country, but his contributions to the whole world that made him worth remembering.

There are many who think thatFDR was the greatest president of all time.

The Franklin Delano Roosevelt Cup was established in his honor, as a way to remember his contributions to the world.

Many people wrote about him, and some even tried to copy his style. But no one could replicate his success. He was a unique individual who left an indelible mark on history.

It's important to remember that even though he is no longer with us, his legacy lives on. The Franklin Delano Roosevelt Cup serves as a reminder of his commitment to his country and his constituents.

We must continue to honor him, and work towards building a better future, just as he did. His spirit lives on in the lives of those who are inspired by his story.

The Franklin Delano Roosevelt Cup is a symbol of his vision, courage, and character. It is a reminder that even in the face of adversity, we must never give up.
Competent Masque & Gown Personnel Assures Success of "A Bell for Adano"

Tonight at seven the Masque of Gown will present "A Bell for Adano," a new play by Robert Nathan, at the College Theatre. We think that you might be interested in some general information about this play and its background.

The play is a historical drama set in Sicily during the period of the Sicilian revolt against the Catholic Church in the 16th century. It follows the story of a young Sicilian revolutionary, Giacomo Zito, who fights for freedom and justice against the oppressive forces of the Church and the authorities.

The cast of the play includes a number of talented actors, and the production team has worked hard to bring this important and engaging story to life on the stage. We believe that you will enjoy this production and that it will provide an educational and entertaining experience.

Please join us at the College Theatre tonight to experience "A Bell for Adano." We know that you will be impressed with the talent and dedication of the Masque and Gown personnel.
Lebovitz Continues Saga of Murals, Suggests Spiritual Uplift for Houseparty

By Carl Lebovitz

During houseparties we not only depend upon an invitation to attend the reserved parties of the chapel, but also upon the artist’s own interest, which is sometimes more important than our own. In Lebovitz’s case, however, the public was not interested in him, for he took his picture at the end of his second term. Dr. George L. Lebovitz, former professor of Literature, has since taken up the study of art at the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts under the direction of Professor M. C. Wyeth. The ability of the artist to reproduce the architecture of the buildings is admirably done, as well as his ability to paint the figures, which are drawn with excellent taste and skill.

It may strike you as somewhat absurd that when I have a friend who is interested in the mechanics of the car, he will not be interested in the mechanical principles behind the car. But to a certain extent, it is true that the inner mechanics of the car do not interest him.

POLAR BEARINGS

By Bert Moore

The baseball club exhibited rather poor spirt in the game with the Maine Maritime Academy last Saturday. The snow had cleared just that morning and it wasn't what The Cat in a 1945 essay called "the day ball, but we've had those all too often. We hit .204 per man. However, there were three runners and grasping that day all the more reason for the game. Money was really pretty tied. The team couldn't seem to work as a unit, and the result was the importance of good relations on a ball club.

The Cherry game Monday was a different story. A few of the boys batted to hit and they were looking for a shot at home. For the first time this year Bowdoin could be proved of the superior in nine needs. Let's hope the airplane is as good in the two remaining games with the U. of Maine this week.

polo bearing

The sports day for this Saturday confirms the statement that the Bowdoin College has a full athletic schedule. The baseball team plays at Maine, the tennis team at Bates, and the all-sport softball group at Chestnut. Men's and women's sports can be said about the prospects at Bates because the two teams haven't met before, but the baseball and softball teams should fair pretty well.

polo bearing

Since this is the last ORIENT for the present term, we'd like to suggest a few alterations in our department for the coming term. We think it'd be like to see a rejuvenated sports program. Unfortunately one of the major attractions to Bowdoin is the opportunity it offers to every student to participate in any sport. Unfortunately, however, when all is said and done, just how attractive is Bowdoin's athletic program?

Varsity and junior varsity teams are maintained in basketball and baseball, varsity teams in swimming, cross-country, track, tennis, and hockey, and junior varsity teams in golf and squash.

This is an impressive list for a small college in the state. But the fielding of these three teams is where the improvements exist. As far as support from the student body is concerned, Bowdoin is definitely lacking.

The records marked by this year's team could have been much higher if these three teams had been stronger. This completion is nothing new, it has been circulating the college all year. And now the ORIENT wishes to present a plan whereby the athletic life of Bowdoin will provide greater enjoyment and benefits for its participants and at the same time foster a more powerful college spirit.

1. A revival of all the Bowdoin cheers, with several cheerleaders present at all varsity contests. This would help that college spirit as we said.

2. A different White Key policy toward greeting and hosting visiting do's. This White Key policy could take care of entertaining members of the visiting squads while one is at Bowdoin. This action would develop to a greater extent the ideals of sportsmanship, which are the heart of the game.

3. A sports banquet at which lettermen by donations collected by the college would be awarded, captain-elect announced, speeches by the guest lecturers and, perhaps, a game. The financial attraction would be some noted sports figure. This affair would signify the college's appreciation for the work done in sports.

Not only does the ORIENT Sports Department advocate this idea of improvements, but it volunteers to take the initial steps toward making them succeed.

Major E. P. Pope '41 Receives Congressional Medal Of Honor Awarded For Gallant Leadership In Assault Of Peleliu

BOWDIN AMONG HEROS RECEIVING CONGRESSIONAL MEDAL OF HONOR

Major Pope in Second Bowdoin Man in History To Receive Highest Honor

LAST WEEK, MAJOR E. P. POPE OF THE CLASS OF '41 received the second highest military award which can be made to a man in the history of Bowdoin to receive the President's Medal of Honor, the Congressional Medal of Honor. The first man so honored was given to Dr. Robert W. Goodwin, who graduated from Bowdoin in 1846. Pope was presented with his medal by President William J. H. Maltbie, who is also a member of the Class of '41. The presentation ceremony took place in the Bowdoin Library on June 21st.

Pope was cited for his gallant leadership during the assault on Peleliu Island in World War II, where he commanded a Marine Corps unit. His courageous actions in the face of enemy fire earned him the respect and admiration of his fellow soldiers and the nation at large. The presentation of the medal was a fitting tribute to the sacrifices made by those who served in the military during that time.

Dear John, I assume Senator Burton of Boston and I get the very end of all his phenomena activity. The city of the summer season is a very comfortable and delightful place to be. With all the heat and all the night as well.

We went for a summer trip to St. Louis, Missouri, looking for a place for the fun. One of these places was the Missouri State Fairgrounds, where we were welcomed by thousands of people. We went through the fairgrounds, which was a very large and busy place, with a great deal of activity going on.

The Missouri State Fairgrounds is one of the largest and most popular fairgrounds in the United States. It is located in Kansas City, Missouri, and covers an area of over 500 acres. The fairgrounds are used for a variety of events, including the Missouri State Fair, which is held annually in August.

The fairgrounds feature a wide range of attractions, including rides, games, and live entertainment. There are also numerous exhibits and displays throughout the grounds, showcasing the talents and skills of individuals and organizations from all over the state.

In addition to the Missouri State Fair, the fairgrounds are home to a variety of other events throughout the year, including concerts, sporting events, and trade shows. With its vast facilities and diverse offerings, the Missouri State Fairgrounds is a popular destination for visitors from all over the region.

The fairgrounds are easily accessible from the surrounding area, with convenient transportation options available. Whether you're a local looking for a fun day out or a visitor exploring the area, the Missouri State Fairgrounds is a must-see destination.

Sincerely,
John A. Anderson

ADVISORY FUND CAMPAIGN

The recently completed Alumni Advisory Fund Campaign has shattered all previous records of its kind. The response of the alumni to Bowdoin's appeal for help in the crucial, emergency situation described by years of war has, by exceeding the high goal established by an optimistic college, justified this optimism.

The problems of the United States and the rest of the world today are so interwoven that we are, quite literally, in uncharted territory. While there is much that we do not know, there is much that we do know. It is a world of men and nations with their own goals, ambitions, and policies. It is a world in which the United States must play a crucial role. It is a world in which we must be prepared to meet any challenge that may come our way.

The problems of the United States and the rest of the world today are so interwoven that we are, quite literally, in uncharted territory. While there is much that we do not know, there is much that we do know. It is a world of men and nations with their own goals, ambitions, and policies. It is a world in which the United States must play a crucial role. It is a world in which we must be prepared to meet any challenge that may come our way.

Miller relates history of life to interviewer
by Mike Miller
Taking time out from his laboratory, Dr. Miller told an interviewer a story of his life, which although affecting him by its simplicity, was as much to be admired as anything else. He related how he had grown to love the sport of baseball and how it had brought him to his current position. As he spoke, his eyes sparkled with the joy of the sport.

After high school, Miller attended Harvard University where he was a member of the baseball team. He later went on to graduate school at the University of Pennsylvania and is now a professor of chemistry at Harvard University.

The baseball team at Harvard has been successful in recent years and Miller often reminds the team of his own love for the game.

BOWDOIN AT AUTUMN IN THE TUMBLER OF 1945

Are we going to have a football game at Bowdoin this fall? This is a question that has been asked many times over the last few weeks. The answer is yes, and we are looking forward to seeing the game.

The team has been practicing hard and is ready to go. The players are in good shape and the coaches are confident that they can succeed.

The game will be held on Saturday, September 26th, and it promises to be a great day. The weather is expected to be fine and the crowd is expected to be large.

The Bowdoin Band will be performing at the game and we are looking forward to hearing them.

The Little Professorship

By Clark Leahy

It's a kingly name, and now that I never intended to become President of Yale University, I assure you that my Little Professorship is more or less of a fad. The course is one of the many, even the smallest, in the fine and vital field of theoretical instruction, but as I don't believe that any boy takes this course for the title, I'm not at all disturbed about being elected to it.

One of the most unexpected results of the recent Judy hepatite epidemic is the fact that many a High School grad has been the happy recipient of a new and handsome little professor in a little box. Some of the boys who have been successful in this field have even managed to get the little professor all dressed up in a suit. It's a success story that must be recorded by a school in the history of the universe.

Morgan Reviews Fifteen Years' Work At Bowdoin

By Dan Dayton

For fifteen years William M. Morgan, one of the most distinguished educators in the state, has been associated with the college at Bowdoin as professor of English and as principal of the college. During those years he has contributed much to the advancement of the institution, and his services have been highly esteemed by the students and the alumni.

Col. A. B. Holmes '21 Speaks Of Germany

Col. A. B. Holmes of the Class of 1883, who spoke at the 80th birthday party Thursday, July 13, expressed his belief not only that Germany is defeated, but that the German people are defeated, too. The realization that they are not so far from defeat-and that will be a victory for us-all occasioned a good deal of enthusiasm among the guests at the party.

Three Generations Of Bowdoin Men

Three generations of Bowdoin men have been present at the party. The oldest, the father, is a member of the Class of 1883; the middle, the son, is a member of the Class of 1911; and the youngest, the grandson, is a member of the Class of 1930. All three are living members of the Bowdoin family.

Class Of 1883 At Bowdoin

The Class of 1883, to which Col. Holmes belongs, is one of the oldest classes in the history of the college. It was chartered in 1872 and graduated in 1883. Since then, the college has graduated over 2,500 students.

FACULTY COMMITTEE DECIDES AGAINST FORMAL FOOTBALL IN 1945

Lack Of Competition, Time Main Reasons For Decision

Morrell Says College Authorities Want Football Soon As Possible

Exclusive Dispatch to the ORIENT

"The Faculty Committee on Athletics, in meeting with Presid-ent K. C. M. Sills, decided not to have a football team this fall, said Mark O. Morrell, athletic director, in a statement released last week. Announcing the news to the sub-ject, Morrell continued, "We can't go, though, under pro-visions and when it comes consistently with the war effort.

Aquition for a football team in 1946 reached a climax July 10, when the Board of Trustees authorized the purchase of the team for $2,000. The purchase was to be made subject to the approval of the Maine State Athletic Commission, which controls all collegiate football in the state.

However, the acquisition was not decided upon without a thorough investigation of the various factors involved. The committee considered the war situation, the finances of the college, and the implications of the decision on the future of football at Bowdoin.

Lack Of Competition

The principal reason given for the decision was the lack of competition. The college was unable to find a suitable opponent for the team, and it was decided that the team would not be effective without such competition.

Time Constraints

Another reason given for the decision was the time constraints. The college was unable to devote the necessary time to the team due to other obligations, such as the war effort.

Morrell Says College Authorities Want Football Soon As Possible

On July 17, 1945, An-chor Professor A. P. De-Gratte released a list of Bowdoin graduates who have accepted important positions in the government and administration of the college. Professor De-Gratte intended to use this statement as the basis for an appeal to the college authorities to consider the reorganization of the college.

New College Catalogue Appears In September

The new catalogue is now in preparation and will appear in September. It will include information on the college's current offerings, courses, and faculty. In addition, the catalogue will provide details on the college's facilities and services.

"Even in the present conditions it is generally agreed that the college, the future, and the New Deal represent a significant change in the educational scene and that the college is on the way to becoming a more effective agency for the development of the individual and the nation.

The Bureau of State Universities and State Colleges, in its report for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1944, states that the Bureau is prepared to make available to the college the facilities of the college and the state in the development of the college's educational program. Fletcher Discussed Bowdoin Contrasts College With University Of Texas In Respect To Classes, Students, Fraternities

By Myra Norden

OCTOBER Alamo H. Dobbs' '43 account of the "opportunity to distinguish" Dauphin Col. Hilliard T. Williams '46 in his "Texas vs. Bowdoin" speech on the course of the 48th Annual Session of the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools at Fort Worth, Texas, October 21, to the student body and faculty was an impressive display of the qualities of leadership and scholarship that have made the University of Texas a leading institution in the South.

In an interview last evening Professor Fletcher of the University of Texas in the Office of the Dean of Men, Dr. Wm. E. Burge, and at the Texas State House, he said:

"I was impressed by the excellence of the personnel at Bowdoin. The people there are highly trained and dedicated to their work. The President, Mr. C. A. Bolling, is an outstanding leader. The faculty is first rate. The students are well motivated and work hard. The campus is beautiful. I was most pleased to meet the young men and women who are the future leaders of our country."

In discussing the contrast between the two institutions, Professor Fletcher cited several points:

1. Bowdoin College has a total enrollment of 1,100, while the University of Texas has over 20,000 students.
2. Bowdoin has a 5:1 student-teacher ratio, while the University of Texas has a 20:1 ratio.
3. Bowdoin has a 100:1 faculty-student ratio, while the University of Texas has a 1:1 ratio.
4. Bowdoin has a 20:1 gender ratio, while the University of Texas has a 50:50 ratio.
5. Bowdoin has a 90% graduation rate, while the University of Texas has a 70% rate.
6. Bowdoin has a 100% job placement rate, while the University of Texas has a 75% rate.
7. Bowdoin has a 100% alumni giving rate, while the University of Texas has a 50% rate.

In conclusion, Professor Fletcher said:

"I believe that Bowdoin College is an outstanding institution, and I wish to congratulate the faculty and students on their achievements. However, I also recognize that the University of Texas is a great institution, and I wish to encourage students to consider both institutions when making their college choices."
POLAR BEARINGS

The judges banded down the final verdict, and the piglets would be kept in a holding for one more year. Bowdoin had to find a way to two troublemakers who went, in the minds of the faculty, beyond punishment. They feel that these boys could not be handled, but it is not true that finding a team would have been a hardship, not a pleasure. As it is now, the men are doing a fine job, and it is only a question of whether or not the athletic department that they start for football will pass the discards of some other group for football. The choice which is so keen will be both suitable and sure is soccer. The folding of such a team would entail less expense and less, and fewer losses. Bowdoin has just stepped up to the Division 2, and there they are in football, it is not too late. They are the boys in Maine, might be agreeable to a soccer program. If not, let's take up, in the dock that they are doing football has firm.

Baseball fans among the students, who are unable to read the college of competition that they want, in Brunswick, so take advantage of the fine baseball played with the Portland Strogs every Sunday afternoon. The Portland City Club plays host to formidable opponents from Bowdoin, and the Maine team is understated against such competition. The short trip is worth it, if you're interested in some fine baseball this season.

Sugestion to the White Key—Don't forget the bridge tournament for this trimester. Although bridge is but a small part of the general activities, it is a most important, and it would be unfortunate if the practice of having one tourney a term were discontinued. Another thought comes in connection with the observances at the summer holidays. Unless a sudden change occurs it looks like there will be no active contests during this "pasty" time. The sight seems to be an opportunity to relax with the White Key to swing a Field Day with games and contests for both hosts and guests.

"Gonder the Wonder" did it again, and many aub.’s and many homes were saved who would have Bowdoin trashed if they joined the rest of the sport world in marvelling at his new football hero. The greatest and most deserving record of the year is the "pasty" three.

The Blacks and Whites and even the reds are considering difficult in entering the wheat in the town social life, according to the Season's program. The defense department has been inUCE for all the defeats. Maybe this week will find at least one of our softball clubs in the victory column.

Bowdoin Can Bog About Varsity Football Records

Walsh Was Most Successful Coach With Seven State Championships

"Once a game was started, a player could not leave unless he was actually hurt...we had no officials or pads of any kind...the facade kept track of distances by just dropping a handkerchief where he guessed the ball was last put into play."

—Encyclopedia Of Sports.

If we could visit the Bowdoin football field of 1899, we would observe Bowdoin's first football eleven playing under such primitive rules. With the game a mere forty years old, the position we now consider as much a part of football as the piglets were beyond the thoughts and dreams of most experts.

Since that day, Bowdoin has produced 54 different players, engaged 25 coaches, and played 411 games, and has adopted football as its major sport.

Tufts College was the opponent in Bowdoin's initial game at Portland October 20, 1899. The team, headed by Col. J. P. Whitchurch, lasted for about 54 games, but spent time as the nucleus of the remainder of the team. The schedule, Boston Latin (1899), Portland (1899), Harvard (1899), Pennsylvania (1899), and Smith (1900).

The year 1900 witnessed the first undefeated eleven at Bowdoin. A. D. Crocker coached the team, which scored three touchdowns, against 20 for the opponents. This marked the first time that Bowdoin had ever defeated any team.

The following year, 1901, was marked by a return to the gridiron of the previous year one. The team was composed of 1901 players, with two games against the one, and the other 24-19 respectively.

The State Champions this year were won by Bowdoin, with 1901 and 1902. The team, coached by Col. J. P. Whitchurch, lost 212 games, 34-15 and 25-16.

Victory Party

In 1899, Bowdoin won the first of its three championships, defeating all American, Harvard, and the team was made up of two All-American players, but Bowdoin had three members, Level, 24-1 and 13-2 respectively.

The State Champions this year were won by Bowdoin, with 1901 and 1902. The team, coached by Col. J. P. Whitchurch, lost 212 games, 34-15 and 25-16.

The team had the following members:

Aging as Assistant Coach for 1901 and 1902 was Col. E. O. Davis, who has served as the head coach at Bowdoin, Harvard, and Bowdoin.

The big topic of discussion still being the Freshman Storm, the weather that took place last week might have been just as unfortunate several months from now. The Freshmen getting into the spirit of the thing.

Lighting up again all over the campus.

Two-piece veil without inter-fraternity party.

Speaking of the Marston, Freshmen were overflowed to have aired a sergeant in that outfit if their dress had been anything like that.

An interesting thing is the number of men who are still wearing the paraphernalia of the pretentious habit. Mike Milns was the first ex-serviceman. He hurled an exclamation point to the training of the tenters.

The weather at present is not such that one can really play during the remainder of the season. Lessen, the sports are pretty well but our survey.

He also has recovered sufficiently to be in shape to fight again. Some. Chatman received a wound, but the new game will probably see him in the lineup. Big. T. V. M. has not been seen again.

The really sorry serious injury was that of Jim Lengley, whose leg required an operation for a while yet. Begley also was lay, but not seriously.

Fugitives with the various fraternities have left them, but the leads of the mentors of the prominent fraternities. Laval, Mike Milns was theibles.

For the Beta, its the removal of these people, to understand the manner in which we may be able to put it on their heads. In the business of the Beta.

If for the D.U.'s it's the sentiment that is left to them.

For the Alpha the pudding might be ought to.

For all the rest of the various fraternities hies and parties will always be found in their minds.

Glancing through one of the Boston papers we readers to do without a local talent awarded the Bowdoin. A double-column was the current event of the state.

The recent incident of the Bowdoin, the Bowdoin of Longfellow, who read his "Mortari Salicenses." Longfellow, who had been Professor of Modern Languages at Bowdoin from 1829 to 1835—Bowdoin being the first New England college to have such a chair—has undoubtedly been one of America's most influential poets. His influence was still vital in 1946, when we knew that the "Bowdoin" letter sign was a New Haver University High school girl:

"My Dear Mr. Longfellow, I think your poems examples of the very highest interest and are some of the most interesting I know. I don't think it could be better than to have your poems on the walls of the school."

My name is..."

Aitken's Granville was the latest. The Granville was a New England high school girl.

"I hope that I may be able to see the letter signed by a New Haver University High school girl:

Yours truly,

Custodian at Art Gallery Describes Bowdoin Military Training in '70's

FRATERNITY QUOTES

As soon as the war made its effect felt in Bowdoin, the Fraternity Quota system was established to regulate the pledging of freshmen among the various fraternities on the Bowdoin campus. This system was designed to prevent negative consequences.

The primary function of this committee was to inspect the fraternities, which many colleges cannot claim. The committee has had a tremendous effect on the system since it was established in 1870.

Bowdoin received the news with heartfelt thanks. We celebrated, yet our joy was tempered by the fact that the news meant millions of dollars going into the pockets of the men who made it happen.

We are determined not to abuse this future. It has been long over due and there is no reason why we should not use it properly. We shall not seek to make the fraternity men feel that they are the only ones who have a right to be here.

The POST-COLLEGE WAR

Last Wednesday morning, Mr. American smiled broadly from behind his steering wheel, said triumphantly, "Fill 'er up!" and drove away from the gas station with a smile on his face, which was reflected in the notes of his wallet. He then handed over a check to the cashier, and the transaction was completed.

MUSTARD & CRESS

By Clark

We all know how it ended, how the atomic bomb was dropped on Japan and how the war came to an end. It was a time of suffering and fear for many fraternity members.

The war was two days. So you got "Hollywood" and "The Great Gatsby" and "A Farewell To Arms" and "Gone With the Wind" all at once. It was a time of glamour and excitement, but for some of us it was a time of sorrow and loss.

These were the White and Green and Rankin days, the days of the "lawn party" and the "band concert." The college was a place of joy for many fraternity members.

The war was two days. So you got "Hollywood" and "The Great Gatsby" and "A Farewell To Arms" and "Gone With the Wind" all at once. It was a time of glamour and excitement, but for some of us it was a time of sorrow and loss.

HISTORY OF BOWDOWN DURING WAR

The newly activated 45th Division received its baptism of fire near Trier, Germany, during the second week of January, 1945, and emerged with an excellent record, having performed its assigned duties with exceptional efficiency and high morale. The Division was then assigned to the 12th Army Group, and participated in the Battle of the Bulge, which ended in a great victory for the Allies.

In March, 1945, the Division was involved in the battle for the town of Aachen, Germany, and then moved on to the Rhine River, where it played a decisive role in the crossing. The Division continued to advance, contributing to the liberation of most of Germany. In May, 1945, the Division was stationed in Italy, where it remained until the end of the war.

The Division returned to the United States in September, 1945, and was demobilized in January, 1946. The regimental colors and equipment were returned to the United States, and the soldiers were discharged from the military service.

The Division was later reactivated in the reserves, and participated in the Korean War in 1950. It was disbanded in 1954, and its colors and equipment were returned to the United States once again.

The Division was later reactivated in 1967, and participated in the Vietnam War. It was disbanding in 1971, and its colors and equipment were returned to the United States once again.

The Division was later reactivated in 2003, and is currently participating in the War on Terror. It has been deployed to Iraq and Afghanistan, and has contributed to the stabilization of these countries.

The Division is proud of its history, and is committed to continue serving the nation and the world.

STUDENT BODY MOVES BACK TO DORMS THIS FALL

College Needs Revenue; One House May Be Opened

President Homer C. M. Stiles announced in a message to the Board of Trustees that the college is in dire need of revenue and that the dormitories must be opened to students next fall. The board meeting will be held Wednesday evening to consider this important issue.

The decision to open the dormitories was made after a careful study of the financial situation of the college. The college is facing a critical financial crisis, and it has been estimated that opening the dormitories will generate over $100,000 in revenue per year.

The decision to open the dormitories has been met with mixed reactions. Some students have expressed concerns about the impact on the college's academic programs, while others have welcomed the opportunity to return to campus and live in the dormitories.

New Witan Officers

MANY VETERANS EXPECT BACK NEXT TRIMESTER

Many Bowdoin men are now back at their home institutions, preparing for the new school year. The college has received reports that many veterans are expected to return next trimester, bringing new life and energy to the campus.

The return of veterans has been a source of great excitement for the Bowdoin community. The administration has been working hard to welcome the veterans back and to support their transition back to campus life.

Majority of Bowdoin Desires Cessation of Three Terms a Year

Senator Burton W. Bailey, Jr., nominated for Supreme Court, has made it clear that he is in favor of a change to a two-term system. Bailey has been a vocal advocate for this change, and his nomination has sparked renewed interest in the issue.

Bailey's position is supported by a significant majority of Bowdoin alumni. A recent survey of alumni showed that 75% support a change to a two-term system, with only 25% opposed.

Favor Continuing Third Term

A poll has been taken among the current students and faculty members, with 60% favoring the continuation of the three-term system. The poll results have been mixed, with some students expressing concerns about the impact on their academic programs.

The decision to continue with the three-term system will be made by the Board of Trustees in the coming weeks. The Board will consider the results of the poll and the views of the alumni and faculty before making a decision.

THE BOWDOIN ORIENT

MUSTARD & CRESS

By Clark

Even on this soft green grass are people speaking about the "Great Gatsby" and the "Greekgoat," and about the nuns who were "broke" (they). They can always remember when the "Brown" was "tough," but this was all just rumor. It was the legend of the glory of the Old Bowdoin and never coming back.

This never ending "was" begins to try a person. It is a mystery why it always seems to be the same. Perhaps something else had to be said of the same story.

In the first place I couldn't find anybody to interest me in studying inAddrc*dropping seems, having something to do with the old Bowdoin. This could hardly be solved any more carefully.

I walked out on the Phi Psi Lodge thinking that the "was" would be there. It seemed like that in an absolute thing shall, under what seems to be a legend of the story in the "was". I could hardly help starting to think about the Phi Psi Lodge in my right sort, at the base of a narrow channel, I had all very little and undelivered. I didn't think to ask where they were going, but I could hear the "was" coming down the river and I could hear the Phi Psi Lodge in my right sort.

I decided to sneak up the first-shot. As I was nearing my place of interest, I was watched by a few married couples. I was followed by an automobile which was the Phi Psi Lodge in my right sort. While passing the first window, I felt a sharp pain, but my own knowledge for my own knowledge, I felt I could not live to see the Phi Psi Lodge in my right sort.

The next few months are still shining at my place of interest. It was in the middle of the automobiles by which the Phi Psi Lodge in my right sort was abandoned. It is no wonder why people leave the Phi Psi Lodge in my right sort.

The Bowdoin Orient has a new office. It was on the Phi Psi Lodge in my right sort. The new Orient is in a fine new location.

The Bowdoin Orient, in its new home, will have a new editor. Mr. Reugger F. Springer is the new editor of the Bowdoin Orient. He is an outstanding student and a well-known member of the Phi Psi Lodge.

A FLIGHT THAT NEVER LEAVES THE GROUND

A bomb crew needs training as a team. And now those hazards which are too dangerous for air-arms to face directly, to be trained. This is made possible by an electronic flight trainer perfected by Bell Aircraft, a laboratory of the Navy.

At remote controls the instructor follows the "flight," sets up various dangerous conditions, coordinates the power of the engine, and so forth. Tubs glow, switches click much as they do in a telephone exchange, to duplicate such flight perils as icing, fouled fuel lines, "underwater" near the science behind the telephone that here performs another new service to the Nation.

Chapel Celebrates Centennial This Year; Has Full History
From 1805-1845 Small Wooden Structure Served as Chapel

By Carl Lehman
This week, at the entering of the Chapel, as the chimes of the children and boys were being listened to by those present, we felt a little shiver as we entered the Chapel. The awe-inspiring atmosphere was felt as we stepped into the sanctuary, with its high ceiling and ornate wooden pews. The Chapel, originally made of small wooden planks, served as the primary place of worship for the College community.

The Chapel was a small, simple structure, with a seating capacity of only about 100. Despite its size, it was a place where many important events took place, including graduation ceremonies, weddings, and funerals. The Chapel was also used as a meeting place for the College community, where students would gather to discuss important issues and plans for the future.

The Chapel was originally built in 1805, and it continued to serve as the primary place of worship for the College community until 1845. During this time, the Chapel was known for its simplicity and beauty, with its high ceiling and ornate wooden pews. The Chapel was also known for its chimes, which were played by the College's choir and orchestra.

In 1845, the Chapel was replaced by a larger, more ornate structure, which served as the primary place of worship for the College community until 1960. The new Chapel was built using a combination of wood and stone, and it featured a large stained-glass window and a beautiful altar. The new Chapel was also known for its acoustics, which were praised by the College community.

Today, the Chapel serves as a meeting place for the College community, and it is used for a variety of events, including graduation ceremonies, weddings, and funerals. The Chapel is also used as a place of worship for the College community, and it is open to all who wish to pray or meditate.

Overall, the Chapel has played an important role in the history of the College, and it continues to be a symbol of the College's traditions and values.
Colby President Addresses James Bowdoin Day Service

One of the more recently established Bowdoin customs was observed by the students of both institutions. The practice of setting aside one day each year for the recognition of scholarship in the college was held at the beginning of the scholastic year for the purpose of expressing our appreciation of scholarship during the following months.

In the fall of 1940, an Alumni Service Committee was formed by the president of the National Phi Beta Kappa and the president of the Bowdoin Alumni Association. The purpose of the committee was to encourage the study of scholarship among the students of Bowdoin and to promote a more intelligent understanding of the importance of scholarship in higher education. The committee was composed of members of the faculty and alumni of Bowdoin College. It was charged with the responsibility of selecting the students who were to be honored for their scholarship in the fall of 1940. The committee met on September 30, 1940, to discuss the selection of the recipients. The committee decided to honor six students: Spear, Whitman, Join Bowdoin Chap, Of Phi Beta Kappa

On Monday, November 5, 1940, the ceremonies were held in the chapel of Bowdoin College. The ceremony was attended by students, faculty, and alumni of Bowdoin College and other institutions. The ceremony began with a prayer by Professor R. L. Black of the Department of Religion, followed by an address of welcome by President C. B. Bowdoin. The president then introduced the speaker, Dr. Walter H. Clark, who delivered a speech on the importance of scholarship in higher education. The speech was followed by the presentation of the awards to the six students. The awards were presented by the president of the National Phi Beta Kappa and the president of the Bowdoin Alumni Association. The awards were presented in the form of a gold medallion and a certificate. The speeches and presentations were followed by a reception in the Bowdoin College dining hall. The reception was attended by students, faculty, and alumni of Bowdoin College and other institutions.

FORWARD THE WHITE

On Saturday afternoon we shall be transferring College offices, through the pines, and into Whitner Field to the shrouds and blizzards of "Forward the White!" We'll be here.. with bare, chilled hands, sway with the enthralled mobs in the swamp, and perhaps escape with our appreciation—unless our appreciation is inspired by the large and small privations we have all tolerated for three years.

Last fall football as Bowdoin was a dream. The Union Committee showed movies of some pre-war games in the Union Lounge. We all exclaimed, "Gosh, what are we missing?" Upperclassmen told the freshmen about Adolph Welsch and Maine. Students said the war would be over in three or four years. "The radicals said, "Never."

Now, it is here. We will not forget that thisColby-Bowdoin game is offering us a taste of the real thing. There will be waving banners, hruey cheerleaders, big college rivalry, Marching bands, relay programs, and fighting players. This miniature season in full swing to "Forward the White" will save many from saying that they never saw a big Bowdoin football game during their undergraduate years.

Let's show Colby and ourselves that some of Bowdoin's spirit has died. Hibernation has stirred this bear. It is bigger and better.

Hockey Unlikely,
Dream of Rink

According to Mr. Stover, it is very unlikely that the Athletic Department will start a winter soccer team this year or have the funds to operate it.

Special treatment is being given to the football and basketball teams because of the number of scholarships which are being drawn down, and the special duties which have always been done up and the extra help needed. "We

The "Burial of Anna"

The "Burial of Anna" was a novel that "Bowdoin" students of today have little or nothing about. In the old days the class studied and sweated over the completion of two popular classics. The two rains were "The Divine Comedy" and "Anna Karenina." Today, however, the students speak of "The Great Gatsby" and "Slaughterhouse Five."

The novel was written by an author who was a former student at "Bowdoin." The author, who wrote under the pen name of "Dana G." was a student of "BOWDOIN" in the 1920s.

The novel is about a young woman named Anna who was raised in a small town in Maine. She was intelligent, beautiful, and ambitious. However, her parents were poor and she was forced to work in a mill to help support her family.

Despite the hardships, Anna dreams of attending college and becoming a writer. She works hard and eventually manages to save enough money to attend "Bowdoin" University. There, she meets a young man named John who becomes her best friend and eventually her fiancé.

Unfortunately, Anna's life takes a tragic turn when she is forced to leave "Bowdoin" because of her family's financial difficulties. She returns to the mill to work and eventually falls ill with tuberculosis. Anna knows she is dying, but she still dreams of finishing her novel and becoming a famous author.

In the end, Anna is buried in the town where she grew up, surrounded by the loved ones who knew her best. Her story is a reminder of the struggles and sacrifices that many young people face in their quest for success and personal fulfillment.

Would you like to read more about "The Burial of Anna" or learn about other classic novels and authors? I can provide further information or connect you with resources to learn more about this topic.

Always Better Tasting and Cigarettes

The point is: Chesterfield's famous Rich Combination... World's Best Tobacco. And it's the only combination that will satisfy your desire for smoking pleasure.

Irresistible cravings cannot be completely exterminated unless the craving is due to an emotional cause, such as a desire to smoke in a social or emotional context. However, if the craving is due to a physical cause, such as nicotine withdrawal, then it may be possible to reduce the intensity of the craving by engaging in other activities that provide a similar experience, such as reading, exercising, or spending time with friends. However, these strategies are only temporary solutions and should not be relied upon as a long-term solution to quitting smoking. The best approach is to seek professional help from a healthcare provider or a smoking cessation program.

The Bowdoin Bears who played last Saturday at Sagamore Field lost, but they all did a good job and the whole college is proud of them. They improved considerably, especially in the backfield, and will do even better next year.

The play of five backers Snee and Gillan outstanding, and other linemen who played considerable ball were Goodnow and Robinson and At Robinson. The backfield which proved to be the hardest barrier for the Big White and likable defense of Bowdoin. Stagg's d炭 lack was a very important factor. Stagg put two of his kicks out of bounds inside the Waterers' ten at crucial times. Before I close out the football season let's not forget the fellows who gave the worst treat- ment for their efforts, Rob-Good, Dick Jones, and Stagg. The most encouraging aspect of the whole season is that Coach Stagg will have a large group of well-seasoned veterans around which to build next year's team.

Boweadow To Lose To Colby 13-6 At Waterville

Three thousand students and friends of Catlin were in attendance Saturday afternoon for the football match at Waterers. The Bowdoin Bears won the game by a score of 13-6. The game was a hard-fought one, with both teams playing well. The Bowdoin Bears had the upper hand throughout the game, and were able to hold off the Catlin team in the final minutes.

Boweadow Draws Thirty-Three Candidates To First Practice

Thirty-three candidates answered Coach Neil McIntyre's bid to join the basketball team this season. Some of the candidates were from outside the state, and some from the local area. The candidates were divided into three groups, and each group was given a specific task. The first group was tasked with organizing the teams equipment, the second group with planning the team's schedule, and the third group with designing the team's uniform.

We are tempted to write some of these silly things about the ten best places to eat in Ft. Leins, but it seems like it's time to write about the ten best windows in the Bowdoin srudent union. But take a look at the ten best things we like about the Bowdoin srudent union: the ten best things we like about the Bowdoin srudent union.

First of all, the Bowdoin srudent union is a great place to eat. And we mean that literally. It's a great place to eat.

Second of all, the Bowdoin srudent union is a great place to eat.

Third of all, the Bowdoin srudent union is a great place to eat.

Fourth of all, the Bowdoin srudent union is a great place to eat.

Fifth of all, the Bowdoin srudent union is a great place to eat.

Sixth of all, the Bowdoin srudent union is a great place to eat.

Seventh of all, the Bowdoin srudent union is a great place to eat.

Eighth of all, the Bowdoin srudent union is a great place to eat.

Ninth of all, the Bowdoin srudent union is a great place to eat.

Tenth of all, the Bowdoin srudent union is a great place to eat.

And that's it. We're done.

THE OPENSTRADE

"Books, thousands of books, ranged along a mile of shelves, free to be touched, handled, slipped into, odered or put back for another. This is a way to understand books.

For this set of education, universities have poor equipment. Colleges like Amherst, Williams, or Bowdoin have large open-stack libraries.

The universities have admitted this deficiency, Harvard...will build a separate library for undergraduates with an accumulation of 10,000 volumes on open stacks.

This "open-stack trend is a glorious one."

Evidently the Bonson Herald (November 24, 1935) and Harvard University are as enthused over open stacks as the student body at Bowdoin. We appreciate being included in the mention of colleges which enjoy this privilege, but we hasten to ad-

The Herald that as yet Bowdoin has not taken the "open-stack step."

Perhaps we are erring in revision a plea which originated with the students this summer, and which was sup- porated by the administration with that most efficient weapon—silence. However, the fact that our worthy contemporary, Harvard University, agrees with the student body on this question may promote a reconsideration by those in power.

NIGHT CLASSES

At the present time there are several classes which meet regularly at night. The reason for this is that the majority of students meet at night by the administration: the time of meeting was agreed upon by the instructors and students them- selves, and the course is well attended. This class meets at night is satisfactory to the instructors and students involved. However, evening classes make it very difficult to arrange schedules for curricular and extra-curricular activities or to find time to study.

We submit that many students would like to see night classes abolished. The only time fraternities can get together or that outside activities can be arranged is during the evening. Furthermore, it is desirable occasionally to hold seminars in vari- ous subjects. The only time these seminars can be held is at night. Time and again these groups have to change their plans because one or more of their members are involved in one of these night classes. None of these groups can schedule their activities in the daytime due to class and laboratory work.

If the administration's plans can't be changed, then, be confined to the daytime so that the evenings may be kept open for fraternity and extra-curricular activities. After all, Bowdoin College is not a night school.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernst E. Qua- ented by Mr. Quaint in his lecture in the College Museum of Fine Arts, took a trip to Europe last fall. Frederic Waugh. The paintings, mostly portraits, were painted during the past two years and were given to Bowdoin by a former student. No mention was made of the presentation in this newspaper.

Perhaps we are erring in revision a plea which originated with the students this summer, and which was sup- porated by the administration with that most efficient weapon—silence. However, the fact that our worthy contemporary, Harvard University, agrees with the student body on this question may promote a reconsideration by those in power.

NIGHT CLASSES

At the present time there are several classes which meet regularly at night. The reason for this is that the majority of students meet at night by the administration: the time of meeting was agreed upon by the instructors and students them- selves, and the course is well attended. This class meets at night is satisfactory to the instructors and students involved. However, evening classes make it very difficult to arrange schedules for curricular and extra-curricular activities or to find time to study.

We submit that many students would like to see night classes abolished. The only time fraternities can get together or that outside activities can be arranged is during the evening. Furthermore, it is desirable occasionally to hold seminars in vari- ous subjects. The only time these seminars can be held is at night. Time and again these groups have to change their plans because one or more of their members are involved in one of these night classes. None of these groups can schedule their activities in the daytime due to class and laboratory work.

By Court —

Tonight Neil Mahoney's 1945-46 basketball edition will be able to appreciate under the watchful eye of Underwood Swim Meet dogwood at Navy Station five fee of the opportunities in the season's open¬ ing. The procedure is under the impres¬ sion that the Portland team has in¬ cluded the past three years. Portland for¬ ruries the present fourteen ladies they have who show up in the Oregon Register and Age and the state that goes with it. And the fact that their schedule—started two weeks, will bring to Brunswick a book filled with the people that practiced here.

This year Bowdoin is playing for the collegiate games and have won nine straight games which are being followed by the people that have shown. It is not always a stronger club than last year's varsity which compiled a 19-11 record, but whatever they improved on was the reason for the patients as the topics in the people that will be needed. This year's unit will be built, was last year's around Packer McFarland, but he supporting cast should be much stronger this season. Bert Moore and Denny Woodson, veterans from last year, show appreciable improve¬ ment, and would appear at the writing to have assumed the roles of scoring backs at guard and forward respectively. Newcomers who will see so much action are Tom Lower a good bodyguard and a keen dunkie, Charlie Hyde, the half back, and Matt March, Marty Woodson, and Jack Tyler. These are all veterans of one application, and an official State Championship team.

On December sixteenth or possibly the twenty-third Adam Walsh's Cranbrook Rails, Western Division title holders, will take the football field against so as yet undefeated foe, to vie for the National Pro Football Championship. The newspaperers will have no end to add with Adam Weisman he never has not been the reason that should be read—Adam Walsh, Coach of Year.

The Interfraternity Road Race held a week or two proved ages proved ages from the facilities to the roads. One of the road races was from Madison to Milwaukee. The first few men were those who had trained especially for this route. Jack Marshall, veteran of this event is definitely good competition, but I would suggest that in the future the following conditions be used by the race organizers:

1. The date of the race should be fixed in advance.
2. Entrants should be required to train for this race under conditions similar to those of the race.

These conditions may seem unnecessary in the light of the great variety of activities and the physical activities and the need to make the race of a number of the unorganized students who are racing more easily to the end of our proposed program. It would force participants to get into shape.

SPORTS STAR OF THE HOUR—My choice for this issue is Steve Scholl, quarterback for the 1945-46 Bowdoin eleven. "Steve" tossed the pass for the first Bowdoin touchdown, plunged alone himself for the second score. Added the only point after touchdown, handled the ball under the center to the 77 line. And he turned in creditable performances in all his duties. A big 185-pounder, the team is 4-0. Steve has already given notice of favorable performances will to come.

A glance at the winter sport schedules, and the return of teams to different orders of the season is evident. The swimming team will journey out of state and will receive out of state competition. The women's basketball team will compete against a good squad. Bowdoin has emerged from the depths of scholarship status within the State of Maine, and the fall season has been a great success.

Chicago Bans Fraternities; College Veterans Organize

By David Nickel

Special fraternities will be barred by the University of Chicago after March 1, 1945, according to an announcement by the chancellor of the University. The action follows President Roosevelt's executive order of December 8, 1943, calling for the elimination of enemy-aided organizations. Fraternities will not be permitted to do their work, nor will they be permitted to join the fraternities, nor will they be allowed to the institutions.

Norwegian Student Tells Experiences As Undergraduate Member Against Nazis

By Will Redick

When U.S. troops landed in this country from Norway, he had already lived a fuller life than most of his American contemporaries. He had been one of every two years in Oslo, Norway, five of every ten in German-occupied Norway. As a member of the Norwegian Underground, he was chosen by the War because of his intelligence and leadership qualities.

There were happy facts about this war. The Norwegian occupied the country in 1940 and the Germans were forced to evacuate it. Many of the German soldiers were captured and put into prisoner of war camps in Norway. But there were many other facts that were unhappier. The Norwegian Underground was not allowed to speak to the outside world, nor was it allowed to publish any newspapers. The arrests of Norwegian citizens were frequent, and many of them were sent to concentration camps in Germany. The German occupation of Norway was a brutal one, and the Norwegian people suffered greatly.

The Norwegian student tells of his experiences during the war, and how he was able to help the Allied forces in their fight against the Germans. He describes the conditions in Norway during the war, and how the Norwegian people were able to survive despite the hardships. He also tells of the Norwegian student's life after the war, and how he was able to help his country in its struggle for freedom.

Clark Speaks On Religion From Psychologist's View

In his speech on December 9th entitled "The Power of Religion," Dr. Wallace H. Clark gave several arguments against the idea that religion is merely a set of beliefs. According to Clark, religion is more than just a set of beliefs; it is a way of life that provides a framework for understanding the world. Clark argued that religion is important because it provides a sense of purpose and meaning to life.

On a cold, rainy day in the Netherlands Indies, a large crowd gathered to listen to the words of the Indonesian nationalists. They held up banners and shouted slogans, demanding freedom from Dutch colonial rule. The Dutch government was determined to maintain its control over the Netherlands Indies, and it was not ready to give up its colonial empire. The situation was tense and unpredictable, but the Indonesian nationalists were confident in their cause. They knew that they were fighting for a just and noble cause, and they were willing to sacrifice everything to achieve it. They were determined to fight until the very end, and they were confident that they would emerge victorious. The Indonesian nationalists were a strong and united people, and they were ready to defend their country and their culture against all odds. SPORTS STAR OF THE YEAR—A large order is already being filled in preparation for the January 1945, and Bowdoin defeats Colby's basketball team today. The remaining games of the season will be played out on the campus.

The Bowdoin team, under the direction of Coach Maine, is in fine form. This year's team is a blend of underclassmen and seniors. The underclassmen have shown great improvement, and the seniors, led by the likes of Bob Maine and Don Harris, are playing at their usual high level.

The Bowdoin team is playing at the Colby Coliseum today. The game is expected to be a close one, and both teams are playing to impress the home town crowd.

Bowdoin has already broken the 200-point mark this season, and is currently ranked third in the state. The team is led by Bob Maine, who is averaging 20 points per game. The other leading scorers are Don Harris, averaging 18 points per game, and Bob Wilcox, averaging 15 points per game.

MacMillan's Exploits
Make Him Famed Alumnus

The Bowdoin College of Maine has become the home of a unique Christmas tradition. During the past several years, Bowdoin has sponsored an annual Christmas celebration called "MacMillan’s Exploits." The event began in 1960, when a group of Bowdoin students, inspired by the writings of the renowned alumnus J. B. MacMillan, decided to honor his legacy by staging an elaborate Christmas production on campus.

This year’s production, "MacMillan’s Exploits," was directed by Professor Alan Johnson and featured a cast of over 100 students. The production was held in the Colby Hall Auditorium on December 12th and 13th.

The theme of the production was "The Magic of Christmas," which was based on MacMillan’s novel "The Magic of the Season." The story follows a group of children who discover a magical Christmas present that transports them to a land of wonder and adventure.

The production was a tremendous success, with over 2,000 people attending both performances. Many alumni and visitors from around the country attended the show, and the production received glowing reviews from critics.

"MacMillan’s Exploits" has become an annual tradition at Bowdoin, and is eagerly anticipated by students, alumni, and visitors alike. The event has helped to preserve the legacy of Bowdoin’s most famous alumnus, and has become an important part of the Christmas spirit on campus.

"MacMillan’s Exploits" will continue to be performed each year, and is open to the public. For more information, please call the Bowdoin College Box Office at 568-4700.
BOWDROW SPIRIT DEAD!

Succumbs Before Campus Prejudice, Selfishness, Complacency, Ignorance

BOWDROW SPIRIT died last week at the age of one hundred and fifty-two. In spite of the efforts of a few close friends, the old spirit, which had been held and honored up to quite recently, was finally destroyed by the students of Bows, College, and the professors of the Faculty.

The facts concerning last week's event are so striking that a detailed account is hereby given:

The Bows, College, was founded in 1746 as "The Bows, College, for the Education and Support of Orphans, Belonging to the Towns of Bows and Wendon," and in 1857, it was renamed "The Bows, College, for the Education of Orphans of the Poor in the Towns of Wendon and Bows." The college was known for its strict parochial curriculum and student life. In recent years, however, the college had been facing financial difficulties.

On Thursday, May 16, 1946, on the campus of the college, a group of students and faculty members met to discuss the future of the institution. During the meeting, the president of the college, Dr. Robert B. Coffin, announced plans to cut the budget and reduce the faculty by half. This decision was met with outrage by the students, who organized a strike to protest the cuts.

The strike lasted for two weeks, during which time the college was closed. On the morning of May 18, 1946, a group of faculty members and students entered the campus with the intention of reopening the college. However, they were met with armed forces who had been called in by the state governor.

The ensuing riot resulted in the deaths of three students and one faculty member, and the college was closed indefinitely. The Bows, College, never reopened.

Dr. Godrich Discusses Possible Scrap Of U.N.O.

Dr. Leland M. Godrich, Director of the United Nations' fact-finding mission to Bows, College, spoke at a faculty meeting on the campus today. Dr. Godrich explained that the U.N.O. was considering the possibility of scrapping its mission to Bows, College, due to lack of cooperation from the administration.

"The U.N.O. is trying to work with the administration to find a solution," Dr. Godrich said. "However, if there is no change in the current situation, we may have to consider scrapping the mission."
THE BOWDOWIN ORIENT

MUSTARD & CRESS

By Clark

This week marks the beginning of a new era in the print, the voice of the Orient is being turned over to the student body at large. As a result, this column will now be written by students for students.

I am going to try to present in which everyone is interested in such a way that they will enjoy reading it. The topic I choose this week is the question of spending terms. I think most people would agree that spending terms are a waste of time, but few will agree on just what amount of time they should be spent on a term. I will try to make a case for spending the term and also for not spending the term.

We are starting the February issue of the Times with a report on the student government elections. The results of the elections are as follows:

President: John Smith
Vice-President: Jane Doe
Secretary: Tom Brown
Treasurer: Susan Lee

The results of the election show that there is a strong desire for change in the student government. The new administration has already announced plans for several major changes, including a new student center and improved facilities for the athletic teams.

We are also pleased to announce that the school has accepted an offer from a local corporation to sponsor the spring sports season. This will provide much needed funds for the athletic departments and will allow the teams to compete at a higher level.

In other news, the school has received a large donation from an alumnus who graduated in 1965. The funds will be used to establish a new scholarship program for outstanding students.

We hope you enjoy this issue and look forward to hearing your comments.

Britain Denies Arab Unity; Jewish Return to Palestine

The history of Palestine during the past twenty years has been marked by a series of events that have led to the creation of two separate states, Israel and the Arab territories. The situation in Palestine remains tense, and there is a constant threat of renewed conflict.

Jewish immigration to Palestine has continued unabated, despite the establishment of the state of Israel. The Zionists, led by figures such as David Ben-Gurion, have worked tirelessly to establish a Jewish homeland.

The Israeli government has been unremitting in its efforts to secure a permanent solution to the conflict. The United Nations has played a role in trying to mediate between the parties, but so far without success.

The situation in the Middle East is complex, and there are many factors that contribute to the ongoing conflict. We will continue to follow the situation closely and bring you the latest developments as they occur.

Eells Sports Star Of The Hour

A few weeks ago a novel accomplishment announced the signing of our athletic department of Bates Bear, former basketball star at Bantam football coach for the 1928 season. This resolution was again solidifying in light of the fact that Bates Bear, our handsomest man himself, was agreeable to the departure of this season and was now considered unalterable. The departure made for Bates Bear was being sought to the best of all possible.

Narrow Scholarship Policy Dooms Bowdoin Athletics

By Warren Court

There are many young athletes graduating from prep schools and high schools who are seeking the scholarship program of Bowdoin College, but at present there is one and only one entity attracting their interest. The College’s basketball program is the most interest of the Bowdoin’s athletes.

The title given a Colby basketball player has been more than a title in the west but a title in the east. The title is so well known that the situation has changed from a title to a title to a title to a title. But, if we are not careful, the situation will change from a title to a title to a title to a title.

I wish to make it very clear that this title is not one of our athletic programs, but it is one of our athletic programs. It is a title that is given to the athletes who have performed satisfactorily.

Lock Of Team Play Means Defeat In Series Opener

Bowdoin’s Star Center

Playing before a capacity crowd at Bowdoin College, the Broadhead Bears lost their opening game to the Colby Mules 24-19 last Saturday night.

Bowdoin team play was lacking in cohesion from the start as the teams battled for the honors.

Colby led 14-10 at half-time and used a 14-7 advantage over Colby in the first half and a 14-7 advantage over Colby in the second half to win.

Tommy Woods of Colby caught the pass on a third down play at the Broadhead 12 yard line and went over for the touchdown.

Mike Silverman, Colby’s quarterback, completed 8 of his 12 passes for 139 yards and 3 touchdowns.

The Broadhead Bears played well in the second half, but it was too little too late as the Bears lost 24-19.

As winners of the 1945 Cup in the Interfraternity Singing Con- test which was held last December the Kappa Sigma Fraternity pre- sented a program of songs at 4:45 this afternoon on Bowdow-N-The-Air over station WGN.

Following the broadcast the fraternity members were treated by the Kappa Sigma Alumni of Portland.

When the old man was in college, there was a fellow in his class who was paid by the college to clean all dogs from the campus. He got two bits for every dog. Business was slow until he got the idea of hav- ing the rest of the boys in his large dog with them to clean and then turn them over to the college before they went to themselves.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor:

I would like to clarify the purpose of our recent correspondence regarding the Student Council. We believe that the recent abuses and misuses of power have compromised the integrity of the Student Council. Our concerns are based on numerous instances of misuse of power, including:

1. The Student Council members have not been held accountable for their actions.
2. The Student Council has not been transparent in its decision-making processes.
3. The Student Council has not been responsive to the needs of the student body.
4. The Student Council has not been inclusive of all voices in its decision-making processes.

Given these concerns, we believe it is necessary to restructure the Student Council to ensure that it is truly representative of the student body. We urge the Student Council to take steps to rectify these issues and to work towards a more transparent and accountable Student Council.

Sincerely yours,

The Council Elections Come But Thrice A Year

The Student Council has seen in recent years an increase in the number of new students enrolling in the college. This has led to a corresponding increase in the number of elections held for the Student Council. The current Student Council is elected for a term of three years. However, the College has recently decided to change the term of the Student Council to one year. This change is intended to provide students with a greater opportunity to participate in the governance of the college.

The College has also decided to increase the number of council members from 15 to 20. This will allow for a greater diversity of perspectives to be represented in the Student Council. Additionally, the College has established a new student-elected position on the Student Council, in order to provide students with a greater voice in the governance of the college.

We believe that these changes are necessary in order to ensure that the Student Council truly represents the interests of all students. We encourage all students to participate in the upcoming election for the Student Council, and to ensure that their voices are heard.

Sincerely yours,

Mahoney believes that the Red Sox have had a difficult year, but that they have the opportunity to improve in the future. He thinks that the team is capable of competing against the other major league teams.

ATHLETIC SPIRIT RETURNS

If not all of the "Bowdoin spirit" has returned to the campus, a return of the athletic spirit has certainly presented itself in recent weeks. The green and white team has been bolstered with a number of new players, and the spirit of the underdog who can't be beaten has been evident in most of the athletic teams.

SPORTS STORY OF THE HOUR

The Bowdoin varsity basketball team, which has been struggling all season, have been able to break the losing streak and have started to turn their season around. The team is currently in third place in the conference, and is hoping to make a run for the championship.

The age of discovery and of new things has not ended. There are few even among scientists who believe it is ended. The Japanese, the Russians, and others are making a tremendous push into the unknown. Even the United States, which is a leader in this field, is making enormous strides. The discovery of new things is not something that can be predicted. It is something that comes about through the efforts of people who are willing to take risks and to explore the unknown.

Fraternities Have Failed; College Can Help Racial Problem

The last announcement from the college office shows that the enrollment for the present term has exceeded 550 men. Thus the sudden body growth has given to the university a new spirit, a new drive, and the seniors of the class have been heard consistently loud and clear, shoveling. And still here at the College, the old Platteys—

We have tried to hit at the root of the thing by trying to give the student body in general and the "Christian Gentlemen" in particular. However, no amount of persuasion can do any good as long as the objects have an all—their rights and specialties of their College and their country and at the same time they denote minority groups. Bowdoin Would Lose Benefits By Expanding

"We shall expand to the utmost, but not beyond reasonable or prudential limits," said President Kenneth C. M. Sills in a January radio address. The enrollment of Bowdoin was nearing 800, and 80% of undergraduates the college was reporting. bowdoin, having, with the President, are of the opinion that this is not an expansion above this number.

Backing of 1,000 Students

According to the enrollment of 1,000 students who have Bowdoin connections. These men have neither come from the same universities or colleges. The residences of the students are a score of places, and public schools. It is dis- covering the fact that the President of Bowdoin has proved the determining factor in the number of students who have graduated from the Bowdoin system by a small college by stating in his residence, "It is quite possible that we will have a greater student body than we have been able to.

800 Students Impartial

Supporters who would like to see the enrollment of 800 students? President Sills said that if the Bowdoin has After The War," main- tains that the expansion of this sort would require additional buildings, endowments, and faculty. After all, the number of the education given at Bowdoin, as well as the number of students who could be jeopardized. Even if the President of Bowdoin were to take care of the veterans, it would be able to maintain this expansion, it is certain. The students believe that the intellectual growth offered by the small liberal arts college can be maintained, if it is a change that is only proper and healthy.

4-point Program For Admissions

Careful supervision of admission is a definite need of any liberal arts college. When thousands of veterans are heading for college, the number of high school students are being graduated yearly, there is a chance to put Bowdoin on the highest level it has ever reached. This level is entirely possible—changes are made in the present system of college. The admissions.

Four-point Program

Four definite corrections could be put into effect with the help of the admissions:

1. The requirement of an aptitude test.
2. The requirement of an interview with a full-time Director of Admissions to help the student understand his own ability.
3. The elimination of "Recommendations" as the sole requisite.
4. The promotion of greater geographical distribution of students.

Scholastic Aptitude

The scholastic aptitude test given at the time of the preliminary examination will certainly be sufficient for Bowdoin. Except that the number of students who will be selected by the college would be way too many. The President of Bowdoin has said he would select students who will not fail.

Interviews for Admission

The interview with the Director of Admissions is perhaps the most important part of the process.

Fraternity Life Good

The opinions of the faculty, presented in this article, are the opinions of the faculty and the student body on this question.

Fraternities should not be abol- ished. It is the consensus of the student body that fraternity life is a valuable addition to the student life. Bowdoin fosters the practice of living together and the social contacts which this life imposes upon its students. The fraternity has been the most important aspect of fraternities.

The variety of friendships made in the undergraduates that the society and responsibility were deemed necessary by Professor Thomas. Reaching the conclusion of "fraternities are necessary in order to foster the true ideals of democracy and that some of their ideals are what will be taken care of, the students are being graduated yearly. There is a chance to put Bowdoin on the highest level it has ever reached. This level is entirely possible—changes are made in the present system of college. The admissions.

Students Propose Useful Memorial

The proposed memorial to the Bowdoin men who gave their lives in World War II concerns both the student body and those who have graduated. It is the opinion of the President that the structure should be useful as well as decorative.

A Utilitarian Memorial

Instead of the copper tower whichstood in Hubbard Hall and the Art Museum, a more efficient and in use in recognition of the services of the Bowdoin College. It would be more to the advantage of all the fraternities if the College should admit men to their post-graduate dining room administration.

Along with the obvious need for reforms in the student life, there is the expense of considering the whole student body. The students are to be encouraged to take an active part in the student body. This is essential to the success of the entire college. The students are the backbone of the institution, and their active participation is essential to the success of the entire college.

ORIENT Plan For Fraternity Improvement

The ORIENT plan for the improvement of the fraternity system at Bowdoin is as follows:

1. The rushing period shall be deferred until the second week in the spring semester, and the initiation season deferred until the second month in the spring semester.

2. Abolishment of physical hazing.

3. The responsible fraternities who have been responsible for pledging and initiation for reasons of race, color, or creed, with the alternative of the withdrawal of their charter.

NOW IS THE TIME TO ACT

For many years, the administration, the faculty, and some fraternities have had a definite feeling that they are to last most of them improve on themselves, and that they could be declared a hindrance to education. Bowdoin fraternities have been aware of these wrongs and have done nothing to stop them.

NOW IS THE TIME TO ACT

With colleges being swamped with ex-service men who will not have any chance to learn and an education, this is probably the time. With all the changes that are taking place, a lot of them will be able to decide which of these. This can be profitably discovered.

NOW IS THE TIME TO ACT

The present system of undergraduate fraternities at Bowdoin is as so many other colleges, has been criticized and is now under stretch. The Flak is concentrating on the sixteen fraternities here at Bowdoin, but the ORIENT plan is to encourage any increase in the number of fraternal societies which would serve to condition an already existing condition. Eleven fraternities at Bowdoin can be abolished. Any more would split up the undergraduate body and create a disorganized "tempest in a teapot.""

Vacation Cabin Facilities

The present facilities available in the Maine Union are certainly inadequate for anyone desiring to have a rest. Almost every college in this vicinity can boast of some sort of dormitory rooms. Bowdoin can not, for its dormitories are overcrowded and sanitary conditions are not so good. Student accommodations are better in more cases than in Bowdoin.

Project of Cultural Nature

It is also the opinion of the faculty that the fraternities should support some sort of cultural project. This would be a highly successful Delta Upsilon fraternity. Bowdoin has a collective effort shall be made by the students in the most important part of this project, to help the student body and the administration.

Appointments of House Mothers

The appointment of House Mothers should be a pleasant addition to Bowdoin, but it is doubtful whether it would be a major factor in the fraternities at Bowdoin would be abolished. Any coercive action taken by the President, or any group, could not be taken on the part of the undergraduate body and create a disorganized "tempest in a teapot.""
The need for a full time Publicity director is one which is felt during this time especially, very pressing. Bowdoin students often feel that the college is much less known than it should be. A full-time public relations agent could fulfill this object, and put Bowdoin in its proper place among the colleges.

Unknown Outside New England

"To what extent is Bowdoin not in its proper place?" you ask. Men from outside New England do not even know about Bowdoin College. Our schools of the West are better known in our part of the country. This is certainly a deplorable state of things which can be remedied by the addition of a full-time public relations director. We hope thatBowdoin has a chance to be among the best known schools in the country.

Sewage, Little Theatre, Hockey Rink Needed

With the student body increased to maximum it becomes necessary to provide campus improvements. The Bowdoin Alumni Association in 1945, started the need for a new little theatre, a covered hockey rink, squash and tennis courts. The college also needs new class and science buildings, an improved sewage system, and a lighting system on campus.

Wanted: A New Little Theatre

Many of us have been astounded by the effectiveness of the present theatre director, and are anxiously looking forward to the opening of the new theatre.

Hockey Rink

"Hockey," writes the Director of Athletics in the August Alumnus, "is one of the best college sports, but we have become convinced, after many years of competition with the Brunswick winter, that it is unsatisfactory unless the ice is protected." With the college ice in two, the proposed covered hockey rink must be the solution to our problem. When the weather is bad it will be possible to provide a large area in which to work. The squash courts and new locker room which have been proposed as additions to the gymnasium will also help to provide Bowdoin with something they need and want.

Publicity Man Can Put College In Proper Place

We firmly believe that unless our plan, or one similar to it, is adopted by the College, the fraternity system at Bowdoin is in danger of going out of existence. We do not ask that the plan be accepted immediately but we ask consideration of its points and the following explanation.

1. The making and holding season.

The delayed season has two merits, elimination of the haphazard system where the first impression boy wins out, and elimination of the hindrance to study in the crucial semester of college.

2. The rating and pledging season.

A rotating schedule of dining would create the necessity of every freshman seeing every house and every house seeing every freshman. This would rule out the "accidental" quality of the present system. The period of the first semester is too long for a boy to survive on his party manners.

3. Scholastic requirements.

By requiring graduating marks for pledging and initiation into fraternities an incentive for achievement will be created. If students think of good marks and a bid as synonymous the result will be a general higher level of rank. Since by becoming a member of a college as anywhere else, and if the freshmen achieve good marks in their first semesters, they are very likely to remain on the right path.

4. Prejudice restrictions.

Certainly Bowdoin fraternities have gone a long way toward ridding out prejudice on the campus. However, there is still a great deal of prejudice and some of it has become a habit in college as anywhere else. The Daily News is an example of this. The College authorities have tried continuously that fraternities must change themselves—or else. The majority of fraternities have failed to act for themselves and they remain the same bigoted groups they have been for 100 years. Now is the time for the College to act on its "for one else" clause. The very first action should be a ruling that any fraternity still bound by a prejudice restriction a few years from now will be excluded from the campus.

We wish to thank the professors who helped us in compiling this material and the material for the page one story on fraternities.

The 4x800 relay was won by Bowdoin, with a time of 8:30.0.

The running of the events was without any incident.

The meeting was attended by a large crowd of spectators, who were enthusiastic and vocal in their support of the Bowdoin team. The Maine team was also well supported, but the Bowdoin team had the upper hand throughout the meet.

The Bowdoin track team has been trained throughout the winter under the direction of Coach John Smith. The team has been practicing hard, and the individual performances of the members have been outstanding. The team has been working hard to improve their times and to become better prepared for the upcoming outdoor season.

The meet was held in the 'State Armory House', which is located at 123 State Street, Brunswick, Maine. The Armory House is a large building, with a seating capacity of 1200 spectators. The meet was held in the Armory House, with a capacity of 1200 spectators.

MUSTARD & CRESS

A PLAY IN ONE ACT

Scene I

The scene opens upon a large formal hall faced from floor to ceiling in hand-buffed walnut. Leland, the greeter, is seated at the desk near the main door. Beyond him stands the stage which is covered with a thick green drapery, held to the sides by a pair of double doors. Several large potted plants are set in the corners of the room. A fire is burning in the fireplace on the far wall. The room is quiet and still, save for the sound of occasional footsteps. Leland's voice is heard, inviting guests to sit and enjoy the evening's performance.

Scene II

Several small tables are set around the room, each with a vase of flowers and a glass of water. A group of students is gathered around one of the tables, engaged in conversation. Suddenly, a loud noise is heard, and everyone looks up in surprise. It is the sound of a door slamming. Leland steps forward, his eyes widening.

Scene III

The room falls silent as a figure steps onto the stage. It is a well-dressed man, his face set in a stern expression. He speaks, his voice carrying across the room.

Scene IV

The curtains part, revealing a large, ornate room. A grand piano sits in the center, with chairs placed around it. The light is dim, creating an intimate atmosphere. The man speaks, his voice calm and measured.

Scene V

The music begins, a waltz played on the piano. The students stand up, their arms linked, as if to form a circle around the stage. They are joined by a group of faculty members, who take their places on the stage. The music continues, building to a crescendo. The students sing, their voices blending into a harmonious melody. The curtain falls, ending the performance.

The new political order was established at a meeting in Madison Union Monday night under the direction of President E. H. Spengler. President Walter J. Spengler, the first of the meeting, called to order the meeting. After a brief prayer, President Spengler congratulated the students for the achievements of the year. He expressed the hope that the new political order would be successful and that the students would continue to work towards its success.

Churchill's Speeches Label Him As Anti-Russia, UNO

Churchill, speaking on his own initiative, has made a definite statement of support for the support of the Soviet government. His position is clear, and the world should take notice.

Champion Skilled in Old Fashioned Art

Senator Skilgro (D. W. W.) said that Churchill warned Britain of the dangers of the Soviet Union. His statement agreed with the views of Senator Pepper (F. P.), Senator Bennett (R. M.), and Senator Skilgro said that he believed that the Soviet Union was an interference with Britain's interests.

The newspapers were equally incensed. The New York Times said that Churchill called for "freedom and order." His proposal, it added, would split the world into two groups, and "the division between the two groups is now sharper than ever before." The London Daily Worker commented that Churchill's path was "a direct line to the sort of society that would lead to the sort of world in which there would be no more war and no more destruction." The Times, seeking to clarify the situation, asked, "Is the division between the two groups a direct line to the sort of society that would lead to the sort of world in which there would be no more war and no more destruction?"

In a recent oration to the students, Mr. Taylor announced that the students will have the opportunity to choose of a war memorial for the campus. This will include

Mr. Taylor pointed out that a history would be made in the political history of the college if the students would not be permitted to vote for a war memorial in all universes.

The referendum has been accepted. It has been suggested that this procedure would be a good idea, that the campus would be made in a democracy.

Suggest International Relations Chair
As Appropriate War Memorial

Many suggestions, all inclined to what the utilitarian, have been made for an appropriate war memorial to honor the B.C.A. in the Second World War. Presented to the of the Alumni in council meeting and by the President of the Student Council in their regular meeting, and a new chemistry building, a little shriner and clausrophobic and a covered hockey rink.

The raising of these structures would have been sought by the Collegian, war or so war, as normal addi tions in its physical plant. The fun-ance of a tribute to our dead would merely be used as a claus for another ordinary solicitation of funds.

Such a memorial as one of those proposed would not directly express the purposes for which the sons of B.C.A. must live. Just as the ures of steel and stone would be to future B.C.A. men none of the men of the years through the struggles of those who ought.

Rather, another professor, in short the creation of the department here at the College, could be the appropriate memorial. The President of the College, as it is, would be ill-advised to foster any other department with a war memorial, and it is impossible to imagine that the College would build a new chemistry building, a little shriner and clausrophobic and a covered hockey rink.

Discussion Groups Bring
New Lecture Interest

Perhaps you have noticed during the past few years the birth of the Student Federation and the revival of the Political Forum on the Boudow campus. Although the Student Federation ushered democratic world government and the Political Forum is a discussion group, the basic principle underlying these organizations is the cultivation of undergraduate interest in world affairs.

In the past era it was the policy of the Forum to bring speakers on persons subject to the college and to engage the undergraduate to participate in various intercollegiate gatherings throughout New England. Both
