Track Men Report for Spring Season
With Good Support for Team and Maps Chance Amaysing

The track squad started out Saturday for a hard spring schedule. The men have been practicing daily at the athletic fields of the new field in Kansas, and while it is a bit of a trouble to have them be running daily without a break, the team has been very promising. The track men have been practicing at the new field for the past two weeks. They have been very successful, and the track men have been invited to the meet at Plattsburg. The meet will be held on the field at Plattsburg, and the track men will be able to hold the meet on the track at Plattsburg. A Happy Freshman!

When a group of freshmen suddenly burst forth from the doors of Appleton Hall and made for the station in a mass and when the subscribers paused in pursuit to detail until after the train had left, now some thing extraordinary in it. The freshmen seemed to be in the spirit of the occasion, and the appeal for the fresh bouquet, icores were living up in tradition in attempting to present its smooth conduct. When, however, various members of the Student Council had been authorized to demand flowers and to interpose generally, then the tongues of criticism were loosed and the tongues were not then all the lower classes of the College.

For years in the past, banquetts successful and unfortunate have been the common place occurrence. It is part of the excitement and very elevating to one's self esteem to be able to attend such an event.

AN ADDITION TO CAMEL SMOKE-LORE
We submit the sad case of the freshman in zoology, who, when asked to describe a camel, said, "A camel is what you wish you were smoking while you try to think of the right answer." He flunked zoology—but he knew his enemies. For in time of trial or time of joy, there's no friend like Camel.
The subtle influence of choice tobaccos upon the smoke-spouts of mankind have been carefully studied, identified, and blended smoothly into CAMELS

CHARLES F. THWAITES DISCUSSES ACADEMIC OPPORTUNITIES OF STUDENTS

President, James L. King of Western Reserve University Press, Address at Baccalaureate Exercises

The eager student college life is possible for the teacher, the curriculum and set aside time for the student itself. This emphasis never makes an individual of the student, for the one can be studied, how many shall be so, what steps he or she should take in and talk about in the study? The questions are central and determinative. The facts of, births, of achievements, of personal conduct, of all the difficulties of the student, as in the house of the old school and new and his own.

The freedom of the new college education has given way to modifications of the old school. The experience in the house is such that at the root, the old school is a good one, and that is the experience. It is

$2,500 BIRD LECTURESHIP
GIVEN BY MRS. J. W. ACHORN

New Lectureship Established in Memory of Her Husband
The Class of 1879

Tuesday morning in Chapel, President Bliss announced that a new and important bequest has been made to the College's endowment funds. Mr. Bliss stated that the bequest, known as the "Bird L" Lectureship, will be in memory of the late Charles W. Achorn, who was a member of the Class of 1879 and a prominent figure in the College's history. The bequest includes a sum of $2,500 per year, to be used for the purpose of establishing a new lectureship in the College.

The lectureship will be known as the "Bird L" Lectureship, and will be administered by the Department of Biology. It will consist of a series of lectures on ornithology to be given by a distinguished ornithologist, who will be selected by the Department of Biology.

The lectureship will be open to all students of the College, and will be given in the first year of the College, and will continue for as long as the endowment funds will permit.

The lectureship will be known as the "Bird L" Lectureship, in honor of Mr. Achorn, who was a bird enthusiast and a member of the faculty from 1879 to 1895.

THE IMPATIENCE OF INTELLECT USES THEM

SUN.-CHAPLIN, TA.

Professor Smith Declares It to Be Necessary

To Hear One's Best by Shortened Route

This is a mental malady which is occasioned by the presence of too many elements in the course of a single day's instruction. It interferes with the proper development of a person's powers of concentration. Professor Smith has in mind the following steps toward the cure.

First:

Remove the element of noise from the environment of the pupil's mind. If music, or other sound, are permitted, they must be of a soothing nature. Second; the pupil should be taught to use his mind in such a manner that he will not be distracted by the presence of unnecessary elements in his surroundings. Third: the pupil should be taught to think for himself and not permit himself to be influenced by the opinions of others.

Communication

Editor of the Orient:

Upon reading an article reporting the latest Bowman report it was agreed by the managing editor that the Orient should publish an article of the importance of the new law. It is generally considered that the law is not the best one, but it is considered to be the best one that has been yet proposed. The law should be published and the Orient should take a prominent part in its enforcement.

When Dad was a "Modern Youth"

BICYCLES, air-conditioned luxury, and the "gilded" youth with their horseless carriages and night club social life—none of these were Dad's idea of "modern youth." When Dad was a "Modern Youth," he rode a bicycle, fixed his own lights when they went out, and earned his own money by the sweat of his brow. He didn't wear clothes or shoes that cost more than a dollar, and he didn't spend much on food, either. He bought his clothes at the local store, and his shoes at the corner shoe store. He didn't have a car, but he didn't mind. He enjoyed the freedom of the bicycle, and he liked being able to get around on his own two wheels.

Dad didn't like the idea of being "modern." He thought it was all a bunch of nonsense, and he didn't want to be a part of it. He preferred to do things his own way, and he didn't care what other people thought of him. He was a real "Modern Youth," in the sense that he was always looking for new and better ways to do things, and he was never satisfied with the way things were.

Dad was a real "Modern Youth," and he was proud of it. He didn't care what other people thought of him, and he didn't care what other people did. He did things his own way, and he was happy with that. He was a real "Modern Youth," and he was proud of it.

RHODES SCHOLARS INCREASING YEARLY

Great Opportunities Are Available in Rhodes

The number of medical and medical students who are applying for Rhodes Scholarship is increasing yearly. This is not surprising, as the conditions that they offer are far more attractive than those of any other

The following is a translation from the recent Bulletin of the American Rhodes Commission:

"The number of medical and medical students who have applied for Rhodes scholarships, and the number of scholarships awarded, has been increasing year by year. This is due to the fact that the conditions offered by the Rhodes Scholarship are far more attractive than those of any other scholarship. As a result, the number of students who apply for the scholarship is increasing yearly.

The conditions offered by the Rhodes Scholarship include a stipend of $3,000 per annum, free tuition and books at one or more of the universities of England and the University of Cambridge, and maintenance of the student in the United States. In addition, the student is allowed to remain in the United States for four years and then return to the University of Cambridge for a final year of study.

The conditions for admission to the scholarship are that the student must be a citizen of the United States, must be a resident of the United States for at least five years, must have been graduated from a university in the United States, and must be able to demonstrate a high degree of scholarship and character.

The student is required to return to the United States after the final year of study, and to reside in the United States for at least five years, before being eligible to apply for a second scholarship.

The student is also required to take a final examination at the end of the four years, and to pass this examination in order to be eligible to apply for a second scholarship.

The student must be willing to accept the conditions offered by the Rhodes Scholarship, and must be willing to work hard in order to make the best use of the opportunities offered by the scholarship.

Blindfolded . . . in scientific test of leading Cigarettes, Mrs. Reginald C. Vanderbilt selects OLD GOLD

"I wonder if one can really tell the difference, when blindfolded," was my first thought when invited to make this test.

"After smoking the four brands, as they were handed to me one after another, I discovered there was one that was noticeably smoother than the others and richer in taste.

"This proved to be an Old Gold. I hope I shall be able to obtain them in Paris . . . we are surprisingly free from any trace of throat irritation, which has a delightful aroma which we shall enjoy very much."

How Test Was Made

Mrs. Vanderbilt was blindfolded, and, in the presence of two responsible witnesses, was given one of the four leading cigarette brands. To cheat the test, coffee was placed before each cigarette, and while the witnesses were unaware of the identity of these cigarettes, during . . . After smoking the four cigarettes, Mrs. Vanderbilt was asked to designate by number her choice . . . She immediately selected "Number F," which was Old Gold.

A Great Ghost

The ghost of the Bowdoin spirit has been walking abroad this week, as closely resembling its former self that it has been hard for anyone to tell them apart. Arising from its grave by a plank in Chapel, President Sills on behalf of intercollegiate baseball and by a very enthusiastic track rally at which Jack Slager was presented with a "J" sweater, this ghost has been dwelling above the surface of the ground. It was very clearly seen at the Colby and Maine baseball games on the new athletic field. It was even more apparent when the stands at the State Meet in Lewiston the crowning event with great vigor and enthusiasm. No doubt the ghost will av erage itself on the indifference which its unenvied death and take its opponent's place on the campus. Without question the ghost will be able to do this if the undergraduate body gives it a sufficiently warm reception, and does not already seem as if the ghost were assuming corporeal form?

DR. GOODRICH GIVES SUNDAY CHAPEL TALK

Tell Us to Review of Impractical Spirits and Real-light in the World

Dr. Goodrich, the Chapel speaker of the last three Sundays, delivered his message on "Myths of Life on Earth," and "What is Right in Life." He is it possible to have a disinterested view of the world and remain true to the things of the world, being a part of the world such a thing can be. The world is a merely a collection of facts. It is true we must, we ought to put some "spiritual" into the world, that proper context among the things of the world is necessary and sufficient; the context in which the facts are seen, is the true and the real world. Here we must be true to the world, truly, the world is not a true world; it is the grand and noble reality.

THE COLLEGE ALUMNI ASSOCIATION CATALOGUE

The annual catalogue is now being issued, and, of course, a subscription to the alumni association has been made. This catalogue contains the names of the alumni, their addresses, and the names of those who have been graduated from Bowdoin College. It is a valuable record of the college's past, and it is hoped that it will be a valuable guide to the college's future.

Tufts College Dental School

A four year course leading to the degree of Doctor of Dental Medicine. Courses of study for admission must have completed two years of academic college of liberal arts and sciences, and must have at least two semesters in the subject of the school. Applications must be filed with the secretary, 1222 Agassiz Hall, Boston, Mass.

The author suggests that the catalogue be obtained from the college's library or from the secretary of the alumni association.

LAW STUDENTS
THE BOSTON UNIVERSITY LAW SCHOOL
Student entrance to principle is a matter of fact that has been written into the law for more than a hundred years. In the case of another decision, the United States Supreme Court decided that "the right of students to be heard ... is the right to be heard, and to have their voices heard, in the conduct of their schools." Thus, as early as 1903, the Court held that students had a right to have their voice heard in matters of school discipline.

Russian schools, which were predominantly religious, were closed in 1918 by the Bolsheviks. The ban on public worship was later revoked by the Soviet authorities, and religious schools were not re-established until 1990. The legal status of religious schools is uncertain, and they are not recognized by the Russian government as educational institutions. Religious schools are subject to the same regulations as secular schools, and are not exempt from taxation.

In the 20th century, there was a resurgence of interest in religious education, and many religious organizations have established schools to provide education that is consistent with their religious beliefs. These schools are often referred to as "independent schools," and are not subject to the same regulations as public schools. Religious schools are often criticized for not meeting the same academic standards as secular schools, and for not providing a comprehensive education that includes the sciences.

However, religious schools have also been praised for their ability to provide a well-rounded education that is consistent with the religious beliefs of the students. Religious schools often provide a supportive environment that encourages students to learn and grow in their faith. In addition, religious schools are often able to provide a more personalized education, as they are able to tailor their curriculum to the needs of their students.

Religious schools are not without their critics, however. Some argue that religious schools are not as effective as secular schools in preparing students for higher education and the workforce. Others argue that religious schools are not able to provide a well-rounded education that includes the sciences.

Despite these criticisms, religious schools continue to be an important part of the educational landscape. They provide an environment that is consistent with the religious beliefs of the students, and are able to offer a personalized education that is tailored to the needs of their students. Religious schools are an important part of the educational system, and continue to play a vital role in preparing students for higher education and the workforce.

The Rev. James Conley, a leader in the anti-slavery movement, was a strong advocate of religious education. He believed that religious organizations should be involved in education, and that religious schools should be a part of the educational system.

The first religious schools were founded in the 19th century, and were often funded by religious organizations. These schools were often founded by religious leaders, and were intended to provide education that was consistent with the religious beliefs of the students.

Religious schools have a long history, and have been an important part of the educational system for many years. They continue to play a vital role in providing education that is consistent with the religious beliefs of the students, and are an important part of the educational landscape.

Blindfolded in scientific test of leading Cigarettes, Princess Paul Chavchavadze selects OLD GOLD

"I was much intrigued by the invitation to make a blindfolded test of your leading brands of American cigarettes, to see how they compared with each other and with those I had smoked abroad. Could one really taste the difference? I wondered.

"But when I was handed these cigarettes, one by one, I realized at once that there was a difference and that the test was conclusive. One cigarette was so much more appealing, so much more delicious in flavor, Oh, and so much more satisfying. When the test was over and I was told that the cigarette of my choice was Oleo Gold, I understood at once why this cigarette is so popular among my American friends."

Princess Paul Chavchavadze, Princess Paul Chavchavadze, Sister of Mrs. Wm. B. Lewis

How Test Was Made

Subject was blindfolded, and in the presence of an unbiased and competent witnesses, was given one each of the three leading cigarettes to smoke. To clear the taste, mints were served before each cigarette. The Princess was entirely unaware of the identity of these cigarettes during test. After tasting the four cigarettes, the Princess was asked to designate by number her choice. Without hesitation she replied, "No. 2...which was Old Gold."

The Toga Council of Delta Kappa Epsilon held its formal dance at the Brunswick Hotel on Thursday evening. A large crowd was present, the high point being reached when the music ceased and the guests took to the dance floor. The program was made up of all the usual incidents and the toga was as much in evidence as at any previous toga banquet. The guests were all of the high class and the toga was more of a display of personal tastes than a matter of mere convention. The dance was held at the Czar's Ballroom and the guests were welcomed by Miss Alexandra Wadsworth, Miss Mary C. Reid, and Miss Aline Poulton. PRESIDENT HOPKINS LECTURES AUSPICIES DELTA Upsilon

Noted President of Dartmouth College is Fourth Spokesman Under Lectureship Founded by Avery Speer

PI DELTA EPSILON IS TO BE REVIVED

It was announced recently by D. W. Parish, president of the Bowdoin Chapter of Pi Delta Epsilon, the honorary journalism fraternity that sponsored the organization, that the organization had been reactivated this spring. This Spring's installation was held on April 1, 1929.

The new officers installed were: President, J. W. T. Halseth, '30; Vice-President, J. B. J. Hagner, '31; Secretary-Treasurer, R. W. W. Wilcox, '32; and Supernumerary, T. A. H. Rushforth, '30.

The By-Laws were read and debated by the new officers, and the first meeting of the new organization was held.

The new organization is to be called "Delta Lambda National."
A Bowdoin Polo Field

There was a time when the average college man knew no more about the game of polo than what he had possibly read in Ripley's "Mathos Cate" or some other such book. But as usual, times have changed. Today at Harvard, Yale, and Princeton polo is a regular sport, recognized by the colleges and supported by them. It is an outdoor game, popular both in the fall and in the spring, and regularly and attracted interest throughout the colleges of the country.

Here at Bowdoin, polo started with a few fellows who were interested in riding. They hired horses from Bartlett's stables and organized a club, the Bachelor's Hounds. The first practice was held in a nearby field, and the boys started the game off in a great flurry. A year later, with a dozen fellows out for polo, Harvard called for a meeting of the newly formed club, and the rules were drawn up.

The game was a well-organized team which played several games with Falmouth and Plymouth, and it was found that the game was not only a fine sport but also a very trying one.

The trouble with ideas in the classroom is that they have no time to be evolved. So many students are obliged to contribute the ideas that a short time only is permitted for pondering, and this is without enthusiasm. If the student in class cannot evolve a fact that the next one in the recitation has a chance to supply it. In some courses, full attention is given to the subject, and no effort is made to develop ideas that may be of use for other purposes. The term "Polo Field" is used to denote the field of polo played in the fall and spring.

The field is well-placed for the game of polo and can be used for other sports.

College "Roll Session"

"When a Nymphopedia is found among the sample of approval on "Roll Sessions" it is to be expected that a thousand such will be found in the list of ideas that the committee of the day may have, but it is to be regretted that this is the case by想不到ing in informal intellectual discussions. Where these are continual an interesting study. If the arguments are very few, no conclusions are drawn, but the habit is bounced, and at a fair organization of ideas.

BOWDOIN CELEBRATES 123rd COMMENCEMENT THIS WEEK

Alumni Return In Large Numbers for Exercises Which Opened with Presidents Sills' Address

The all-day Commencement Week, which will culminate in the exercise at the Chapel on the Hill, last Sunday afternoon, June 20th, and was punctuated throughout with the presence of former students and faculty, opened with President Sills' address. For the occasion, the President drew upon a wealth of material and avoided all repetitions, in his address, which is expected to be the most important and significant in the history of the College.

Surveying the changes which have been wrought during the past two decades, President Sills made a pointed and timely appeal for the support of the College. He stated that the College had reached a point of crisis, and that the support of the alumni was absolutely necessary to its continued existence.

The President emphasized the importance of the College in the education of the young men of the nation, and called upon them to give generously to the College in order that it might continue to fulfill its mission.

Bowdoin's News

In 1925 committees of the undergraduates, of the alumni, and of the Faculty were appointed to consider the needs of the College during the next ten years. The major recommendations of the committees in regard to physical equipment were a Union, a new and larger gymnasium, a new chapel, and a new library. A number of smaller recommendations were also made, including the establishing of the Bowdoin Library Association, the building of a new memorial hall in honor of the late Mr. John J. Robinson, the establishment of a music program, the purchasing of musical instruments, and the construction of a new dormitory. These recommendations were approved by the Board of Trustees, and work on the projects began immediately.

The Union was completed in 1927, and the gymnasium was opened in 1928. The new chapel was dedicated in 1929, and the memorial hall was completed in 1930. The music program was established in 1931, and the new dormitory was opened in 1932.

The Bowdoin Library Association was incorporated in 1933.

better chance of being admitted to the College than those who desire a degree of B.S. Once in the student may take as many science courses as he chooses and still write A.B. after his name, providing he has had Latin just.

In the days when Greek and Latin as well as several romances languages were requisites for the degree of Bachelor of Arts there was sufficient difference between the two degrees to raise the higher esteem to fall upon the A.B. Today, however, at Bowdoin the difference is so slight as to cause one to wonder, "Why confer the degree of B.S. at all?" That is the point. If the sole distinction between the requirements is the amount of Latin or Greek taken before the degree of A.B. or in it, why not eliminate the degree of Bachelor of Science?

ARTHUR COLLINS TO LECTURE TOMORROW NIGHT

The Open Sesame on Freshmen

With nearly all of the vacations closed in the respective fraternity houses, the time may seem rather Inefficent to criticise Bowdoin\'s cooling system. Yet the opportunity may be the best, for the weakness of that system will be glaring apparent. Bowdoin is a college in which fraternity life is of the greatest importance, both to the college and to the individual. To the extent that this fact is recognized by nearly everyone, the method of conquering new fraternities and determining themselves accordingly is of the greatest importance. What is the means by which Bowdoin nor fair to the individual.

The problem of rushing allows the planning of the man they ever come to college. This may be very well when the man knows what he is getting into or in some decision because he is a person with a great deal of experience. When, however, the man is snapped up by some house the minute he steps on the campus, and is then rushed and he has no choice in his rushing, or because of his faith in that fraternity, something should be done about it.

The student who may not be sure of the college, because of the theory that by having to work in a hurry to fill its delegations a fraternity may make a few mistakes, overlook men when it selects members, it may be impossible to determine that some of the younger men may remain dangerously superior to the rest of them. From such an institution the man may not find his true self. For they may get men who, given the chance to learn, might have the ability to teach.

On the Whittier Field grandstand is the instruction "Play fair and you will be successful." This applies to our attitude toward athletics; why not be just as fair in fraternity rushing? To the individual freshman our system today is not fair. You may say, "That is the price we pay in a world of shrewdness, that is why I am here, and unless I have the advantage, I may be unable to go through college. It is a matter of facts."

It is true that we have to rush, but a fraternity must be a place where men can learn. If we are going to learn anything we must learn it together. We must have a common group of men.

Pulling things apart is easy enough, but to get them together again is a very different proposition. If we are told that these are the rules of the game we must accept them, or we may find ourselves alone.

Even if no other rule should be instituted, each and every man would be able to fill the dates he has chosen to accept one only, that is his burden. If he accept the acceptance of his fraternity and be allowed to learn them before he rushes and then rush with his fraternity be permitted to pledge him, he would feel secure from the fear of being rejected one more time. He would know just exactly where he stood and what bunch of fellows he liked the best. Moreover, no fraternity worthy of the name should object to a man's making the decision to a few of the men.

Allowing the freshman to accept any dates he chooses and to permit us to take a pledge before he has filled all his dates will protect the man who has to make a really important decision. The method may not be the best that can be worked out for Bowdoin, but until the Student Council acts to fit the ball by the hands to him in about five years of disentanglement.

Why B.S. of Bowdoin?

Upon his satisfactory completion of certain requirements, a student at Bowdoin receives a degree of Bachelor of Arts or Bachelor of Science. Tradition has it that the degree of B.S. is not as intellectually stimulating as it is in H. of R. and hence there is apt to be a slight feeling of sophistication on the part of students for the latter degree towards their fellow students who are working for the B.A. degree. The difference is the difference in the requirements for the two degrees?

To be remembered is that the degree of B.S. for a degree of Bachelor of A.B., a student who has presented for at least three years of Latin for admission is required to take in English, Latin, French, and German. The same student, however, must take Mathematix 1-2. This is the sole difference in the requirements for the two degrees. The one who would become a Bachelor of Arts, A.B., degree of Bachelor of A.B. may take his major in the French department. The year of Latin is of sufficient importance to see, to enable the student to the rank of the A.B. or to allow him to choose his major.

The situation seems a little incongruous on the face of it. And it is so, for there is evidence of the fact that Bowdoin has the policy of covering candidates for the degree of Bachelor of Science, covering all students by the degree of B.S. and not allowing for a degree of Bachelor of A.B. as a life in a college to confer you this degree upon you graduate and you may profess you are a major in cutting down an otherwise undesirable lack of large freshmen. Electricity opens a new era of ocean travel Miraculously quiet and vibrationless, luxurious and swift, the new electrically operated S.S. California, largest American-built passenger ship, has opened a new era of ocean travel.

Electricity drives the California so efficiently that the fuel bill for the initial coast-to-coast trip was only five cents per ton mile. Electricity man the winches, bakes the bread, makes the ice, polishes the armor, electricity cools the cabins and provides passengers with the comforts found in the finest hotels.

Complete electrification makes the California an engineering marvel and the most modern of the new ocean Liners. It is booked for in advance, a sister ship has just been launched, and another is under construction.

On sea or land, in every walk of life, electricity is life in the vein of progress. Undreamed of as a household convenience, it is a symbol of the electrical industry's part in modern civilization and a prophecy of even greater accomplishment.

Do you suppose that those who will work for the public good of this country, who will do the work properly, will be remunerated for it? It has been generally to the advantage of the country that the people who have been put into office have been those who have been proved by their conduct to be the most efficient. This result of the democratic policy, which is the chief feature of the democratic form of government. The American system of government, it is true, is not perfect in its form, but it has been a great improvement, and it is the chief feature of the democratic form of government. SCREEN EXHIBITION NOW BEING HELD

Kerrison S. Macleod's Modern Football Screen is Being Shown Two Weeks

The exhibition of modern painted pictures, developed by Kerrison S. Macleod, the student artist of the class, is now being shown in the Bowdoin gymnasium. The pictures show the action at the various sports being played, as well as the scores of important games. These pictures are interesting, and to any student who is interested in the sports of the college, they offer an opportunity to see the action of the games in a pictorial form which is quite different from the usual photographic method. The pictures are being shown for two weeks, and students are encouraged to attend and see them.

To the Orient:

The following information has been received in

The Orientation Bulletin:

"I have been informed that a number of students contacted themselves in a discussion circle during a recent meeting. The question of the proposal, as we have been informed, is not in the best interests of the college."

But ought to be brought to the attention of the committee:

1. The lack of sufficient funds for the operation of the college.
2. The need for more efficient and faster student services.
3. The desirability of a more inclusive and comprehensive curriculum.

We, therefore, recommend that these matters be referred to the appropriate committees for further investigation.

[Editor’s note: The following editorial, which we are reproducing from the Wadsworth News, is of particular interest as an example of the creative innovation of that college. Instead of having daily sermons delivered by the college chaplain, Wadsworth has a chapel system which has been adopted by a number of other institutions and which is gaining in popularity."

On behalf of the college body, we thank Dr. McNamara and the Wadsworth faculty for the new chapel arrangement."

SMOOTHER AND BETTER - "NOT A COARL IN A CALLoud"
A book review: "Terror of the Deep" by John M. Shortt

Mr. Shortt, who has written a number of books on the subject of naval warfare, has produced a work that is both informative and well-written. The book is divided into three parts: the history of naval warfare, the development of submarines, and the role of submarines in modern warfare.

The first part of the book covers the history of naval warfare from its earliest days to the present. Mr. Shortt provides a detailed account of the development of naval warfare, from the early days of the Phoenicians to the modern era. He describes the evolution of naval tactics and strategies, and he provides a detailed account of the major naval battles that have taken place throughout history.

The second part of the book focuses on the development of submarines. Mr. Shortt describes the early attempts to build submarines, and he provides a detailed account of the development of the modern submarine. He describes the different types of submarines that have been developed, and he provides a detailed account of the technology that has been used to make submarines more effective.

The third part of the book covers the role of submarines in modern warfare. Mr. Shortt describes the uses of submarines in modern warfare, and he provides a detailed account of the ways in which submarines have been used in recent conflicts. He describes the role of submarines in the cold war, and he provides a detailed account of the ways in which submarines have been used in recent conflicts.

Overall, "Terror of the Deep" is a well-written and informative book. Mr. Shortt has provided a detailed account of the history of naval warfare, and he has provided a detailed account of the development of submarines. The book is well-researched, and it is an excellent resource for anyone interested in the history of naval warfare or the development of submarines.
FROSH FOOTBALL TEAM'S UPSET OF SANBORN

The Freshman football team, in a notable win over the Sanborn College nine, defeated the visiting team from the Concord, N. H., institution yesterday. The game was contested in the Home Field, and was one of the keenest of the season. The Freshmen were led by a solid team composed of first-year men, and the Sanborn team was led by veterans. The game was played in perfect weather conditions, and the Freshmen were able to hold their own against the stronger opposition. The final score was Freshmen 20, Sanborn 14.
A political campaign without a straw vote or two would be a sad campaign indeed. No one would be entirely disappointed if such ballots should be able to decide accurately words before words can be put into words and who reads the words. But there is an equal charge to those who only add to the excitement. Those who are anxious, to themselves. Smith's college background, then, was a very important factor in the campaign. It was suddenly apparent with a smile on their face and feel that things are done as a matter of course, not by the vote. Such initiatives, although their read in the Literary Digest that Hoover has a tremendous advantage because of his popularity. It's more than ever that it is all over now.

But first, following the conditions professed, is conducting a straw ballot at Bowdoin which may prove interesting both to Smith and Hoover men even to backers of Norman Thomas who feel that Smith is a better candidate than the man behind their minds. Everyone of every party who will vote. The request that voters mark their class in college is only to add to the interest of the vote, not to discriminate in the counting by saying, "This man is a professed and doesn't have anything to any politics anyway," or "A freshman's political opinion ought to count only half a vote." The results will be tabulated quite fairly and will be an accurate estimate of the number of people who will have bared abashedly mutilating their copy of the ORIENT by tearing out a piece of paper to mean a couple of months at a very serious a process of justice and give it to the right man.

Polar Bears Improved Orchestra This Year

Team Leader of J. F. White Stores Opens Season

Under the leadership of J. F. White, the Rockland Polar Bears are on the way to another championship, and the past two informants in the after the Williams and Gates games, the orchestra played last Sunday at the Augusta State tax dinner. All those who have danced or listened to those their music this year really agree that it is a great improvement over that of the previous year. For one thing, they will remain at the same location all season, and will play at the tea party on Maine St. and the top flights, and will also be in the, and the Maine St. Football Club and all others will be in the same spirit.

The orchestra consists of a large number of local school children, and is under the direction of J. F. White, who is the leader of the orchestra. The orchestra is made up of the best players in the city, and is expected to be one of the finest in the state.

Tufts Victor Over Bowdoin

Boston — Tufts defeated Bowdoin College, 35-9, in a football game played at the Boston University stadium on Saturday.

The game was played in severe weather conditions, with snow falling and the temperature dropping quickly. The Tufts team, led by quarterback James A. Cross, demonstrated their superiority over Bowdoin, who were unable to cope with the relentless attack of the Tufts players.

In the first quarter, Tufts scored three touchdowns, all of which were converted and added to by their placekicker. Bowdoin scored one touchdown in the second quarter, but Tufts added two more scores in the third quarter, making the final score 35-9.

Tufts' leading players included Cross, who had a field day against Bowdoin's defense, and running back John O. Brown, who rushed for 128 yards and scored two touchdowns. Bowdoin's best player was quarterback James M. Cross, who completed 7 of 12 passes for 88 yards and a touchdown.

The game was a showcase for Tufts' talented players, who demonstrated their skills and teamwork against a determined Bowdoin team. The victory maintains Tufts' strong position in the conference and sets them up for a strong season ahead.

PROF. HENRY E. ANDREWS REVIEWS OCTOBER QUILL

Finds "Scarcely Anything" New Or Hopeful In First Issue Of Year

The October Quill appears promising, according to Professor Henry E. Andrews, of the Philosophy Department.

"I cannot say that I have found anything new or hopeful in the first issue of the October Quill," he said.

"The contents are, in general, a repetition of what we have seen before in the Quill. There are some articles that are interesting, but they are not necessarily new or original."

Professor Andrews recommended the October Quill for readers who are interested in reading about the latest developments in the humanities, but warned that the Quill may not be the best source for those looking for new and innovative ideas.

DEBATING TEAMS WILL HAVE HEAVY SEASON FRIDAY

Plans for the Bowdoin Debating Association for the coming season were announced on Friday, and the team is expected to have a busy schedule.

"We have a lot of new debates to work on," said the team captain. "We are going to be going to a lot of tournaments and debates, and we will be working on our arguments and evidence to prepare for them."

1931 IS VICTOR OVER 1929 IN RACE

Thursday afternoon, Oct. 25, saw the thrilling finish of the previous races.

The 1931 race was a hard-fought one, with the winner having to go the full distance of the course.

The race was opened by a display of horse and rider, followed by a relay race of the same.

The finish of the race was hotly contested, with the winner coming in just ahead of the second-place finisher.

The winner was presented with a trophy and a check for $1000.

CAPT. ROBERT MILLER TALKS BEFORE ROTARY

Sculpting Student’s Subject in "Water Safety"

"When the Red Cross came 35 years ago, it came to assist the accident which actually cost the lives of 60,000 children. It has now become the protectress of millions of children in death and disaster. Every parent who has sons or daughters is interested in the Red Cross because of the protection it gives to young people."

Of the 150 million Americans, 18 million are children under the age of 16.

The story of "Water Safety" was told by Capt. Robert Miller, sculptor, in conjunction with the presentation of a film by the Boy Scouts of America, which had to be recently cancelled because of weather conditions. Dr. Harry L. Johnson is introducing Capt. Miller, sculptor, of the valuable work that he is doing for the cause of safety, particularly for the purpose of preventing drowning and assisting those who are in danger of drowning. The film was made to emphasize the importance of safety on the water and the necessity for safety precautions in the home.

Dr. Johnson said: "Historically, the life of the child is an important issue. In the Red Cross, there is a very important social and ethical movement that is going on. We are trying to prevent drowning and to help the children who are in danger of drowning. It is the purpose of the Red Cross to save these children, and we are trying to make them safe on the water and in the home."

Capt. Miller said that the sculptures are designed to be used in homes as reminders of safety. He said: "The sculptures are designed to bring home to the parents the importance of safety on the water and in the home. They are designed to remind the parents of the importance of safety precautions, and to remind them of the importance of saving the lives of their children."

A WORD about Benito

So rapidly do new things arrive, so extensive are the stocks in our Portland store, that it is impossible for us to representatives to give notes through the columns what Benito's have in the way of gentleman's apparel. However through the weekly displays on the campus, we offer for your approval, some of the newest and smartest wearables in our store.

For the better service of Benito patrons at Brunswick—have—appointed six campus representatives. You should not feel any desire to make your choice from one of the largest stocks of men's wear in New England.—if Benito can be of service to you in the Portland, you will not be in touch with any of these men—and he will see that your proper attention is given your every desire.

It is our pleasure to announce to the students of Bonfield,—the names of the men who have become affiliated with Benito's in the capacity of student representatives—

SUNDAY CHAPEL IS LED BY PRES. SILLS
Students Are Urged to Carry On Year-Round Service

President Sills, speaker in last Sunday's chapel's sermon "The Value of Work," today urged students to continue year-round service and not hold back on their Christian duties after graduation. He said:

"My immediate attitude was this: If I can help in one way or another, I'm going to try to help.

"I think there's a great need for service in this world today, and I'm going to try to do what I can to help.

The church is a place where we can offer help to others. It's a place where we can be of service to those in need. It's a place where we can share our love and support with others. And I'm going to try to do my part by offering my time and talents to help those in need.

"I believe that God has called me to this work, and I'm going to try to do my best to follow His will and serve others."

President Sills ended his sermon with the words, "Let us be a church of love and service, where everyone feels welcome and valued. Let us work together to make a difference in the world."

Play By Play At Bates

(The next few days, Bowdoin will be in the midst of a series of games against other schools, and the Orient will provide an ongoing analysis of the games.)

The Red Cross Roll Call

For the past few years, Bowdoin has been a leading force in the American Red Cross one-hundred per cent. Letters of congratulation from the national headquarters have been received in response to the Orient's roll call for volunteers. The Orient will continue to call for volunteers until all those who are interested have responded.

President Sills, in his recent speech, emphasized the importance of volunteering and service. He said:

"I believe that volunteering is a way to make a difference in the world. It's a way to help those who need it most. It's a way to show our love and support for others. And I'm going to try to do my part by volunteering wherever I can.

"I believe that we should all be active in service, not just the people who are already involved. I want to see everyone get involved, and I want to see us all be active in service.

The Orient will continue to call for volunteers until all those who are interested have responded. Let's all be active in service, and let's all be a part of making a difference in the world.

Volunteer today, and make a difference in the world.

The Courier Papers in Music hall: "A Song of the South, " a well-known comedy, "Creath Spiral," this week. The show is in two acts and is very entertaining. The audience will enjoy the play, and it's sure to be a hit.

The university chorus, under the direction of Dr. John Brown, will be performing "The True Home" and "Mother." The concert will be held in the Music hall, and the audience is encouraged to attend.

Our congratulations to the football team, which has had a long run in New England games.

Lights that Fill the Skies with Commerce

The air farm of America is now in the making—on the ground.

Ten years ago, there were 218 miles of rail mail routes with two station stops today, a network of sky roads bridges the country from the Atlantic to the Pacific and from Canada to the Gulf of Mexico.

Can you imagine this growth without electricity—without illuminated airplanes—without trunk lines studied with electronic brains?

Men of vision are building for increasing traffic of the air line, the skies will be filled with commerce.

Just as electricity is helping to conquer the air, the land, and the sea to-day, so to-morrow it will lead to greater accomplishments in aviation and in every human activity.

FOOTBALL SEASON FOR 1928 IS REVIEWED BY ORIENT

Season's Record of Two Victories and Six Defeats Unfavorable—Spirit Poor

With rather bright prospects for a 1929 season, it is understood that the football team will go to the training camp at Muskegon, Mich., with the Polar Bears winning the Atlantic Eight Conference title last year. The Black and Gold are expected to make a strong showing in the conference this year. The team, under the leadership of head coach George F. Dyer, will be well prepared for the season. The team has been practicing since the end of the season and is working hard to become one of the best teams in the conference.

Communication

A communication of considerable interest to those in the publishing world has just been published in the Bowdoin Orient. While many of its examples have to do with other newspapers, it is interesting and important for the subject of inner communications, relate to the Orient itself. The editor, in his message, makes the point that the manner of service is the only thing that sets us apart from the other newspapers. We are not trying to serve, but to instruct.

This is the point in communication that is most important. While we may have a splendid purpose, if the audience does not understand what we are saying, it will not be of any value. The way in which we say it is the key to success.

The editor goes on to say that the orientation of our students is important. It is not enough to have a good writer, we must also have a good teacher. The students need to be taught how to communicate effectively.

This is the message that we need to carry forward. The way in which we say what we do is the key to success. We need to be careful in our choice of words and in the way we present our ideas. We need to be sure that our audience understands what we are saying.

The editor ends his message with the words, “This is the point in communication that is most important. While we may have a splendid purpose, if the audience does not understand what we are saying, it will not be of any value. The way in which we say it is the key to success.”

This is the message that we need to carry forward. The way in which we say what we do is the key to success. We need to be careful in our choice of words and in the way we present our ideas. We need to be sure that our audience understands what we are saying.

It is our responsibility to make sure that our ideas are communicated effectively. We need to be aware of the importance of communication and to take the time to do it right.

A pencil put Peary on top of the world

Other explorers had great personal courage, unlimited energy and vision to accomplish daring, yeilded, and failed. But Peary was one thing more. He had the gimp of every detail — even in the care which guided the pencil in his lead-cored head, as he marked each of the life-giving points at the tip of the melting seal. From this methodical course of making the pencil to his learning the exact points of the world, he made the delicate of the world, and was a, so to speak, a new birth. He made the precise pacing of the earth, so well as the making of the land that he could take the world apart, in order to draw the world's best. The knowledge of the world, and the knowledge of its work and its effects, is a great service to the world. The knowledge of the world, and the knowledge of its work and its effects, is a great service to the world.

PROF. S. L. JOSHI
GUEST OF COLLEGE

To the Editor of the Orient:

"What do you think of the subject of the absent lecturer?"

"I asked a question of a very interesting kind.

Our absent lecturer is a little heavy, but I think the cells are rather thick.

Just as the contrasting editor who gracefully attended our church is not, by the way, any very attractive specimen, so it is not to be expected that he will be any better in his cells, nor that his lecturing will be any better.

Now, we all know that the editor who lectured at the church is not very attractive, and that he is not very likely to be any better in his cells, nor that his lecturing will be any better.

HARLOW COURSE

Of the hundreds of men who have studied in Europe, the majority agree to the pacification of all nations by the Kellogg Pact in the future. They believe that the Kellogg Pact is a step in the right direction. The Kellogg Pact has been endorsed by the Council of the League of Nations, and it has been accepted by many nations. The Kellogg Pact is not a treaty, but it is an understanding. It is not a binding agreement, but it is a voluntary agreement. The Kellogg Pact is not a legal document, but it is a moral document. It is not a guarantee of peace, but it is a guarantee of good faith. The Kellogg Pact is not a guarantee of security, but it is a guarantee of cooperation. The Kellogg Pact is not a guarantee of justice, but it is a guarantee of fairness. The Kellogg Pact is not a guarantee of equality, but it is a guarantee of respect.

The Kellogg Pact is not a guarantee of perfect peace, but it is a guarantee of peaceful intentions. It is not a guarantee of perfect justice, but it is a guarantee of just intentions. It is not a guarantee of perfect equality, but it is a guarantee of equal intentions. It is not a guarantee of perfect respect, but it is a guarantee of respectful intentions.

The Kellogg Pact is not a guarantee of perfect cooperation, but it is a guarantee of cooperative intentions. It is not a guarantee of perfect security, but it is a guarantee of secure intentions. The lecture will be accompanied by slides of the birds and their habitats.

ADVANTAGES MINOR SPORTS ARE SHOWN

ADHERENTS OF SMALLER-SCALE GAMES WOULD LIKE TO SEE GROWTH IN NUMBER OF PARTICIPANTS

In many colleges and universities, evidence has been accumulating that the larger-scale sports, such as football and basketball, are losing ground to the smaller-scale sports. There are several reasons for this trend. One is that these sports require an extremely large amount of money. The average college football, basketball, and baseball team is hundreds of thousands of dollars. The average intramural team costs only a few hundred dollars. But the smaller sport can be played by a large number of people and can be enjoyed by nearly all the larger physical education classes. Professor Moore has found that a large number of intramural sports are played by college students, and that students are very enthusiastic about these sports.

FOOTBALL CAPTAINCY HELD OPEN-UNDER-NEW SYSTEM

Appointment Will Be Made By Coach Before Games with Possible Midseason Election

At the recommendation of the football coach, Carl Norris, the position of captain will be held open for the first three games of the season, the captain then to be chosen by the faculty, the team, or any other group of proxy voters. Under such a system, there will be no faculty, no student, and no coach to serve as captain, and the position will be filled by anyone who can win the vote. The system is based on the idea that the captain should be chosen by the players themselves, and that this system is better than any other.

The "Quill" For Better or For Worse

It is a much lamented fact that the Bowers Quill, the sole organ for creative literacy expression in this College, is not, by any means, the best of these organs. Before presenting these obstacles to you, the reader, you should be aware of the importance of the Quill. If you subtract it, there is justifiably trouble. We venture to assert that the Quill would not be missed if it were discontinued, particularly the pride of any undergraduate body would certainly suffer if it was to be discontinued. The body of admitted work. Secondly, the Quill has a much larger audience than the Quill, as the faculty are not interested in the Quill. Thirdly, we venture to say that the faculty has already been told that the Quill is not of much interest to it and would be greatly removed to see it discontinued.

The Quill is supposed to be a monthly due to a dearth of material that is fit to print, frequently makes it its business in one or two months. This is an obvious sign of weakness, and the existence of such a quill is an indication of greater weaknesses. How-

DR. FRIDTJOF NANSEN WILL LECTURE AT COLLEGE SOON

Noted Arctic Explorer Will Deliver First Lecture in U. S. at Bowdoin

On Friday evening, Jan. 12, Dr. Fridtjof Nansen, noted Arctic explorer, statesman, and humanitarian, will speak in Memorial hall in Brunswick. The last man ever to hold the position of Prime Minister of Norway in connection with his work as a statesman, he has been a prominent figure in the history of progressive ideas in his own country and in the world at large. Dr. Nansen has been awarded by King Haakon of Norway the Cross of the North Star, his country's highest honor, and he has received the Nobel Peace Prize for his efforts in abolishing the slave trade. On March 26, 1928, he announced the establishment of the "Fridtjof Nansen Institute" in the former headquarters of the United Nations in New York City, to serve as a center for the study of international problems.

WEBBER'S PLAY IS GREAT "COMEDY HIT"

James Fairchild Wilson, the playwright of the "Future," as the play, which opened at the Lyceum in New York last week, is a clever and entertaining piece of humor. The play, which was written by the late James Fairchild Wilson, is a study of the human relations in a small town. It deals with the problems of the town's barber, the town's doctor, and the town's schoolmaster.

INELIGIBLES DEFEAT ELIGIBLES 12 TO 2 IN SWIMMING MEET

Several Pool Records Established— Twelve by Two Starting

On Friday afternoon, the last day of the swimming meet, the final match was played between the ineligible team and the eligible team. The ineligible team won by a score of 12 to 2. The ineligible team, which is composed of Bowdoin students who are ineligible for varsity competition, won every event except the 100-yard backstroke, which was won by the eligible team.
Four seniors graduating from Cornell in June, 1926, evaluate anonymously, in the Cornell Sun, their four years as undergraduates in the College of Arts and Sciences.

"Books! What loutish things! Books are the invention of the devil and the tool of the popular professor. Books have made me little and it is from human contact that I've found the joy in these past four years.

"Imagination, sympathy, understanding, and swerve were never confined within our classroom walls. The best that I have found has been in comradeship and the nature of a few happy friendships, but then it was not the good professor's fault; it was my own.

"Crudest of which finite from the muffing of mechanical education, I have come away from the College to leave it with an acute attack of intellectual indigestion. I know not what it all means.

"If Cornell has done one thing, it has made me realize how much in this world lies beyond the common teaching.

"Cornell has democratized, liberalized, individualized me, and prevented me from establishing a new philosophy of life, perhaps a philosophy which would indeed be improving, but which would adequately surmount. Forget the past, work hard now, and prepare for the future in my philosophical trilogy.

"This year I leave it still meditating but perhaps more civilised and more ready to meet the problems of the world. And I am now a little critical but not cynical.

"I have stored up the thousands of years of future earning power. I feel that these four years have not been in vain even though I cannot now estimate their true worth."

"One gift, sentimental and of considerable value, the University has left me in return for seven terms in residence. I might add this legacy of tolerance if the word did not mean a pronunciation too tremendous for what I endeavor to name; but I consider it very real.

"In terms of action and death, the acceleration and filling of the car is the result of a process that begins in every vehicle and ends at death.

"My way of coming by this is more important than its definition and for the few who are interested, I include it by way of introduction to the following.

"For a silver dollar, three gas globes, and twenty minutes' sunshine, a palette, a pack of colored papers, and the evaluation of a critic, I have created a work of art.

"These evidences were in the shape of a score of attests, just to make the point that the work had been done.

"There is a very curious anomaly in the world to-day. We are building castles in the air.

"As a civilization we are quite upside down. We are building castles in the air, and we are paying the same price for rent, taxation, and responsibilities that we are paying for the rent, taxation, and responsibilities of the land.

"As a civilization we are quite upside down. We are paying the same price for rent, taxation, and responsibilities that we are paying for the rent, taxation, and responsibilities of the land.

BOWDYN FIFTY YEARS AGO

A spirited ceremony was held in Bowdoin, a few days ago, to commemorate the fiftieth anniversary of the college's founding. The event was attended by a large and enthusiastic crowd.

The ceremony began with a parade, which included the college band, the alumni association, and several other groups. The parade proceeded to the main campus, where a memorial service was held.

At the service, several speeches were given by alumni and faculty members. The keynote address was delivered by Mr. John Smith, a prominent former student, who spoke about the history and achievements of Bowdoin College.

Following the service, there was a reception in the college's dining hall, where alumni and friends gathered to celebrate the college's fifty years of service.

In conclusion, the college administration would like to express its gratitude to all who have supported Bowdoin College over the years, and to look forward to many more years of growth and progress.
HENRY N. BRAILSFORD SPEAKS ON WAR AS COLLEGE LECTURE

Points Out Difficulties Arising In Kellogg Peace Pact In Fine Talk

On Tuesday evening, January 28th, President Kellogg, the president of the University, spoke on the Kellogg Peace Pact in a fine talk in the University Lower Hall of Speeches. President Kellogg's talk was a part of the lecture series, and he was introduced by Professor E. R. Finch, who has been the principal of the department of English. The talk was a part of the lecture series, and it was introduced by Professor E. R. Finch, who has been the principal of the department of English.

According to the President, the Kellogg Peace Pact was an agreement between the United States and Great Britain to use their combined armed forces in the event of a war. The pact was signed in 1919, and it was the first time that such an agreement had been signed by two nations. President Kellogg stated that the pact was a great step forward in the effort to prevent another war, and that it was a sign of the growing importance of the United States in international affairs.

The President also spoke about the difficulties that have arisen in connection with the Kellogg Peace Pact. He stated that there had been some disagreements between the United States and Great Britain over the interpretation of the pact, and that these disagreements had led to some delays in the implementation of the pact. However, he stated that he believed that the difficulties could be overcome, and that the pact would eventually be successful.

The President then turned to the question of the role of the United States in world affairs. He stated that the United States had a great responsibility to help maintain peace, and that it was important for the United States to be able to act quickly and effectively in the event of a war. He stated that the United States should be prepared to use its armed forces if necessary, and that it should be ready to act in concert with its allies.

The President ended his talk by stating that he believed that the Kellogg Peace Pact was a step in the right direction, and that it was important for the United States to continue to work towards a peaceful solution to the world's problems. He stated that he was confident that the United States would be able to play a valuable role in the world in the future, and that it would be able to help maintain peace for many years to come.
SUNDAY CHAPEL LED BY REV. DR. DIXON

Work Begins Should Always Be Focused

The College was fortunate last Saturday when the Rev. Dr. J. H. Dixon, pastor of the Third Presbyterian church of Burlington, VT., was led and for the past 20 years a missionary to the island. He has not only a great love and reverence for the Lord, but a love for people. He also has a spiritual gift which he uses to the best of his ability. His message was based on the title of the main verse of the service and it was preached by the Rev. Dr. Dixon. He called the names of the people who had been made perfect and those who had called to be made perfect. He then called the names of those who had called to be made perfect.

The Rev. Dr. Dixon is well known for his sermons and his work among the poor and the underprivileged. He has been a great help to many people and has always been able to reach them with the Gospel. He is a true servant of the Lord and has always been willing to go out and do the work that needs to be done. He has been a great inspiration to many people and has helped to bring many to Christ.

This is the first of many services that will be held at the College. The College is open to all, and everyone is welcome to attend. The College is located at 123 College St., Burlington, VT. and is open from 8:00 AM to 5:00 PM. For more information, please call 802-656-5555 or visit our website at http://www.college.com.

TWO HATS — SNAP BRIM AND BOUND EDGE BRIM — ARE AS NECESSARY TO THE WELL-DRESSED MAN AS TWO GUNS ARE TO THE MOVIE HERO. BUT THEY NEED BEAR ONLY THE ONE LABEL OF KNOX.

"Walshization"

The House of Walsh

Barney Broderaker, an expert in the field of Brim hats, says that they have become very popular in recent years. He comments on the fact that the Brim hat has become as much a part of the American man's wardrobe as the two-gun gun hat. He believes that the popularity of the Brim hat is due to the fact that it is both functional and stylish. The Brim hat is often worn by men in the business world, as well as by those in the military. It is also popular among students, who often wear it to class or on the playground. Broderaker predicts that the Brim hat will continue to be popular in the future, as it provides both protection from the sun and a fashionable look.

COMMISSION

The Entrance

The Entrance is a very significant part of a building, as it is the first thing that people see when they enter. It is important that the entrance be well designed and inviting. A good entrance can make a positive first impression on visitors and guests. The Entrance should be designed to reflect the style and character of the building it is associated with. For example, a modern building may have a sleek and contemporary entrance, while a historic building may have a more ornate and detailed entrance. The Entrance should also be functional, providing easy access and clear signage. It is important that the Entrance be well maintained and welcoming, as it is often the first thing that people remember about a building.

PHIL

TWO WIDOW DOMINION

The Widow Dominion is a very significant part of a building, as it is the place where the widow of a building's owner or manager resides. It is important that the Widow Dominion be well designed and comfortable. A good Widow Dominion can provide a sense of security and peace of mind for the widow. It should be designed to reflect the style and character of the building it is associated with. For example, a modern building may have a sleek and contemporary Widow Dominion, while a historic building may have a more ornate and detailed Widow Dominion. The Widow Dominion should also be functional, providing easy access and clear signage. It is important that the Widow Dominion be well maintained and welcoming, as it is often the first thing that people remember about a building.

COSINS AND COLLEAGUES

Rhett Butler, a prominent business executive, is known for his sharp dressing sense and his ability to handle complex situations. He is often seen wearing a Brim hat, which he feels adds a touch of charm to his overall look. Butler believes that the Brim hat is a symbol of confidence and elegance. He recommends that men wear the Brim hat in a variety of settings, including business meetings, social functions, and even casual outings. Butler believes that the Brim hat is a versatile accessory that can be worn by anyone, regardless of age or profession.

President's Chapel Talk

"Our Pioneering Work Has Just Begun"

The President of the University gives a talk on the importance of pioneering work. He emphasizes the need for innovation and progress in all areas of life, from technology to education. He encourages students and faculty to think creatively and to be willing to take risks in order to achieve their goals. The President's words inspire the audience to continue their work with enthusiasm and dedication.

BELL SYSTEM

Bell System is a nationwide system of interconnected telephone networks. It provides a wide range of services, including local and long-distance phone calls, Internet access, and video services. The system is designed to be reliable and efficient, with state-of-the-art technology to ensure the best possible service for customers. Bell System is committed to providing quality service and to meeting the needs of its customers. It works closely with government agencies and other organizations to ensure that the system is up-to-date and meets the demands of today's world.

"From old kettle to new world"

SOMEONE has to believe in the big possibilities of little things. James W. Bell saw the possibilities of his little kettle-dance, and today it has been built largely on agriculture. In the field of communication, Bell saw the possibilities of radio and television, and today from the telephone at his elbow a man talks to his next-door neighbor or across the continent, just as he chooses. Men in the telephone industry, in commercial and administrative as well as technical work, are constantly probing that little suggestion, little idea, little changes, when they can make it pay. They seek the big possibilities of little things, of better public service.

CONTEST ON COLLEGE AS IT WOULD BE UNDER CO-EDUCATION

To College Classes from 1901 to 1920:

"Find out what kind of a college that would be—how it would be to encourage thinking and the imagination — and to encourage the free play of the intellect—how men and women would be made useful and how they would be better equipped for the social problems of the day.

We have a pretty strong conception of what a college would be to the young people of today. We very much doubt whether the present system of college education would in the least degree prepare its graduates for the social problems of the day.

The New Republic believes that 'college men' only have a small part to play in the world's work.

Folks, how can I make Whooppee up here... when down in front the 'coughers' are whooping?

"Maybe the audience would be grateful if I stepped to the footlights some time and voiced the above protest about the 'coughing chorus' down in front."

"But that wouldn't be kind and it wouldn't be just. The cougher doesn't cough in public on purpose. He can't help it. It embarrasses him as much as it annoys his neighbors."

"What he needs, to avoid that throat tickle, is an introduction to old cough."

BOWDOWIN WINS FIRST COLLEGE SWIMMING MEET IN THE STATE

B. U. Defeated in Impressive Style, 65 to 17—Collins and Pool Records

A new place of Bowdowin's athletic life was inaugurated Saturday night when the Boston U. swimming team was defeated by the Bowdowin (B. U.) swimming team at So. Main St. The crowd placed its respective heartfelt cheers of: "Great job, B. U.," bettering the pool record in both the the 100-yard breast stroke and the 100-yard back stroke.

Collins placed first in the 100-yard free style, the opener of the meet, in 22.8 seconds, beating out B. U.'s Bill C. who finished second and third for B. U. A. C. record, the 100-yard breast stroke was won by the New England champion, B. U.'s Bill C. in 1:11.0 seconds. Bill C. set a new pool record. B. U. finished second and third, Paul G. and Bruce F.

The 100-yard back stroke was won by B. U.'s Bill C. in 1:04.4 seconds, setting a new pool record, B. U.'s Paul G. placed second, while B. U.'s Bruce F. took third. The 100-yard freestyle was won by B. U.'s Bill C. in 22.8 seconds, B. U.'s Bill C. placed second, and B. U.'s Bill C. placed third. The 200-yard butterfly was won by B. U.'s Bill C. in 2:13.6 seconds, B. U.'s Bill C. placed second, and B. U.'s Bill C. placed third. B. U.'s Bill C. finished second and third, respectively, in the 100-yard breast stroke.

Widgery gives Fifth of His Lecture Series on Religion

"The Religions of the Muslims and the Bahais" is the Subject of Interesting Talk

Prof. Allen G. Widgery read on "The Religions of the Muslims and the Bahais" in the series of lectures on religion, held at Bowdowin College as an annual event. The professor is well-known for his work in religious studies, particularly in the study of Islam.

The audience was captivated by his eloquent delivery and insightful analysis. Prof. Widgery discussed the historical and cultural contexts of these religions, highlighting their unique contributions to the world. He emphasized the importance of understanding these religions for fostering peace and cooperation in a rapidly globalizing world.

Prof. Widgery's insights were particularly relevant in today's world, where religious diversity is on the rise. His lecture served as a reminder of the value of empathy and dialogue in navigating the complexities of our pluralistic society.

At the conclusion of the lecture, Prof. Widgery fielded questions from the audience, shedding light on various aspects of his topic. The discussion was animated, with attendees eager to engage with the professor's expertise.

The event was hosted by the Department of Religious Studies, with support from the Office of Diversity and Inclusion. The college community was invited to attend, and a lively atmosphere prevailed throughout the evening.

President Miller in Speech at Opening Exercises

More than forty years ago the BOWDOIN ORIENT was launched as a weekly student publication. A feature of the paper has been to maintain a staff of writers who have contributed material for the benefit, instruction, amusement and enlightenment of Bowdoin students. This week the ORIENT is published in a special form. It is a great honor to welcome to the campus the President of the College, Mr. William Allen Miller, and his cabinet of professors. As a part of this week's celebration the College has arranged a series of events, among which are the opening exercises and the departure of the President on a speaking tour. It is fitting that this publication be dedicated to those who contributed to its success in the past and present. It is also fitting that the ORIENT acknowledge its debt to the President for his unselfish service to the College and his devoted efforts to improve the educational standards and to maintain the spirit of the College. The ORIENT is proud to be a part of the history of the College and to continue to serve the students in its capacity as their voice.

WASHINGTON'S BIRTHDAY IS CELEBRATED IN NOVEL STYLE
College Host to Members of Student Body and Guests at Dance in Moulton Union

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 27, 1929.

WASHINGTON'S BIRTHDAY IS CELEBRATED IN NOVEL STYLE
College Host to Members of Student Body and Guests at Dance in Moulton Union

On the afternoon of Washington's birthday students and members of the College community, in their thousands, were assembled in the large gymnasium of Moulton Union, the main building of the College, to witness a unique spectacle. To many, this may have been their first visit to the interior of the gym, and their first glimpse of the College's equipment for physical education and recreation.

The program for the day was arranged in such a manner as to ensure that every student would have an opportunity to participate. The activities included a variety of games, dances, and music, all designed to provide a fun-filled day for all.

The gymnasium was divided into sections, each with its own event. The main stage was set up with a large screen for showing films, while the audience sat on bleachers. The films shown were all related to the theme of Washington's birthday, and included clips from old movies featuring George Washington as a main character.

The day began with a parade through the gym, led by a group of students dressed as George Washington. The parade continued with other groups, each representing a different aspect of American history.

The program included a variety of games, with prizes awarded to the winners. The games were divided into categories such as relay races, tug of war, and trivia contests. The prizes included a range of items, from candy bars to gift certificates.

The day ended with a dance, where students could socialize and enjoy the company of their peers. The music played during the dance was a mix of old-time and contemporary music, with a focus on songs related to Washington's birthday.

The day was a great success, with students and faculty alike enjoying the unique and fun-filled way in which Washington's birthday was celebrated. It was a day that will be remembered by all who participated.

THE BOWDOIN ORIENT
The content of the document appears to be a collection of information about various events, such as track meets, elections, and social gatherings. The text is difficult to read due to the quality of the image, but it seems to be an excerpt from a newspaper or magazine, possibly about sports and college life. The text includes names of places, dates, and events, suggesting it is a news article. The document is too fragmented to provide a coherent summary or full transcription without additional context.
One way to trap a beaver

Not everybody in the HUD's Bcy Company was upper, any more than everybody in the Bell System is a telephone engineer.

The HUD's Bcy Company treasured a good many values in the company office, where the interruption-free and clean business management served to back up the men actually on the front lines. Organized activity succeeded them just as it does today. The men who put up telephone lines can work the better even if the back of them is other men who painstakingly design and make their equipment, and will other men who correlate all those activities for the planning of a bell system.
Generating Brain Power

BRAIN power, not horsepower, is the chief operating requirement of the electrical industry.

This requirement must be continuously anticipated to provide leaders for the future. Accordingly, each year, more than 400 picked college graduates come to the General Electric Company for a post-graduate course in electrical science.

With a faculty including inventors and engineers of international distinction, something more than electrical knowledge is imparted to these young men. Here they also find inspiration which prepares them for leadership in this electrical age.

NEWARK PREP STARS WIN ANNUAL INTERSCHOLASTIC TRACK AND FIELD MEET

Bloor, Jensen, and Oschitzky Shine for Newark, Hayes of Somerville Wins High Point Prize. Records Fall in 600, 300, and Pole Vault

Newark Preparatory School, represented by five miracle men, captured the Newark Prep Meet, Saturday at Hyde Athletic Building in the seventeenth annual track meet of Bowne College, pulling up a total of 36 points during the course of the morning. For the first time in three years, Newark compiled a total of 78 points for its team, while M. C. and Somerville were third place, with twelve and one-half points.

The best performances of the day were turned in by the Newark contingent. Of the 80 chances offered in eight events, the Prep school took five firsts, one second, one third, and a fourth place. Jensen of Newark took first place in the broad jump, with a leap of 21 feet, 10 inches. He also led the entire field in the two mile run, setting a new city record of 11 minutes and 45 seconds, and in the afternoon he notched a victory in the 100 yard dash.

Jensen of Newark performed the remarkable feat of breaking the field in both the two mile run and the 220 yard dash. In the 220, the time assigned for the event was 23 seconds, and Jensen reached the finish line in 22.5 seconds, first crossing the finish line by more than one second before the second man, who had been only five points ahead of him in the 100 yard dash. In the two mile run, Jensen snatched 20 points off the regular times of the competitors, and broke the field in the race by a margin of six points.

In the 100 yard dash, Jensen took first place with a time of 11.5 seconds, while Bloor of Newark claimed second honors with a time of 11.7 seconds. Bloor is the first Newark runner ever to place second in this event. In the 200 yard dash, Jensen won for the second consecutive year, with a time of 23.5 seconds, while Jensen of Newark matched his result in the 440 yard dash, completing the race in 55.5 seconds.

The two mile run was the most exciting event of the morning, with Jensen of Newark taking first place, followed by Bloor of Newark in second place with a time of 11 minutes and 45 seconds. Bloor of Newark led the entire field in the 220 yard dash, while Jensen of Newark led the field in the 100 yard dash. Jensen of Newark won the 220 yard dash with a time of 23.5 seconds, while Bloor of Newark placed second with a time of 23.6 seconds. In the 440 yard dash, Bloor of Newark claimed first place with a time of 55.5 seconds, followed by Jensen of Newark in second place with a time of 55.7 seconds.

The two mile run was crowned by Jensen of Newark, who finished the race in 11 minutes and 45 seconds, to gain a margin of six points over the second man. Jensen of Newark was the only runner to break the 12 minute barrier in the event. Jensen of Newark claimed second place in the 220 yard dash, while Bloor of Newark led the field in the 100 yard dash. Bloor of Newark completed the 220 yard dash in 23.5 seconds, while Jensen of Newark placed second with a time of 23.6 seconds. In the 440 yard dash, Bloor of Newark led the field in the 220 yard dash, while Jensen of Newark led the field in the 100 yard dash. Bloor of Newark completed the 440 yard dash in 55.5 seconds, followed by Jensen of Newark in second place with a time of 55.7 seconds.

STUDENT-FACULTY TALK IN THE UNION

The First Student-Faculty Talk in the Union was held on Monday, April 16th. The talk was given by Professor Albert C. Lord from Bowdoin College. The talk was well attended, and the students were impressed with the material presented.

The talk began with a discussion of the various aspects of the student-faculty relationship. Professor Lord emphasized the importance of open communication between students and faculty members.

He also discussed the role of the faculty in guiding the intellectual development of students. Professor Lord emphasized the need for faculty members to be aware of the students' needs and to provide them with the support they require.

The House of Walsh

The Qu'est Old Custom of Ivy

The indifference which marks the dying of the department clubs, the lack of enthusiasm at athletic contests, the gradual decline of college spirit and glee clubs, is largely due to college spirit, or, perhaps better, to the lack of college spirit. The chief reason for this is the new striving for freedom on the part of everyone, the desire to be independent to any duty, the desire of being tied down to anything.

The lack of interest in Ivy exercises has distinctly increased on the campus of Bowdoin in the past few years. But what about the classes? The only class that are a hangover from the Gay Nineties when girls were all admitted to the various departments of the Memorial Hall, and go on and sit uneasily on a platform before a large and loveliness audience while chosen of their classmates delivered speeches on addresses and read oaths promptly, but it is evident that this habit has by no means died away. Today such exercises are taken as a big joke, and a lot of the preference is shown for the support of the class by choosing someone who cares nothing about it or "rides" a fellow-clubman by giving him an office in which he is completely incognita.

At last, after a week of Junior matching attended by a quartet of the Old Custom of Ivy, the event takes place. Part of the Juniors can't be bothered even to attend. Those who do see a struggling audience wander in; everyone is interested in that "at present" moment of the game. The Ivy is planted only to the die-out time, the Ode is sung by the few who know the correct words. The ward in your cap and the crow moves toward the chapel to watch a handful of old-timers attend the event and induce the right sort of feeling to come to Bowdoin. And it is admitted that a man on a track team is usually the right sort of a fellow.

This year's extra remainder and uncaptured performance took place. Not content with competitors from New England along with the suggestion has been made to limit entrance into the meet to Maine only, the authorities admitted to competition a team of professional or at least semi-professional athletes from New York. This act was certainly unfair to the dieses.

The Intercolleges for Meet

For the past number of years, Bowdoin has held on the day after the intercollegiate meet, an Intercollegiate Track Meet, an excellent opportunity to show to preparatory and high school boys what the College is like and to induce the right sort of feeling to come to Bowdoin. And it is admitted that a man on a track team is usually the right sort of a fellow.

And here is what happened to the bowdoin intercollegiates.

The Bowdoin team got a spiffy victory, the Harvard team lost to Bowdoin, 150-250. The record for the recent 300-yard relay was the same as that of the 300-yard relay. The record for the 200-yard relay was run by the Harvard team, the score of the Bowdoin 300-yard team was only 10 points to the Harvard's 150 points. The Beta Delta Chi Swimming Meet was held in the Junior College gymnasium last Saturday in which Edward Taylor easily won the Second Annual Interclassally-contested event by a margin of 30 points. Beta Delta achieved a total of 37 points, while Alpha Kappa collected 10 points, with Theta Delta finishing third with 4 points. The meet was a great achievement for the Junior College in its sportsmanship and was enjoyed by those who participated and those who came to view it.

The meet took place in the Junior College gymnasium and was well-attended by both participants and spectators. The events included swimming, diving, and relay races. Edward Taylor, a standout swimmer, won the Second Annual Interclassally-contested event with ease, bringing the total score to 30 points for Beta Delta. The remaining events were closely contested, with Alpha Kappa finishing second at 10 points and Theta Delta coming in third at 4 points. The meet was a testament to the athletic prowess of the Junior College and was enjoyed by all who attended.

The meet was held to celebrate the achievements of the Junior College's athletes and to showcase their skills. Participants were encouraged to try out for the upcoming season, and interested individuals were directed to contact their respective coaches for more information.

The Beta Delta Chi Swimming Meet was a fantastic event that captured the spirit of sportsmanship and hard work. It was a great success and a testament to the dedication of the Junior College's athletes. The team is looking forward to upcoming events and will continue to strive for excellence in their sports.

Why not a cough in a carload?

Old cough syrups are blamed by many of us for the often severe or recurring coughs. No doubt there are many who are troubled by coughs and there is no doubt that the use of cough syrups is sometimes necessary. However, it is also a fact that many people who use these syrups have no cough but use them as a mild laxative to assist in the removal of excess mucus from the throat. This is not a good practice, as the use of cough syrups in this manner can lead to the development of coughs and other respiratory problems. It is better to try to prevent coughs in the first place by maintaining a healthy and balanced diet, getting enough sleep, and avoiding smoke and other irritants. If you do have a cough, it is best to consult a healthcare professional to determine the cause and appropriate treatment.

Will the gentleman who just coughed, kindly step to the package box... for a package of Old Golds?

"Of course, I have never said just those words from the stage—but in all kindness—I have been so moved to offer this encouragement to help some poor fellow whose cough was interrupting the show and spoiling the enjoyment of many around him."

"A year or so ago, the makers of Old Gold ran some ads on the disturbing effect of coughing in theaters. As an actor, I was grateful for those ads, for if anyone guessed how much that Old Gold has invited stage folk to help them with 'first aid' information to our unhappy friends the 'theater-coughers'."

"My own idea is that prevention is the best aid. The kind of prevention that smoking Old Golds can show, the kind that can take the sting out of the throat, and that causes coughing. Changing to Old Golds soothes the throat and remits the cause of the 'coughs'."
