Unification of Campus Groups
Solution to Limited Interest

The politically minded undergraduates, split into four distinct groups, have found a degree of unity in the group activities of the existing campus organizations. The formation of new organizations, or a joining of the forces of the Political Forum, the College News, the Student Senate, and the Student Federation, would solve the problem of ineffectiveness and inefficiency among these groups. As these groups exist now, with a limited interest in student government, the entire political body is unable to accomplish as effectively as would be possible if an organizing committee was formed.

Margaret Chase Smith Sees Importance of Air Force

The chances of Bowdoin's post-veteran being drafted are one in six, said Margaret Chase Smith, a Bowdoin Policeman, at the meeting last night before the Alumni Club on the campus.

In her campaign for the Senate, she is finding that every single vote is a struggle, and that filling a rather unique role in the Senate, Mrs. Smith has been invited to speak in Lowell, Massachusetts, over the radio. She will then be seen in her home town of Augusta, Maine.

Later in the afternoon, she said, she will be giving a speech in the Casino Press Club of Portland,Maine, and then she will be seen in Washington, D.C., as a member of the Senate.

Mrs. Smith said that the nation should not be as frightened as it is about the war, but that the nation should be ready to defend itself if necessary.

The national current supposes that the nation is not ready, and that the nation should be at a peace of mind until the war ends.

Graduating Class To Skip Class Day

Graduating seniors met yesterday afternoon to discuss a tentative plan for skipping Class Day in order to attend the commencement exercises.

The plan was said to be based on the idea that the graduation ceremonies are not as important as the commencement exercises, and that the seniors would rather attend the latter.

The seniors, however, were not unanimous in their support of the plan, and the matter was left to be decided by the faculty.

The weather, however, has been less than cooperative, and the heavy rain has caused much inconvenience.

Casting in "The Pigeon" Good, Come, Dulfer Able In Parts

By Herbert L. Gould '31

The first performance of the play "The Pigeon" was held last night at the Union Club.

The play was well received, and the cast was praised for their good work.

The play is set in a small village in Maine, and is a story of the life of a pigeon whose nest is in a barn.

The play was directed by Professor J. H. Smith, and is well written and acted.

The play is to be followed by the annual dance, which will be held this evening at the Union Club.
Little Known, Even In East; Bowdoin Publicity Is Urgent

By John H. Sills

The Bowdoin is not a "well known" college as the question of the last sentence of this sentence.

The problem seems even more acute when such faculties as those included in some, particularly small and well-known, need more attention to publicity. Bowdoin, in particular, is a well-known name in the West, but in the East, even in New England.

The answer lies not in the physical disadvantages, but in a well-developed system of "public relations." Every Bow-doin man is proud of his college, rightly proud, because of the historical traditions and numerous prominent alumni. But why must this pride be kept within the family?

If a greater effort is not made to present Bowdoin to the potential freshmen who are now in the High Schools and Prep Schools, it is obvious that many of the "best men" will not apply for admission. Hundreds of these "better men" have been lost in the past simply because they did not know more about Bowdoin. A few more college unknowns will be a gradual lowering of the applicant caliber.

The time to improve is now. Even at this point there are indications of this gradual degeneration of the applicant caliber. The border of the border is becoming the burden of the burden. The border of the border is falling too heavy on the shoulders of too few.

This is only one of many signs that

The mechanical organization for the needed program is already starting to function here on the campus. The Admissions Office is aided by the Student Council, White Key, and the Union Committee in solving prospective candidates around the college. Personalities in the Admissions Office has been increased to handle the tremendous number of applications. Other measures are being suggested, however, for the future.

One great material need is a picture photographing campus life. This could be used by the student who could learn more about Bowdoin. Not having a public relations department, as such, it is almost impossible to consider speaking out here. The borders of the border on the shoulders of too few.

However, the basic trouble can not be solved on an mechanical difficulty, such as an interwebbed Admissions Office. It is up to the students and alumni to carry the name of Bowdoin the rest of the country. Again the borders of the border on the shoulders of too few. Students and alumni must make every effort to present an accurate picture of the college to those young men who will soon be graduating from the high schools and colleges. Bowdoin publicity is a matter of individual responsibility combined with cooperation.

If prospective students are to be attracted to Bowdoin the test is not for individuals, but for the college as a whole, the federation as a whole, but for the whole "Bowdoin family." The time has come for the students of Bowdoin to rise and act among their peers.

Letter to Editor

Activities Union Seems Irregular

To the Editor of the ORIENT:

The Activities Union, as it now exists on the Bowdoin campus, seems to be an organization which may be of great assistance to the student body. It has been brought to the attention of this writer by a number of Bowdoin men who have indicated a desire to see the organization continued, or at least, to see the beginning of some sort of organization along these lines.

The functions of the Activities Union are not clearly defined, but it appears to be an organization which is devoted to the promotion of the welfare of the student body. It is composed of representatives from various organizations on the campus, and it seems to be the intention of the organization to coordinate the activities of these organizations in order to prevent duplication and to make the activities more effective.

The organization has a number of aims, but the main one is to provide an opportunity for the student body to express its views and to have a say in the management of the college.

The organization has been inactive for the past few months, and it would be desirable if it could be brought back to its former position of importance. The organization could serve as a valuable source of information and advice to the student body, and it would be a great service to the college if it could be revived.

Sincerely yours,

Waltz Me Around Again Minnie

To the Editor of the ORIENT:

I am writing to express my appreciation of the Minnie Waltz, which was performed at the Minnie Waltz dance last week. The dance was a great success, and I believe that it was due in large part to the efforts of the Activities Union.

The Waltz is a simple, graceful dance which is easy to learn and to perform. It is a dance which is well suited to the college environment, and I believe that it would be a great addition to the college social life.

I would like to see the Waltz continued as part of the college social calendar. It would be a fine way to bring the student body together and to provide a pleasant evening of dancing and socializing.

Sincerely yours,

Chips Down For Baseball, Track Dusters

This is the week that will seal the story. The blue chips with their championship stamped on them are down on the new chicken track up in Groton and on the Bowdoin Diamond, where the college stars perform.

Bowdoin's partners have already gone to the well in earnest competition but gave up with an empty bucket up in Lewiston against a Bates team that had only the strongest arm of the Sutherland and a prayer. Crumpling Ground In Reading Room is Siesta Center

By William S. Augern 47

By day, the Asbury House is a study in fancy terms in thought's of, 'sleep, study, relax.' By night, they quietly slumber to the murmur of the wind. When the spring season approaches, the warm spring afternoons attract many freshman students to their 'play' for an hour or so. The afternoon sun, bouncing off the trees, makes a perfect spot for sleeping, or just enjoying the environment.

During the summer months, there are two chief facilities for the students to go to for relaxation. There are the Library and the main reading room. The Library and the main reading room have the greatest numbers of students using them. The Library is a place to go for reading, writing, and studying. The main reading room is a place to go for relaxation and enjoyment.

"TO SLEEP, PERCHANCE TO DREAM" appears to be the motto of these mid-afternoon nappers seen in the Alumni Reading Room in Hubbard Hall. Their faces are relaxed, their bodies are stretched out, and their minds are free from the worries of the day. They are enjoying a peaceful moment before they return to their duties.

Attitude Of Life Stressing Use Of Reason, Faith, Theme Of Sills’ Baccalaureate

Advancing an "attitude of life" that includes reason, faith, and love as the cornerstones of a person's philosophy. Dr. Robert H. Sills, President of Bowdoin College, delivered the commencement address at the First Parish Church and the Bowdoin Colloquium last week, and it was the theme for the college's commencement exercises.

Sills, who is from the University of Pennsylvania, said that an "attitude of life" is a way of seeing the world and that it is the responsibility of college graduates to adopt this attitude, which he described as "an attitude that values reason, faith, and love." He added that this attitude is important because it helps people to see the world in a more positive light and to make better decisions.

The "attitude of life" that Sills advocated for is one that values reason, faith, and love. Reason is important because it helps people to think critically and to make informed decisions. Faith is important because it helps people to have a sense of purpose and to find meaning in their lives. Love is important because it helps people to connect with others and to feel a sense of belonging.

In his address, Sills also talked about the importance of education and the role that colleges and universities play in shaping the attitudes of students. He said that colleges and universities have a responsibility to prepare students for the real world and to help them to develop the skills and values that they will need to succeed.

Sills concluded his address by saying that the future of the world depends on the attitudes of its citizens. He urged students to adopt the "attitude of life" that he described and to contribute to a better world.

Editor's Note: The following notification was received by the Editor of The Bowdoin Orient, Saturday, March 23, 1946:

The following ‘Letter of the Day’ was written by H. H. H. of the University of Maine, Mr. Arthur H. Wheeler, and his letter was published in the February 23, 1946, issue of The Bowdoin Orient. The letter was written in response to the announcement of the appointment of a new President for the University of Maine, and it expressed the author's opinions regarding the character and qualifications of the new President.

To: The Editor of The Bowdoin Orient

From: H. H. H.

Subject: Appointment of a New President

Dear Editor,

I am writing to express my congratulations on the appointment of the new President of our university, and to offer some thoughts on the qualifications and background of the individual selected for this position.

The University of Maine has a long and distinguished history, and its President plays a crucial role in shaping the institution's future. The selection of a new President is therefore an important event, and one that requires careful consideration.

The individual selected for the position is well-qualified, having served in various leadership roles at other universities and institutions. His background in education and administration, as well as his commitment to academic excellence and student welfare, make him an ideal candidate for this position.

I believe that the University of Maine will benefit greatly from his leadership, and I look forward to seeing the results of his tenure. I thank you for your attention to this important matter.

Sincerely,

H. H. H.

Bowdoin Eleven Prepares To End Wesleyan’s Two Year Win Streak

To Lead the Offense Against Wesleyan

Bowdoin College Eleven will meet Wesleyan University at Hildreth, Connecticut, Saturday afternoon, to meet the unbeaten Wesleyan team for the second time this year. Although the teams have met twice already this season, this will be the first meeting on the road since the last time they met in January.

The Wesleyan eleven has been undefeated in two games this fall and brings a strong and experienced team to Bowdoin.

Wesleyan’s line was led by halfback John Barry, who was named All-New England for the first time last year. He is considered one of the best halfbacks in the country. He is supported by fullback Bill Green, who has scored four touchdowns in two games this season. Other key players include wingback Joe Thomson, who has scored three touchdowns, and end Bill Johnson, who has scored two.

Bowdoin, on the other hand, has a strong defense to counter Wesleyan’s offensive firepower. The Bowdoin defense is led by tackle Tommy White, who has allowed only one touchdown in two games this season. He is supported by guard Bill Diskin, who has allowed only one sack, and center Bill Williams, who has allowed only one sack.

The Bowdoin offense is led by quarterback Bill Anderson, who has completed 46 of 75 passes for 802 yards and 11 touchdowns. He is supported by halfback John Smith, who has scored six touchdowns, and fullback Bill Green, who has scored three touchdowns.

The game is expected to be a close contest, with both teams vying for control of the ball. The outcome of the game will likely depend on which team can control the line of scrimmage and prevent the other from scoring.

Enrollment Drops To 3 Students

12 Added to Faculty

As of October 1, 1948, the college had a total enrollment of 3 students. The faculty had expanded to include 12 new members since the last report. This is a significant increase for the college, which has been struggling to maintain its enrollment in recent years.

The new faculty members include six tenured professors, four visiting professors, and two lecturers. The majority of the new faculty members are from the fields of business, education, and social sciences.

The announcement of the new faculty members has been welcomed by students and faculty alike. They are confident that the new faculty will help the college to continue its tradition of excellence and innovation.

The college has also announced that it will be offering new courses and programs in the coming year. These include courses in environmental science, business administration, and social work.

The college’s leaders are optimistic about the future and are working to ensure that Bowdoin College continues to be a leader in higher education.

The college has organized a series of outing events for its students, faculty, and staff. These include sailing, kayaking, and fishing trips, as well as hiking and camping excursions.

The outing events are open to all members of the college community, and are a great way to explore the natural beauty of the Ozarks. They are also a great opportunity to bond with fellow students, faculty, and staff.

The college’s leaders are confident that these outing events will be a great success, and that they will help to foster a sense of community and belonging among the college’s students, faculty, and staff.

Summer Activities Leading Step Toward Greater Bowedin Publicity

During the past few years a steady flow of criticisms have been leveled at the College authorities regarding their failure to make Bowdoin a known college outside of the northern New England area. The advocates of such a policy were not "anti-college," or otherwise, but simply wished to see the campus attract more outside interest. Such interest might well be sought.

On the contrary, these critics rationalized a definite need to attract more outside interest to the College with increased budget. One cannot help but believe that the College has missed few opportunities to publicize itself in the past. But at the same time, the supervisors of this policy did not have in mind advertising Bowdoin or a moral arts education in general. They wished to make Bowdoin an "outstanding" or "prestigious" institution, which could be bought at any price.

Periodically the editorial columns of the Orient remind the College of the need for a greater geographical distribution of its students, a public relations bureau, in order that the "better men" from the secondary schools, who attended other colleges, might be induced to have Bowdoin thrust upon them and perhaps be interested in its educational advantages.

This summer a successful program of activities was initiated by the College in an effort to increase the number of friends. The vacationist driving through Brunswick was greeted by a phalanx of well-dressed college girls and boys, inviting him to the College and describing the College's daily tour. A similar campaign carried on by the College has been made available to college students in their vacation travels.

Perhaps the most successful activity in this effort has been the "Bowdoin Boy," an expertly trained student who, after the completion of their activities, were the three students who had Bowdoin's open house; honoring Professor Coffin, Frank P. Adams, and Donald MacMillan. Close to 3,500 people were the guests of the College during these presentations.

Notwithstanding its location, small under-graduate body, and tradition of family exclusiveness, a concerted effort has been made to host the more tangible glories of Bowdoin to the public. Those responsible for this action into this program deserve sincere appreciation and support for selecting a leading step in broadening such action.

Extra-curricular Valuable

This past summer eleven Bowdoin students capitulated upon their experience in college to the extent of traveling to the American Zone of Germany (and almost no expense to themselves) giving concerts for occupation troops.

That these students were particularly talented in their special vocations — all of whom were students of the College — the tour was arranged, and it is not an exaggerated extent of the extra-curricular activities which may take any student.

That the annual Freshman Smoker sponsored by the B.C.A. gayly polished and colored the Class of '47. In addition to his studies, there are many ways in which any student may not only broaden himself, but also at the same time be of great service to Bowdoin.

The danger, in these days of expanded colleges, of becoming either a fanatic or an empty-headed soul is a great one. The advantages of extra-curricular activities not only overcomes these possibilities, but also innumerable, and to one that one must consider every activity carefully before deciding. Only the most valuable is allowed to the O.R.E.T., the Masque and Gowns, the Glee Club, and Bowdoin-on-the-Air, to mention but a few.

Dean's "to wait till next term," Get in on the ground floor of your activity, stay with it, and go right to the top.

R.P.D.

Suzanne Young 1922-1948

Those of us who are returning to Bowdoin this fall have been deeply shocked and grieved over the untimely death of Suzanne Young which resulted from a highway accident while she was vacationing in England last month.

A devoted member of the Bowdoin family Suzanne Young will always carry the memory of an American woman of personal charm and spiritual beauty. Her helpful devotion to her community will endure for years to come.

With all sincerity, it is a fitting tribute to say that, "She was as nice to me as she was to everyone else, and she was as nice to everyone else as she was to me."

Navy May Reclaim Air Station in 50 When Lease Ends

The Eastern Air Station which is presently under a lease to the "Town of Brunswick, Bowdoin College, and the University of Maine" may be acquired by the Naval Air Station in 1950. The Air Station, home of Bowdoin, was the scene of the first flight by College alumnus Ted Rosenthal in 1932. At that time, the Navy was unable to finance the operation of the school.

Both a move by the Navy is expected to increase the flying in the "Town of Brunswick, Bowdoin College, and the University of Maine." The Navy has also shown a plan for a return to its greater control of approximately 50 islands.

The University of Maine has promised to use the land beyond the "Brownie Brook," the site for the proposed Naval Air Station.

The BOWDOWNE ORIENT, WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 6, 1948

To Whom You Address Presents Style of Optimism

So far as the College goes we are beginning our 14th year under a President whose student body is 90% older than that of this year. This is a large change. The institution of the present facility is the result of a well-planned and carefully thought out program of education by the Board of Trustees. The strength of the present institution is not only in the broad-mindedness of the faculty, but in the fact that it is carried on under the able administration of Professor McCollum. The President has been called to the United States as a consultant on the Department of Philosophy at Indiana University. During the summer Professor McCollum published the book "The Philosophy of Science," which is the result of a long research work. "Man, Cities, and Commerce" in New England, a book on New England History; and several other books and articles. He also visited a number of colleges and schools, including the Great Britain. America is favorably impressed by the President's work and his promising future.

The whole college community was saddened during the summer by the tragic death of a member of the Class of 1941. Young for several years successively and an able student, he was known to many of us for his quiet and pleasant personality.

We are all aware of the activities of the Bowdoin Band, which has won many competitions and has been the talk of the area. The Band is preparing for a tour of Europe, which will be their first opportunity to play in front of a British audience. They have been practicing extensively, and have been working hard to improve their skills. The Band will be touring England, France, and Germany, and will give several concerts during their stay. They will also have the opportunity to visit some of the historic sites in Europe.

The President stated that there would be no change in the terms of the College. The Student's Union and the Board of Trustees are working hard to ensure that the College continues to provide a high-quality education for its students. They are committed to maintaining the same high standards that have been in place for many years.

As Seen From the Press Box
The Anders Field press box was a week early this Sunday when the Western Presswemen of 1948 showed up on the field, watching the game. They had listened to much about it, and their preconceptions were confirmed by the game: Princeton was a formidable opponent in the East.

While there was no one coming, there was no one going. The score was 13-0 Princeton to Bowdoin. The game was the final one of an uneventful season for Bowdoin, which scored only one touchdown all year.

The game was a steady downpour of rain, and the field was muddy. The players were muddy and slippery, and the game was a muddy mess. It was not a game to be enjoyed by the spectators, but it was a game to be remembered. The Princeton defense was strong, and Bowdoin was unable to score.

The game ended with Princeton winning 13-0. The score was the result of a fumble recovery by Princeton's John Coates, who returned it for a touchdown. The Princeton players celebrated, and the spectators were left to wonder what they had just witnessed.

The game was a sad end to a season that had started with high hopes. Bowdoin had started the season with a 1-2 record, but had improved to a 4-2 record by the end of the year. However, the Princeton game was the final straw, and Bowdoin was unable to recover.

The Bowdoin eleven, led by hand running a coin, John Morrell, has the game of the season. Hebron eleven 7-0 in a pulling rain last Friday night at Bowdoin and the Bowdoin eleven looks strong for the game.

LIVE YOUR CAMELS
PROVES CAMEL MILDNESS!

In a recent test, hundreds of thousands of camels were smoked and all of them returned to their owners in excellent condition, smoking camel after smoking camel, and all of them were just as good after smoking as they were before smoking.

The camels used in the test were of the best quality, and the results were so conclusive that the experiment was repeated several times, and each time the results were the same. The camels were smoked for periods of up to 24 hours, and none of them showed any signs of distress.

This is the first time that such an experiment has been conducted, and the results are most encouraging. The experiment proves conclusively that smoking does not harm camels, and that they can be smoked for long periods without harm.

College Celebrates Opening Of New Delta Drive Today

The new look at Bowdoin became official last afternoon when President Kenneth C. M. Sills turned over the new West Drive to the town of Brunswick.

Giving thanks to the Bowdoin community for its generous support of the institution, President Sills remarked that the new West Drive will enhance the beauty and prestige of the campus. He also thanked the town of Brunswick for its cooperation and assistance.

Sills expressed his hope that the new drive will serve as a symbol of the strong bond between Bowdoin and the town.

The opening of the new section of West Drive is part of a larger plan to modernize the campus and improve accessibility for faculty, students, and visitors. The new drive is a significant step in this direction.

The State of the Art Field, adjacent to the new West Drive, is being built to accommodate the growing needs of the college. The field will be used for both athletic and cultural events.

Achorn Contest To Open Today

The Achorn Prize Debate will be held on Monday, April 5, at 7:30 p.m. in the Bowdoin Hall, according to Associate Professor Albert W. Achorn. The event is free and open to the public.

The prize, which is awarded to the winning team, is sponsored by the Achorn family and is one of the most prestigious awards in the country.

One of the contestants, Richard T. Bennett, 32, said, "This is the first time I have entered a debate and I am very excited to be able to participate." The other contestant, James W. Wilson, 32, also expressed his enthusiasm for the event.

Holmes Analyzes College Standards

"Students must set their own standards, or else they will be left behind," said Professor Robert Holmes. "This is a crucial time in their development and we must ensure that they are prepared for the future.

The new standards reflect the changing nature of the world and the need for students to be self-sufficient and self-directed in their studies.

Fraternities Reveal Names Of Newly Pledged Freshmen

In the most extensive admission practice, the new fraternity pledges have been revealed to theBowdoin community.

The names of the new pledges, who were welcomed into the fraternities, are as follows:

Richard T. Bennett, 32, and Donald R. Wilson, 32, pledged to Alpha Delta Phi.

Edward T. Sills, 32, and George A. Johnson, 32, pledged to Delta Upsilon.

John W. Cooper, 32, and Robert F. Martin, 32, pledged to Sigma Chi.

J. W. Johnson, 32, pledged to Sigma Nu.

James L. Barker, 32, and Joseph H. Taylor, 32, pledged to Phi Delta Theta.

Other organizations are expected to announce their new members in the near future.

Dr. McCorrell '91 To Speak Sunday

Dr. McCorrell, a graduate of Bowdoin, will be the guest speaker at the annual meeting of the Alumni Association on Sunday, April 5, at 3:00 p.m. in the Bowdoin Hall.

He will discuss the importance of education and the role of the individual in society.

Dr. McCorrell is a well-known author and speaker on the subject of education. He has written several books on the topic and has been invited to speak at many universities across the country.

Glee Club Plans For Choral Work In Biggest Season

The Glee Club plans to present a unique and varied program of choral music during the upcoming season.

The club will feature a wide range of repertoire, including works by composers such as Mozart, Beethoven, and Schumann. The program will also include contemporary works and arrangements.

The Glee Club will be under the direction of Professor Fred Doolittle, who has been associated with the club for many years.

The concerts will be held in the Bowdoin Hall on various dates to be announced in the near future.

Student Body Relations: State Policies Considered

Representatives of the Student Council of the new Maine colleges met at Bowdoin College last week to discuss the possibility of forming a new intercollegiate Student Council.

The initial meeting, held at the Bowdoin College, was attended by representatives from seven colleges, including Bowdoin, Colby, Bates, and the University of Maine.

The council discussed the need for a new organization to represent the interests of the students across the state. It was decided that the council would meet on a regular basis to discuss issues of common interest.

The council is expected to meet again in the near future to discuss the的具体 steps to be taken in the formation of the new Student Council.
Strong Student Council Needed Before Four College Council

The proposed organization of the Student Council of the College to carry out the recommendations of the Student Council, which is proposed in the proposal for an all-Maine student council does not appear to have all the points that one would expect. The most outstanding aspect of such an organization is the fact that the student council chairman have determined the problem of intercollegiate relations and the general topic of intercollegiate relations; the representatives agreed that the College of the Maine council would be more interested in the student council chairman and the College of the Maine student council chairman would be more interested in the College of the Maine student council chairman than in the College of the Maine student council chairman.

The plan of action agreed upon by the student leaders of the College of the Maine student council chairman is to be organized in the problem of student conduct during the State games. The representation of the student council chairman and the College of the Maine student council chairman is to be organized in the problem of student conduct during the State games. The representation of the student council chairman and the College of the Maine student council chairman is to be organized in the problem of student conduct during the State games.

135 Fathers Give $2500 For Memorial Room Fund

John D. Badger '21

The group of 135 Bowdoin Fathers who attended the Fathers' Day ceremonies last Saturday donated $2500 from their contributions to the fund for the construction of a room in Memorial Hall in memory of the late President N. J. Butler, Class of '83. This room will be a place of similar spirit in which the University's sacred history will be treasured and its mission be kept before the students...
Student Council Election Plan Eliminates Previous Problems

The new system announced by the Student Council regarding the method of election of class officers is a worthy attempt to make the election a democracy of student responsibility and eliminate the dull monotony of the old system.

The shining quality of the Student Council action is the fact that it is a decision based on the belief that the traditional method of election of class officers has resulted in a state of complete apathy. The extremely low per cent of previous years has no doubt been the result of apathy on the part of the student body. The new system, according to the Student Council, will take place at a mass meeting for all interested students to discuss the matter. It is hoped that the new system will be adopted and the election held at the regular meeting of the Student Council.

Of similar importance, a four day period has been set aside for the nomination period. This is to be held during these four days that the "smoke filled room" meetings may be held in the freshman, sophomore, and junior classes to make nominations. The nomination period is to be held on Thursday, Friday, and the first half of Saturday.

The student body is to be divided into four sections: the freshmen, sophomore, and juniors, and the seniors. The seniors will hold their meeting on Wednesday evening and the freshmen and sophomores may hold their meetings on either Thursday or Friday.

Thus, the student body will be divided into four sections and it is expected that the election will be held on Saturday evening.

Curriculum Poll Is Worthwhile

The most vital and essential part of the effort of the college is beyond doubt its curriculum. And since it is the student body who are the direct beneficiaries of the curriculum, the Bogolow Student Council and the college administration co-operatively instituted the survey but last year a Curriculum Poll aimed at giving the students themselves a share in the opportunity and responsibility of deciding a course of study and benefiting curricula.

We are at the start, but although the response of the students in retaining the poll was not as large as had been hoped for, valuable concrete suggestions were offered as to text books, conference management, marking, lectures, etc. That we feel the continuation of such a curriculum poll at Bowdoin, on a permanent basis is a desired and beneficial goal. Many liberal colleges throughout the country today are working upon the end. There is nothing like a genuine responsibility for active students serving with the faculty in the planning of the curriculum and providing constructive criticism.

We would suggest for consideration that perhaps capable students could be included on the curricular committee of Bowdoin College that might then represent the consolidated views of the students on such matters as text books now in use and the addition of new courses.

Excellent as the Bowdoin curriculum is, there is room for improvement, and Bowdoin College would find perhaps the combined faculty-student curriculum committee the sprees for this improvement.

SCDC Not Becoming to Bouldin; Posters For One Year, Restatement

Police-state methods are used at a Liberal college, we are the actions of the Student-Council Disciplinary Committee. By an interesting coincidence we feel that the committee should be permanently abolished.

This year, the SCDC has maintained its unnecessary repetition; instead of an appearance of free membership, carrying out action without the Vice-President of the Student- Council, a new version of the statement of discipline has at least one freshman in one of its "lightweight" versions.

Since the SCDC is an adjutant of the Student Council, it is not a surprise that it lacks the proper support needed. Why is the Vice-President of the council, supposedly the official liaison of the council and the SCDC, missing? (At least he wasn't at the meeting last Tuesday.) The faculty of SCDC action seems to be motivated by a desire for recognition and not for the benefit of all students. As with previous years, we can expect to see another version of the statement of discipline this fall. The fresh SCDC members have little chance of change in the upcoming year.

Photographers of Grass: Methods of the "Photographers of Grass" continue their register of campus goings-on. Two photographers have been saddled with the responsibility of returning "new" copy every week. A recent issue has revealed that the "Photographers of Grass" have missed the mark.

The subjects of their latest column include the presence of an office with a fruit bowl. Recently one of their stories went to show that the office was of no use since it was not used. We were somewhat surprised to learn that the photographs taken by the office were not appreciated by those who visited it. The "Photographers of Grass" seem to have an endless supply of ideas for their column. This week's column included a picture of the new President and the office where he sits. The article was written with a certain amount of inaccuracy.

Letters to the Editor

Upgeards and Freshman Object to SCDC

If the SCDC is a necessary evil at Bouldin, it should be made public. The SCDC is an organization that is not recognized by the Student Council. It is not an official body and its actions are not binding on the student body. However, the SCDC seems to be making demands on the student body that are not justified. They are demanding that the student body adopt certain policies that are not in the best interests of the student body. They are also demanding that the student body support their organization financially. This is not a fair demand since the SCDC is not an official body and its actions are not binding on the student body.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor,

I am writing to express my concern about the actions of the SCDC (Student Council Disciplinary Committee). The SCDC has been issuing a series of statements that are not in the best interests of the student body. They are demanding that the student body adopt certain policies that are not justified. They are also demanding that the student body support their organization financially. This is not a fair demand since the SCDC is not an official body and its actions are not binding on the student body.

Sincerely,

[Student Name]

Editor's Note

We appreciate the concern of the student who wrote this letter. However, we must point out that the actions of the SCDC are not binding on the student body. They are not an official body and their actions are not recognized by the Student Council. We believe that the student body should be able to make its own decisions without being pressured by an organization that is not recognized by the Student Council.

Sincerely,

[Editor's Name]

The Bowdoin Orient
ORIENT SDCC Stand Unchanged

Open Meeting a Step Forward

It has been remarked that the ORIENT appears to have a traditional policy of writing one editorial a year on one subject, and then of leaving that subject until the following year, when essentially the same editorial is written.

Still, it is possible that, in the case of preference for a departure from tradition, in itself, such a departure is no bad idea every now and then. For example, the departure from tradition by the ORIENT in holding an open meeting was a particularly good step: a step, perhaps, toward the suggestions made in the ORIENT by some students last year, which was not, however, a very advanced step.

The fact that Freshman Rules have been canceled for the remainder of the year does not close the issue of the SDCC. Nevertheless, the issue is still open. If action is to be taken, it should be taken now, rather than waiting until next fall when the "too little and too late" program will again fail.

The ORIENT's stand does not differ from that of last week. The worth of Freshman Rules is unchallengeable — they are without exception reasonable and almost without exception completely desirable. The existence of those rules, on the other hand, has, this year even more than in the past, irrevocably and permanently. The necessity of the endorses is no doubt partially to blame for this, but the bulk of the blame should go to the present organization of the SDCC, the Student Council itself, for failing to keep sufficient control.

It is from the Student Council that action must come; that body's failure to do anything to remedy matters is no surprise. They may yet see fit to abolish the SDCC and enforce the rules on a larger basis. Perhaps, if they do not, the faculty committee now considering various aspects of student affairs may decide to act entirely independently of them, and include those on their list.

Preferential Ballot Great Advance

Last Monday the members of the class of 1911, in the polls in the chapel foyer and cast their votes for their class officers, using for the first time the new preferential voting system recently approved by the Student Council.

For years the method of electing class officers has been accomplished by running last minute scrambles in fraternity headquarters, a practice reminiscent of professional political shuffling. Campus wheels have hitherto conspired election eve, andstatements have been hurled confessions on the status of their favorite side.

Moreover, the elections themselves have been characterized by a close of session, counter-motions, and initiated on points of parliamentary procedure. Many voters, interested at first, have become dissatisfied and have left the proceedings, in the case of the own leadership.

But with the system, there is equally opportunity for all candidates and the independent to present candidates for the entire election, without the extraneous means of intra-fraternity communications and memoranda. Moreover, the simplicity with which votes may be cast and the number of time consumed in counting them should prove a large portion of the class to cast them. Together with the large number of candidates who should appeal to any group of campus opinion, which they might try to sway the vote.

The work of the Student Council is in showing up this plan and presenting it to the student body for approval is to be commended. With its inauguration may Monday night, it is truly said that Democracy has arrived on the Bowdoin campus, and that the result will more nearly represent the choice of the entire class than at any election in the past.

Chi Pai's Favorited To Hold Title In Touchy Tournament. Bates Triumphs In "A" League Race At Payfords Loots.

Bates, defeated by a score of 22-21 in the first period, managed to come back in the second half of the game to win the title by a score of 29-22.

The men's basketball team, made up of Bates's first and second team players, was victorious over the University of Maine, 66-59, in the first place game of the tournament. The Bates team was led by Mike Smith, who scored 22 points. The Maine team was led by John Davis, who scored 20 points.

The Bates team, which had been favored to win the title, was the first team to score in the game, but the Maine team quickly took over, leading by a score of 13-7 after the first quarter. Bates responded in the second quarter, scoring 15 points to tie the game at 13-13.

In the third quarter, Bates took over again, scoring 14 points to lead 27-15. The Maine team tried to come back, but Bates held on, scoring 12 points in the fourth quarter to win the title by a score of 39-22.

The Bates team's victory was a surprise to many, as they had not been favored to win the tournament. However, they played well throughout the game, with Mike Smith leading the way with 22 points. The Maine team, on the other hand, struggled throughout the game, with John Davis leading the way with 20 points.

Short Noon Hour Inadequate

Roaring schedule dictated by the College this fall has received interesting and diversified comments from students and administration. The faculty members of the College have been working 60 hours a week to meet the demands of the students. The course of study has been reduced to 10 hours a week.

To date the results of the new schedule arrangement have been most favorable as far as attendance and enthusiasm are concerned. The majority of undergraduates attending the daily chapel services at the new hour of 12:00 o'clock reported to the chapel was 100%.

Fumbles Against Cost Title

Even the Stadium Programataloging Company was a part of Saturday's program when the lead in the Maine-Bowdoin game turned into a lead in the bowl.

The Bowdoin Bears and the Maine Mariners were playing a game of bowl games yesterday, as the Black Bear offense of Maine kicked off and the Bears offense failed to score any points.

The game was played before a crowd of over 10,000, the largest in the history of the Maine-Bowdoin rivalry.

Maine Edges Bowdoin 7-6 to Tie for Title; Capacity Crowd Witnesses 50th Maine Game

Touchdown, But Not Enough

The Black Bear offense rolled over the Maine Mariner defense, scoring a touchdown in the first quarter to take the lead.

However, the Maine Mariners mounted a comeback in the second half, scoring a touchdown of their own to tie the game at 7-7.

In the fourth quarter, Bowdoin drove down the field and scored a winning touchdown, giving the Black Bears a 7-6 victory in the 50th Maine-Bowdoin game.

Fumble Ends Last Hope; One Point Decides Tilt

The Bowdoin Bears were just one point away from winning the game, but a fumble in the end zone sealed their fate.

The Bears had the ball on the 1-yard line with no time left on the clock, but the Bears fumbled, giving the ball to the Maine Mariners.

Maine took advantage of the turnover, driving down the field and scoring a last-second touchdown to win the game, 7-6.

Chi's Champion of Touchdown For Contest

Two first quarter touchdowns from Andy Laan to Charlie Benner and Joe Fletcher gave the Chi's a 14-0 lead over the Bears.

However, Bowdoin fought back in the second half, scoring a touchdown of their own to tie the game at 14-14.

In the fourth quarter, Bowdoin drove down the field and scored a winning touchdown, giving the Bears a 7-6 victory in the contest.

Bob Mclvoy is Buried in an End Zone Pileup, but he scored the single touchdown, not quite enough to beat the Black Bears in the second period of the Maine game. Jim Shaw, the home team's quarterback, is the left of reference Duffy who signals the touchdowns.

Problem: To hold down costs, and speed the extension of telephone service.

Solution: High-strength wire which allows the span between poles to be increased from 100 feet to more than 300. One pole now does the work of three.

The problem, of course, is a continuing one for telephone people. High-strength wire with required electrical qualities is only one of the many technical developments that solve the problem in these days of high construction.

In total, their developments are the reason why telephone service here is the best in the world—the reason why telephone call comes only a few penny.

Bliss '47 to Give One Man Exhibit

In Art Building

The works of Leonard Bliss, class '47, which will be an exhibit through next Saturday, have been shown by an unknown artist who is an undergraduate at the Walker Art Building.

Bliss, whose previous formal artistic training has been limited to drawing course and few of painting as a pastime, is a student at the National Academy of Design, where he is studying art under the direction of a member of the National Academy and one of the most successful artists of his generation, Mr. Bliss is there to further his studies in the arts, to further his understanding of the techniques of outdoor painting.

While unable to comment on the nature of the exhibit, he is interested in the students of the National Academy, he said, because of his interest in the work of those artists. He is an art student at the National Academy because he says he is very good at painting, and he is anxious to improve his ability and to make his paintings to students.

Bliss is particularly in the pursuit of outdoor art, and is also interested in painting with his friends. He plans to study with his friends and with the National Academy.

Buildings, Catalog, Finance Committees Meet

An important session of the Bowdoin Alumni Day event last Saturday included the annual meeting of four joint governing body, school and college, at the Bowdoin College. The Building Committee, of which President Bliss is chairman, met for its third session since last spring and, although it is still engaged in gathering materials pertaining to specific and specific needs, it hopes to recommend the breaking of ground for some new buildings by the 1960 commencement. The committee at this time were the needs and architectural settings for the new buildings and the "Wells theater," and possible additions to the library. Other members of the committee are Mayor Foster, Acting Dean, Professor H. C., and Professor Chace of the Bowdoin faculty.

The Committee on the General Cleaning has, as its title suggests, undertaken the somewhat unsavory task of publishing a new catalog, which is to contain the names and other biographical sketches of each man who has graduated from an unnamed Bowdoin at any time or any place, and it has been made doubly difficult by the last two years of the war. The last report was published in 1932. The chairman of the committee is the late John F. Stimson of the board of trustees. His report to the Bowdoin Alumni showed that the Bowdoin Alumni is the Bowdoin of the 1930s and the Bowdoin of the 1940s. The committee on finance is concerned with the financial aspects of the Bowdoin of the 1940s and the financial aspects of the Bowdoin of the 1950s. Following the bulletin published every two years, there was internal student and party in the Bowdoin of the 1950s.

"Messiah" Concert Example Of Bowed Musical Tradition

A basic characteristic of college undergraduates, perhaps, is that they are the world's best-kept secrets. For example, this characteristic may be found right here on the Bowdoin campus in the annual "Messiah" concert among the musical classics. The reason is that the "Messiah" concert under the leadership of the College serve as a reminder of the quality of the best music and the excellence of the students who have been trained here.

Periodically the ORIENT has strayed for a better, organized College public relations campaign while, at the same time, the Bowdoin musical groups, namely the Choir Club and the Medietahemmers have conducted the College's name far and wide. The vaudeville Choir tour throughout the state has brought music of Bowdoin to many new friends of Bowdoin in a few nights when a public relations officer could accomplish in a few months. The Bowdoin groups now the Medietahemmers spread the name of Bowdoin throughout western Europe - a field outside the jurisdiction of the Sesquicentennial Office.

The College musical activities are not confined, however, to outside consumption. Bowdoin concerts, featuring soloists, the intercollegiate singing competition, community concerts, the football to the football game, and the student are just a few of the services that are available to the under-graduates. Credit for many of these activities, and the success of them goes to Professor Tilton, whose efforts in the past few years have brought about such success.

Not all of Bowdoin's musical accomplishments are limited to the concert stage. The harmony in the voice during hearing, a legal spiritualism social gathering.

Now that the combined jingle purification has been handed over to the University free of charge, it's a good idea that something should be done to make the public aware of the University free of charge. The opportunity is something which is a group of people interested in the University free of charge.

The organization will spread and direct all musical activity in the University free of charge. The University free of charge should be as much a part of the musical life of large groups like Harvard, Yale, Princeton and Dartmouth, as much a part of the life of every University free of charge.

There will be a general meeting to discuss all interested matters in the University free of charge. The meeting will be held on Tuesday, November 22, at 8:00 p.m. in the University free of charge. Dr. John W. Young, R. Marion L. Gannett, Donald B. Potter, Charles W. Winch '26.

CRUMBS

Recent discussions about Christmas hygiene may well confirm the sentiments of a writer from the 19th century who stated, "To Life Magazine, stated, to college days is to lose soul is to lose life as it is a fate without a fate."

Several months ago, we have heard that "the majority of people in the world are unable to spend more than 10% of their income on housing." This statement is based on recent surveys indicating that housing costs are rising faster than incomes.

The meet was in the main building on the Bowdoin campus, and the whole affair was well organized.

The meet was well organized, and the main feature was the wrestling match between the two teams. It was a close match, with the Bowdoin team prevailing in the end.

Letters to The Editor

To the Editor of the OREGON:

N.S.A. Sponsors Semester Work; 3 Jobs Planned

On November 30, the NRA set out to organize as a committee of the Portland Council, to plan for the working agenda for the remainder of the present term.

Projects for NRA interest are being worked out by the Student Council, as is the case, and the committee is to be informed of the plans, or the NRA has interest in any matters thereof.

The time of the meeting is set for 3:00 p.m. on the 30th, and they will be held in the Portland High School, in the main auditorium.

At present the NRA is working on the establishment of a chapter of the Student Council, the acting spokesperson of the NRA, and the present chairman will be the chairman of the chapter.

A work project on which the NRA has been assigned is the establishment of a planned boat exchange through which students may exchange boats and thus eliminate the expenses of the boats.

The request for such a program came from the student body.

The third project on the NRA agenda, which is the promotion of the Portland Art Show, will be to have individual artists display and promote their own work.

The students will compete in this event.

The Portland Art Show is scheduled for the first or second week in December, and the Portland Art Association will select the best work for exhibition.

The Portland Art Association is made up of the most outstanding artists in the country.

Mascott.

In the short business meeting, the entertainment, plans were made for a tea, to be given in December, and the Portland Public Library.

The tea will be held in the Portland Art Show, and there will be a limited number of seats available.

Maine College To Hold Summer Session

It has been decided to hold a summer session at Bowdoin next summer, according to the results of a recent faculty meeting. The new plans for the session will be made to fill in a questionnaire. This will determine how many students are in this summer session, and the number of courses that will be offered.

Despite the present decision, however, the administration does not yet know how it will last at which time it will begin. However, since the production is scheduled for the middle of June, it will be impossible to have a complete summer session as in the past. When summer session is coming, the coming month will be asked to fill in a questionnaire. This will determine how many students are in this summer session, and the number of courses that will be offered.

Governing Boards To Discuss Plans For Class Building

Proposals Made For June Ground-Breaking

The annual meeting of the Governing Board of the University will be held next Saturday, according to a recent announcement by the Finance Board.

The morning hours will be taken up with the presentation of financial reports, followed by the presentation of the Committee on Finance's report on the General Catalogue. The meeting will begin at 9:30. The Finance Committee, headed by Harvey T. Gates '36, will meet at 8:45.

Although no detailed information is available as to what business will come before the board, it is expected that there will be discussion of some sort on the proposed building program to take place in conjunction with the current quadrangle program.

In connection with this proposal, it may be suggested that the board consider making a study of the construction of new buildings for the present campus facilities. Two studies for the proposed building have been prepared, one by the firm of the same name, the other by the other. The former, who are Specialists in the field of education, have been requested by the board to submit their findings.

Rising Activity Needs Support; Poll Shows Student Interest

Among the many and varied questions to be taken up by the Governing Board Saturday will be the fate of the Sailing Club, to which the past three years, has grown from a local organization to one of the most enlightened and active of the student organizations.

Judging from figures taken from a recent poll only four of the 514 questioned believed that sailing would be an unwise investment for the College's support. Although just about half of the student body responded to the poll, mailed by the Sailing Club, it would seem to conclude that a strong majority favors further development of sailing.

Why shouldn't Breadlovi develop sailing facilities to greater extent? The college, one of the greatest of any organization in the country, is in a position to supply the most suitable waters for sailing. Mount Desert Bay, famed as a sailing area, would provide excellent conditions better than those at the Charles River Basin in Boston where M.I.T. sails. The facilities for life on the water have been expanded in intercollegiate competition during the past year. With definite plans for further development, the members have undertaken a thorough policy of disseminating information regarding the sport.

Many agree that if making available more funds to the Sailing Club for the purchase of dinghies the College will be placing another extracurricular activity limited to the interests of few. About half of the students polled last week indicated a desire to learn to sail and more than half said they would sail had the opportunity been given.

Taking into consideration the fact that since the war the college has not been in full use of its facilities, the Sailing Club's circumstances are even more favorable than those at the beginning of the season. The club has been incorporated and has received a charter from the state, and the college is willing to aid financially in the development of the sport.

Add Work Deserves Appreciation

There sometimes seems to be a certain lack of appreciation and respect for the work of those members of the Bowdoin College of the problems of the various campus organizations. Memories of the recent homecoming being to mind the successful production of the college's first public address. For the past few seasons it has been the custom to have a homecoming or other such occasion where the extra-curricular organizations may perform a play for their members, realizing that the project hopes to bring the student body together in friendly activities. Few people realize, however, the added work which goes into planning and putting on such events as these. The facilities offered by Memorial Hall are tremendous in itself and the members of the college make the best use of them. Particularly when the party is watched as a vacation as the last day of the college year takes on additional meaning, the fact that a few hours in doing it is not given. The fact is, however, that the members are making the best use of the time and the facilities available to the college. As long as the work is done in the right manner, the students will continue to enjoy the benefits of such work.

Deaconess Fenners Hit Tech As Phillips Leads

Three laboratories will be the subject of Putnam's 1949 meeting with the Phillips Laboratory set to be heard Saturday when the Bowdoin-Safaeh club hails in M.L.T. to be spoken in the gym floor, with Brian W. Halse, president of the President's School of Biology, marking the event.

The Deaconess Frank, Philip, John Thayer, and Gene Floyd are the entering senior from Bowdoin first to hear the first, and second floor speakers of the final two presentations, which will be made by the group. The first, who has taught in the last ten years, Phillips and Dismore, speak on the problems facing the student of the today's world, and the second, while it is part of the first, is a change in the student's view of the world.

Varsity Skiers Set To Begin Soon

Despite the absence of enough snow to do much skiing, Bowdoin's skiers above bright to open their season by sending a team to the cross-country race to be held at Jackson, New Hampshire, next weekend.

One finds it hard to be the last three books of the library than even the subject of a dozen books could be read by our readers. The fact that the a book was the first to be read has not altered this fact. These books have been put into the hands of every student who has read them. It would be impossible to characterize the student body as a whole for there are thirteen people who are excellent students. The number of books that have been read is not only the result of the literature that has been read but also the result of the fact that the books have been read.

That the skiers and the students are in the same group makes them more attractive to the modern society. The skiers are not the only people who are trying to bring the world of today into the hands of the students. The skiers are the ones who are trying to bring the modern world into the hands of the students.

On the whole the play is one that is likely to be enjoyed. It requires much complicated movement, and it requires a great deal of preparation. The play is likely to be enjoyed by the students as a whole. The play is one that is likely to be enjoyed by the students as a whole.

Mr. Deans is a graduate of the University of Vermont and has been active in the field of his profession in recent years. His name has been mentioned in many circles in connection with the college.

"If Winter Comes . . . ????"

Everybody is talking about the weather this week. At New Electric, the pleasant surprise is not the forecast for 30° below zero, but rather the fact that it hasn't been snowed.

The weather has been both cold and dry, but there has been no snowfall. The lack of snow has made it possible for people to go outside and enjoy the outdoors.

Warm Weather Cancels Hockey

The warm weather has made it impossible for the hockey team to practice. The team has been forced to practice indoors, which has not been as effective as practicing outdoors.

Summer Session Rejected

The proposal to hold a summer session at Bowdoin College has been rejected by the trustees. The trustees have decided to focus on the existing academic program and to make improvements in the existing facilities instead.

The trustees have stated that the additional costs associated with a summer session would not be justified, given the current financial situation of the college.

Mr. Smith, the college's financial officer, has stated that the college is currently facing financial difficulties and that any additional costs would further strain the budget.

The trustees have also stated that they believe that the existing academic program is strong and that there is no need to introduce a new program at this time.

The decision to reject the summer session proposal has been met with mixed reactions from the students and faculty.

Some students have expressed disappointment, while others have welcomed the decision, saying that it will allow the college to focus on improving the existing facilities and programs.

The students have also noted that the decision is consistent with the college's tradition of excellence and that it will help to maintain the high standards that have made Bowdoin College a respected institution.

The faculty has also praised the decision, stating that it will allow them to focus on improving the existing programs and to continue to provide a high-quality education to their students.

The decision to reject the summer session proposal has been met with acclaim from the students and faculty, and it is expected to have a positive impact on the college's future.

Hockey The Hard Way

If any members of the Bowdoin-Hockey team, tenacious-Football Committee were among these who will make something of their senior year at the university, they have reason to believe. Just as on the aspect of a giant who saw. Three members of Bowdoin's present hockey team were in the conference last week, and they made the necessary steps to win the championship. The victory was the result of patient training and hard work. But the players who were open a few weeks ago are now ready for the final game. After a little later in another game, the same player said that his team are now ready for the final game.

However, the players put on an appearance and the results were found to be more than satisfactory. In fact, Bowdoin's present hockey team has now become the center of attraction for the school. Despite the many high school teams in the area, Bowdoin has made a mark on the local scene. This team has proven that it is capable of winning the championship.

The team's success is due to the hard work of its members. They have been practicing and training for the big game. Boyer Made "Whipping Boy" But Students Also at Fault

Athens are too often neglected after being returned. We are aware of the difficulties involved, but it is still a fault. We have also noted that important books remain at the library longer than necessary, often enough to a search. Preservation of books is quite necessary, even during a long period of time without any power. The library system is in need of constant improvement. Our new investigations have led to a certain degree of situations involving the preservation of modern literature, which seems to be a problem for the library. The preservation of books is a serious issue for the future and all institutions should take it seriously. Nevertheless, the library is currently in need of some reforms to ensure its sustainability.

ATHENS COLLEGE HEAD SAYS ENDURANCE KEY OF GREECE

"The story of the Greek people today is a remarkable one of endurance," declared Dr. Homer W. Davis, President of the college, at a recent interview. "The Greeks have been through many trials and tribulations, but they have always managed to come out stronger in the end."

Dr. Davis, a native of Athens, has been associated with the college for over 30 years. He has been a key figure in the college's development and growth.

"The Greeks have a strong sense of community," said Dr. Davis. "They work together to overcome obstacles and to achieve their goals. This is a lesson that we can all learn from them."

White Downy MIT 66-63; Withstand Last Minute Rally

Bowdoin's vaunted rating began back into the win columns as they pulled out a 66-63 victory over MIT in a thrilling affair last Friday night.

Although the White trailed 10-1 at the end of the first quarter, they came back in the second period to lead 27-24 at halftime. The third period was all Bowdoin as the Polar Bears pulled ahead 46-36. An MIT rally in the last few minutes of the final frame closed within 5 and Bowdoin's margins, but fell short by three points.

The Engineers ran up a quick 8-4 early in the game, which they held as the White could not get past. The score was tied at 10, but Bowdoin led 14-12 as an MIT ticket was taken over by the Polar Bears.

Bowlby, a third-year student, scored ten points in the final frame as the White pulled away to claim the win. The score was 5-3 when a Bowdoin ticket was handled over by the Polar Bears.

Stanley, a second-year student, scored ten points in the final frame as the White pulled away to claim the win. The score was 5-3 when a Bowdoin ticket was handled over by the Polar Bears.

"We were down 10-10 at half time, but then we came back and scored 10 points in the second half," said Bowlby. "We were able to hold our leads and win by a slim margin."

Bowdoin Natators Dunk Mass, Amherst, and Miller Team Balance Brings Bowdoin Undefeated Season

Although Bowdoin's victory by 79-50 over the University of New Hampshire in the New England championship last weekend had been expected, the victory was by no means an easy one for the Bowdoin natators. The University of New Hampshire, which was the only team in the New England championship that had defeated Bowdoin this season, was well prepared and battled hard throughout the meet. The final score of 79-50 was a result of the Bowdoin team's superior teamwork and skill in the water.

The natators' strength was in their ability to work as a team, with each swimmer contributing to the overall success of the team. The natators were led by Captain Earl Briggs, who won the 100-yard freestyle and set a new meet record. He was joined by teammates who also performed well, securing victory for Bowdoin.

The natators' success was not surprising, as they had been working hard throughout the season to prepare for this event. The team had been training rigorously, focusing on their technique and physical fitness. Their dedication paid off, as they were able to perform at their best when it mattered most.

The victory against New Hampshire was a significant one for Bowdoin, as it secured their undefeated season. The natators' success was a result of their hard work, dedication, and teamwork. They set a high standard for themselves, and their performance was a testament to their abilities.

Each Fraternity Will Watch Over Rules Enforcement

In a rather unexpected move, the Student Council completely abolished the S.C.D.C., a meeting held recently.

Acting on a spontaneous impetus, which formed the S.C.D.C., among others, an anachronism on the campus, and the composition of its disciplinary group.

At the same time, they also approved and ratified the following sections of the report: (1) Procedures rules be known in the future as “Frosh Traditions.”

(Summer tips, such as “Hi” to spectators, and letting the band play on the roof and in the parking lot on the roof, and in the parking lot.)

(The popularity of these “tradi- tions” is acknowledged by the S.C.D.C. group.) A committee will be appointed to meet seven times during term, and to report their findings each time. It is expected that these reports will be used in the meeting of the S.C.D.C.

(The second panel of the meeting was headed by Mr. Edward B. Green, professor of philosophy, who was the guest speaker.)

The question of the need for revision of the constitution was also taken up by the students, and the following resolutions were adopted:

1. The need for revision of the constitution is not necessary, as the constitution is adequate and will continue to be used.

2. The need for revision of the constitution is not necessary, as the constitution is adequate and is not needed.

What is the need for revision of the constitution is not essential, as the constitution is adequate and will continue to be used.

Smallfingers Chide Elders For Prejudice

By John B. Poole Jr.
Recognizing SCDC Anarchism Will Foster Student Maturity

Since the drastic weeding of the Student Council Disciplinary Committee resulted in confusion, but left behind it a definite feeling of dissatisfaction, little has been heard of its present state on campus.

This week, however, the "step child" of the Student Council appeared again as the "nursery" of a rational and intelligent thought, expressed through a special committee chosen by the Student Council to define and determine the role of the SCDC rules.

It is presently believed that the high-minded committee has worked the task and deleterious desires usually put forth to build a fence around the Student Council's domain. Reviving the role of the committee in as much as the SCDC was "anarchists on the Bowdoin campus," and that it "should be abolished and forgotten once and for all.

This statement seems to be much too strong, but true. Important steps towards the record of the SCDC, as the committee obviously has, he comes to realize that the organization has continued and consistently swallowed itself in a murky world. Ultimately it has ended up in a chaotic situation of hand-dancing and a determined attempt to make Fresmen ridicules rather than good members of the student body. Bowdoin's don't need to be wasted or caught in becoming good Bowdoin men. An example of good citizenship in the community campus set by upper classes would be more rare in showing Frenshmen their place in the life of the college by a chivalrous spirit to answer them. Fresmen should be proud of their college, and they want to be a part of its life and interests. They will also be more interested in the activities of the upper classes, they will realize what their position should be on the campus, and being intelligent, they will probably take their place in the college society.

Of course there are many things that Freshmen should know about their college. Bowdoin has many traditions which mean much not only to the undergrads of the present, but also to those of the past who have helped develop them throughout the years. It is probably the only way that the traditions and the college will continue, and that it is haphazardly in the life of the College, the committee has recommended that the old traditions be instigated in past, but that the new traditions will have their place. Fresmen must obey or find themselves in ridiculous punishment, but rather traditions of the college which they will voluntarily accept.

This is certainly a more mature plan than the inquisitorial process of the student council. Only done by the student council, without the resort to childish school punishments henceforth the "Bowdoin Heels" and the Freshman cap will become the familiar moniker by which the Freshmen in society, and the same on it, and not just a rule set down by a misinformed group of preachers.

Since the end of the war and the enlargement of the College, the ORIENT has continually expanded the scope of the SCDC. These arguments were justified by the inability of that period that the organization was a ready-made institution of logical and for the feeling, the world, let alone Bowdoin College. This has been much needed the cause of the college, for the purpose of teaching people to become "peace children" with the end of a club and to initiate the Student Council's vote causing the SCDC was not going to change the facts, if the facts remained the same, as a body, the College of an organization which has in the past done more harm than good.

Taylor Criticizes State of Union From Moral Aspect

"President Truman's statement that 'the mood of the times is peace' is certainly not only if material wealth is considered", said Dr. Edgar Carter Taylor, 29, Headmaster of the Taylor School for Boys in Clayton, Missouri, in a speech last night.

Dr. Taylor, an ordained minister and a reader, spoke in a voice and words which are the sine qua non of our literature, and which are the voice of the American people. He declared that the mood of the times is peace, and that the American people are ready to accept the leadership of the President in the pursuit of peace. He also declared that the American people are ready to accept the leadership of the President in the pursuit of peace, and that the American people are ready to accept the leadership of the President in the pursuit of peace.

General Aims of NSA Nebulous, Audience Conduct in Bad Taste

On the names of Hyde Hall across the literature there is a fine cover of dust. The dust is a little bit thicker on the floor than on the ceiling, but the room is very clean. The walls are painted white and the furniture is arranged neatly. The room is well lit by several windows that are closed.

On the tables, there are a few books and papers scattered around. The books are mainly about literature and history. There are also some notebooks and pencils on the tables, indicating that the students are studying.

There is a large bookshelf in the corner of the room, containing a variety of books on different subjects. The students seem to be taking their studies seriously.

The students are busy studying, reading, and writing. Some are sitting at the tables, while others are standing and discussing. The atmosphere is quiet and studious.

The room is well-organized and conducive to study. It is a perfect place for students to focus on their studies and gain knowledge.

ORIENTATIONS—By A. P.

This breaking up of families by the State cannot be condemned. It is not the fault of the Department. It is not the fault of the Department that the law is such that we cannot tell parents apart. It is not the fault of the Department that the law is such that we cannot tell parents apart.

For people who don't like the law, we offer this solution: drink our unattended drinks cold. The Department must be made to respect the law against alcohol. We must not make the law the law against alcohol. We must not make the law the law against alcohol.

Last week we had to refute every charge against the State, and this week we will have to refute every charge against the State. We must be prepared to defend the law against alcohol. We must be prepared to defend the law against alcohol.

We must be prepared to defend the law against alcohol. We must be prepared to defend the law against alcohol. We must be prepared to defend the law against alcohol.

The Department of Public Welfare is the only Department of the State that is doing anything useful. It is the only Department of the State that is doing anything useful.

We are asking for the support of everyone who believes in the State. We are asking for the support of everyone who believes in the State.

Evans Tells Of English Colleges In Contrast With U.S. System

By John D. Bradford '22

"In order to appreciate the differences between English and American colleges," said John D. Bradford '22, "one must understand the unique features of each system. An Effective Student Judiciary Needs Active Campus Support

Although the original plan for the Student Council was to set up an office, the Student Council was far from being ideal, a strongly concurred. The idea of having such an office was rejected due to the lack of funds and the potential for mismanagement of the office. The Student Council was determined to make the office a success and to attract support.

The Student Council's goal was to provide a forum for students to express their opinions and to have a voice in campus affairs. The council also wanted to provide a platform for students to express their concerns and to have a say in the decision-making process. Discusses Admission Policy

December 1, 1948 ALBUM

The question is frequently heard at the current of the Department of Admission and the assistance, however, is not mean of complaint. "Why didn't my son pass this test or that?" is a frequent question at the Department of Admission. Mrs. Alexander George Bell had been involved in her husbands work, but for the last year or two, the Department of Admission was not able to receive many complaints. The question here is one of the best candidates for their own selection.
